EASTER COMING

ARE YOU READY?

Easter Sunday has came to be something of a clothes parade. And isn't it right that it should be so? If the bright, new clothes are worn in the right spirit, they take nothing from the significance of the day. Easter celebrates the coming of spring. It is the day for practice hope, optimism, cheerfulness. Now, wellfitting, good looking clothes give most men confidence. They increase self respect. They will help YOU observe the day most fittingly.

We will be in Carlisle at our room in the Kinkead-Bush Hotel on

MONDAY, MARCH 11th, 1918

CREAM SHIPPERS:

During these war times every penny counts. The Food Administration asks us to co-operate to cut down long hauls on the railroads. We can best do that by offering you a nearby market for your cream—one that pays the top price and in addition saves you one cent or more per pound of butter fat.

We know that the growth of Kentucky means much to both of us, not only because it means more prosperity but through our sense of State patriotism.

Believing that by our methods of fair dealing we have established beyond question our position as the leading cream market in Kentucky—equal in every way to any in the Ohio valley—superior in the fact that it costs less to ship.

Knowing that we can depend on your good will and support, we have enlarged our plant, more than doubling our capacity.

Help us make Kentucky and the Blue Grass a real market.

COMMENT

Baker is in France, having slipped quietly through the sub zone, to talk things over with Pershing.

Mrs. Frances Bainbridge is reported as having "bawled out" the Fiscal Court in a speech at Owingsville. Some tobacco to our address in France. It has been suggested that it would be better for the cause with whom to bawl out, for the estimable lady would observe more speedless days.

Carlisle is fast getting dry in fact as well as in name. Chief of Police Howard has not had a case in several quarts of confiscated booze in his collection. He suggests, however, that instead of destroying it the stuff be turned over to the Government for war purposes. We think that instead of destroying it the stuff should be made to "do his bit."

The Sunday lid goes on in Carlisle, by proclamation of the mayor and only drug stores and hotels will remain open on the Sabbath one day in former for the filling of prescriptions and the latter for the serving of meals. The proclamation is issued under authority of the Sunday law, section 1321 of the Kentucky Statutes. The Mercury would not be placed in the position of opposing a proper, decent observance of the Sabbath, but we fear the enforcement of the law will work a hardship on the poor when the hot summer months come. On account of the scarcity of ammonia, ice is going to be both high and hard to get at any price this summer, so local ice dealers say. The man who has the price and can get the ice necessary for his health, but can not afford to keep a cold refrigerator, is the one to be most pinched by the Sunday. Perhaps it will be best to have a Sunday ice day, or else shorter to a shorter number of hours making him litter to get his ice. Doubtless many of these a they are? Perhaps, but we doubt it.

VAGRANTS FORCED TO WORK UNDER NEW LAW

The provisions of the bill drafted by Senator Morrow, which passed the Senate by the vote of 34 to 4, and which also passed the House by a vote of 74 to 18, and which is known as the vagrancy act, remains in effect for the period of the war. A similar measure, introduced in the House by Representative Claude Thomas, passed during the early part of the session.

The bill provides that every able bodied man between the ages of 21 and 50, except students during school term, who has no property and does not legally engage for at least 24 hours a week, or some useful and lawful business, shall be held to be a vagrant and guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $100. Such person shall also be ordered to work not exceeding 60 days upon the public roads or streets, or upon some other public work.

WISONSIN LEGISLATURE SCORES LAFOLLETTE

The resolution condemning Senator LaFollette for his war attitude, passed in the Senate a week ago, was ratified in the Assembly of the State of Wisconsin on Wednesday, 53 to 32, after an all night session.

The measure condemns LaFollette and others who failed to see the righteousness of the nation's cause, who have failed to support the government in matters vital to the winning of the war, and we denounce any attempt or utterance of those which has tended to incite sedition among the people or to weaken Uncle Sam's fame before the people of the world."

SENATOR JAMES' GREAT SPEECH

The New York World's Washington correspondent says Senator James' reply to Chamberlain was equal to Webster's reply to Hayne and that the Kentucky Senator is Presidential timber.

Two Gallant Young Men Waive Standing In Draft And Leave For Camp On Monday.

Tired of waiting for the machinery of the election of the selective draft numbers in the registration list, two patriotic young men applied to the Local Board here last week for immediate induction into military service.

They were Frank Dillard Grayson and Norman Thompson, of this county.

