THE GREEN PEA PIRATES

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of "WEBSTER—MAN'S MAN," "THE VALLEY OF THE GIANTS," Etc.

Copyright, by Peter B. Kyne

SCRAGGS IS ONE LUCKY SEA DOG.

Synopsis.—Captain Phineas P. Scraggs is the owner of the schooner Mary Ann, a pirate craft, and from none but on a pirate steamer, risen to the ownership of the Mary Ann through the murder of the former merciless pirateand to be the last of the unutterbottom vessel, Scraggs naturally has some difficulty in securing a crew. When the short ogress, Adelbert P. Clingstone, and his daughter, Miss Ruth Clingstone, but Scraggs would lure, in the skipper Nels Halvorsen, a seaman Swede, named, Scraggs's engineer, and Ole Hansen, a Danish sailor, a master of the Gilmer type negro in the engine room. With this crew Scraggs sails for Alaska, where he hopes to engaged in freighting salmon from Bristol Bay to San Francisco. The inevitable happens. The Maggie going ashore in a fog at Cape Edgecumbe, and the crew of the Gilmer pirate vessel in a towing company in San Francisco that the ship ashore is the Mary Ann, and that Scraggs is in command. Two boats manned in pulling the Maggie into deep water, and she ship is saved. Then the Gilmer crew, with Captain Peterson and the navigator, Captain Cupples Hicks and Pinnette, commandeer the Mary Ann, and, overpowering the officers, make Captain Prince and Scraggs, the engineer, and the cook prisoners. Their hostile intentions are frustrated by the arrival of Scraggs pretending to get a tow rope and make incident prisoner on the steamer

CHAPTER V.

A week had elapsed and nothing of an eventful nature had transpired to disturb the routine of life aboard the Maggie, until Bartholomew McGuffey, having heard certain waterfront whispers, considered it the part of prudence to lay his information before Scraggs and Mr. Gilmer.

"Look here, Scraggs," he began briskly. "It's all fine an' dandy to promise me a new boiler, but when do I get it?"

"Patience, Jee' as soon as we can get this gear o' freight landed on Bart's my boy. You've managed with the old boiler this long, so I guess you can might be patient an' bear with it a little longer, Bart."

"Oh, I ain't tryin' to be disagreeable, Scraggs, only it sort o' worries me to have to go along without bein' able to use our whistle."

"We'll fix it when business slacks up," Scraggs replied with finality. He glanced at his watch. "Suffering Moses!" he cried in simulated dismay. "Three o'clock, an' I'm due at Ludwig's for a bite o' lunch at half-past! Keep the last voyage, I must hoof it."

When Captain Scraggs had "beaten it," Gilmer and McGuffey exchanged expressive glances. "He's worried about us, eh," McGuffey complained.

"Even so, Bart, even so. Therefore, the thing for us to do is to run our bus in. In other words, we'll work a month, more or more, or less, then, with out a word o' complaint or argument, we'll walk out."

"Oh, I ain't exactly broke, Gib, I have a few dollars."

"That's all right, Gilbert declarely, "we'll go on strike, an' refuse to work. He won't be able to get a crew before we'll get another engineer an' another nate gashi' other an' we'll be the only two natured born fools in San Francisco or ports adjacent, an' before three days have passed he'll be hankin' up to us to compromise."

"I don't want no compromise. What I want is a new boiler."

"You'll get it. We'll make him order the paint on the boiler an' pay for both in advance before we'll agree to go to work."

Bartholomew McGuffey was squirming and after mulling their proposition heartily thereafter, they turned to and commenced discharging the Maggie's cargo. Captain Scraggs returned in the little steamer shortly after five o'clock, in fine good humor, and, on discovering Mr. Gilmer and McGuffey dressed in their other suits—including a collared collars and cuffs.

"For cripes sake, Scraggs, are we the ducks has been washed down an' overboard, or is it departmental ship day?" Mr. Gilmer demanded.

"Like the noble Roman," McGuffey added.

"Consequently," Mr. Gilmer continued, "we're ashore for the night, an' if it's all the same to you we'll have our time."

"My dear Gib. Why, whatever's come over you, my boy?"

"Never your chatter, Scraggs. Shall we the time. You've fooled us once in the matter o' that new boiler an' we're not goin' to be fooled a second time. Is it a go, second chance Thomas Whiffle? Will we be more with a liar an' fraud."

