DAPHNE DISCOVERS THAT HER MONEY WILL NOT GO FAR IN BUYING A TROUSSEAU IN NEW YORK.

Synopsis.—Clay Windsorn, a young New Yorker on a visit to Cleveland, meets pretty Daphne Kip, whose brother is in the same office with Clay in Wall street. After a whirlwind courtship they become engaged.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

Mr. Bassett sulked. "Not old Wesley Kip's money?"

"I believed did hear Miss Kip call her father 'Wesley.'"

"Well, I'd like to help Wes out. I suppose I might take a chance—you think you can pay for the ring in ninety days?"

"Easily!"

Windsorn would have promised to tear down the world and rebuild it in ninety days.

"I shall have to add a little to the price for the risk and the accommodation."

Anything you like" said Clay mag nificently.

"All right—two hundred dollars."

Clay's face fell. "Couldn't hardly begin over on engagement ring."

"I'll ask you for a ring from stock."

"With pleasure."

He would have signed an agreement to surrender a pound of his flesh.

They turned out to find Daphne and Jason on her the glittering glove.

He might have taken alarm from the immense and greedy rapture Daphne bestowed at the sight of the paraded showing set in the golden circlet. Jason had not known that girls were so diamonds.

Windsorn noted with the joy the novice gives to Daphne and the poverty of her delight in the gift. He resolved to her double duty and more and to add to the letter. He felt that he was getting off cheap for thirty scalp, and it never fails to work.

If you want to present her pretty and soft your hair really is worth while. Just with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. Adv.

An Olde Case

Mr. E. F. Cooper, of Cooperstown, Otsego Co., N. Y., says: "I had a severe case of kidney trouble. I was confined to my bed for two months. I had a physician in attendance, but he did not help me. I was in a terrible condition. I had a severe pain in my back, and my kidneys were in bad shape. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box at the drug store and began using them. In a few days I was able to get up. I used Doan's Kidney Pills for about two weeks and was entirely cured. I have had no trouble with my kidneys since."

Over two years later Mr. Cooper said: "I still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me when I was in bad shape and I have never had any trouble with my kidneys since."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Cooper had. 50c a box.

"Of course," said Mrs. Kip.

"Of course not!" said Mr. Kip.

"Why not?" said Mrs. Kip.

"The expense is the why not! What's the use of spending a fortune on clothes? The money that goes out for these honeymoons might better be turned into the wedding fund. Lord knows Daphne will need dollars more than she needs duds if she marries that young fellow."

Daphne was startled in a revolt. "Oh, but I'll be glad to be free from this everlasting talk about money. I hate it. I hate to take it from you. If it weren't for you I'd bring to you and ask you to spend a cent; I'd be ashamed to my self before high heaven, I'm marrying a man who has more money every year. He's grim dearn't.

In her own heart she did not realize what a grievous wound she dealt the parents whose love she had so little for slighted.

Mrs. Kip was the first to feel the sting. "Daphne, you're getting very cruel. He usually sneaked it in about his business correspondence and took great pains that it should never show first in the letter. It was the third thirty in the afternoon. A specialdelivery message put the matter in Daphne's hands every next forenoon. But after the third it was Jason himself who remembered that he had omitted to send a check for the month's allowance. So he had to write a letter. Then he
