MOST IMPORTANT NEWS OF WORLD

BIG HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK GIT TO LAST ANALYSIS.

DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN ITEMS

Kernels Culled From Events of Moment in All Parts of the World—Interest to the People Everywhere.

Washington

A manufacturers' sales tax of 3 per cent was federally proposed to the senate at Washington by Senator Reed (Dem., Penn.).

• • •

There were 18,326 illiterate persons ten years of age and over in the state of Washington in 1920, "either not attending schools to write in any language, the census bureau at Washington announced.

• • •

The American people are called upon by President Harding at Washington to offer a two-minute prayer at noon, on Armistice day, November 11, when the body of an unknown Yank killed in France will be buried.

• • •

The unemployment conference at Washington recommended emergency measures and adjourned until Monday, October 31. Bimonthly committee meetings will be held to offer the greatest prospect for permanent relief.

• • •

Managers of five large collieries in the Pittsburgh district, Penn., notified the miners they will close in the near future unless they consent to a reduction of 14 cents a ton, cabled to Washington.

• • •

Senator Dennen at a conference at Washington adopted a resolution expressing the fear that the financial measure of success attend the disarmament conference called by President Harding.

• • •

The interstate commerce commission at Washington announced tentative plans for the consolidation of the railroads of the United States into 19 systems, and that public hearings would be called on the project in the near future.

Domestic

A memorial park where George Washington and his army crossed the Delaware River during the Revolutionary war was formally opened and dedicated by Governors from ohio and state at Washington's Crossing, Pa.

• • •

Earthquake shocks of great duration and violence were felt in Hemet, 120 miles east of Los Angeles, Cal., in Riverside and Monrovia, it is said.

• • •

Five swept through car No. 9 of the Erie railroad at Jersey City, N. J., destroying freight cars, setting fire to tugs and causing damage amounting to more than $75,000.

• • •

Nine indictments against the Stoneer Brewing company of Mortgheyden, R. I., have been returned by the federal grand jury sitting at Danville, according to an announcement made at St. Louis.

• • •

Lewis S. Fichter of Brooklyn, N. Y., was elected commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the fifty-fifth annual encampment at Indianapolis. Fichter, 74, succeeds next year's meeting.

• • •

Alexander Howat and August Dorsey formally entered a plea of guilty to jail by District Judge Frank W. Rose at Columbus, after the court had refused to give bond not to exit action in Kansas.

• • •

Six James Craig, the Ulster premier, announced in parliament at Belfast that the old judiciary system will be reorganized through Ireland and that the people of north Ireland will have their own courts.

• • •

It is reported at Constantinople that the Turkish nationalist forces in the region of Ismid have launched a new offensive with a view to attacking the British in Mesopotamia, it is reported.

• • •

Federal troops clashed with revolutionists near Mogohanins, in the department of Lower Peru, it is said. Three federal soldiers were killed and wounded and the bodies of 32 insurrectionists were found after the clash.

• • •

Martial law has been proclaimed in Tientsin and Shanghai, as a result of strikes and disorders, according to advices received at Washington. Both way and telephone communication has been cut off.

• • •

De Valera received a statement at Dublin from 100,000 Belfast citizens declaring they will refuse assent to partition proposals for north and south Ireland.

• • •

Several hundred persons have been killed in a typhoon covering eastern Nagoya, Japan, on the Island of Honshu, a cable says. Many more were injured. Several steamers were sunk.

• • •

Assisted by bombing airplanes, Abdel Krim, was defeated after by Moors against a Spanish wagon train from Melilla to Tetuan, says a dispatch from Madrid.

• • •

The reclining at Berlin passed the bill ratifying the peace treaty with the United States. Only the communists voted against the measure.

• • •

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and W. Cameron Forbes arrived in Tokyo for a week's stay as the guests of the government.

HIS WIFE NOT WORTH $1,000

"Keep Her," Says Demetropolous to Her Abductor, Who Asked Ransom.

Chicago—The question of what a really good wife is worth has been brought up again by the action of Mrs. Sam Demetropolous, who refused to pay $1,000 ransom to get his wife back from her abductors.

William appeared in Judge Jandra's court and asked a warrant for Gus Jeannopoulos. William said Gus approached him Sunday night and put the proposition up to him.

"I have your wife," said Gus, "and I'll release her for $1,000. I'll give her back; otherwise I'll keep her for myself."