"There's hard words Mr. Gilmer."

"The truth is allers bitter," McGuffey opined.

Captain Scraggs paused to consider the situation presented by the mutiny confronted him. It was Saturday night. He knew Mr. McGuffey to be the very acme of more money than usual and that the latter's determination to have a new boiler should be during Sunday, Monday morning he was aware, from experience, that the strike would be broken by Tuesday at the latest. And the result afford that delay. He resolved, therefore, on diplomacy.

"Well, I'm sorry," he began, waiving with every appearance of contrition. "You fellers put me in the situation for I can't help myself. At the same time, I appreciate fully your right of view, while realize that I can't convince you. Now, suppose we go ashore an' have a hard feeder at Ludwig's, belly, an' to-morrow, bein' Sunday, we'll have a French dinner an' a motion picture show afterward. Further, I shall re-

"My golly, you're gittin' sporty in your old age," the engineer declared, with a sly grin. Scraggs. How could you, Jee'?"

"I accept with thanks, Scraggs," the tarpot. Personally, I maintain 'that the bargain began to be delivered back aboard the Maggie. Mr. Gilmer, McGuffey and Gilmer hooked him from a distance, and, as the boat drew alongside, he continued their search for evidence. Where and how they found it, Captain Scraggs never knew, but he is still inclined to state that it was evidence of the fact that Mr. Gilmer and McGuffey type here on shore—including collared collars and cuffs.

Mr. McGuffey Located a Dime Which Had Dropped Down Inside the Lining of His Coat.

The crew and, foregoing, are under the decks has been washed down an' the Maggie is in departmental ship order.

"Thus Mr. Gilmer, McGuffey added.

"Consequently," Mr. Gilmer continued, "we're ashore for the night, an' after sailing their pay envelopes on heartily breakfast, they turned to and commenced discharging the Maggie. Captain Scraggs returned in the little steamer shortly after five o'clock, in fine good humor, and, on discovering Mr. Gilmer and McGuffey dressed in their other suits—including collared collars and cuffs.

"For cripes sake, Scraggs, are we the ducks has been washed down an' overboard, or is it departmental ship day?" Mr. Gilmer demanded.

"Like the noble Roman," McGuffey added.

"Consequently," Mr. Gilmer continued, "we're ashore for the night, an' if it's all the same to you we'll have our time."

"My dear Gib. Why, whatever's come over you, my boy?"

"Never your chatter, Scraggs. Shall we the time. You've fooled us once in the matter o' that new boiler an' we're not goin' to be fooled a second time. Is it a go, second chance Thomas Whiffle? Will we be more with a liar an' fraud."

"There's hard words Mr. Gilmer."

"The truth is allers bitter," McGuffey opined.

Captain Scraggs paused to consider the situation presented by the mutiny confronted him. It was Saturday night. He knew Mr. McGuffey to be the very acme of more money than usual and that the latter's determination to have a new boiler should be during Sunday, Monday morning he was aware, from experience, that the strike would be broken by Tuesday at the latest. And the result afford that delay. He resolved, therefore, on diplomacy.

"Well, I'm sorry," he began, waiving with every appearance of contrition. "You fellers put me in the situation for I can't help myself. At the same time, I appreciate fully your right of view, while realize that I can't convince you. Now, suppose we go ashore an' have a hard feeder at Ludwig's, belly, an' to-morrow, bein' Sunday, we'll have a French dinner an' a motion picture show afterward. Further, I shall re-

"My golly, you're gittin' sporty in your old age," the engineer declared, with a sly grin. Scraggs. How could you, Jee'?"

"I accept with thanks, Scraggs," the tarpot. Personally, I maintain 'that

RIOTS IN LISBON STREETS

Turbulent Scenes at Funerals of Republican Statesmen Who Met Death by Assassination.

Lisbon.—Dramatic incidents attended the funerals of the three republican statesmen who were assassinated by monarchist conspirators. Considered in the context of the victims' rising. The relatives of the victims, former Premier Azevedo Vive Admiral Machado dos Santos, refused to accept the government's offer of national honors and insisted upon burying their dead at their own expense.

The "Order of Our Lady of Victory" announced that the government had disregarded her wishes and had fired the street with troops to pay honor to the body as his funeral procession passed.

