Columbus Too Low or Others Too High?

HOW BEST TO DETERMINE CORRECTNESS OF PRICE ASKED

Either the price of the Columbus standardized auto-track wagon is away too low or else the price of other wagons are away too high. You can figure it out for yourself by comparison.

For instance, examine some well-known wagon that sells for practically the same price as the Columbus and note carefully the ironing of the gears and the distinctive features—if they have any.

Now come over and see us and let us show you the Columbus. Compare this wagon point for point, and size of each piece of wood stock, with the other fellow's product. Note the ironing of the Columbus gears—and bear in mind how cheap the other fellow's wagon gears looked in cross-ross. Note the COLUMBUS SWIVEL-REACH-COUPLING that takes all twisting strain off the gears and brakes—and don't forget that one feature was entirely lacking on the other fellow's wagon. Note the COLUMBUS FIFTH-WHEEL that distributes the strain on the front bolster, prevents it from rocking and reduces to a minimum whipping of the tongue, etc.—and don't forget that this feature, too, was altogether lacking on the other fellow's wagon.

A difference of $15.00 to $18.00 in favor of the Columbus is apparent nearly always.

Now then—answer to your own satisfaction the question of whether the price of the COLUMBUS with strictly A-grade white oak with high carbon tire, is too low or the prices of other wagons too high, considering quality. And remember—we sell COLUMBUS AUTO-TRACK WAGONS—the "King of all Farm Wagons."

MOTOR BOAT REAL CHURCH

Gospel Ship on Puget Sound of Great Comfort to People in Remote Regions.

Of the 39 countries of western North America, 19 are accessible to seagoing vessels, according to Agnes Leuchars Hughes, in Everybody's. Hence Rev. Robert G. Seymour, a floating church, operated on Puget sound by the Y. M. C. A. Port R. Howell and his wife.

Everything about the launch the Rob ert G. Seymour has been in operation since 1909 is unique. The engine is the fifth two-year-old engine purchased. The hull construction and fittings are of the simplest variety, built and arranged for rugged usage, bringing religion to those who cannot reach it. The hull is gone often for a month at a time, and has had the unbecoming effect of toughest gales ever experienced on the sound. Not infrequently, after a sermon delivered aboard the gospel ship, a man will come forward with a question on her Bible regarding what few years he has been a relative to the latest style in flowers or hats, and always an earnest seeker after God and eternal life is ever is forthcoming—for the good pilot never omits to drop a gospel tract among his hymnals.

One woman acknowledged that a sermon preached recently by the regular pastor of the church that was the first she had heard in a dozen years. She was the mother of three children and had had no opportunity previously of hearing a church service.

MADE OVER FOR BOOKLOVERS

New York Has Substitute for Saloon, Where Literature and Soft Drinks Are Sold.

A new idea in the way of a substitute for the saloon is to be tried out in New York, the Philadelphia Inquirer says. It was the first she had heard in a dozen years. She was the mother of three children and had had no opportunity previously of hearing a church service.

The Booklovers tavern may open within a few weeks, and will be similar to the ordinary bars except that no private liquor will be served. Soft drinks will be arranged in this way and will be served by waiters. Instead of having mirrors to adorn the walls, there will be bookcases filled with books. The purchasers of soft drinks will be allowed to read the books while they have charged under reasonable limits.

It is obvious too that the kind of people who frequent the bars will have to be very carefully guarded. Only those who are known to be well, who do not loiter in front of the doors of the Booklovers tavern.

HOLY CITY NOW FORGOTTEN

Established by Mormons on Island in Lake Michigan, It Was Full of Considerable Importance.

The Wisconsin historical society has been collecting data on the Mormons who settled in and around Beaver island in Lake Michigan and afterwards removed. The history of the Mormon settlement on the island and the early Mormons who settled in Illinois and Missouri will be published by Nelson Just above Rockford.

The Mormon leader was Joseph Smith junior of the Mormons in 1844 was James J. Strang of Burlington, Wis. James Strang was born in Scriba, N. Y., in 1845 by accounts who knew him he was a young man of strong character, well informed and methodical in his habits. their headquarters and made their home on Beaver island and soon had a flourishing settlement of several hundred souls.

In April, 1850, Strang married a young girl from Voree, Wis., and in Lake Michigan, where he established a kingdom of which he was the undisputed king. Next to him in importance between Strang and Bedford, Mich., was Voree, the home of two of his followers. He left Voree in 1846 and went to Nauvoo, Ill., where by the publication, descended on his friends and neighbors. The Mormons were forced to leave with each of their leaders, and Strang's followers were deported by boat to Chicago and Milwaukee. Strang's power in the community was then destroyed. It is estimated that the Mormons left the island not less than two hundred now remain.

SUGAR FROM TREE AND FIELD

Years Ago People Got Sweetening Material From Both Maple and Watermelon.

As long ago as 1791 Dr. Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence of Philadelphia as professor of chemistry at the university carried out much research on sugar. He found that the "fine granular sugar" obtained in New York and Pennsylvania was identical chemically with that from the sugar cane.

Dr. Rush believed that the United States had "within itself a never-failing source of sugar, and more than sufficient for its consumption." He found that the sugar maple tree (Acer saccharinum) contained the sugar and that the secretion amounted to about twenty pounds annually. The sugar entered 20,000,000 pounds.

Dr. Rush's discovery was not successful in obtaining sugar from watermelons, but he made a pint of syrup by gradually boiling the strained pulp of a bushel of the fruit down to a few pounds. This led J. P. Beckley, an agricultural writer, to enquire by a book published in 1801 that an acre of watermelons would yield $143 worth of syrup.

Words True With History.

If you know where there is a tree with a history, the American Forestry association, Washington, D. C., wants a report on it before it is cut down. The association is anxious to find trees with a history and trees whose only claim to fame is their age. The Dumont Records Elm, at Crawfordsville, Ind., is reported as being larger than the elm at Huntington, which has held first place as to size for some time. The Wye Mills oak, near Easton, Md., is credited with being 21½ feet in circumference.

SOUND BUSINESS BASIS FOR CHURCH

Interchurch World Movement Natural Growth Of Tendency To Eliminate Waste

AVOIDS USELESS COMPETITION

Religious Financiering Revolutionized By Success Of Men And Millions Movement And Cooperation Is Result

The Interchurch World Movement of North America is an attempt by forward-looking leaders of the various evangelical denominations of the United States and Canada to coordinate the resources in men, money and made vital for Protestant America.

Historically it is the logical outgrowth of a tendency of the national boards in each denomination to form working alliances among themselves, in which each board shall preserve its identity and control its own personnel and treasury.

Its future is, then, the home mission society, the foreign mission society, the Sunday school mission society and the various Christian-service and elementary agencies of every denomination confederated under a form independently of one another. Each will have its own separated territory, prepared its budget of money and workers for its own purposes and made its own appeal to its constituency for support.

This could only mean that present waste would more or less in competition and overlapping would be eliminated. Waste and duplication of work and money and that amount of the same work was neglected and some of the most important work left undone by overlooked. Because of their specialized training the leaders of each agency regarded themselves as seers who lived for their task, and their unduly rewarded attempts at outside interference.

Decide On Experiment

After four months of study Nathaniel methods the leaders of one denomination in an emergency. They thought it would be possible for the denomination to finance for a year, soon study of all the opportunities and needs of the field, and thereupon to make out a unified budget of men and money and of the total amount required for funds. It was made clear that the budgets of leaders of religious