"What $1,000 for a wife?" William said he told Gus. "I don't want her. You can have her."

Then, he says, Gus poked a revolver against his ribs and said that unless William produced the $1,000 he would shoot him. After some further argument William said he would get the money, etc., being served out as required. The next day, he says, he and Gus were not sick "upon the day in her honor, the name that there lived Scarlet Street, the ship's chaplain, had been made an independent command. The mail was received in the evening from the ships Washington, 36 days out of Boston, and papers from various parts of the country were read.

At Fort Mahon, in the Balearic islands, three days after the crew had started on a stormy night, Oct. 5, 1821, the ship struck on a reef and quickly went out, which succeeded in recapturing one of the deserters who had escaped the trenches "for hours."

Covered With Grime.

And now, quite accidentally, it had turned up, covered with grime and grease, in the upper compartment of a building 82, at the Boston yard, where apparently it had lain, with a lot of other rubbish, since her captain hauled down his flag for the last time.

The logbook, which is in many ways, of course, in very sad shape, is covered and its entries are mostly very clear and depths in the flowing of the signatures, written in the form script of a gentleman, William Bainbridge, Isaac Hull, Commodore William Bainbridge, Charles Stewart, Capt. Jacob Jones, Capt. Otis C. Rodgers and commanders of "Old Ironsides."

Many interesting episodes and events are narrated in the volume, both in crisp, matter-of-fact phrases, without adjectives or embellishments. Some of these occurrences have been forgotten and their retelling at this time makes a strange tale of the 100 years which have elapsed since the ship has been in the service of Uncle Sam.

The logbook tells, in brief, of the building of the Constitution, in Boston, in 1794, and modestly recounts the many engagements and adventures that fell to the lot of this famous ship in the war of 1812.

Deserter, Weird Voyage.

It describes, in detail, the famous cruise around the world, which began in 1844 and ended in 1846, during which the Constitution visited the Azores, Madeira, Brazil, Cape Verde, Madagascar, China, the Philippines and many other places in the course of her circumnavigation of the globe.

The cruising the China sea it is noted that the ship sailed through a zone of floating pumice stone, which had been cast up by a spouting volcano in Japan. At Canton, China, the crew were called on to help extinguish a fire which threatened to destroy the city.

The Constitution, in 1821, made a tour of European waters, where, we are told, the ship's guns and victories during the war she was the object of much attention and curiosity. After a cruise of 46 days, under the command of Commodore Ridgeldge, she reached Gibraltar, short of provisions.

A detail of men was sent ashore to procure food, and "after a lengthy talk with natives," according to the log, they succeeded in bringing aboard oranges, apricots, lemons and vegetables. One rather wonders how such fare appealed to a crew of husky sailor-lumbermen after a 46 days' cruise.

Arriving in Genoa harbor on July 4, 1821, a sickness broke out aboard the ship which caused the ten days

HIS WIFE NOT WORTH $1,000 — continued on page 5

Coat and Frock.

The black satin frock with a big panel of the same material in front is for wear by many women who start the the late hours after the luncheon hour. Sometimes the upper parts of the frock are built of jeweled crepe, that has on Chinese embroidery.

Colored Handkerchiefs.

Colored handkerchiefs are still in vogue. There are a good many poudr'ettes, with deep-colored centers and borders of white edging. Red, blue and green, deep yellow and tan are all accepted colors.

Aprons Are Popular.

Aprons are a feature of all sorts of gowns. Large aprons are quite common to cover the whole fronts of full taffeta skirts, reaching to the sides, and little straight aprons, often embroidered, are hung at the front of other skirts.

Chiffon Alpaca.

Chiffon alpaca is predicted for the coming of a sensation crepes it might be termed. It might be termed other lines.

Marie.

Wide moire ribbons in various colors are being utilized much for sashes. Many of the ideas come are being "toned" toned and worn with a

The 104th anniversary of the birth of the Marquis of Lafayette, major general, U. S. A., and the seventh anniversary of the battle of the Marne, were celebrated with impressive services at the Lafayette statue, Union square, New York. This photograph shows Maj. John F. O'Ryan, speaking. The statue of Lafayette overlooks the speaker's stand.

Find Log Book of Constitution

Missing Document Just Recovered Dates Back to Building of "Old Ironsides."

TELLS TALES OF ADVENTURE

Book Disappeared When Vessel Went Out of Commission and Officials of Navy Department Have Been Hunted High and Low.