There was a passion of indignation and the spirit, the three turned their backs on husband's coffin and refused to allow it to leave the house so long as there was one sailor or soldier left in the same running over the dockland and invaded the piled house. "Course that place, you sock-eyed sailors, you," Gilmer angrily ordered McGuffey and Scraggs from the owner's hands. "Some of our American back Chile's peace. Starboard another ox! yards and bring the boat to the gangway, I'm stowed up; course bangin' in the Now Marry at Thirty.

"I'll Hug You and Your Crew to Death."

More than 1,000,000 men and women now men thirty-five years old are taking out a miserable existence in single blessedness, the census reports. More than 100,000 men about seventy-five years of age are listed as bachelors. Among the women of the same age there are 1,000,000 spinsters. Forty-four years or more, of course, are unmarried, besides a still larger number of men and women fifty years old who are without name as a result of divorce or death. The average man now marries at thirty, and the average woman at twenty-five. While 18 per cent of the persons of the national government are spent on war, a majority of the funds raised by city, state and county levies is expended on schools.

Fitting Them for Society.

It is not enough that a girl's children not to be; a harder task is to teach them not to tell embarrassing truths.—Boston Transcript.

functions an' clew garters, Starvation Cove, Alaska ship!

He lowered the glass and roared at Mate Halvorsen, who was at the wheel, "Starboard your helm, Square-head. Don't be afraid of her. Wake goin' over there an' look on to her. Hard a-starboard, I tell you, you lubber!"

Mr. Gilmer and McGuffey were assembled from the engine room and the Maggie's crew, with the mutiny forgotten in the excitement of the moment, were gathered in the waist, all eager to see the fun.

"Get out o' my joint home an' all where the police can find you when they come looking for you," he screeched. "Don't you give us orders to my dockland."

"Blow it, you ass. Yonder's a gritte, but I'll remember you, Scraggs," he called subsequently you loud Adelbert P. Clingstone, Jr., Esquire."

"Thank you, Mr. Clingstone," Scraggs replied, with a flourish of his cap. "Don't forget me to our mutual friend Mr. Whiffle, of Whiffle & Whiffle, Limited, of Port Townsend, Washington, U. S. A. Tell him I'll be over in the spring to see him, and I'll give him a chance to work off his debt to me. Good-by, Mr. Clingstone, Jr., Esquire. Good-by, Miss Ruth Clingstone. Good-by, Mr. Gilmer, Mr. McGuffey, Mr. Whiffle, Mr. Halvorsen, Mr. Hansen, Mr. Cupples Hicks and Pinnette, commandeer the Mary Ann, and, overpowering the officers, make Captain Prince and Scraggs, the engineer, and the cook prisoners. Their hostile intentions are frustrated by the arrival of Scraggs pretending to get a tow rope and make incident prisoner on the steamer

CHAPTER V.

A week had elapsed and nothing of an eventful nature had transpired to disturb the routine of life aboard the Maggie, until Bartholomew McGuffey, having heard certain waterfront whispers, considered it the part of prudence to lay his information before Scraggs and Mr. Gilmer.

"Look here, Scraggs," he began briskly. "It's all fine an' dandy to promise me a new boiler, but when do I get it?"

"Patience, Jee' as soon as we can get this gear o' freight landed on Bart's my boy. You've managed with the old boiler this long, so I guess you can wait a little longer, Bart."

"Oh, I ain't tryin' to be disagreeable, Scraggs, only it sort o' worries me to have to go along without bein' able to use our whistle."

"We'll fix it when business slacks up," Scraggs replied with finality. He glanced at his watch. "Suffering Moses!" he cried in simulated dismay. "Three o'clock, an' I'm due at Ludwig's for a bite o' lunch at half-past! Keep the last voyage, I must hoof it."

When Captain Scraggs had "beaten it," Gilmer and McGuffey exchanged expressive glances. "He's worried about us, eh," McGuffey complained.

"Even so, Bart, even so. Therefore, the thing for us to do is to run our bus in. In other words, we'll work a month, more or more, or less, then, with out a word o' complaint or argument, we'll walk out."

"Oh, I ain't exactly broke, Gib, I have a few dollars."

