We are authorized to announce WILL PARKER as a candidate for the office of County Judge subject to the action of the Democratic Party, at the primary on August 6, 1921.

COMMENT

THE MOST IMPORTANT OFFICE

The Mercury has always believed, and still believes, that the office of Magistrate is the most important office in any county. Most frequently, in small counties, it is the one office that is the least sought after. Seemingly it gets back in the shuffle for the "paying" jobs. Naturally it is human nature to seek the office which pays the most. It is human nature, but is it good citizenship? Can not interest in the welfare of one's county be shown, without thought of recompensen money?

The magistrates, with the county judge, constitute our fiscal court, which court administers the affairs of the county. County funds are expended by order of this court; road construction work is under its supervision and county improvements must first have its vote of approval. What office-holders in the county administer affairs of so much importance to each and every citizen?

Why the lack of interest? Why the feeling, which seems to exist, that you can "run for magistrate, when there is nothing else left?"

The women of Nicholas county are entering county politics for the first time. The Mercury urges them to persuade some live, wide-awake business man to announce as candidate for magistrate. They can render a most important service to good citizenship in this way.

A fiscal court functioning like the directorate of a great corporation may be too fond a dream, but even a few steps in that direction will help.

One of the brightest gems of a recent musical comedy, to the effect that a husband "should be true to his wife automatic and not by geography," is all very well in piping times of prosperity and prosperity, but the expression of such opinion in this good Republican year of grace and primary is calculated to reduce the morale of everybody hitherto considered moral.

The "Slats" is made
The papers say,
And Ed and Tobe
Are on their way.
With plums for all the faithful.

The type is shook.
Nor left a dam we.
As Ed and Tobe
Bring home the bacon.

I never saw a pig so low,
And one I'll never see—
'Cause twenty hogs'ds for a quart!
Too much moonshine!

The tobacco grower seems to have reached the conclusion that he "may be down, but he will not out."

Hear ye, my souls: A chicken in the coop is worth two in the chorus.

SOMERSET

Blain McIntire spent Sunday evening with Wm. Booth.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF NICHOLAS COUNTY

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Judge of Nicholas county, subject to the action of the Democratic party, at the primary on August 6, next.

I feel that I need no introduction to the people of Nicholas county, politically, officially or socially. By record in my own, as I made it, and subject to judgment, for all it is worth, I do stand or fall.

I am no politician, and am not being brought into this race in any set of politicians, but am running on special favors, but rather at the solicitation of many of my friends, who are mostly composed of that class known as the great common people, who only ask a fair deal with all the cards on the table.

I have no stately platform, nor any startling reforms to introduce at this time, but, if nominated and elected to this high office, will endeavor with the best that it in me to give you a fair and equitable administration of the county affairs, not doing for the great, or rich, but for the poor, the widow and as far as human efforts are possible, to give each and every taxpayer of the county at least some measure of benefit for every dollar of your hard earned money paid into the county treasury.

As I am out on the stump, trying to make both ends meet, and what is left over, I may not be able to see all of you for some time, but wish to see each and every voter in the county before the primary and present my case to you.

So, if you want to "come" or discuss the issues with me, withhold your judgment and get your ammunition ready, for I will surely be around.

Resting the matter with you for the present, and hoping for your support, I thank you.

Most respectfully,
WILL PARKER
