THAT DULL ACHING

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and achy backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Read this statement:

H. T. Griffin, painter & paperhanger, Morgan St., says: "Two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and I was confined to my bed for two weeks. My bladder was inflamed and there was a burning sensation when passing the kidney secretions. My back had a steady dull ache across the center and I couldn't stoop or straighten up without being in misery. The doctor treated me for the trouble but I got no relief. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Hopkin's Drug Co. This medicine reached my case at once and I kept on taking Doan's until I was cured. I used three boxes in all. It is a pleasure to recommend Doan's."

Frits Myers, 56 year old farmer, of Bracken county, and his four sons, were arrested last week on the charge of arson and assault and battery. On Christmas night a stock and feed barn belonging to Wilford E. Cooper was destroyed by fire, together with three tons of hay and farming implements. Bloodhounds taken to the scene of the fire, took up a scent which led to Myers' home. It is thought the family burned the barn on account of a personal encounter between Cooper and Myers.

VOL. LIV. CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1921 NUMBER 4

NEWS IN BRIEF

Kentucky stands in nineteenth place among the States in the value of the 1920 crops. The valuation of farm products in the State is placed at $266,857,000.

A large tobacco barn on the farm of H. C. Prewitt, near Mt. Sterling, was completely destroyed by fire, together with its contents last Saturday night, entailing a loss of $5,000.

A large tobacco barn on the farm of Logan Bryan, near North Middletown, together with 6,000 pounds of tobacco, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin early Monday morning.

Republicans from the Eleventh district are boosting Caleb Powers, former congressman from that district, for the position of census director in President-elect Harding's administration.

Edwin Tharpe, 37, a lumberman of Buckhorn, Breathitt county, died at a Lexington hospital Friday afternoon from a bullet wound inflicted by his father-in-law, following an argument last Tuesday.

Ralph Payne, New Hampshire novelist, is at Danville to get local color for a novel ordered by Boston publishers which will feature the "Praying Colonels," as Centre College's foot ball team has been termed.

After three days time in completing the jury, the trial of Dr. H. C. Winnes, charged with killing Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement school teacher, near Dillon last September, was begun Tuesday morning.

Tully Choice, 71 years old, an inmate of the Masonic home at Shelbyville from McCracken county, died at the institution Monday from broken legs sustained several days ago when he was run down by an unknown auto driver.

Twenty-five persons are known to have been killed and fifty seriously injured when a tank car containing between 5,000 and 10,000 gallons of gasoline exploded in the main section of Memphis, Tenn., early Monday morning.

On account of ill health of the defendant, the case of Mrs. J. S. Thomason, charged with conspiracy in the murder of her husband at Lexington over a year ago, was postponed until April when called in circuit court at Lexington Monday.

Miss Alice Bradley, of Winchester, teacher in the Lexington public schools, died at a hospital in that city Friday night as a result of burns sustained that morning when escaping gas exploded in the bath room when she struck a match.

William McNutt, deceased Dover merchant, provides in his will that his two grandsons must first show signs of thrift before they inherit his fortune. The will provides a five year probationary period, during which the property will be held in trust.

Upon motion of the commonwealth, the indictment against Mrs. A. H. Belk, 24, of Scottsville, charged with killing her husband, was dismissed when the evidenced showed that she shot her husband in self defense while he was drunk.

Beechman Smith, 12, and Carlo Smith, 9, were tried in the Jackson circuit court at McKee last week on the charge of killing their father, Simpson Smith, 83 years old. The older boy was sent to the Reform school at Greendale until he is twenty-one years old.

Col. C. W. Fowler, of Louisville, president of K. M. I., won a reward of $300 offered by the Daylo Flashlight Co. for the best slogan to be used in their advertisement. Col. Fowler's verse reads: "Danger lurks where darkness lies, Till driven back by Daylo's eyes."

