Important News Events of the World Summarized

Washington

Official entertainment during the disarmament conference at Washington will cost the government $20,000, it is estimated. One banquet, two luncheons and two receptions are planned.

The report of the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington shows that collections from income and excess profits taxes for the fiscal year 1921 fell off three-fourths of a billion dollars from the collections in 1920.

President Harding is planning to call a national conference at Washington on unemployment, it was intimated last week, representatives of labor and the leading groups of industry. The Department of Commerce has been commissioned to arrange the conference.

Immediate disposal of liquor seized under the national prohibition act on which storage charges are accruing was ordered by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes at Washington.

The bodies of the American victims of the Ehrenbreitstein explosion in Germany were received from Lloyd George, British ex-premier.

The American army will be brought home from Germany immediately upon ratification of the peace treaty, says a Washington dispatch. The senate is expected to act on the treaty as soon as it reconvenes in September. This means the American forces may be moving out of Germany before November 1.

The treaty of peace with Germany negotiated by President Harding and Secretary Hughes in lieu of the ex-Kaiser's treaty of Versailles was signed in Berlin, Secretary of State Hughes announced at Washington. One of the principal things the treaty does is to guarantee to the United States, United States and Germany, definitely against the League of Nations covenant so far as the U. S. is concerned; preserves to the United States all rights and advantages stipulated for the United States in the Versailles treaty.

Failure of congress to agree to the anthracite bill will not mean cessation of negotiations for the sale of here as anthracite, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced at Washington. The secretary said he decided he would not be required to comply with congress resolutions.

The Capper-Tincher bill for regulating trading on grain exchanges and the bill which would tax the sale of coal during assessment and collection of taxes were discussed at Washington by President Harding. The former bill imposes a prohibitive tax upon "puts and calls" and other speculative transactions and upon all grain exchanges which do not become "contract markets."

Domestic

Victor Strauss, twenty-nine, of Mishawaka, was killed at South Bend, Ind., when he fell 1,000 feet from an airplane while attempting to make a parachute leap. The parachute failed to adjust.

One man was killed and two were seriously injured in a fire which is supposed to have been started by a bolt of lightning that struck the plant of the Transportation company near Lewisville, Ky.

Five persons were killed when their automobile was struck by a train at La Harpe, Ill. Their names could not be learned. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kay and Mrs. William Elson.

Miss Mary L. Dowson of Chicago was elected high chief ranger of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, by national convention at Omaha.

Dun's review of trade issued at New York says: As the end of the year approaches there is no sign of further haste to anticipate requirements and sentiment grows more confident. Nothing in the present situation suggests that sudden and general activity will follow the recent moderate but irregular improvement, but a stronger basis now exists for subsequent betterment of conditions.

Donald and Merril Lawson of Lafayette, Ind., both under twelve, were drowned in a gravel pit near Hoopeston, Ill., where they were living. Both bodies were recovered by divers.

A sentence of six months in the Milwaukee house of correction and a fine of $1,000 was given to Thomas Tullefsen, president of the Cloverland Oil & Gas Co., after he had been found guilty by Judge Claude Luse in federal court at Superior, Wis. Tullefsen was found guilty of sending threatening letters through the mails.

According to Chippewa Indians on Lake Of Bellos, Chippewa Indian district, Minnesota, Hiawatha Wis., the recent winter will be the coldest in 100 years. The Indians base their prediction upon present indications being made by wild animals for the winter.

The sugar beet harvest in northern Colorado and western Nebraska will open September 12, and from 5,000 to 6,000 sugar factories will open. An unusually heavy tonnage is expected to be sifted.

THE SEA FIREFLY.

It does seem sometimes that for every land animal there is one corresponding to it in the water. Or is it the other way? We all know the firefly, which lights up the summer evenings with its tiny lamp, and the sea firefly, which does a like thing in the water. At the front end of the shell, which is pointed, there is a queer little round bubblelike arrangement, which, at night, gives out a light so strong that its light is not dimmed in the least even when there is a bright lamp shining near it.

Birds' Homing Instinct.

The homing instinct in migratory birds consists of their wonderful ability to detect changes in climate and the direction of the compass, for their "home" not cover a large area. The nest is all accomplished by the observation of landmarks.

Foreign

Great Britain cannot countenance the meeting of the United States senate, said Premier Lloyd George in referring to the treaty with Germany negotiated at Berlin by Secretary Hughes, according to a London dispatch.

