DO YOU REALIZE

That the future happiness and comfort of those dear to you hang by a slender thread—the issues of the character and ability of those who administer your estate?

Sentiment has led many a man to appoint an old friend executor of his estate, without giving careful consideration to his fitness. In the management of your estate, let regard for any family's protection be your paramount sentiment. Unquestionably, it shows confidence in your friend's ability and integrity in naming him as executor and trustee of your estate, but are you fair in placing such a burden of responsibility upon him? Can he afford from the standpoint of his own personal interests to accept such an appointment. The man who has the requisite business ability usually has the least time to devote to the exacting duties of an executorship. He is engrossed in his own affairs. Business may call him away. He may become sick—or perhaps die. Furthermore, is it fair to your estate?

The residents of this community are indeed fortunate in having in this vicinity one of the largest and strongest banks in this state which is empowered by law to act as executor, guardian, trustee, receiver, committee and in any other trust capacity. The Bank of Maysville, of Maysville, Kentucky, with its capital, surplus and Fifteen Million Dollars, makes it a part of its well organized business to handle with promptness and skill, all trust affairs. And, in any capacity, it claims not only the qualities you would require in a friend to whom you would entrust your affairs, interest in your welfare and that of your loved ones, honesty, fidelity, experience and efficiency—but also the now long established fact of its long continued existence, for a bank never dies.

This last named quality, especially, makes it safer and therefore more desirable for you to be the care of your estate to the Bank of Maysville than to any friend or relative in whom you have the utmost confidence. For this reason, it should be the Bank of his trust till proverbial to death or the end of time. Why not, then, in accepting the trust, can promise you to "See it Brighten" by the Bank? I can never be moved by pleas or frightened by threats. It is unnecessary to say that I am sincere.

You are cordially invited by the officers of the Bank of Maysville to confer with them freely, in strict confidence, about making your will and to consult on the advisability of appointing that bank as your executor or trustee—

Rev. F. D. Thomas, of Richmond, Va., formerly pastor of the Carlisle Presbyterian church, will occupy and expound the pulpit at the Presbyterian church next evening, and will preach there again this evening. The many friends of Rev. Thomas are giving him a warm welcome during his visit here.

The Carlisle high school lost their first game of the season when the Owingsville high at Owingsville Monday afternoon, the score being 6 to 2. Owingsville will come here Friday for a return game and the local boys are confident of taking this game.

The Wenacher Camp Fire Girls cleared about $15 on their play given at the Tarr theatre Monday night, which money will be used to pay the expenses of a camping trip this summer. The play was much enjoyed by all who saw it.

Mrs. R. J. Calliver, of the Mayesfield vicinity, brought to this office Monday two ears of unusual size. The ears measured eight inches around the long way and six inches around the short way. Can anyone show a ben egg of larger size.

One of the largest crowds seen in Carlisle for several court days attended court here Monday and merchants report business good in all lines. Several horses were offered on the market but prices were low. Cattle brought about the same prices as last court day.

Last week the Hopkins Drug Co. inserted an advertisement in the Mercury, promising to give away free samples of a certain brand of flavoring stain with each purchase of a bruch, a coupon clipped from The Mercury being necessary to obtain the free trial can. The supply of samples was soon exhausted, and a request sale was made on the products. Yet, in the face of the excellent results obtained by advertising in The Mercury, there are still some merchants in this town who do not believe advertising pays!