Boston.—The logbook of the frigate Constitution, sailing for three years by the trenches "for home."

High and low the officials of the department have been hunted the volume ever since the famous old ship went out of commission for the last time in 1907, says the Boston Herald.

The disappearance of the logbook was a complete mystery and the discovery had come to the conclusion that some person had purloined the book and that it would probably never again come to light.

Covered With Grime.

And now, quite accidentally, it had turned up, covered with grime and grease, in the upper compartment of a building 82, at the Boston yard, where apparently it had lain, with a lot of other rubbish, since her captain hauled down his flag for the last time.

The logbook, which is in many ways, of course, in very sad shape, is covered and its entries are mostly very clear and depths in the flowing of the signatures, written in the form script of a gentleman, William Bainbridge, Isaac Hull, Commodore William Bainbridge, Charles Stewart, Capt. Jacob Jones, Capt. Otis C. Rodgers and commanders of "Old Ironsides."

Many interesting episodes and events are narrated in the volume, both in crisp, matter-of-fact phrases, without adjectives or embellishments. Some of these occurrences have been forgotten and their retelling at this time makes a strange tale of the 100 years which have elapsed since the ship has been in the service of Uncle Sam.

The logbook tells, in brief, of the building of the Constitution, in Boston, in 1794, and modestly recounts the many engagements and adventures that fell to the lot of this famous ship in the war of 1812.

Deserter, Weird Voyage.

It describes, in detail, the famous cruise around the world, which began in 1844 and ended in 1846, during which the Constitution visited the Azores, Madeira, Brazil, Cape Verde, Madagascar, China, the Philippines and many other places in the course of her circumnavigation of the globe.

The cruising the China sea it is noted that the ship sailed through a zone of floating pumice stone, which had been cast up by a spouting volcano in Japan. At Canton, China, the crew were called on to help extinguish a fire which threatened to destroy the city.

The Constitution, in 1821, made a tour of European waters, where, we are told, the ship's guns and victories during the war she was the object of much attention and curiosity. After a cruise of 46 days, under the command of Commodore Ridgeldge, she reached Gibraltar, short of provisions.

A detail of men was sent ashore to procure food, and "after a lengthy talk with natives," according to the log, they succeeded in bringing aboard oranges, apricots, lemons and vegetables. One rather wonders how such fare appealed to a crew of husky sailor-lumbermen after a 46 days' cruise.

Arriving in Genoa harbor on July 4, 1821, a sickness broke out aboard the ship which caused the ten days

HIS WIFE NOT WORTH $1,000 — continued on page 5

BIG DROP IN FOREIGN TRADE

Decrease of More Than $3,000,000,000 During the Last Fiscal Year Is Shown in Report.

Washington.—Decrease of more than $3,000,000,000 in the value of the country's foreign trade during the past year is ascribed by the Department of Commerce to the world-wide trade depression coming as an aftermath of the war.

Lower prices rather than diminished quantities are to a great extent responsible for the decrease, according to the department asserted in a statement covering the year's foreign commerce.

The total value of the foreign trade of the country dropped from $10,750,000,000 in fiscal year 1920 to $10,171,000,000 in 1921, a decrease of 23.8 per cent, the statement shows. Imports dropped from $5,238,000,000 in 1920 to $3,654,000,000 in 1921, a loss of $1,584,000,000 or 32.3 per cent while exports amounted to $6,100,000,000 in 1920, against $6,516,000,000 in 1921, a decrease of $1,503,000,000, or 19.6 per cent.

Aside from lower prices, other causes contributed to the most for ship-trade totals, the department declared, asserting that the shrinkage employed by this country during and after the war of foreign trade, not only to supply the needs of the United States passed. Crops now being seized on the battlefields of the devastated regions of Europe and manufacturing industries are reviving.

The Kitchen Cabinet

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

Well-stuffed, toasted and thoroughly seasoned is the hidden assumption of the modern housewife, says Mistress Housewife.

REASONABLE IDEAS.

For the waffle lover this will be a piece de resistance, as every one knows how delicious a tender, crisp waffle is. Here we serve a hot syrup with waffles, as it lends an author and dainty their crispness.

Hot Waffles.—Add the yolks of three eggs to two cupfuls of cream, one-quarter cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of flour, sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Stir to a smooth batter, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Cook on a hot, well greased waffle iron and spread with powdered sugar before serving.

