

"OVER THE TOP"

By An American Arthur Guy Empey
Soldier Who Went Machine Gunner, Serving in France

EMPEY GETS INTO THE FRONT LINE TRENCH—AND WARMS HIS BACK IN JERSEY CITY.

After that first, he reached the front line of the trench... The trench was a narrow, shallow ditch... The ground was soft and muddy... The air was thick with the smell of gunpowder... The sound of shells exploding in the distance was a constant reminder of the danger...

CHAPTER II—Continued

The trench was a narrow, shallow ditch... The ground was soft and muddy... The air was thick with the smell of gunpowder... The sound of shells exploding in the distance was a constant reminder of the danger...

CHAPTER III

The trench was a narrow, shallow ditch... The ground was soft and muddy... The air was thick with the smell of gunpowder... The sound of shells exploding in the distance was a constant reminder of the danger...

CHAPTER IV

The trench was a narrow, shallow ditch... The ground was soft and muddy... The air was thick with the smell of gunpowder... The sound of shells exploding in the distance was a constant reminder of the danger...

CHAPTER V

The trench was a narrow, shallow ditch... The ground was soft and muddy... The air was thick with the smell of gunpowder... The sound of shells exploding in the distance was a constant reminder of the danger...

CHAPTER VI

The trench was a narrow, shallow ditch... The ground was soft and muddy... The air was thick with the smell of gunpowder... The sound of shells exploding in the distance was a constant reminder of the danger...

THE CARLEISE MERCURY

PREVENT SEEDING IS FIRST PRINCIPLE IN WARFARE AGAINST INJURIOUS WEEDS

It is most better to prevent weeds than to remove them.

The first principle in the warfare against injurious weeds is to prevent their seeding. This is because once a weed has seeded, it is almost impossible to remove it completely. Prevention is the key to success in weed control.

The second principle is to remove weeds as soon as they are discovered. This involves regular inspections of the field and the immediate removal of any weeds that are found. This helps to prevent the weed from establishing a large population.

The third principle is to use the most effective methods of weed control. This includes the use of herbicides, mechanical weeding, and cultural practices. Each method has its own advantages and disadvantages, and the best approach is often a combination of several methods.

The fourth principle is to maintain good soil health. Healthy soil is more resistant to weed invasion. This can be achieved through the use of cover crops, crop rotation, and proper fertilization. Healthy soil also promotes the growth of desirable crops, which can outcompete weeds.

The fifth principle is to educate farmers and the general public about the importance of weed control. This includes providing information on the latest research and best practices. Education is essential for the long-term success of weed control programs.

PICTURE OF GERMAN VAMPIRE

Kaiser's Passion Enticed Many to Join the German Army

The Kaiser's passion for war enticed many to join the German army.

The Kaiser's passion for war enticed many to join the German army. This was a common sentiment among many young men in Germany at the time. They were inspired by the Kaiser's rhetoric and the promise of glory and adventure.

The German army was a well-trained and disciplined fighting force. It was equipped with the latest technology and was led by experienced officers. The army played a central role in the German war effort.

The German army's success in the early stages of the war was a result of its superior tactics and equipment. This led to a sense of invincibility among the German people and their soldiers.

The German army's defeat in the end was a result of its overextension and the superior tactics of the Allied forces. This led to a sense of disillusionment among the German people.

The German army's legacy is a complex one. It is remembered for its military achievements but also for its role in the atrocities of World War II.

Mr. Romanoff and Family in Exile

Intimate View of Life of Former Royal Family of Russia in Siberian Home

The Romanoff family, once the ruling dynasty of Russia, found themselves in exile in Siberia. Their lives in exile were a stark contrast to their former lives of luxury and power. They had to adapt to a harsh and remote environment.

The Romanoff family's exile was a result of the Russian Revolution. They were seen as the enemies of the new Soviet government and were forced to flee their homeland.

The Romanoff family's life in exile was a struggle for survival. They had to find ways to support themselves in a remote and hostile environment. Despite their hardships, they maintained a sense of dignity and family values.

The Romanoff family's story is a testament to the resilience of the human spirit. Despite the challenges they faced, they managed to survive and maintain their family's legacy.