"That's all right, Gilbert declarely, "we'll go on strike, an' refuse to work. He won't be able to get a crew before we'll get another engineer an' another nate gashi' other an' we'll be the only two natured born fools in San Francisco or ports adjacent, an' before three days have passed he'll be hankin' up to us to compromise."

"I don't want no compromise. What I want is a new boiler."

"You'll get it. We'll make him order the paint on the boiler an' pay for both in advance before we'll agree to go to work."

Bartholomew McGuffey was squirming and after mulling their proposition heartily thereafter, they turned to and commenced discharging the Maggie. Captain Scraggs returned in the little steamer shortly after five o'clock, in fine good humor, and, on discovering Mr. Gilmer and McGuffey dressed in their other suits—including collared collars and cuffs.

"For cripes sake, Scraggs, are we the ducks has been washed down an' overboard, or is it departmental ship day?" Mr. Gilmer demanded.

"Like the noble Roman," McGuffey added.

"Consequently," Mr. Gilmer continued, "we're ashore for the night, an' if it's all the same to you we'll have our time."

"My dear Gib. Why, whatever's come over you, my boy?"

"Never your chatter, Scraggs. Shall we the time. You've fooled us once in the matter o' that new boiler an' we're not goin' to be fooled a second time. Is it a go, second chance Thomas Whiffle? Will we be more with a liar an' fraud."

"There's hard words Mr. Gilmer."

"The truth is allers bitter," McGuffey opined.

Captain Scraggs paused to consider the situation presented by the mutiny confronted him. It was Saturday night. He knew Mr. McGuffey to be the very acme of more money than usual and that the latter's determination to have a new boiler should be during Sunday, Monday morning he was aware, from experience, that the strike would be broken by Tuesday at the latest. And the result afford that delay. He resolved, therefore, on diplomacy.

"Well, I'm sorry," he began, waiving with every appearance of contrition. "You fellers put me in the situation for I can't help myself. At the same time, I appreciate fully your right of view, while realize that I can't convince you. Now, suppose we go ashore an' have a hard feeder at Ludwig's, belly, an' to-morrow, bein' Sunday, we'll have a French dinner an' a motion picture show afterward. Further, I shall re-

"My golly, you're gittin' sporty in your old age," the engineer declared, with a sly grin. Scraggs. How could you, Jee'?"

"I accept with thanks, Scraggs," the tarpot. Personally, I maintain 'that

ARTIFICIAL LIGHTS FOR FOWLS INCREASE PRODUCTION OF EGGS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Artificial lights properly operated will materially increase the winter egg production of pullets, the United States Department of Agriculture believes. The use of lights may also slightly increase the yearly egg production of individual hens, though not to any marked extent. The opinion of the department's poultry division is fully considered by many of the state experiment stations, particularly those in California, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, New York and New Jersey. County agents working in New York and New Jersey report considerable activity in this project, in which the poultry division is cooperating with the agricultural colleges of the two states and colleges through the county agent.

Lighting as a Feeding Measure.

It should be well understood that artificial lighting is intended primarily as a means of getting this hens to feed longer than they otherwise would during the short days of fall and winter. An extra feeding of corn during the night should be provided, so that the flock is induced to eat more scratch grain and mash because an amount comparable to what is eaten during the day before laying seasons.

Lights are used soon after September 1 in New Jersey, but in more localities in the state they are not turned on continued to April 1. Conditions vary in different states. What may be done in Princeton in New Jersey may not work in Ithaca, N. Y., for the reason that the difficulty is considered the only practical way to light the hens is by the use of electric current lamps and gasoline engines. Kerosene lamps are barred. Exactly in the most practical method to use artificial lights is a problem.

The Use of Artificial Light Has Produced Satisfactory Results in Egg Production of Hens in Number of States.

How to Use Artificial Light.

Two methods are in use in the United States, Alaska and Canada. There are three ways of increasing egg production by the use of lights. Starting on light very early in the season, so that the hens will receive several hours at night, or by using light in the morning only. It is found that all these methods have given good results. The first method is the most convenient, because the lights merge with the morning light. The hens are not turned off promptly.

The second method requires some dimming device is needed with electric lights, but the dimming is gradual. The hens do not get to their roosts in the dark. The third method is the most expensive and between hours have to be turned down.