There were three branches of the service open to them—the Infantry, the Medical Corps, and the Coast Artillery. Both chose the Coast Artillery branch of the service and were sent to Columbus, Ohio, leaving Carlisle at the early hour Monday morning.

A remarkable coincidence was noted in the application of these two young men. Both were married on the same day, March 18, 1916. Both were born in Mt. Sterling. Both have blue eyes and are of slender build. Neither had ever seen the other so far as they know, yet they made application for service together, were sworn in together and both chose the Coast Artillery. Grayson is the son of John Grayson; Thompson is the son of Ben Thompson.

Grayson comes of fighting stock. His father fought in the Union Army, his father fought in the Boxer Rebellion in China, and his grandfather rode with John Morgan and his great grandfather was a hero of the Mexican War.

Love branches of the service are still open to any registrant who has failed into the net and who is over 21. If he chooses the Infantry he will be sent to Camp Taylor, Ky., if he chooses the Coast Artillery he will be sent to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., or if the Coast Artillery is his choice, he will be sent to Columbus Barracks. The Local Board has no information as to how long these branches of the service will be open.

DIAMOND BOOTH FREED BY FAMILY BIBLE RECORD

A birth record in his parents' family Bible was the defense testimony which resulted last Thursday in the acquittal of Dimond Booth, colored, who was arraigned last Thursday before Federal Commissioner C. E. Ward in Lexington, on a charge of failure to register for military service.

Booth, who had steadily maintained that he had not reached the age of twenty-one when he registered, was asked to produce evidence to establish the fact. He exhibited the family Bible, in which appeared the birth on September 15th, 1896. He was immediately released.

NEW INCOME TAX REGULATIONS FOR FARMERS

Washington, March 8.—Income tax regulations for farmers, issued today by Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper, provide that all gains or income received in 1917 from sale of products of farm, orchard or garden, whether raised on the farm or purchased and re-sold, must be included in the return. The rules apply to all farmers, or corporations engaged in ordinary farms, ranches, plantations, stock farms, fruit or truck farms.

Deductions fom gross income may be claimed for expenses connected directly with farming operations, for losses not made good during the year, even though crops on which the expenditures were made, were not sold within the year. A former rule limited the cost of stock purchased for re-sale in an allowable deduction, under the item of expense, is annulled, and the expenditures now are regarded as capital investments consequently, when the live stock is sold the original cost may be deducted from the sale price, to ascertain the profit which is realized.

Under the same if the cost of stock or farm products purchased in any year previous to 1917 were deducted in returns of those years, and the crops sold last year, the entire proceeds are to be included in the taxable income. This applies only to those who made such deductions in returns heretofore. If this deduction has not been entered it may be taken from the selling price of stock last year to determine a taxable profit.

Farmers who keep books according to an approved method of accounting, which clearly shows net income for the year may report their returns in accordance therewith. Otherwise they must keep such purchased for draft, breeding or sporting purposes may be included in the inventory for the year at a figure which will not be in excess of cost, estimated on the basis of increased age of the animals.

These regulations relate only to farm operating income and not to profit which may be realized from the sale of a farm. Neither is a farmer required to include in his taxable income the value of farm produce consumed by himself and family. If produce is exchanged for merchandise, the market value of the material received is to be considered as income.

OH, SO DUSTY!

And Oil On The Streets Won't Help Matters Very Much Either.

Chief of Police Ledford Howard is making the loafers pay for their fun. On last Friday night he placed under arrest Homer C. Hale, of Mansfield, and John Haywood, of Frankfort, charging them with possession of liquor in their possession. Hale had four pints and Haywood seven pints, when they were arrested and it is said to be the opinion that these men had left much booze and gratuitously gave out of them a forty (40) jail sentence and a fine of $100. Of the former, companions of the county jail, a large portion are victims of the Circuit Court for local option violations. The high price of whisky has not checked apprehension and prosecution of those endeavoring to engage in the business, will in the end stamp out the illegal traffic.

The farmers of Nicholas county must wake up, says County Agent L. S. Robbins, who was here Monday and Tuesday of last week on the corn question. Mr. Robbins says that good seed corn—seed that will grow—can yet be bought for $1.00 per bushel, and that is cheap for any. If he lets this opportunity slip he may have to pay as high as $16 a bushel.

Mr. Robbins asks that all who have seed corn for sale report the amount they have for sale to the county school superintendent. He will then be able to estimate and if there is enough seed corn Nicholas farmers will need and have it shipped in.

