VOL. LII CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1919. NUMBER 19

COMMENT

If you are a true Kentuckian and a real American you will enjoy the war Master Henry edition of the Courier-Journal, issued last Sunday as a tribute to America's foremost editor. It is a splendid paper in every way, or stand a report.

The architect of the column hopes that no local designer of fishing tackle will be induced to make a winding outfit of spelling equipment nominated at least not for the present. Let March 4th have its own way, and relative tax report to the government.

The League of Nations plan may be all wrong and there may be many good objections, judging from what little all of us know about it, but it won't hurt to try it out. War, anyone will admit, is a terrible thing, and why say to settle controversy by all means let us try anything that will delay, if it does nothing else, the declaration of war between civilized people.

Amid the floating of the Victory Loan, the editor of this paper likes to compare the undertaking to a fire in a small town where everybody always self-appointed leaders to tell what to do and how to do it, but practically no one with a configuration to act. But when the fire is out, and they fix up the damage to slip away. All of us will be tempted to help the other fellow, but none—helping clean up the debris and help rebuild the burned district. Let this Victory Loan be a success all means let us try anything that will delay, if it does nothing else, the declaration of war between civilized people.

Mr. Frank B. Lindsey, of Gibson, Montana, tells us that he enjoys following clippings from a Mississippi paper, entitled "Hints And Helps To Happiness." We hope every "daddy" in the country should make a fat heart in it—and wisdom.

Mr. Lindsey is a subscriber. Are you and your son "buddies?"

"Buddies" indeed! Are you and your father "buddies?"

The world war, just ending, has brought into existence a word that means a wonderful fact—that fathers and sons can be and are chums and to their sons; that there should be a "buddy" relation between them. Let us hope that this relation will be a permanent one—helping clean up the debris and help rebuild the burned district.

Let there be formerly a workman in The Tribune composing room, whom we called "Buddy." He was a splendid workman, but he went to work, lived through all sorts of hardships and finally found a "buddy" on the battlefields of France, that "buddy" saved his life, and they became fast friends.

The buddy started out back in 1898 on the 21st of December, along about 3 o'clock in the morning. He was a mere speck in the world, but he had a feeling in my heart that he was going to become as close to me as any other boy we should ever know.

It seems as if that whenever I wanted anything I always went to mother for it, and from I have been a mother's boy. "Have you got," "Let me take," and "Can I go" were always to mother. I never got to go to school, instead of going to you. It was mother who always encouraged me to go to school, and to get my just for the asking, and I know that I have been a mother's boy ever since. When I was home I used to go to you and ask you for money, but now that I am going to have a home of my own, I suppose I will have to go to mother, and I never could dope it out any other way. I guess that's why they named it WILLIAM TELL. Things always come out right, there isn't any waste, and it goes further. Mother says WILLIAM TELL FLOUR just saves half."

DAISY BAKER

Now, there is a boy that I am going to be the best "buddies" that God Almighty ever hooked up together. When I was home I only had one mother, but now I have a wife and a family, and I'm going to have a home. I suppose I will have to, as I never went before, as I never went to you when I was in some little scrape, and mother would always have done. I have to laugh when I think of the days that my mother is dead, and it so happens to have it she'd say: "Get one from Pa." And I'd go to you for flour for an hour before I got home. Then I'd get back to mother and say: "Ma, I got some flour in your life, but yet I had the nerve to go to you and get some more."

The only reason was because we weren't "buddies." We weren't pals and together—you went your way and I went mine, and you never said: "Come on, son, we're pals, you and I are "buddies." When I got back you'd generally be asleep, and I'm going to look out for you. I was always afraid to wake you, and I was afraid I'd get money. I've never smoked something and I never will, because you never did. You'd wear a sweater on today," and all that day I would wear a sweater, but I'd never smoke or something. The "buddies" that stand together and stand you and we weren't "buddies." Great Change Coming.

But that's all going to be changed when you and I get together again. The first time I see there is something on the line I am going to step you on the back and say: "Hello, old pard." I have been waiting for you and I want to know what it is; come I'm your "buddie." And you are going to come and put your arm around the shoulder, and you are going to say: "Hello, old pard, what's the matter with you?" "buddies," and before we get out of it we will drop a tear.

When I used to make a bad in a game of cards now and then, I found myself going up to you and saying: "Pa, I've got a bad hand, will you help me?" You always would say: "Sure, I'll help you." But now I have a wife and a baby, and I'm going to be a "buddie" to them. I'll start all over. It won't take us 21 years to find out that we were "buddies" and that we weren't the best of pals from the minute you took me in your arms. Your Son,

Gene.

TAX RATE RAISED TO $1.00 BY CITY COUNCIL

The Carlisle City Council met Monday night and raised the tax rate to $1.00 on the $100 valuation. The most important business transacted was the passage of the city tax levy for the ensuing year. From a tax rate of 75 cents to $1 is a raise of 25 cents. It was also decided to make the city tax rates for the year 1919 due and the city will be instructed from approximately $7,000 to $10,000 be raised in council that it would be impossible to collect the taxes in any manner if improvements are to be made in any manner if improvements unless the tax rate was raised a greater city had been increased practically up to the limit. Increased cost of living and the high cost of labor and materials is said to be the cause of getting behind with the city finances.

Five hundred feet of hose for the fire department was purchased from the Fabric Fire Hose Company of Greenville, Ohio, at $1.00 per foot or $500. Same is to be delivered within the next twenty days, or not later than the first week in April. The hose is to be tested to 300 pounds pressure.

NINE MILLION MARK MAY BE REACHED SOON

CARLISLE MARKET SOLD TO MARCH 1.

1917	7,200,250
1918	8,000,000
1919	8,000,000

There appears to be no end to the present extraordinary activity in real estate. Some grades have declined more than 15 to 20 cents within the past two days causing tobacco markets to be unsettled. Many sales are now being made to farmers in the country, who were late in marketing or delivering their crops.

In many instances in Nicholas county the owners of the tobacco in the tobacco barns of the influenza epidemic which was at its height last fall and the crop was then ripe and could not be stripped out and placed on the market. In such cases a heavy slump has been the result. When the crop was finally stripped and placed on the market a million pounds of tobacco in this market unsold and farmers generally were now holding it. Many of the largest buyers on this market have quit buying for the season. It is understood that the same condition prevails in other markets. It is thought that the slump was caused from an over-estimate of the crop and at this time the buyers have all they can handle. Manufacturers has gone most heavily into stocks.

In this section were over here Friday the local market had sold 8,000,000 pounds of tobacco and it is safe to say that the amount is approximately 9,000,000 pounds. The season is now about over and during the present week. Of the 1,000,000 pounds sold Farmers 2,000,000 and the Burley 1,000,000.

To March 1st, 1918, the market had sold 7,000,000 pounds, and the crop of 1917, the market had sold 7,000,000 pounds and the entire crop of 1916 was sold by March 1st. Prospects indicate that the Carlisle market will sell 9,000,000 pounds of tobacco by March 1st, Dry Prospect and the Burley 1,000,000 pounds.

The Harper Garage was granted a permit to erect an addition to their building on Ward Main, same to cost $1,000.