Three persons were killed when 20,000 communists, organized by representatives of Bela Kun, clashed with monarchists at Pecsh.

Hundreds of villages have been destroyed and thousands of persons left homeless by an overflow of the Theiss river in Hungary, according to a wire from the mayor of Arad, Hungary, Reuter's Arad bureau reports the province of Banat.

Several government officials at Moscow are preparing to receive the first installment of the American relief administration workers, who are due to arrive in the Russian capital in September.

In rejecting the British settlement proposals, Premier Cuno of Germany's cabinet resigned, according to a London dispatch. Premier Lloyd George declared in his answer to the German proposals that adherence to the British peace conditions. The premier's answer, received in Berlin Sunday, while first in hand, leaves the situation unchanged, a dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of the London Times said.

Matthias Erzberger, former vice premier and minister of finance of Germany, was assassinated by two youths near Offenburg, Baden, where he was accompanied by his family. Twelve bullets entered his body.

Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., who started to walk under water from Irish channel from Cape Girls Nez, near Calais, to Dover, England, failed to accomplish the feat. He was obliged to abandon the attempt after swimming for hours.

Emmons de Valera was unanimously re-elected president of the Irish republic by Dail Eireann (Irish Free parliament), says a Dublin dispatch. He was nominated by Liam Mellowes and John Mac Kiwan, of the Irish republican army, a member of Dail Eireann.

More than 1,000 lives, it is feared, have been lost in the sinking in the Yellow sea of the British steamer Wo An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Shanghai received at London.

The Sinn Fein's formal reply to the English peace offer was delivered at Premier Lloyd George's official residence in London. It was understood agreed that the note should not be published until further conferences had taken place, then the document would be published simultaneously in London and Dublin.

Called Most Beautiful Spot in Chicago

The lagoon in Lincoln park, which is the home of the Chicago Yacht club, is said to be the most beautiful spot in Chicago. It is located off Sheridan drive at Roscoe street. At the extreme right may be seen the Sheridan Road drive and next to it the bridle path. The old schooner at the extreme right of the picture is a show and office. In the distance can be seen the Lincoln Park golf course.

Ohio Town Is Being Moved

All Buildings of Osborn to Be Taken to New Site to Prevent Flood.

LAWYER CRACKS HARD NUT

Problem of How to Preserve Corporate Existence of Town and at Same Time Destroy Its Very Existence Aroused Interest.

Dayton, O.—The town of Osborn, O., is moving. The story, briefly told, is this:

In March, 1913, the Great Miami river and its tributaries overflowed their banks. The resulting flood was the worst in the history of the Miami valley. It is known as the Dayton flood. Hundreds of lives were lost and the financial loss aggregated hundreds of millions.

Osborn, a village of 1,200 people, was one of the towns that suffered the most severely. Practically every house in it would become future floods, out of the question. Experts were asked to find a way to keep the waters of the Great Miami, Mad river, Stillwater river, Wolf creek, Big Twin creek and smaller tributaries confined to their several banks.

The plan finally adopted contemplated a series of dams across the streams. This would method of controlling the flow during floods presupposed the protective power of the dams would hold the water back, causing just enough of it to be turned back below, and no more.

Under this plan the water would back up behind the dams for a distance of from one to two miles between the dams. These spaces were called "dry reservoirs," which means that in seasons of normal flow the land bordering the stream would be dry, while in flood times it would be submerged to a depth of many feet.

Osborn is located in the dry reservoirs, all buildings of every description, from churches and village halls to every form of structure in fact, any and everything which would be damaged by water must be moved to higher ground.

Village Must Be Moved.

The village of Osborn, with a population of 1,000, was in one of these "dry" reservoirs. It was necessary to move it. It was an old town and one of the most attractive and most beautiful in Ohio, with hundreds of wide, well-shaded streets and avenues, and a splendid high school. Several public

HONORS DAD'S MEMORY

King George of England unveiled the statue of his father, King Edward VII in London recently. The memorial stands in Waterloo place.

BIGGEST PHONE CABLE LAID

Carries Hundreds of Wires From Detroit to Canada Under the Detroit River.

Detroit, Mich.—What is said to be the largest telephone cable in the world was laid across the United States recently between Detroit and Windsor, Ont., making it possible to conduct 600 conversations simultaneously between the United States and Canada.

CAT LIVES 25 DAYS IN HOLE

Paris Fishing Roosters Quickly on Getting Mice and Washes Its Whiskers.

Paris.—How long can a cat live in a hole in the ground? That's the answer to a story according to accounts in the Paris press of a cat's adventure.