Butterscotch Sauce.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of browned flour, stir in a cupful of brown sugar, add one cupful of water and cook until smooth then an additional water. Lastly add one-quarter of a cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of vinegar and one cupful of brown sugar, and let boil up once.

Spiced Peaches.—Use seven pounds of fruit to five pounds of sugar, add an ounce each of stick cinnamon and whole cloves in a muslin bag; add one pint of water and cook until tender, then boiling hot drop in the peaches and let stand in the syrup until they are thoroughly scalded. Pour the batch of fruit into jars and fill the jars to the brim. Seal as usual.

Pickled Onions.—Where the fresh ripe fig is to be obtained they make a delicious pickle. Wash the figs and put them in a preserving kettle with enough water to cover them. Add a cupful of sugar to three pints of water and boil until the figs are tender. Remove the figs and boil the liquid down to a thick syrup, then add vinegar to taste and pour over the figs. They may take two hours preparation, but they are delicious. Peaches may be treated in the same way.

She Comes to Boston.

At the hundredth anniversary of her launching the secretary of the navy ordered her taken to Boston, that she might be "the city of the ship's birth." It was learned that Thomas Worthington, a seaman, had been killed in a quarrel on board ship over a pretty dancer in a cafe. A search was made for the slayer, but the ship sailed and it was buried unsolved.

Many distinguished persons, including members of the nobility and gentry, visited the ship during the years she spent in European ports, that the crew were forty thirty in number. Invitations to parties and other entertainments were numerous. Friendliness was displayed toward the Americans in Sweden.

The log recites that three men were drowned in the waters of the Bay of Naples, while diving, on the morning of June 19, 1827. The names of two of them to the bottom and the bodies were not recovered. Prayers were said for them over at the side of the ship.

On the morning of June 20, 1821, at 4 o'clock, the command of Capt. Daniel Dulaney Patterson, relieved Commander Bainbridge that on the preceding day Commodore Rodgers had tacked the Austrian fleet and had begun destroying the vessels of the ship, having on board 2000 men.

Commodore Rodgers successfully reached the scene of the battle and found that the Austrians had already destroyed, around the isle of Tano, where it was stationed.

In Foreign Seas.

Many months were consumed in cruising along the coast of Turkey, during which the officials of the ship of the American consul paid an official visit to the ship, and the usual rousing reception was given.

The homeward voyage through the Mediterranean, John Rickards, commanding, was uneventful, the Azores and Madeira were visited and the ship reached Boston harbor, short of provisions.

After the Washington turbine! been made a pentimenter In Virginia as a reward for his exploit. The ship remained in port 27 years after its mysterious disappearance on the records of Josiah Bowers at Wilkowdale, near Lowell.

Even Profane.

Mrs. Rawker—I understand one can learn a great deal of profanity on a ploughrigh.

Mrs. Wagg—Well, since our neighbors got theirs, I know my husband can learn language I never heard him use before.

Just So.

"What is the name of the book you are reading, girlie?"

"Thirty-six Ways to Hold a Man's Love."

"Pshaw! It is enough if it will work."

A Stranger.

North—Wasn't that a foolish picture we just saw?

West—That was the movie producer of your last novel!—Judge.

Possibly.

"What are you looking for?"

"A bookstore."

"Do you mean a garage?"

Lingering.

The Last Rose of Summer had the grace to blush. "Everybody else is leaving," it acknowledged.

NEWS CULLINGS From Kentucky

Henderson—The City Council voted to extend Main street from Green to Center streets. This action was taken because of the low finances of the city.

Henderson—Officers are scouring the western section of Henderson County in an effort to capture a gang of bandits who shot and wounded Tom Burgin, a farmer of that section, and a negro farm laborer while in the woods.

Columbia—Reginald Driscoll, three his attorneys, accepted a jury verdict of $2,500 in the suit for damages filed in the Bank of Columbia Discovery in the Circuit Court. Driscoll was in prison.

Frankfort—George Winter was declared the winner in the race for Jailer of Franklin county in the primary election by Circuit Court Winter was 25 votes ahead of his opponent.

Greensboro—Fred Hall, who was shot by his brother-in-law, Ben Underwood, died at a hospital, Hall, it is alleged, had been beating his wife when Underwood intervened and Underwood had had a pistol in his hand when shot.

