Happenings of the World Tersely Told

Personal

David M. Perine of New York, expert identifier of money, passer of the queer detective of the Pennsylvania railroad, died at Trenton.

• • •

Lord Curzon has died at London, aged forty-five. He was married to Florence Leiter Burke, a Californian heiress, in 1916.

• • •

Julius H. Barnes, president of the Federal Grain corporation, has been appointed chairman of the board of the United States by President Wilson, it was announced at the office of the food administration at New York.

• • •

Dan Mercer, Ia., was selected for the next meeting place of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at a session of the body announced at Cleveland.

Peace Notes

It is announced issued by President Wilson at Paris explaining his position on the Adriatic question. The note also declares that France cannot become a part of it.

• • •

David Lloyd George, British prime minister, has agreed to receive Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and other members of the labor mission now in London.

• • •

A Warsaw special says the German soldiers' council at Posen has decided to take a referendum on peace if the German delegates reject President Wilson's fourteen points.

Domestic

Governor Sleeper of Lansing, Mich., has issued a call for the special session of the legislature to meet Monday to ratify the world war peace treaty and the league of nations covenant, and to consider other matters.

• • •

A Flint field flying circus will be established at Flint, Mich., by the manufacturing men of Tuscarora, Inc., which will purchase a number of machines and hangars at Mount Clemens.

• • •

The bonding committee of Chicago, who have been on the job for the last two months, reported the following: a reduction of the bonded debt of $28,000; a cash balance of $28 per cent, and 41 loans.

• • •

A wage settlement conference between the Pacific Coast Shipbuilders' association and the Metal Trades council, representing four of the principal unions, was held at San Francisco.

• • •

The bonding committee of Chicago, who have been on the job for the last two months, reported the following: a reduction of the bonded debt of $28,000; a cash balance of $28 per cent, and 41 loans.

• • •

At Atlantic City, N. J., May 2 1919, was signed the first treaty known by that name. It was between Spain and the United States. The war, which had begun between these two countries on account of the struggle between France and Spain for the possession of the Netherlands, on the death of Philip II., King of Spain, was carried on by the kings and queens of both countries. The most remarkable incident in the history of the war was the capture of Cadiz by the English, which was represented, on the part of the English, by the Earl of Essex, and on the part of the Spanish by Don Pedro Henriquez de Guzman, Count of Olivares. The treaty was signed at the Spanish village on the Atlantic coast of Monterey, and was signed by a delegate of nine years between Spain and the United States. The treaty was signed by the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and by the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and by the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and