Mr. A. J. Butler, aged 72, died Monday at 9 p. m. of general debility. He had been in failing health for some time and for the past several weeks had been attended by a nurse. The greater part of his life was spent in and around Millersburg. He had been a devoted member of the Methodist church for many years. He was a carpenter by trade and followed his vocation closely, up to within a short time of his death. He was united in marriage early in life to Miss Kizzie Beth Hamm. Their union was blessed with eight children. His wife and youngest daughter preceded him to the grave. He is survived by four daughters, Miss Sue, Nannie, Lyda and Ethel Butler. Three sons, Messrs W. A. Butler, of the Millersburg Coal and Lumber Co., Rufus Butler, dealer in groceries, and Richard Butler, track druggist for L. & N. of Ravenna. The funeral was conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at his late residence by his pastor, Rev. J. W. Gardner, assisted by R. C. C. Fisher of the M. C. Interment in the family lot in the Millersburg Cemetery. Pall Bearers: H. D. Jones, A. S. Miller, D. F. Jones, J. R. Mc-Daniel, A. S. Best and R. C. Best.

The farm of the late J. F. Miller, containing 150 acres was sold at public sale Friday to Artis Wiggins, for $321 per acre.

The Millersburg Chautauqua, will open on Monday, July 14th, continuing through Saturday, 19th. No future issues for further particulars.

Mrs. M. M. Jones was with her brother, Mr. Kookendoffer, at the Base Hospital, Louisville, a few days last week. Mr. Kookendoffer has just returned from France, where he sustained wounds that are thought not to be serious.

The Millersburg Graded school closed last Friday. The children enjoyed a picnic dinner on the school ground and most of the day was spent in pleasure between the children and teachers.

Mrs. W. M. Miller left Friday for the home of her cousin, Mrs. Adams, at Tuscola, Ill., where she will spend the summer.

Mrs. Mattie B. Hawes, is spending a few days with friends in Cincinnati.

Mrs. and Mrs. Wm. Letton, of Atlanta, Ga., arrived Wednesday as guests of his mother and sister, Mrs. Jennie Letton, and daughter, Miss Leona Letton.

Mrs. Mary Borton and son, of Mineola, Texas, arrived Tuesday to the home of her sister, Mrs. C. B. Smith. Mrs. Boston will make her future home in Millersburg, and has taken rooms with Mrs. A. L. Hafford. She was formerly Miss Louise Jacoby and her early life was spent in Millersburg. Her many friends welcome her return to her old home town.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Ball are visiting their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ball, in Louisville.

The campaign for our consolidated school, is now on, and is arousing a white heat. Both sides are actively at work and it is hard to go. Get the Statement of Facts. Add votes in the school houses in the district before Tuesday night, at the Letton school house by J. V. Chapman, Trust. Final vote at Supervisor. Wednesday, on Turbeyville, Mt. O. R. Hurst delivered a brilliant address. Tonight Dr. Ford Hatchker, of State University will speak at the McDavis school. The campaign will close Friday night at Long Lane school house with Messrs. J. Coats, President of Eastern Normal, and Dr. M. C. Ford, of Western Normal, will address the people in Millersburg.

NEWspaper ADVERTISING IN WAR AND PEACE

The Liberty Loan drives, the Red Cross drives, the various war charities were made successful with the use of newspaper advertising.

Nothing else would have aroused the people as quickly.

No means of communication with the mass of the people would have been so prompt and so low in cost.

Today newspaper advertising is helping bring the world back to peace.

It is opening the natural channel of commerce, starting the mines and mills and opening jobs for the returning soldiers.

LETTER FROM DAVE BARNETT

Eller Germany,
May 1st, 1919.

Dear Mother and Father:—After quite a transportation of forty days we landed O. K. in Germany. It was not such a long trip, but the train was held up at many points. At Verdun we were held up for ten hours. Our train was brought from France to the German boundary by the Americans and there we were met by a German crew and engine which brought us to Coblenz. This is a beautiful little town on the Moselle river, about 18 kilometers below Cabelong—about two miles from rail on the train. The people treat us very good. I am staying at a real nice home, have a good feather bed all to myself, everything with water and lights, sure to let better than sleeping in a hay mow in France. The only trouble I have is in trying to talk to them. Last night the old lady came up to my room and took me down stairs my husband can speak a little English, he has been a soldier in Toledo, O. and his son is a prisoner of war in France. I believe the fare on the passenger is much easier to learn than the French, but just when I get to going to learn the French we move and I will have to start over again.