There were 594 fires in Kentucky between July 1 and December 31, 1920, the value of the property destroyed amounting to $7,636,956, with insurance amounting to $4,614,815 leaving a loss of $837,905, according to a report filed with State auditor J. J. Craig.

Artis Owen, a young Bourbon county farmer, declares he is the "unluckiest man in the world." Recently Owen began serving a six months jail sentence for alleged moonshining. Last Wednesday night his tobacco barn containing 10,000 pounds of tobacco was destroyed by fire.

Governor Morrow Monday issued a proclamation to "the people of Kentucky" calling upon them to assist in supressing the moonshiners and bootleggers, whose operations he declares in the accompanying letter to the peace officers of the State, amount to a flaunting challenge to the State's power to enforce the prohibition laws.

Mrs. Everett Cason, 21, wife of a prominent Scott county farmer, was attacked in her home shortly after 8 o'clock Friday night by a masked man. Mr. Cason had just stepped out of the house when the attack occurred. Hearing his wife's screams he rushed back, but the man made his escape upon the approach of Mr. Cason.

NIGHTRIDERS INVADE BATH AND FLEMING COUNTIES

Fifteen Farmers In Bath and Fleming Counties Warned to Keep Leaf Off Market and Cutout 1921 Crop

Masked men, heavily armed, dashed through portions of Bath and Fleming counties on horseback late Saturday night and early Sunday morning and warned tobacco growers to haul no more tobacco to the Carlisle or Flemingsburg market, according to a report received here Sunday.

The nightriders also threatened violence if the farmers disobeyed their orders and demanded that no preparations be made for planting tobacco this year, it is said. Two towns were visited by the band, Sherburne, in Fleming county, and Bethel, in Bath county.

Reports concerning activities and number of the nightriders conflict. A report from Sherburne says that there were from 25 to 30 men mounted on horseback. The report from Bethel says that the band of men that visited that place was composed of nineteen men on horseback and four on foot. According to the news received here, 15 or more farmers were visited by the nightriders and confirmation of six visits made were received, it is said. At 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, according to reports received here, the nightriders appeared at the home of T. S. Robertson, of Bethel, a wealthy farmer and extensive tobacco grower, and called Mr. Robertson from his house. Four men on foot with their backs toward Mr. Robertson, addressed him and told him not to haul any of his tobacco to the market and sell it, not to rent any of his farms for tobacco this year and not to raise any himself. If he failed to follow these instructions, the nightriders, it is claimed, threatened him with violence and destruction of his property.

The men then went to the home of Thomas Crouch, another large landowner of that community, and repeated the warnings they made to Mr. Robertson. They also visited the homes of Jake Boyd and a man named Stevens, near Bethel. At these places the same warnings were also given, it is said. It is reported that the telephone wires of the Robertson home were cut before they left to visit other farmers in the community.

The party then went to Sherburne, Fleming county, about twelve miles from Flemingsburg. Here they visited the homes of two men, named Shields and Tomlin, owners of trucks, who haul tobacco to the markets for farmers. They were called from their homes and instructed not to haul any more tobacco to market, it is said. No threats were made either against Tomlin or Shields. Three other places were visited by the nightriders in Fleming county, it is said. At these places no threats were made and when the men called came to their doors, the nightriders laughed and stated they were looking for a doctor.

In each case, according to the report, one man acted as spokesman for the party, the others remaining a short distance in the rear. In almost each instance the man visited had been sending a considerable amount of tobacco to the market, it is said.

This is the first instance of nightriding in Kentucky for several years. It is said the authorities in Bath and Fleming counties are making an effort to establish the identity of the men.

James N. Kehoe, of Maysville, president of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cutout Organization, when advised at his home of the nightriding, said: "I am very much surprised to hear of this. You may say this for me: 'I strongly disaprove such action. It is a great mistake and no possible good can come of it. I could not possibly say more."

