Ten miles used to be a long way. WHAT a difference in these motor-car days, when every point in the country is hardly more than "just around the corner."

People's ideas are changing too. They're beginning to figure out how much is the cost of owning a car. And the man who is doing the greatest amount of figuring is the man with the moderate-price car.

There still seems to be a notion in some quarters that a tire is good enough for any car. That's not what the man who owns it thinks. In recommending and selling U. S. Tires we are trying to see his side of the proposition.