Lights are turned on and off by hand with disastrous effects on the flock. If they are run for too long a time the hens may produce well for a short time and then go back. Lights should be turned on promptly at the time selected and should not be turned off promptly. Lights should be needed with electricity or gasoline engines.

Green Food Is Essential.

Chickens must have green food. The best results are obtained when they feed under the roosts in the first scattering litter. Cut clover hay is found feeding in the last stages of liver trouble. In addition to the green food there have been fed two rich a ration.

Poor Care of Sows.

Sows that are allowed to farrow that are kept in poorly ventilated quarters that are fed on unbalanced rations and have a poor chance to produce healthy, vigorous pigs.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELLANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ and 75¢ Packages, Everywhere

Shave, Bathe and Shampoo with one Soap.—Cuticura

Cuticura Soap is the ideal combination for daily use.

DON'T DESPAIR

If you are troubled with pains or aches; feel tired, have headache, indigestion, insomnia; painful passage of urine, you will find relief in

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles since National Remedy of Holland since 1696.

Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no substitute

The Beginning of a New Life

Bulgaria and Oriental Europe Produce Hardy Race of People.

The boys want to feed them to us in years to come.

"My imagination's better'n my reputation, Scraggy, an' I'll be continued."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

MANY USES FOR GIANT KELP

Among Others, Sea Plant Lends Itself Excellently to the Making of Fertilizer.

The aboriginal natives of British Columbia and Alaska use as much of a suitable worm for distilling by putting it in their ovens. It is further cured by the hollow stem of the giant kelp, which makes excellent material for making of "kneels" from a mixture of one part wheat flour and three parts flour is also considered excellent. The Fuca Mountain fog signal station is the home for the Pacific coast. The bots do not get to their ovens in the fall, but remain in the water. Channels and between loops have to be turned down.

Green food is essential. Chickens must have green food. The best results are obtained when they feed under the roosts in the first scattering litter. Cut clover hay is found feeding in the last stages of liver trouble. In addition to the green food there have been fed two rich a ration.

Poor Care of Sows.

Sows that are allowed to farrow that are kept in poorly ventilated quarters that are fed on unbalanced rations and have a poor chance to produce healthy, vigorous pigs.

FARM VALUES HURT BY CHANGES

Certain Crops Have Ceased to Be Profitable.

Farmer in Making New Selection Will Do Well to Look Back and Follow Economic Changes That Have Occurred.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Changes in farm values and practices have saved themselves future losses by a careful study of the past. Such a probable change in the type of farming in the future will be found to have under consideration. Certain changes have been brought about due to the development of other regions and the introduction of new methods of production and marketing. Some crops have ceased to be profitable because of the development of other regions. The United States Department of Agriculture suggests that the present time is the farm selected adapted to such changes in practice.

For instance, the farm selected may now be growing beans, potatoes, corn, oats, clover and hay, with the production of livestock confined to what seems to be profitable. The question then arises as to some other crop or crops be found to replace them? Very often the answer is to make a study of crops, especially in general farming, to find out whether any crop is very largely grown in the county.

Take the beef-cattle farm he made over into a dairy farm? Can the dairy farm be made into a sheep farm? Can the farm be made into a hay, grain or live stock farm? In many instances it will be found that the farm in question demands a type of farming which has not been changed to meet the needs of changing conditions.

When making a selection, look back over the past 10 years and find out what have occurred in the last 10 years, and then judge for yourself whether or not the crop selected for examination has the adaptability necessary for success, and the chances are that you will be found to come in the future.

BEST CABBAGE FOR STORING

Should Be Carefully Grown and of Variety Well Adapted to Keeping, Say Experts.

Cabbage for storing should be carefully grown and of a variety well adapted to keeping, says the department of agriculture. The vegetable specialists of the department have made a study of this subject. The heads should be solid and all of the same variety. Mixed varieties are undesirable in storage. Some of the best varieties for storage are the Danish Ballhead, Danish Summer and Copenhagen Market. The Danish Ballhead is a storage bonus as constructed and the Copenhagen Market is of the same structure adding the stored heads. It is also considered that moderate vaccination be so controlled as to prevent the cabbage from splitting open. Excessive watering is also to be avoided. The cabbage is allowed to freeze. The type of construction to be used depends upon the climate. In the colder sections of the country the cabbage is allowed to freeze. The type of construction to be used depends upon the climate. In the colder sections of the country the cabbage is allowed to freeze. The type of construction to be used depends upon the climate. In the colder sections of the country the cabbage is allowed to freeze.

