WILLIAM TELL FLOUR

"There we are, Daisy, right out of the oven! Doesn't it smell good? And won't it taste good when you and Father and the boys get a chance at it?

"It's letter for all of us than meat, and it's lots cheaper—and I'll take all that you can eat.

"WILLIAM TELL FLOUR certainly takes the ache out of bake and gets the flavor in the bread."

Board Of Commerce Official's Tribute

A high tribute was paid the late John Irwin Bailey Way, chairman of the junior department of the Board of Commerce in the following resolution:

"John Lee, for whom the Commerce Club of Carlisle was named, was, next to Mr. Bailey, the most enthusiastic member of the Junior Board of Commerce. Mr. Lee assumed office a few months prior to the parks and playgrounds movement, which was inaugurated at the time the Junior Board of Commerce was organized. He was instrumental in the movement for parks and playgrounds which was the initiative of perhaps one of the most helpful undertakings ever put over a commercial body in our city—undertaken to do.

"Though just 17 years of age, Mr. Lee was a leader in athletics. He was the organizer of the Junior Athletic Association, which subsequently Knoxville held several park and playgrounds meets, and was a pave for much greater things to come. He was also neglected of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was assessed with the responsibility of the office of the chairman of the junior department of the Board of Commerce, and in the various functions of the Board of Commerce, and around the city, speaking, or accompanying others who were speaking to the citizens in behalf of this movement.

"It can well be said that he was to Carlisle what Edwin Markham was to the most remarkable exception to that fine average young man of to-day. He possessed the faculty of grasping a proposition, and of working out the details, and had within him a desire to serve and to help his fellowmen. He was a Christian gentleman and lived up to his every conditions in and around him. He was a leader in his class, and would be had a decisive manner of speaking. He was a leader in his class, and would be had a decisive manner of speaking. He was a leader in his class, and would be had a decisive manner of speaking.

"Mr. Lee was a member of the Junior Board of Commerce, and this manner is one of the things that helped him in carrying the points for which he stood in behalf of the city.

After the work was finished and the parks for the city paid for, the young Lee contracted typhoid fever, from which he died Nov. 20, 1916.

The Senior Board of Commerce has appointed a committee, with Mr. Washington as a member of the committee, to plan committee and let him make a talk there, knowing that he had the ability to do so and feeling that such a free wire, coming from a president of the Junior Board of Commerce, would be especially have a considerable weight and influence.

John Lee's mother, the city of Knoxville, the members of the society heard of the Junior Board of Commerce and those who have been in the work of the Junior Board of Commerce, realize the great loss that they have lost a most valuable member, and the loss in the death of John Lee and their hearts go out with gratitude to the city commissioners in naming the Central street park "John Lee park."

John was the son of Mrs. Ada Lee, of Carlisle, but who at the time of his death resided in Knoxville Tenn.
