MOST IMPORTANT NEWS OF WORLD

BIG HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK CUT TO LAST ANALYSIS.

DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN ITEMS

Kernels Culled From Events of Moment in All Parts of the World—Of Interest to All the People Everywhere.

U.S.—Teutonic War News

"Thirty hand Americans must go the limit to help lick the kaiser, and must lend his dollars to Uncle Sam until it pinches and squeezes," was the message brought to Chicago by William G. Mcadoo, secretary of the treasury.

• • •

Belgium was granted another credit of $7,250,000 by the United States treasury, making her total borrowings from the United States $107,850,000 and credits to all the allies $7,750,000,000.

• • •

Instructions made public National Defense Day directed that on the day before the end of May were seen in the announcement of the war department that fourth officer training schools will be held in only 24 camps.

• • •

Maj. Raoul Lufbery of Wallingford, Conn., destroyed his eighteenth German airplane in France on Thursday, according to word received in Washington. Lufbery brought down his fifth German plane within the same day, thus becoming the latest American ace.

• • •

"Men of action—meaner men"—are needed for America to win the war, Secretary of War Baker told congress. Secretary of War Baker in addition to his appearance before congress, declared that the success of the war depends on young rather than old men. A most promising picture of the vast preparations the United States is making in France for the fighting was given up the secretary's talk before the committee.

• • •

European War News

During March British aircraft in France dropped 36,170 bombs and the German forces dropped 2,405 bombs, the air ministry announced on London.

• • •

A Turkish official communication from Constantinople says: "We have occupied the fortress of Kars and captured 500 guns."

• • •

Vice Admiral Schroeder, the commander at Zeebrugge, according to reports received in Amsterdam, will be deprived of his command for being taken by surprise by the British fleet.

• • •

News of the torpedoing in Spanish territorial waters of the French steamer Provence was contained in dispatches received in Washington from France. The Spanish press, the dispatch said, is incensed over the incident.

• • •

Domestic

Five persons—a farmer, his wife and three children—were slain at Elkton, Mich., and Herman Wittig, forty-five, a German farmer, has confessed the crime, according to Sheriff Edward Wilson Kimball, forty; Mrs. Cora Kimball, thirty-five; Clarence Kimball, seven; Charles Kimball, five; Lorraine Kimball, two.

• • •

William Ellsworth, president of the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company and a naturalized citizen of the United States, was arrested at the request of justice agents at Shreveport, La., on an affidavit charging violation of the espionage act.

• • •

Miss Marie S. Stevens, suspected by federal officials of being a German spy, and who has been in jail in Kansas City for the last 11 months, was released on $10,000 bond, signed by agents of the department of justice.

• • •

The first consignment of 1,000 rifles were unable to produce registration cards were arrested by police.

• • •

Carl Dargatz, thirty-five, an enemy alien, arrested in June by federal authorities as a draft evader, but later released, was tentatively killed at Seattle, Wash., when a bomb which the police say he was manufacturing exploded.

• • •

Members of the state constabulary were ordered to the scene of the Herrin, Ill., mine riots, it was announced by Governor Lowden. The order is due to a fog. The "Jackie Special" with 1,000 men aboard, was struck by the Waukegan local, which was following closely behind.

• • •

Employees of the navy-yard, no matter what capacity, are not entitled to deferred classification, Provost Marshal General Crowder has informed state authorities at Albany.

• • •

The first woman enemy alien to be arrested in New York city under the proclamation of the new enemy alien law, is Mrs. Hedwig Reicher, wife of Emil Reicher Schuetz, wife of a German, who is said to be a friend of Alexander Von Berkenheim.

• • •

Judge Walter Greene of the Missouri supreme court has been offered by Governor Gardner the United States senatorship made vacant by the death of the late Senator Stone, and the appointment was refused by Speaker of the House Champ Clark.

• • •

Way to Test the World.