"There will be no nightriding while I am Governor of Kentucky. However, I do not care to make any further statement at this time, Governor Edwin P. Morrow declared Sunday night when told of the outbreak. Governor Morrow declared that an immediate investigation will be ordered of the occurrences in Bath and Flemings counties, and stated that he would take the matter up immediately with the county officials. "When I become thoroughly familiar with the situation I will be able to make a statement as to what the policy of the administration will be," Governor Morrow added.

PRODUCE REVIEW

(Prepared by Swift & Co.)

January production of butter is reported above normal. Due to the increasing supplies, the markets have worked lower during the week.

The S. S. Frederick VIII arrived at New York during the week with a cargo of approximately 2,000,000 lbs. of Danish butter. Further importations are expected in February, as Danish butter is offered at prices below the present quoted markets. Danish butter is of generally better quality than the average make of the creameries in the Central States. Producers should recognize the necessity for improving the quality of cream delivered to stations, thereby enabling the creameries to make better butter, which will compete with the Danish product.

Poultry receipts are below current requirements, and some stock is being withdrawn from storage. Prices show little change from last week.

NO TAX ON TOBACCO USED AS FERTILIZER

Washington, Jan. 21—Representatives of Kentucky tobacco growers in conference here today with William M. Williams, commissioner of internal revenue, were given rulings entirely satisfactory to them regrading matters of taxation in connection with the use of Kentucky tobacco for fertilizer.

J. W. Newman, of Versailles, president of the Burley Tobacco Association; Dr. S. H. Halley, of Lexington, and Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, represented Kentucky growers in the conference with Commissioner Williams. They explained to Mr. Williams that on account of the condition of the tobacco market an effort is being made to keep the low grade tobacco off the market by utilizing it in the manufacture of fertilizer, and the question of taxation was raised. It was explained that a company has already been organized, with Mr. Newman at its head, to handle the fertilizer proposition.

Another matter put up to Mr. Williams by the Kentuckians was that of a tax on tobacco sold to foreign governments. A plan is under consideration for the sale of a large quantity of tobacco to European powers and it was held by the commissioner of internal revenue that only the dealers' tax would be required of those who sold to foreign governments and that the regular tobacco tax would not be exacted.

ALMOST A HALF MILLION POUNDS SOLD HERE WEEK

Little Change In Market From Opening Sales. Crop Being Rushed to Market Rapidly. Rejections Light

A total of 413,215 pounds of tobacco were disposed of on the Carlisle market last week at prices ranging from 25 cents per hundred pounds to $50 per hundred. Undoubtedly the farmer is "up against it" and there seems to be no immediat relief offered. As a consequence, most of the growers are letting their crops go at whatever prices they bring.

Rejections have been slight on the market, most rejections having been made on the extremely low grades. In such cases the tobacco has been taken home by farmers and will be used as fertilizer.

At the Peoples warehouse last Monday and Tuesday 171,280 pounds were disposed of at an average of $15.38 per hundred.

Tuesday afternoon sales were begun at the Growers warehouse and completed at noon Wednesday. A total of 91,520 pounds were sold at an average of $16.61.

Sales were begun at Farmers warehouse No. 1 Wednesday afternoon and completed Thursday morning. 93,090 pounds were sold at an average of $12.21.

At conclusion of the sales at Farmers No. 1 sales were begun at Farmers No 2 and completed Thursday afternoon. 63,325 pounds were sold at an average of $10.12. A great portion of the offering at these houses was of an inferior quality and about 20,000 pounds were rejected.

On Friday 195,000 pounds were sold at the Peoples warehous at an average of $11.89.

While a decline has been noted in the price on some of the markets in the State, very little difference was noted on the Carlisle market. The average on the local market all last week ranked with the best in the State.

24 COUNTIES APPROVE CUTOUT OF 1921 CROP

Resolutions Passed Endorsing Movement. Nicholas Represented Meeting Held at Lexington Last Friday

The cutout association of Burley tobacco growers of Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia met Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the Lafayette Hotel in Lexington, and in a session which lasted all day, adopted a constitution and set of bylaws, passed several resolutions declaring a cutout for 1921, and prepared articles of incorporation for the organization.