Did She Admit It?

"Well, remarked a gentleman, after a long argument on the question of woman's rights, "I suppose you will admit that she is a queer, sweet and perfect thing which a man can have and call his own?"

"Never!" cried his wife, passionately. "Never! I deny it! What do you mean?"

"A wife."—The Scotsman.

The crank Man.

"And am I the only girl you have ever—"

"Well a minute, Molly. Before you can ask me that I must ask you a question. Do you pay the truth and nothing but the truth?"

Better Than Nothing.

Na, Beatrice, astronomers do not study the stars for the purpose of polishing the stars.

Chop philosophy is the kind that doesn't always stick to the beef.

Shop Relief

ASTHMA

DR.J.D. KELLOGG'S ASTHMA REMEDY for the prompt relief of Asthma Hay Fever, Bronchitis and Colds. Dr. J. D. KELLOGG CO., Kellogg Bldg., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for FREE SAMPLE.

Nothing Is Lyon's Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder

Dr. J. D. KELLOGG'S REMEDY

Lyon's Tooth Powder

KING PIN PLUG TOBACCO

Known as "that good kind"

Try it—and you will know why

ITCH!

Lyon's Tooth Powder

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

HINDERCORNS

DROPSY

TREATED ONE DAY FREE

PALMER'S LOTION

Directions in each package

PALMER'S LOTION SOAP

Orangeade and Grape Fruit

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder

Murine Night Morning Keep Your Eyes Clean—Clear and Healthy

Murine for Your Eyes Makes Eyes Clear

W. N. U. CINCINNATI, NO. 52—1921

HEALTHFUL VIGOR IN STRONG BLOOD

Rich, Red Blood Built Up by Pepto-Mangan—Liquid or Tablets Now.

Blood is strong and full of life-giving vigor when there are plenty of red cells in it. Anemic people have little strength because there are not enough red cells in the blood. It is thin and watery. Weak blood makes faces pale, pulls down the strength and saves the body tired, weak, and sickly.

Nuxated Iron Pepto-Mangan adds new rich blood to the normal strength. Take it and see how quickly it adds red cells to the blood. Then with good blood, the strength and vigor of health return. There is pleasure in living, with good blood running through the veins. Ordinary Pepto-Mangan is put up in liquid and in tablet form. They are the same medicinally. Physicians have prescribed Nuxated Iron Pepto-Mangan for years. The name "Nuxated Iron Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. (Advertisement.)

John's Discouragement.

Little John was sitting on the front step disconsolate.

"What's the matter Johnny?" asked Cousin Isabel, kindly.

"Well, you see, Cousin Isabel, they let me hold the baby on my knee, sometimes, when he's good, and he's been good all day, and they won't give him any candy, and they began it he's gained only two pounds and three ounces since he was born, and thinking that I'll be so old, old man that I'll believe it's of any use on the team."

A Feeling of Security

You naturally feel secure when you have that delicious taste of velvet, that velvet, have matching capes, some matching little coats and hats. Sagbo Dust Soap makes a medicine in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy. The same standard of purity, strength and excellence has characterized the bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything but has been found especially helpful in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of its efficacy with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. You can learn more about Swamp-Root by reading its history. However, if you wish first to try the remarkable preparation, send your name to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention the paper.—Advertisement.

Couldn't Fool Him.

An Indianapolis woman was visiting her three-year-old nephew and one day saw him standing before the mirror with his hands behind his back.

"Tommie," said grandmother, "you should not play with a mirror."

"Well, it might be I, but it looks like me."

Cuticura for Pimply Faces.

To remove pimples and blackheads smear them with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. After shaving, if you prefer, use Cuticura Talcum. Advertisement.

To Be Tat.

Jack—So you broke the engagement? Why, I thought you had until after the engagement broke me.

The man who "slims fast" in a police car never needs to worry about a movement.

Most people are natural when they are asleep.

This is the attractive little style in frocks of linen, perhaps the season's most fashionable fabric for middies as well as gowns.

THE CAPE AND FROCK MATCH

Some Outer Garments Reach Little More Than the Length; Others Reach Far Below.

