The Mercury Tobacco Fund For Our Soldiers In France

The good women of the country are knitting sweaters, socks, wrist bands and all sorts of comfortable things to send to the soldiers at the front. What about tobacco? There is nothing you can think of that will give more comfort and pleasure to these men than tobacco.

This paper has made all arrangements to send tobacco, and not only that, but is going to send the most popular brands in this country—the kinds that many of the men have used at home and that they all know are good.

Tobacco can be sent to Europe without tax, import, duty or freight. Through the generosity of leading tobacco manufacturers we are enabled to send life's worth of smoking tobacco, chewing tobacco or cigarettes free.

It will be worth many quarters to receive grateful acknowledgment of your donation from some soldier at the front. A return post card stamped and addressed to you will be placed in each package you donate.

Send us a quarter if that is all you can spare, or more if you can spare it. This is a time to make sacrifices for the comfort of those who are risking their lives. Send all that you feel you can spare. There won't be any too much tobacco to go around. The names of all those who make donations and the amounts donated will be published in THE MERCURY from time to time.

Cut out the form below, fill it out for as liberal amount as you can afford and send to us with your remittance without delay as it is important to get tobacco to the other side as quickly as possible.

What Was Ever Made In Germany?

Since Germany borrowed her military appliances from other nations we are surprised that she obtain all her devices of prosperity from the same source. She did not, produce the first aniline dye, volcanized rubber, liquid gases, gas-engine, telephone, thermometer, barometer, piano, forte, barbed wire, coil mails, plain, plaid, circular saw, cable car, electric car, aterging cab, autobahn, hydraulic automobile, pneumatic tire, sewing machine, cylinder printing press, reaper, calculating machine, steel cutting pen, ey eeters and inhalator.

The greatest thing that Germany has done is to have falsely advertise her self in the light of the world. No one of hers invented the electric light, the gas light, the acetylene light, the kerosene light, the arced light, the flash light, the safety lamp or the candle dip or the friction match. America, France, England and other "untutored" nations performed them tasks. The sun moon and stars are to be only lights left for Germany's "attention, and serving for the Kaiser's sake account the Lord and not the Kaiser made and placed them in the firmament.

Following a Frenchman, presented us with photography. Our own Edison brought forth the motion picture and demonstrated and instruct the eye, and the phonograph to please and tease the ear.

By one of the compound microscope Pasteur, the French biologist of the 19th century demonstrated the connection between microscopic organisms and disease. Many other discoveries before Dr. Koch, the German scientist gave to the world, but to him is due the important antitoxin treatment for tuberculosis. He should be recorded. Edward Jenner, the discoverer of vaccination, and Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood in the English race. Germany has taught the world the use of anesthetics. Our dentists are to be thanked for Germany's share in this.

The Teutons have not shown the engineering skill of the French who gave to the world the Panama canal, nor the Americans who joined the Atlantic and the Pacific by the Erie canal and the metric system by which the Germans have their present system as a gift from France. The method by which they have built their steel is that of Sir Henry Bessemer, of England. Many of the dyes and vegetables of which they eat an enormous quantity, were brought forth by our own country. The "goose-step" no high, for what is the use of marching?

Lavoisier, the father of modern chemistry was a Frenchman. Lavoisier, the founder of botany, was of Sweden. Linnaeus, the father of geology, was the indebted for Geology; to Hutton, of England. The discovery sight of the sun, to Descartes of French parentage, to Galileo, of Italy; to Comte of France for astrology, to Copernicus, of Poland and portiels. Germany has not contributed one thing to the world of science whatsoever. Even her ships are in her foreign ship-ages. She is nothing in the world of science, art or literature.

She has made no geographical discoveries and no inventions. Low have. What role did she play in discovering and developing the new world? Did she establish any colonies? Did she found any cities? Her sons did not compose the crew of Columbus's ship. They were not navigate the globe. A German did not discover the Cape of Good Hope, the way toward the South Pole. It is high time that Germany be given the credit for the achievements unless one wishes to indulge in satire.

The history of the world will reveal that the world's greatest teacher, Martin Luther, was a German; that Bach was, general, philosopher, preacher, poet, musician, architect, and that Wagner was not "Made in Germany."

Mr. Henry Caywood, of the firm of Caywood & Caywood, of Paris, received a deed of Jake Gay, of Pine Grove, in Clark County, forty years-Hereford calves for $12.25 a hundred pounds. Look at this Bread!

If you could only eyeball see it, smell it and taste it!

Yes, I baked it myself. It's very little trouble and it's lots better than I can buy.

Then too, it means a big saving. I am cutting down on my meat bills because the family is eating so much more bread. They seem to like it better than the more expensive foods.

Even if I were not saving on my other bills, I am still saving all my other flour I ever used.

You can do the same thing. It's not hard. All you need is a good recipe and a good flour.