Acting President Frank McKee, of Versailles, called the meeting to order, and after a brief discussion, announced that he wood not be a candidate for president at the regular election as illness in his family prohibited him from fulfilling the duties of that office. His resignation was received with regret.

Permanent officers were then elected, J. N. Kehoe, Maysville, succeeding Mr. McKee as president. Judge Henry Prewitt, Mt. Sterling was elected vice president and E. L. Harrison, Lexington, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Kehoe was informed of his election over the telephone, as he was unable to attend the meeting.

The most important resolution passed during the meeting was drafted for the purpose of securing a cutout. This resolution follows:

"In view of the declining market and lack of support of the buying interests, and the failure of the warehouses to bring about a satisfactory price as promised by the Big Four, We, the Burley Tobacco Growers, Incorporated, stand for a complete cutout of the 1921 crop and holding of the remainder of the 1920 crop until satisfactory prices can be obtained, and we request the cooperation of the warehouses with this end in view."

The question of a cutout was then put to a vote and it was decided unanimously that pledges be sent to all of the county chairmen for distribution to the tobacco growers. These pledges will be sent at once, and must be returned by March 1, signed by at least 75 per cent of the growers to make the movement effective.

It was then moved that the secretary of the Burley Tobacco Growers, Incorporated, send to the Kentucky senate and house of representatives the following resolution:

"That the Capper-Volstead bill be passed as originally passed by the house of representatives and not as amended by the senate." It was said that this measure was taken to protect the farmers against the Sherman anti-trust law.

Twenty-four counties were represented at the meeting, delegates being present from Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky, while proxies were received from Tennessee. Forty chairmen attended during the session, the majority of whom returned to their homes immediately following adjournment.

A committee was appointed to interview Governor E. P. Morrow at once in regards to the present tobacco situation and to request cooperation in carrying out the resolutions passed by the association. This committee composed of Abe Renick, Clark county; E. L. Harrison, Lexington; W. W. Bacon, Nevil, O.; Charles Long, Carrolton; and G. A. Brooks, Mayslick, went to Frankfort Friday night to interview the governor and to ascertain the legality of the cutout movement.

The by-laws of the association, which were drafted by the law firm of Franklin, Talbot and Chapman, provide that the regular annual meeting of the Board of Directors shall be held at the office of the corporation on the first Tuesday in November of each year. Other meetings specified are the first Tuesday in February, the first Tuesday in May and the first Tuesday in August.

A movement has been launched at Olive Hill to develop glass sand found there which the State geoligist has declared is the finest in America.

DOGS TRAIL NEGRO AFTER MILLERSBURG ROBBERIES

Ed Victor, negro, of Millersburg, was arrested by Bourbon county authorities late Sunday night charged with the robbery of the hardware store of A. C. Best & Co., and the grocery stores of T. J. Judy and Jones Brothers, located on Main street, in Millersburg, after bloodhounds had followed a trail to the negro's home.

The robberies occurre Saturday night. Cash amounting to $7 was taken from the drawer of the Best store along with approximately $40 worth of watches and several flashlights. Burnt matches about the safe in the store indicated that it had been inspected though no attempt had been made to force it open. At the Jones Brothers' store $10 in money and several flashlights was taken. At the Judy store $5 in cash and other articles were stolen.

Captain Mulikin was summoned late Sunday afternoon following the discovery of the robberies. He left Lexington with two bloodhounds from his kennels and arrived in Millersburg shortly before 7 o'clock. The dogs were immediately placed on the trail and led the authorities to the home of Victor. Victor was placed under arrest. None of the stolen goods have been recovered.