Henderson—Four warrants were issued by the Public Service Commission, against the Ace Transportation Company, charging it with the failure to procure state license and failure to file bond as required for hauling gravel on county roads.

Dayton—Robert Burton, 24, known throughout Campbell county as "Bobby" Burton is an automobile in a hospital here, and the police are trying to know how he was shot, but believed he was shot in the Bob Tail Cafe in Park. Burton has fallen wounds in his abdomen and back. He is a bartender.

Frankfort—Robert Daugherty, an inmate of the feeble-minded institute, escaped from the home of the superintendent, where the patients had been working on the lawn. Mrs. Daugherty and her husband were visiting relatives at the institute when the escape was made. Daugherty left his coat behind and made his escape in his shirt sleeves.

Lexington—The Kentucky department of the Anti-Saloon League of America, with offices in charge of Rev. Arthur J. Barton, announced that funds are found to carry out the recommendations of the committee of investigation which reported to the Anti-Saloon League convention last day. The report of the committee charged that there was graft, collusion, and waste in the administration.

Frankfort—Those being returned from the Rockcastle road camp where they were working on the highway were Hugh Brewer, a prisoner, jumped from the car and escaped. Brewer, from Owen, a station a short distance from Frankfort, was serving a 12 months' sentence for grand larceny.

Louisville—A bandit, his face disguised with a handkerchief, held up Joseph Hoffman, 27, of Hester, near Jeffersontown, and escaped with $1,000. Hoffman had been to the Bank of Jefferson Avenue, to open the account of Mrs. Hoffman, 25, of Hester, and had just left the bank when the bandit joined a Confederate, who was waiting in an automobile. Hoffman, a farmer, is employed by Henderson County on the Dixie highway, and was on his way to Burgin and his wife and daughter and Mrs. Hoffman's parents, were said to have been shot by forty bullets were given by the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Henderson—Journal reports that Mrs. Mary Hoffman, seriously injured Sutton, made his escape and has not been found.

Frankfort—W. A. Burnett, Estill county, after failing to obtain his freedom by habeas corpus and then unsuccessfully seeking a pardon from governor from the reformatory on penitentiary sentence, has been paroled by the Board of Charities and Correction. He has served 18 months of a two-year term for carrying a concealed deadly weapon, and not recommended.

Frankfort—E. M. Noel, of Frankfort, and Thomas Todd, of Louisville, both wholesale druggists, and John Allen Hall, of Louisville, were indicted by the United States grand jury, by Federal Judge Walter Evans, charged with violation of the Volstead act in connection with the alleged theft of whiskey from the Stagg Distillery.

Frankfort—The report of Bank Examiner Ben Bell on the Farmers' Bank of Owenton, which closed its doors October 7, W. B. Conrad, Cashier, showed that the assets of the bank are somewhat less expensive than was at first estimated, but that the liabilities are about the same. Along with other things the bank carried a large amount of paper of a doubtful value. This paper is to be collected by the receiver, and the bank will be continued for the present.

Louisville—On the pretext of reading a car a bandit with a pistol in his hand, entered the garage of the Saunders-Mitchell Co., on East Broadway, and escaped with the cash register of more than $200, after holding up Ben Mitchell, one of the proprietors, in the wall at the point of a pistol.

Columbia—Theodore Shaw sued the Louisville Railway Company and Joseph E. Kendall for $25,000 damages. She claims that on March 6 a street car and automobile collided near Forty-second and Broadway, and Kendall's machine was thrown against the car she was driving, injuring her so severely that she was confined to her home for 30 days.

Lexington—Lexington will be more than a one-way street from by Thanksgiving, it was announced, when construction of a new white way on Short street was completed. The new lighting will comprise forty-two electric lights and will cost $21,000. The several product was initiated by the Short Street Improvement Association.

Lexington—Finance Commissioner Frank J. O'Brien was in Police Court and announced that he will not permit to give a ruling on a license for a dance hall proprietor of racial, of whom were in court on charges of violating the law. Mr. O'Brien refused to grant a license to dance halls proprietors, having no license, and declared that he will not grant exceptional license as are first.

Louisville—Mrs. Agnes Heyer 35, died at the home of her son, Mrs. F. A. Gorst, 2206 West Main street, after a brief illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Heyer had made her home with Mrs. Gorst for the past few years, coming here from Charlestown, Ind., where she was born. Thomas Heyer, a merchant of that

Lexington—The Kentucky department of the Anti-Saloon League of America, with offices in charge of Rev. Arthur J. Barton, announced that funds are found to carry out the recommendations of the committee of investigation which reported to the convention last day. The report of the committee charged that there was graft, collusion, and waste in the administration.