The flour that I use is wonderfully easy to work with. It's made in Ohio —right in the Miami Valley where the soft winter wheat has an unusual quality on account of the rich limestone soil. It's good for everything, and it gives a most delicious nutty flavor to your baking. Take my advice and try

DON'T TOP YOUR TOBACCO TOO SOON SAYS LEBUS

(Lexington Herald)

Because of the high acreage that is planted in tobacco this year and the late start last season, and the extreme lateness that this year's crop starts with, reasonable weather for curing, topping and sell the tobacco crop, farmers have been requested to use all in their power to have enough crops made to cure before frost. Reports on the prospects of Clarence Lebus, near Lynnhaven, contains some advice on the subject of the early topping of the weed as follows:

"Owing to the extreme high price of tobacco, especially low grades, the past season, and the almost certainty of higher prices for all grades of the crop, I recommend that, owing to the lateness of the season, and the fact that the weather we have had, you do not top any tobacco until it is high enough to blossom, and then only as it the day you cut it than top it low. Leave if it sets in wet, you lose 200 pounds and quality. It takes high topping to make pounds especially at late tobacco.

"Think the best for you not to pour your tobacco to any one but sell it over the house the market for the High Dollar."

"Yours very truly,
CLARENCE LEBUS."

Mr. Lebus' opinion is that all the farmers who are familiar with the growing of tobacco and his advice should be followed by the growers who may be accepted for its fine value, according to his own good old in his circles of the trade. Never has the farmer had a better opportunity to reap banner returns from his labor and with the lengthening of the season, speculators will be more active than formerly, in an effort to take off a part of the rich proceeds of the annual crop.

Puker will never be popular on Germany, says Lide; "for the average German who held a full house spread it out." Puker is wrong, much more than likely it pack up an ace-tray and shove it with a "call" and let the gentleman who was his "money." Speaking of puker, we are reminded of a jingle that used to go the rounds of our college days:

A fellow named Puker
Would buy a new sucker
If he hadn't a little hand last night
He quietly said
He didn't call
I thought my heart would surely break.

He wildly did it heal,
No other hand can I say and
He didn't call

At this time loud it held last it did—

The press of the nation is generally good to party or personal feeling, praise or the Executive's action in the matter. Aside from this we believe that it is the most polished and masterful piece of writing that it has ever been our pleasure to read. "Oh, no, dot vas not mule by nicht, by vight, vhat he highly of my dog."

The German scowled and returned: "I hope you don't dare to call it William."

AMERICA'S CAUSE FOR WAR.

"The German people accept every restriction aside. Vassels of every kind submitted to. The Germans have despised of modern history, been drawn into the vortex of slavery, have been sunk with the same ruthless lack of compassion as Belgium.

"I am not now thinking of the loss of property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and diabolical destruction of the lives of noncombatants, men, women and children, engaged in pursuits which have always even in the darkest periods of modern history been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for; the lives of peaceful populations cannot be paid for. The present German submarine warfare against mankind."—Woodrow Wilson President of the United States.

The Farmer's Share In Insuring The Future Of Our Home And Country.

President Garfield in the course of one of his speeches said: "At the the head of civilization and progress stands not militarism, not commerce but agriculture—the mother of all industry and the maintainer of human life."

In his recent address to the people of America President Wilson stated: "Upon the farmers of this country in large measure rests the fate of the war and the fate of the nations."

Somehow, whenever there is a crisis in the nation's affairs it is to the farmer that the country looks for help. The reason for this is that the farmers of America have never failed to make good.

Ever since the American Republic was first established, United States Government Bonds have been considered by business men, bankers and investors as every walk of life as the safest form of investment in the world because they are absolutely guaranteed by the United States of America and this guarantee is backed by all the wealth, all the land and all the money in the entire country.

Not only do United States Government Bonds form the best kind of investment from the standpoint of safety, but they are also very convenient. In case of necessity they can be readily sold, and furthermore they are the best kind of security for borrowing. If you should need money at any time you can take your United States Government Liberty Bonds to any bank and borrow money on them. Banks consider United States Government Bonds the best security on earth and are always glad to lend money on them.

Why is the United States Government asking the farmers to buy Liberty Bonds?

Simply because America has pledged her sacred honor to do her utmost to get an end forever to the merciless military autocracy of Germany and money is almost the only way to do it.

President Wilson has well explained the reasons why we are forced to war with Germany. These are his words:

"The military masters of Germany have filled their people full of lies. They filled our communities

DEPENDENT FAMILIES TO BE AMPLY PROVIDED FOR

A Washington dispatch on 29th inst., says: "Those young men in the draft who go to the front and the army but who fear that wives and children will be left destitute if they do so may feel assured by some new legislation which the government is going to put through soon.

"This is no loss than the government's own plan of insurance for soldiers, among other things, provides work, however, is the most striking characteristic of Mr. Gilbert he introduced Gov. Stanley who arose amid a storm of applause.

It would be useless to try I write the splendid things said in the address, but the many applauses and the fact that at least one hour was taken by him as such an immense audience, many of whom stood throughout, is also evidence demonstrated the fact that the address was immensely interesting. Gov. Stanley is a real orator, and his connection wit and humor as well as the war situation made his address all the more interesting.