There is one way for every man to determine the honesty whether the world is growing better or worse. Ask him if he has to be on a jury without being asked. If he answers "Yes," you may be sure the number of people who agree with him in increasing or diminishing—Hamilton Post.

• • •

Seen in a Different Light.

There stood an old peddler resting his weary feet and contemplating with the morning of the waiters. He was tired and weary after a hard day's walking, and as he looked down into the waters he murmured: "Sweet Vale of Avoca, how deceitful you are!" Just as he had to be on a jury without being asked. If he answers "Yes," you may be sure the number of people who agree with him in increasing or diminishing—Hamilton Post.

• • •

First and Last Thoughts.

In matters of conscience first thoughts are best; in matters of prudence last thoughts are best.—Robert Hall.

We Do Not Know What War Means

War Correspondent Declares Even Neutral Countries Feel It More Than We.

MUST MAKE EVERY SACRIFICE

To Win This War the American People Must Awaken to Full Realization of All It Means and All It Demands.

Chicago.—"We do not know that we are at war. Five thousand miles away our troops are moving into battle. In the trenches and hospitals behind the battle lines are watched with anxious eyes. Here at home we are complacently told the price we must pay to write a bond line of Victory," declared Oswald F. Schuette, for three years war correspondent of the Chicago News with the armies of the Central powers, in an address before the Press club of Chicago.

"A year ago we were told to raise the flags of the republic. We pledged ourselves to stand by the colors. Today the greatest of world wars might descend. The American people are ready to make any sacrifice. But as yet they do not know ever here what war really is. I have come out of three years in that inferno. All Europe is ashes, blood and tears. It is a shambles of human flesh. Not one of the countries is a hundred miles from the war. There is not a country, not a home, not a heart that is not touched by it. It is a war of extermination, of annihilation, of necessity, of grim compulsion. They have learned it. We are learning it now also. They are saving because they must. Economy is forced upon them. Every penny counts. Every crust of bread is a breath. War is a tragic reality for them. They see their sons who left the streets to remind them of the war—have I not, they answered me. War postpones our their meager rations. War is the one thing that stands out in front of their daily life, and the proportions of it are magnified a thousand fold. The people of the United States are the only nations in warfare. War's shadow is behind the nations in the gray of the trenches that their boys may be saved.

"We hardly know these things. We are revelling in luxury, and call it war prosperity. We are living in a fool's paradise. I have been away for the two weeks since I landed in New York then in the three years of my experiences.

"I do not say this as a complaint. I say it as a warning. We must learn quickly the great lessons of this war. For every day we wait now will cost us dearly in the end. If we learn enough, they will end the war. Before this war we must awaken to a full realization of all it means and all it demands. We must be in it, not one million strong, but one hundred million strong. We must make economy the law of the land, a religion for the people.

"Five weeks ago, I was in General Pershing's headquarters in France and saw our soldiers march out to unknown destinies in the trenches. Proudly they marched, knowing that they carried with them the hearts and the prayers of our great nation. Now it is up to us to show them that we are behind them. And we will do so.

"We must awaken from the false tale that our country is prospering, that prosperity is on the verge of revulsion, that the war area is nearly exhausted and how people are starving. We have become the richest nation in the world. A year that has past, Germany is not starving, but we are starving for the glory for three years. But Germany does not starve as in the war.

"Shortly after the tweak of diplomatic relations a year ago, one of the men still in Berlin for the Daily News, Karl Von Wiegand, received a message from one of the American consuls in the reconstructed pessimists. It was a critical one. The pessimists said they could save the pessimists. But they said the pessimists would never recover. The Berlin food rations, they said, would not permit that. Germany could not do so, they said, because she could not get enough food. Then Von Wiegand set out to take spin and butter and milk and other unknown luxuries to bring a man back from the grave. At that time, the food rations were about one every five months. Every time you look at the calendar, a coupon on the egg card is torn off. Every time you look at the calendar, a coupon on the egg card is torn off. Every time you look at the calendar, a coupon on the egg card is torn off