Greensboro—Later developments regarding the shooting of Tom Burgin, a negro farm laborer while in the woods of Henderson County on the Dixie highway, and Burgin and his wife and daughter and Mrs. Hoffman's parents, were said to have been shot by forty bullets were given by the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Henderson—Journal reports that Mrs. Mary Hoffman, seriously injured Sutton, made his escape and has not been found.

Frankfort—W. A. Burnett, Estill county, after failing to obtain his freedom by habeas corpus and then unsuccessfully seeking a pardon from governor from the reformatory on penitentiary sentence, has been paroled by the Board of Charities and Correction. He has served 18 months of a two-year term for carrying a concealed deadly weapon, and not recommended.

Frankfort—E. M. Noel, of Frankfort, and Thomas Todd, of Louisville, both wholesale druggists, and John Allen Hall, of Louisville, were indicted by the United States grand jury, by Federal Judge Walter Evans, charged with violation of the Volstead act in connection with the alleged theft of whiskey from the Stagg Distillery.

Frankfort—The report of Bank Examiner Ben Bell on the Farmers' Bank of Owenton, which closed its doors October 7, W. B. Conrad, Cashier, showed that the assets of the bank are somewhat less expensive than was at first estimated, but that the liabilities are about the same. Along with other things the bank carried a large amount of paper of a doubtful value. This paper is to be collected by the receiver, and the bank will be continued for the present.

Louisville—On the pretext of reading a car a bandit with a pistol in his hand, entered the garage of the Saunders-Mitchell Co., on East Broadway, and escaped with the cash register of more than $200, after holding up Ben Mitchell, one of the proprietors, in the wall at the point of a pistol.

Columbia—Reginald Driscoll, three his attorneys, accepted a jury verdict of $2,500 in the suit for damages filed in the Bank of Columbia Discovery in the Circuit Court. Driscoll was in prison.

Frankfort—George Winter was declared the winner in the race for Jailer of Franklin county in the primary election by Circuit Court Winter was 25 votes ahead of his opponent.

Lexington—Lexington will be more than a one-way street from by Thanksgiving, it was announced, when construction of a new white way on Short street was completed. The new lighting will comprise forty-two electric lights and will cost $21,000. The several product was initiated by the Short Street Improvement Association.

Lexington—Finance Commissioner Frank J. O'Brien was in Police Court and announced that he will not permit to give a ruling on a license for a dance hall proprietor of racial, of whom were in court on charges of violating the law. Mr. O'Brien refused to grant a license to dance halls proprietors, having no license, and declared that he will not grant exceptional license as are first.

Louisville—Mrs. Agnes Heyer 35, died at the home of her son, Mrs. F. A. Gorst, 2206 West Main street, after a brief illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Heyer had made her home with Mrs. Gorst for the past few years, coming here from Charlestown, Ind., where she was born. Thomas Heyer, a merchant of that Lexington—The Kentucky department of the Anti-Saloon League of America, with offices in charge of Rev. Arthur J. Barton, announced that funds are found to carry out the recommendations of the committee of investigation which reported to the convention last day. The report of the committee charged that there was graft, collusion, and waste in the administration.

Greensboro—Later developments regarding the shooting of Tom Burgin, a negro farm laborer while in the woods of Henderson County on the Dixie highway, and Burgin and his wife and daughter and Mrs. Hoffman's parents, were said to have been shot by forty bullets were given by the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Henderson—Journal reports that Mrs. Mary Hoffman, seriously injured Sutton, made his escape and has not been found.

Frankfort—W. A. Burnett, Estill county, after failing to obtain his freedom by habeas corpus and then unsuccessfully seeking a pardon from governor from the reformatory on penitentiary sentence, has been paroled by the Board of Charities and Correction. He has served 18 months of a two-year term for carrying a concealed deadly weapon, and not recommended.

Frankfort—E. M. Noel, of Frankfort, and Thomas Todd, of Louisville, both wholesale druggists, and John Allen Hall, of Louisville, were indicted by the United States grand jury, by Federal Judge Walter Evans, charged with violation of the Volstead act in connection with the alleged theft of whiskey from the Stagg Distillery.