Many of the straight silhouette frocks have a cape or coat to match. Of velvet, have matching capes, some matching little coats and hats. Sagbo Dust Soap makes a medicine in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy. The same standard of purity, strength and excellence has characterized the bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything but has been found especially helpful in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of its efficacy with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. You can learn more about Swamp-Root by reading its history. However, if you wish first to try the remarkable preparation, send your name to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention the paper.—Advertisement.

Couldn't Fool Him.

An Indianapolis woman was visiting her three-year-old nephew and one day saw him standing before the mirror with his hands behind his back.

"Tommie," said grandmother, "you should not play with a mirror."

"Well, it might be I, but it looks like me."

Cuticura for Pimply Faces.

To remove pimples and blackheads smear them with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. After shaving, if you prefer, use Cuticura Talcum. Advertisement.

To Be Tat.

Jack—So you broke the engagement? Why, I thought you had until after the engagement broke me.

The man who "slims fast" in a police car never needs to worry about a movement.

Most people are natural when they are asleep.

White Broadcloth Coat Stitched With Black Silk Is Smart Model Shown Here.

All of the important makers are using these sleeves with great success.

The newest fetish of pagoda sleeves can be found in many models of fashion and Fayne have many models of this style. A striking feature is the jet and steel suit had been embroidery and the jet and steel bracelet. The matching pagoda sleeve is of transparent material.

Paris Novelties.

Some of the new Paris frocks of lace and other filmy fabrics are accompanied by a gaudy little pantalette that serve to conceal the ankles exposed by the accordion pleated skirt are not taking these styles seriously.

TRICORNE SHAPE IS POPULAR

When Becoming, Headgear of This Sort Is Distinctly Smart; Rarely Unbecoming.

Here is tricorne shape are evolved in velvet poised at the back of the head becoming such a hat is distinctly smart. One model has a velvet crown, the brim of which is of velvet, and is bordered with self folds and the crown is encircled with a band of velvet slipped with metal. Another of black velvet has a crown of gold tissue, the long mounted scratch plumes in black and white. A third model has the crown crossed in front to accentuate the tricorne shape. (Copyright.)

SHOULD HAVE MEMORY SCARF

Bungalow Also May Be Made From Left-over Yarn—Knit or Crochet Into Squares.

Memory scarfs and memory sweaters are something that school girls and college girls know all about. Do you? They are sometimes most attractive and they are the result of knitting to their makers.

Take a square of wool. You beg, borrow or buy it. Then knit or crochet it into a square. Any left-over yarn from some friend who is making a scarf or sweater. You do

THE BEST RESULTS ARE OBTAINED BY USING

Baker's Chocolate

(Blue Wrapper, Yellow Label)

In Making Cakes, Pies, Puddings, Frosting, Ice Cream, Sauces, Fudges, Hot and Cold Drinks.

For more than 140 years this chocolate has been the standard for purity, delicacy of flavor and uniform quality.

IT IS THOROUGHLY RELIABLE

It Should Be Used in Recipes Calling for Chocolate

Trade Mark Registered U.S. Pat. Off.

WALTER BAKER & CO. LTD.

Established 1780

DORCHESTER, MASSACHUSETTS

Booklet of Choice Recipes sent free

PALMER'S LOTION

Directions in each package

PALMER'S LOTION SOAP

Orangeade and Grape Fruit

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder

Murine Night Morning Keep Your Eyes Clean—Clear and Healthy

Murine for Your Eyes Makes Eyes Clear

W. N. U. CINCINNATI, NO. 52—1921

OUR FEATURE SECTION

Department Devoted to Attractive Magazine Material

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. Walker

NOTES THAT JAR

THE adroit person who desires to acquire the full measure of success in life must be willing to pay the price he may be alleged always prepares the way to progress by a carefully-studied case of striking the notes that jar.

This person will remember that harsh words are the surest means of killing affection, and, therefore, he will speak in all times a strict observance of the rules of courtesy.

He knows that his employer has his employer on jarring dissension, so he will not indulge in any display of exhibition of pique, irritation or parade of high words.

When unruly tried, and the future of his career seems to be overcloudy, the individual who has within him the basic material of which success is composed controls his emotions and, by a determined effort, meets with what in his heart he knows to be right.

There must be no discord between him and