About the first question they asked me was whether or not I was English, I said I was English, American. They sure do hate the English, but really do like the American. The country in this section is mountain, but thickly populated. Of course it is similar to France; the people all live in towns, but they are better towns, more buildings, streets, electric lights, good railroads and lots of large factories. The mountain sides are all cultivated, mostly vineyards. I have seen of them. Well, mother, I must close now, as it is about supper time. Hope to get out and see more of the country in a few days and then I will write and tell you more about it. Give my love to all. I will write again in a few days.

Your son,
David Barnett.

ONE BAR OPEN IN OHIO

Columbus, Ohio, May 27.—Ohio today celebrated her first day as the biggest prohibition State in the country. Constitutional prohibition, voted last November by a majority of more than 25,000, went into effect at midnight.

As far as could be learned, only one saloon was open for the sale of hard drinks in the State today. That was at Cleveland. The police closed the bar and it was announced that a test case will result to test the new constitutional provision. The lessee did a thriving business the short time it remained open.

KENTUCKY'S HONORED DEAD

The Kentucky Council of Defense has released for publication during the first week in June the list of men from this State who lost their lives in the service.

The list is a long one. It has been compiled by the State and County Historians, principally from the United States Official Bulletin, but with the personal work of the historian in each county.

While this list is not as yet complete it shows that up to this time there are 2,466 Kentucky men and women who have given their lives in the great cause of world liberty.

Every county in the State has contributed to make this grand total. The men have come from every walk in life. Grim war has taken its toll from the Mountains, the Bluegrass, the Pennyrile and the Purchase.

In this sacrifice list will be found a Major General and a Red Cross nurse. The Flower of the young manhood of the State gave their lives on the Bloody fields of Pocheleodre, the Argonne, Soissons, Verdun, Belleau Wood, St. Mihiel and Chateau Thierry. Among those men there are many who have been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for the bravery in which they lost their lives.

The list includes, of course, not only the men who died in battle, or even wounded, but also those who died at army camps and on the high seas. A soldier who has given his life from disease given it to his country just as truly as one who has been killed in battle.

In the list of soldier dead will be found names of men who died while fighting with the Canadian, the French and the British.

During the first week in June the county and State papers will publish these lists of the men who made the supreme sacrifice for their country and for the cause of liberty, and to the end that their fellow countrymen may know their names and their deeds and do them fitting honor.

OBITUARY

In loving remembrance of Angeli Ina Darrow Slone, who died at Great Lakes, Ill., September 24th, 1918.

In the graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
In her lonely grave.
Oft we think we hear her speak,
Hear her voice and see her smile,
But soon we find it is not so,
And we weep and mourn the while.

Sometime, some day we'll meet her,
Sometime, some day not even cloud
Can keep us from her,
For there we love as well.
Then we'll clasp our hands and never part,
And never say farewell.
Then we'll be happy, oh, so much more,
Than we've found it still.
And all that is left to say to her
Is his grave on a hill.

By Mother.

The Fly and the Frog.

A fly and a frog in a room one day
Had a quarrel and wished to settle the way.
Said the frog: "Let us go to the window pane
And see which can jump the farthest."

TO ASK PARDON

A special to the Danville Messenger, Saturday, read: "It is reported that Gov. Black will soon be asked to pardon George Alexander, the Paris bank wrecker. Gov. Stanley repeatedly refused to pardon Alexander and it is not known what action Gov. Black will take in the matter."

AMERICAN SEAPLANE REACHES THE CONTINENT

Washington, May 27.—Blazing the way of the first air trail from the western to eastern hemisphere, the United States Navy seaplane NC-4, under Lieutenant Commander Albert Cushing Read, swept into the harbor Lisbon, Portugal, today, the first aircraft of any kind to have crossed the Atlantic ocean under its own power and through the natural element.

