LOCAL BOARDS HAVE NEVER FAILED ME—RHODES

In his bulletin soliciting the entrance of 28 men from this county between October 7th and 12th, Mr. Henry F. Rhodes, county agent for Service in Kentucky, says: "The local boards which I attended and herein the local boards of the State of Kentucky are placed in a position where the result of the registration and enrollment of this large force of men has been a wonderful piece of work point in the machinery of the Selective Service organization in the State. You are today exempted with work on account of the late registration which was carried out very efficiently, and with the making of all the questionnaires and classifications which I registered and who were between the ages of nineteen and thirty-seven. My local boards have never yet failed on any task, no matter how great it was, and I am sure that they have made such confidence that, although you have many work today than ever before, this large call which is the largest single call ever announced by the President, will be met with the same efficiency on the part of your boards.

HENRY F. RHODES."

My Dear Aunt Mat:—I've a notion the distance that one is removed from the scenes of his early days gives much stronger sense to ties of kinship and to the memories of childhood. At home, in a very performance routine of Southern England, my memory seems not back to old Carlisle and pleasant recollections of days gone by come with overwhelming suddenness. Many times have I died in the cottage on the hill and the times when Bessie and Mary Hardin and Lucy Ann and Mr. Robert used Sunday at the home of Mr. Elmer Martin.

Miss Lizzie Hendricks delivered an address at the meeting of the A. A. Society at Bethel Church Sunday.