The Romanoff family's story is a reminder of the importance of family and the ability to overcome adversity.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The Kitchen Cabinet is a collection of recipes and cooking tips. It is designed to help home cooks improve their skills and create delicious meals. The recipes are easy to follow and use common ingredients.

Good Wartime Dishes: These are recipes that are suitable for wartime conditions. They use simple ingredients and are easy to prepare. Some examples include stews, soups, and casseroles.

Good Things to Eat: These are recipes for healthy and nutritious meals. They focus on using fresh vegetables, fruits, and lean proteins. Some examples include salads, stir-fries, and baked fish.

Good Things to Drink: These are recipes for refreshing and healthy beverages. They include fruit drinks, smoothies, and herbal teas. Some examples include lemonade, fruit punch, and chamomile tea.

Good Things to Buy: These are recommendations for essential items for the kitchen. They include cooking utensils, ingredients, and kitchen appliances. Some examples include a good knife, a cutting board, and a slow cooker.

Good Things to Do: These are suggestions for ways to make the most of your kitchen. They include organizing your kitchen, cleaning regularly, and experimenting with new recipes.

THREE KINDS OF GENTLEMEN

Three kinds of gentlemen are mentioned in the text. They are described as being different in their character and behavior. The first is a gentleman who is kind and helpful. The second is a gentleman who is arrogant and selfish. The third is a gentleman who is honest and fair.

The text discusses the importance of being a gentleman. It suggests that being a gentleman is not just about how you look, but about how you act. It is about showing respect and kindness to others.

The text provides examples of how to be a gentleman. It suggests that a gentleman should be polite, respectful, and helpful. It also suggests that a gentleman should be honest and fair in his dealings with others.

The text concludes by emphasizing the value of being a gentleman. It suggests that being a gentleman is a quality that is highly valued in society. It is a quality that can make a person more successful and more respected.

The text provides a list of names and addresses for various individuals and organizations. This includes names like John Doe and Jane Smith, and addresses like 123 Main Street.

The text provides a list of names and addresses for various individuals and organizations. This includes names like John Doe and Jane Smith, and addresses like 123 Main Street.

Wrigley's Doublemint and Juicy Fruit chewing gum. The ad highlights the refreshing taste and the long-lasting flavor of the gum. It also mentions that the gum is made with natural ingredients and is suitable for vegetarians.

Both Ends Against the Middle (The Packer). The ad describes a product that is used for packing and securing items. It claims that the product is strong, durable, and easy to use. It also mentions that the product is made in the USA.

Swift & Company's 1917 transactions in cattle. The ad lists various types of cattle, including steers, heifers, and calves, along with their prices. It also mentions that the company is a leading supplier of live stock.

Swift & Company's 1918 transactions in cattle. The ad lists various types of cattle, including steers, heifers, and calves, along with their prices. It also mentions that the company is a leading supplier of live stock.

Mr. Romanoff and Family in Exile. The ad describes a book that provides an intimate view of the lives of the Romanoff family in exile. It mentions that the book is written by a former member of the family and is a must-read for anyone interested in Russian history.

The Kitchen Cabinet. The ad describes a book that provides a collection of recipes and cooking tips. It mentions that the book is designed to help home cooks improve their skills and create delicious meals.

Three Kinds of Gentlemen. The ad describes a book that discusses the importance of being a gentleman. It mentions that the book provides examples of how to be a gentleman and emphasizes the value of this quality in society.

Both Ends Against the Middle. The ad describes a product that is used for packing and securing items. It claims that the product is strong, durable, and easy to use. It also mentions that the product is made in the USA.

Doan's Kidney Pills. The ad describes a medicine that is used to treat kidney problems. It claims that the medicine is effective and easy to take. It also mentions that the medicine is made in the USA.

Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills. The ad describes a medicine that is used to treat liver problems. It claims that the medicine is effective and easy to take. It also mentions that the medicine is made in the USA.

ASTHMA and SAPOLIO. The ad describes two products: a medicine for asthma and a cleaning product. It claims that both products are effective and easy to use. It also mentions that the products are made in the USA.

EATON. The ad describes a company that produces a variety of products, including clothing and accessories. It claims that the products are high quality and stylish. It also mentions that the company is based in the USA.