Taking the air at Ponta Delgada, Azores, at 6:18 A. M., Washington time, on the last leg of the transoceanic portion of the voyage from Rockaway Beach, Long Island, to Plymouth, England, the NC-4 covered the 800 miles in 9 hours and 43 minutes, maintaining an average speed of better than 80 knots an hour. The total elapsed flying time from New Foundland to Lisbon was 26 hours and 46 minutes.

At the first opportunity the hydrplane will continue to Plymouth, 775 nautical miles to the north, Flotilla Commander Read can start tomorrow. To the Navy Department however, it makes little difference when he completes the journey. The great object of all the effort lavished on the undertaking—navigation of a seaplane across the Atlantic through the air—has been accomplished. Yesterday's ocean transportation has reached a new pinnacle and the United States Navy has led the way.

TO END DAYLIGHT SAVING

Washington, May 27.—The agricultural bill carrying appropriations of $12,828,000 and a legislative rider providing for ending the daylight saving act was before the House today when it was reported to the House, which originally totaled $11,671,000. Two items of $1,000 each were added, an insert which has caused much damage to the peace of the New York and Massachusetts.

The rider for the repeal of the daylight saving act provides the act shall be repealed on the second Sunday after the measure is signed by President Wilson.

Strikes Carry Bride to Far North.

Cupid has been busy in the labor world for he found both of the principals in the recent strike of car conductors and motormen among domestic relations since the strike is declared, with the result that Miss Ruth Jones, August bride, and Conductor Ralph Cain, of Cleveland, have departed for their honeymoon trip, which originally totaled, Niagara Falls, November from there on.

How the Months Were Named.

January gets its name from Janus, February from Februa—purification—March from Mars, the god of war; April from aperio—open; May from maia—goddess of growth and increase; July from Julius; August from Augustus Caesar; September, October, November and December from words—Eight, November from nine, December from decem—ten.

Making Goodness Attractive.

It is not enough that we should do the most popular and thank people for it. We must do it in a way to make it so much to a person's advantage to believe. If we have good things to offer we must show an attractiveness that others will be glad to accept; otherwise our message will suffer will be rejected with scorn. If we can make goodness beautiful we make it beloved.—Exchange.

Not Necessary.

It isn't absolutely necessary to say something about the weather in order to start a conversation. The topic of the day requires it of commoners and rulers alike, but it is interesting in a minor chatter.—Toledo Blade.

PROHIBITION TO BRING COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE

Hazel MacKaye Advises Going Building on Centers for Drama, Community Singe and Entertainments.

Why not turn the corner saloon into a community playhouse when the law affects the closing of those gathering places, asks Miss Hazel MacKaye, director of the Department of Pageantry and Drama of the National Young Women's Christian Association.

"I went out on the West Side of New York one night recently to attend a community drama meeting," Miss MacKaye says in explaining her theories, "and as I was riding along I noticed how many saloons there were one on every corner and another in the middle of the block, it seemed, all just blazing with lights. These lights ought not to go out with prohibition. They would present opportunities for doing while by all of the people, and what better than community drama and singing?"

Miss MacKaye feels that the war has given a great impetus to popular interest in drama and that through preparedness activities gained on the way of Americanization can be effected.

Through the community center of a big city, she says, the spirit of patriotism and foreign hatred could be transformed to these people of foreign birth.

"Poetic have been wonderful results," she said. "Miss MacKaye says, 'particularly in the Italian districts, where the people have been accustomed to the community entertainments. The community center of a city should be the community organization is now at hand, and the Y. W. C. A. is the logical place for it."

Unexpected Information.

A clergyman met his horse on a highway and asked him where he was going. "I am going to Jericho," was the reply. "Indeed," said the clergyman, "I am glad to hear it, for I am going there myself, and I will ride with you." "Then you are going to heaven," said the horse. "How do you know?" asked the clergyman. "Because," said the horse, "I have been there many times, and I never saw you there."

Poison Bottle Writing.

To distinguish a poison bottle from a patent medicine bottle, the former should be labeled with the word "poison" blown in the glass. Bottles which have been corrugated