Governor Stanley had many friends in Nicholas county but the fact that he left his office and the heavy work which the present war puts on his shoulders, and came to Carlisle to deliver and address in honor of a number of young men who were called to rural school children, this coupled with his splendid address made him more friends than ever before. When we went to his office a week before the institute was held he could scarcely get a word in for all those who were calling to see him. Whatever the advantages and disadvantages of the political machinery of trade, it can not function well under such delays and temptations were made for her with dependents."

J. H. Mitchell and two children returned to their home in Dover after a visit of several weeks with the Carlisle and Nicholas county people. Postmaster J. H. Mitchell is taking a two months' vacation, leaving the postoffice in charge of his assistant, Miss Ethel Hood. Miss Hood who assumes the work with an easy grace and performs the duties "as good as the best."—Dover News.

The Mercury Tobacco Fund For Our Soldiers In France

The good women of the country are knitting sweaters, socks, wrist bands and all sorts of comfortable things to send to the soldiers at the front. What about tobacco? There is nothing you can think of that will give more comfort and pleasure to these men than tobacco.

This paper has made all arrangements to send tobacco, and not only that, but is going to send the most popular brands in this country—the kinds that many of the men have used at home and that they all know are good.

Tobacco can be sent to Europe without tax, import, duty or freight. Through the generosity of leading tobacco manufacturers we are enabled to send life's worth of smoking tobacco, chewing tobacco or cigarettes free.

It will be worth many quarters to receive grateful acknowledgment of your donation from some soldier at the front. A return post card stamped and addressed to you will be placed in each package you donate.

Send us a quarter if that is all you can spare, or more if you can spare it. This is a time to make sacrifices for the comfort of those who are risking their lives. Send all that you feel you can spare. There won't be any too much tobacco to go around. The names of all those who make donations and the amounts donated will be published in THE MERCURY from time to time.

Cut out the form below, fill it out for as liberal amount as you can afford and send to us with your remittance without delay as it is important to get tobacco to the other side as quickly as possible.

"Mr. Hoover, at his express wish has taken no part in the deliberations of the committee at whose recommendation I determined the government's fair price, nor has he in any way committed me to an opinion regarding that price."

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

The report of the committee, addressed to the President, follows:

"The undersigned committee has been asked by you to recommend the fair price to be guaranteed them to-day for the 1917 crop of wheat.

"We have given the question much thought and have consulted with many persons of experience in the trade, including among other things, producers, millers and grain dealers, and we also, at your request, have had the benefit of a report and advice from the Food Administration.

"The general paragraphers suggests to Mr. Hoover, that the use of rose pinks be prohibited in the food conservation plans. Careful, Enoch. You can prohibit John Barleycorn and the Rose Pinks, but the ball rolling for the coming tobacco prohibition drive, and when you attack cosmetics, we fear you are overreaching an unearthly desire to make the rest of us males become even as you are, or the native of the lands of the Midnight Sun. Besides, we want to adorn the Kaiser's head (we refer to the contents) located just under your hat. But be more discreet.

"The normal law of supply and demand would have been violently interfered with had Congress has undertaken to effect this distribution by means of extraordinary powers on the President to stabilize prices. Each of the foregoing factors grows out of the conditions which have resulted in the practical attention of the committee. Chief among these are: that the wheat yield in a great and important section of the country has this year been below the normal; that ever against the whole country is being waged among the whole body of the population, and that the acreage sown for the rising tide of east shall be stayed and reduced as rapidly as possible consistent with the welfare of the producers; that the government is at present engaged in the great task of reducing and stabilizing cost of living conditions; that the price of wheat of the world is abundant for the maintenance of the fulfillment of the great purposes now being undertaken by the people of the United States and Germany.

"Your committee has also considered the fact that the guaranteed price for the 1917 wheat crop is in effect a continuing guarantee under the minimum price guarantee which Congress for the crop of 1918 going into effect July 1, 1918). It has considered the relation of the 1918 minimum price guarantee to the price now recommended. It has also considered the effect which any fixing of the situation of the will have upon the basic machine of the world.

FAIR PROFIT ASSURED

"In reaching its conclusions the committee has been guided by the principles you have announced, that a fair price should be based upon the cost of production, and that the country plus a reasonable profit. We have relied upon the cost estimates of the crop of 1917 furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture and upon the general and independent investigation and the experience and judgment of the committee's producers and their representatives. The committee has considered the regulations recently established by the United States Food Administration, a grain corporation for the different grades of the wheat through which all transactions in wheat are to be conducted and speculation to be entirely eliminated. Also that profit to the grain dealers, millers and flour dealers has been regulated and reduced by the grain corporation, effective September 1, and that EQUAL right to freedom and security and self-government and to a participation upon fair terms in economic opportunities is the right of the German people of course included, if they will accept it. All these things involved or necessarily implied in the word of an insidious and intriguing power are on the east land and the people of free peoples on the other?

"This is a test, which the people of the world must put to the test. The present challenge is directed against the German people, and the challenge is directed against the German people, and the challenge is directed against the German people, and the