NEWMAN SAYS TOBACCO PROSPECT IS BRIGHTER

John W. Newman, of Versailles, president of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, and Dr. S. H. Halley, of Lexington, returned from New York and Washington Saturday night with an optimistic message for Kentucky tobacco growers.

A bright outlook for disposing of the present crop of tobacco and for handling future crops in such a manner as to preclude the recurrence of present conditions is based on plans developed at a series of conferences in New York with Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board, and one of the country's leading financial experts.

The conference between Kentucky tobacco men and Mr. Baruch was arraigned by Judge R. W. Bingham, of Louisville. Besides Mr. Newman and Dr. Halley the meeting was attended by Congressman J. C. Cantrill, of Georgetown; R. M. Barker, of Carrolton, and Arthur Krock, editor of the Louisville Times.

The conference was called for last Tuesday with the expectation of its lasting one day, but Mr. Baruch insisted that all angles of the situation be gone into, and the conference continued until Thursday, when the committee returned to Washington for a conference with William M. Williams, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, relative to matters of taxation in connection with the use of low grade tobaccos as fertilizer.

Full details of the plans evolved at the conference will not be made known until Tuesday night when they will be laid before a joint meeting of the Lexington Warehousemen's Association and the directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, at the office of J. C. Stone, president of the Warehousemen's Association, so Mr. Newman said Saturday night upon his arrival from Washington over the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad enroute to his home at Versailles.

It is known, however, that Mr. Baruch favors a marketing company with all growers members or shareholders, the purpose of which will be to adjust the size of future crops and to dispose of a portion of each crop direct to European buyers.

The support of such a movement by Mr. Baruch, it was pointed out, is entirely voluntary and without personal interest other than the general welfare of agricultural interests of the country. He is also interesting himself in the problems of cotton and wheat growers, and accompanied the committee of Kentucky tobacco men as far as Washington, from where he went to South Carolina for conferences on the cotton situation in that State. He has been invited to visit Lexington in the near future, and indicated a desire to do so, but said other engagements probably will not permit his coming here soon.

During the conference with Mr. Baruch, a spokesman for the German government was called in and it became known that that government is anxious to take a large share of the low grade tobacco now in the hands of the growers if satisfactory exchange rates can be worked out for the transaction, Mr. Newman said. Cablegrams are being exchanged with representatives of the German government, it was said, and further developments are expected in the near future.

The sale of tobacco to European countries, however, is only an incidental phase of plans to be set in motion for solving the tobacco situation as a result of the New York conference, Mr. Newman said.

Mr. Newman strongly urges that growers keep their low grade tobacco in their barns or turn it over to the Burley Tobacco Marketing Company, the subsidiary organization of the Growers' Association, and offer only their best leaf for sale. If this is done he predicted that a decided advance in prices offered for the best grades will result within a short time.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Mr. Newman said, granted all requests of the committee in regard to using the poorest grades of tobacco for fertilizer without paying the usual eighteen cent tax required on manufactured tobacco, and also ruled that a cooperative marketing company could sell unmanufactured tobacco direct to European buyers without paying government tax on it.

The Burley Tobacco Marketing Company, which has already been incorporated and is doing business, will take up at once the work of converting the poorest grades of tobacco into fertilizer and placing it upon the market. Ground limestone will be used to destroy the commercial value of the tobacco under the ruling of the head of the Internal Revenue Department.

"There is not the slightest doubt but that means will be developed speedily for the disposal of low grade tobaccos at prices that will be far more profitable to the grower than its sale at one-fourth to one cent per pound will be,"—Mr. Newman said, "and I strongly urge that all growers hold their poorest grades off the market at this time. It can be redried in the barns of the grower or turned over to the Burley Marketing Company for redrying and storage in warehouses designated by the company to receive tobacco given in its care, or further, it may be converted into fertilizer under the plan of the Marketing Company to be set in motion soon and used on the grower's farm or offered for sale to outside buyers."—Sunday's Lexington Leader