Twenty-five days ago a mouse scared up a cat's curiosity and the cat followed it down a hole in the garden of a suburban villa.

The mouse escaped, but the cat was not to be discarded. The other day it was opened again and the cat emerged a shrieking, emaciated rat, staggering on its legs and mewing for food scarcely enough to lap warm milk proffered by the workmen who had released the cat, but in the time it had finished it was sufficiently recovered to attend to its toilet and to wash its whiskers.

Spiders Tie Up Wire Service.

Buenos Aires.—A large part of the telegraph service into the interior of Ten Dollars a "Stick Up" Is Scale for Assistants

Ten dollars a "stick up" is the scale offered by New York city holdup men for assistants, according to a recent theft by city detectives say they obtained from the confession of Dave Carter, Yale, held for complicity in the robbery of a Yale and Town store.

According to detectives Chief Lieut. Ed. Ryan, who arrested Carter, his employer rifled the cash register of $1,000 and escaped in a car which Carter is said to have rented for $20, instead $100.

SAVED U. S. $10,000,000

NEW YORK EATS MOST SPUDS

City Leads World as Potato Consumer, Says Statistician Who Has Vowed by Philadelphia.

New York.—New York is the greatest white potato-consuming center in the United States, according to statistics by the bureau of markets and crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture. An average of 20,000 cars of potatoes, or 10,000,000 bushels, are unloaded here every year for the last five years. Chicago ranks second in the list, with 11,210 cars, followed by Philadelphia, with 6,820; Boston, with 6,620; St. Louis with 2,943 and Kansas City with 2,000.

The city's potatoes come mostly from Maine and Long Island, with supplies 1,500 cars and Maine 3,000. Pennsylvania ranks third with 1,000 cars. Intermediate crop is furnished by New Jersey, which ships 2,000 cars to this city.

FIGHTING IN BELFAST

SEVEN KILLED AND 48 WOUNDED —PATTER OF LEAD IS LIKE HEAVY HAILSTORM.

Railway Workers Agree to Return to Posts—Optimism in Dublin Because Sinn Whom Speaker of Dail Eireann Denounces British Premier.

Western Newspaper Union News Service

Belfast.—Street fighting, which has been in progress, house to house and violent at 90 factories in the city streets radiating from Dunraven Gate and Queen's university, and Ballymacarrett, with scarcely an interval during from windows and roofs until midnight.

Street lamps were extinguished, and that the mob had fired. The rioting was worst in the Ormeau district of the city. It is known as the Dayton flood. Hundreds of lives were lost and the financial loss aggregated hundreds of millions.

Osborn, a village of 1,200 people, was one of the towns that suffered the most severely. Practically every house in it would become future floods, out of the question. Experts were asked to find a way to keep the waters of the Great Miami, Mad river, Stillwater river, Wolf creek, Big Twin creek and smaller tributaries confined to their several banks.

The plan finally adopted contemplated a series of dams across the streams. This would method of controlling the flow during floods presupposed the protective power of the dams would hold the water back, causing just enough of it to be turned back below, and no more.

Under this plan the water would back up behind the dams for a distance of from one to two miles between the dams. These spaces were called "dry reservoirs," which means that in seasons of normal flow the land bordering the stream would be dry, while in flood times it would be submerged to a depth of many feet.

Osborn is located in the dry reservoirs, all buildings of every description, from churches and village halls to every form of structure in fact, any and everything which would be damaged by water must be moved to higher ground.

Village Must Be Moved.

The village of Osborn, with a population of 1,000, was in one of these "dry" reservoirs. It was necessary to move it. It was an old town and one of the most attractive and most beautiful in Ohio, with hundreds of wide, well-shaded streets and avenues, and a splendid high school. Several public

Shell. These munitions, T. N. T. and picric acid are now being used to road the Belfast streets.

Belfast.—Seven persons were killed and 48 wounded in the rioting which followed the rifling of the vaults of the Provincial bank in the Falls district and in the Monster Temple. Determined efforts were made by the police and troops to restore order. Quiet was obtained by four o'clock in the morning, but the city was in a state of nervous tension and excitement with the murders last May of two men were killed during the three days' rioting in County Cavan.

The patter of lead is like heavy hailstorm.

Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has been in consultation with the chief secretary, Hamar Greenwood, and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the imperial general staff, and with the Marquess of Londonderry, minister of labor, and Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster Unionists, and with the members last May of two men were killed during the three days' rioting in County Cavan