This estimate will be held following a convention of farmers called to meet in Carlisle on Saturday, March 23, at 1 o'clock. If you are a farmer you are urged and requested to be there, both for your own sake and for the good of your country. The nation must have corn and it must raise it. You can't raise it without the seed corn and besides you are going to lose money off of your own pocket, if you do not cooperate with these Government agents. Be sure to come and report at that time, if you have not already reported, the amount of seed corn you have for sale or if you have none, the amount of seed corn you need.

Don't forget the date, Saturday, March 23, at the court house at 1 o'clock.

Let's stamp out the smallpox epidemic.

RAGING WIND SENDS BRICK CRASHING INTO THEATRE

Eleven Killed And Three Score Wounded In Fearful Moving Picture Theatre Tragedy At City Of Winchester

A great calamity befell the city of Winchester at 7:45 o'clock last Saturday night when twelve persons were killed and fully fifty others were injured many of whom may die from their injuries. The news of the catastrophe spread rapidly over that section of Kentucky around the grief stricken city that night and by noon Sunday the news had spread to all surrounding towns of Central Kentucky.

The news reached Carlisle about eight o'clock Sunday morning and extra particulars could be gathered and such concessions was caused as the awful tragedy.

The cause of the disaster was due to negligence. On last Thursday night a fierce wind storm visited Winchester which blew part of the three-story building of the brick business store on the north side of Main street in the business section of the city. The back wall was left standing and under a high wind stress it collapsed and fell down through the roof of the Jewell motion picture theatre killing twelve people, and injuring as many more that their death and fifty score in attendance at the time of the accident was the greatest in the front end of the amusement house. When the brick came a panic ensued. People made a mad rush to reach the street and after the house was emptied there was a stampede caused by relatives and friends endeavoring to search the ruins for their loved ones. A horrible sight confronted those doing the rescue work. Little children were found under great masses of brick and wood structure dead and injured. The dead were removed to the two undertaking establishments of the city and the injured were sent to the hospitals and to their respective homes.

Mrs. Robert Baker, a former Nicholas county girl, the daughter of Mr. Jim McCord of East Union, was in the building and was removed from a heap of brick in an unconscious condition. Her husband of three years was at her side and was dead when reached. Mrs. Baker's father has just gone to Winchester on last Friday for a visit with his daughter and was with them but fortunately escaped injury. Mrs. McCord was notified that night of the accident and left immediately to be with her daughter.

Charles Martin of Compton, this county, was in the building and escaped with only a very slight scratch on the face, Dudley and George Spencer, sons of Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Spencer, also attended the show on Saturday night, but by fate they left before the disaster.

The dead are:

A. Fehl, 45 years of age, who is a cousin of N. Effron of this city.

Beaufort Noel, 21, farmer.

George Friday, 12.

Hazelton Friday, 8.

Robert Baker, 25.

Jesse Adams, 17.

Andrew Henry, 10.

Tommy Thomas, 12

Russell Smith, 12.

Ben Hughes, 16.

Coleman Aldridge, 15.

Mrs. Lucy Hendrickson Friday were brothers and were sons of Col. Friday who was at the time of the accident at Lexington. When he heard of the death of his two sons he sank to the floor of the lobby of the Phoenix Hotel, of some friend himself up and hastened to the scene. Mrs. Friday was present at the time Vic Bloomfield, a part owner of the Jewell Theatre, pointed out the seats which were occupied by the two Friday boys but on the fatal night they gave the seats up to the little boys that their death and found seats in the rear of the building.

Representatives of the State Fire Marshal's office from Lexington and Frankfort arrived in Winchester Monday and will conduct a searching investigation and fix responsibility for the disaster where it belongs. Miner & Bloomfield, owners and operators of the Jewelle Theatre, claim that permission had been given them by Mayor Sevenson and Councilman Wheeler, in spite of the danger of the wind, to operate their theatre last night. The investigation will determine who is right.

At a mass meeting at the Winchester court house Sunday $5,000 was raised for relief work and burial of the victims, most of whom were from poor families. An additional $500 was raised among the churches of Winchester.

Jim Catsette is a handsome Percheron stallion, weighing 1,900 pounds, and has been unusually successful in the show ring. He has shown seventeen times and won seventeen first premiums. Mr. Snell will stand the horse at his farm near Paris.—[Kentucky Gazette.