Frankfort—The report of Bank Examiner Ben Bell on the Farmers' Bank of Owenton, which closed its doors October 7, W. B. Conrad, Cashier, showed that the assets of the bank are somewhat less expensive than was at first estimated, but that the liabilities are about the same. Along with other things the bank carried a large amount of paper of a doubtful value. This paper is to be collected by the receiver, and the bank will be continued for the present.

Makes Hard Work Harder

A bad back makes a day's work twice as hard. Backache usually comes from weak kidneys, and if headaches, dizziness or urinary disorders follow, Doan's Kidney Pills may help you. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought new life and new strength to thousands of working men and women. Used and recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

An Ohio Case

Charles Phillips, of 1107 Jefferson St., Portsmouth, Ohio, says: "My back became stiff and lame. My kidneys acted irregularly and I had dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of all these troubles and I have had no return of them."

Get Doan's at Any Store. 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Vaseline

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Carbolated

PETROLEUM JELLY

A convenient, safe antiseptic for home use. Invaluable for dressing all cuts and sores. A time-tried remedy.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO. State Street

PALMER'S LOTION SOAP CONTAINS THE WONDERFUL PALMER'S LOTION parts of the nourishment of the skin

ALL DRUGGISTS. Take the SOLON PALMER

PALMER'S LOTION

STYLES ARE PROMISING FOR AFTERNOON GOWNS

THE modes for fall and winter have been launched and are still in the definite directions—driven by the whole of popular favor. Discussion of them naturally begins with the silhouette, which remains slender and plainly reveals its descent from classic Greek draperies, or is even more simple and straight. Slenderness continues to be a charm for which every designer strives, excepting when an attention is occupied with evening gowns.

Nearly all the afternoon gowns chosen the straight line silhouette, the low waistline, the short sleeve and the slim, fashes, panels and vanity vogue. The long tunic is a definition of the waistline with a sash of the charmeuse finished with bandeau tassels. A silk gallon is four rows of the front relieves the plainness of the tunic.

LITTLE NICETIES OF DRESS THAT BESPEAK REFINEMENT

Sure Relief

BELLANS FOR INDIGESTION

6 Bellans Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

Lucky Strike

KING PIN PLUG TOBACCO

Lucky Strike

"that good kind"

Try it—and you will know why

EASY TO KILL

RATS MICE

Sprinkle Sun-Proof Electric Paste around runways and watch results. Rats and mice will eat it and die outdoors. Dries in a few hours. Contains no poison. Will not injure children, pets or poultry. Guaranteed to kill rats and mice or money back. Sold by druggists, grocers, hardware and seed dealers. Write for booklet.

ELECTRIC PASTE

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE

Manufactured by Sun-Proof Paint Co., 1000 Sun-Proof Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

Vell for Older Women.

The veil combining mesh and chiffon of fine geometric, the latter utilized as a wide lining, proves especially effective to a woman whose necklines are usually marred by wearing too high collars or is exceptionally thin.

Furbeta Shade in Hats.

The popularity of furbeta as a shade for hats is assured, judging from the displays of fall millinery to be seen in the retail establishments at yet plays an important role.

Corded Hems.

A seamless, full-circled frock with a worn hem is one of the novelties of the season, to date by making a corded hem. Frist rip out the present hem along the worn edge. If the skirt is long enough to permit it, add a long enough to permit it, add a

Satin for Coats.

The satin coat is one of New York's fashion fancies. There is much quilting on it in fancy designs. It is relaced, even for summer, with charmeuse satin, moreover or lynx, and lined with crepe de chine or other light silk.

Soft Materials.

Soft materials will lead in fall coat fabrics, Velvingue—the name is self explanatory—will be one of the strong

Bags of heavy silk, crocheted into shape and adorned with steel beads are the accessories of the moment. They are rivaled by bandanne ribbon bags with metal frames, however, and bags that are somewhat less expensive but far from inexpensive. But these are among the pretty things that will make the home attractive at a saving. Along with other things Spanish are many bags. There is a decided revival in both and this winter may see the bandanne bag in still Satin for Underskirts.

Satin for underskirts is one of the season's modes and combines with the silk and satin dresses of the season. Some of the underskirts are of satin, with the silk and satin dresses of the season. Some of the underskirts are of satin, with the silk and satin dresses of the season. Some of the underskirts are of satin,