News of the Week Cut Down for Busy Readers

Washington

Approval of $4 advances for agricultural purposes aggregating $2,722,000 was announced by the War Finance corporation at Washington. Applications included: Illinois, $1,000,000; Iowa, $98,000; Minnesota, $46,000.

The Supreme court of the United States in Washington decided that no person could be impeached at bail after without prosecution and indictment by a grand jury.

Commissioner Haynes announced at Washington that the federal courts in the last six months have reported the cases of 3,200 prohibition nonsuited indictments, cost of which 3,000 cases were obtained.

The senate at Washington adopted the resolution extending the 2 per cent immigration restriction law. The life of the present law, which expires June 30, 1922, was extended to June 30, 1924, which is longer than proposed by the house.

President and Mrs. Harding attended an Easter service in Calvary Baptist church, where they are parishioners. Through proxy the President gave his arrival for the morning services and luncheon of Easter candidates in Washington had to be turned away.

The senate at Washington voted to increase from $200,000 to $1,000,000 an appropriation to eradicate the boll weevil pest, which is damaging the wheat crops in 16 Middle Western states.

Domestic

A suicide motive was virtually established by a coroner's jury in Pittsburgh in the investigation into the mysterious death of Grace Gibson Hoffman, seventeen-year-old student of Rockford college.

The two-months-old daughter of Lady Astor arrived from Southampton on the White Star liner Olympic for New York. She is on the way to Baltimore to be the guest of the League of Women Voters at their convention.

Col. Ezra L. Fuller, one of the first surviving Civil war officers, will be retired July 1 at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he has been stationed for nearly twenty years.

The largest shipment of rattan ever handled in a single port is reported to Grand Rapids, Mich., on 14 cars, 31 interest at San Francisco on the steamer Pine Tree State from Singapore.

Three men, Ernest Thrift, John Shumate and Ed Biggs, all of Coleman, Ky., were killed when struck by the trains of the Texas and Pacific railroad near Malakoff.

Diamonds valued at $40,000 were taken from the office safe of Max Kinger company, wholesale jewelers' supply office building at Cleveland, O., by three bandits.

"Shot to kill" orders were issued by Chief of Police Richard Carlson at Pittsburgh, Pa., following the exploding of every police call box in the city. Two men were held as an effort to check the crime wave.

Buried under what is believed to have been the cause of a double explosion, set fire to nine theaters and a department store Christmas eve, at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., a coroner's jury has found.

Abolition of the unit colonies of striking miners and establishment of a "free labor district" is provided for in an injunction issued by United States District Judge George W. McClintic at Charleston, W. Va.

Thirteen cars of a train of valuable furniture, destined for the Illinois Central railroad, were destroyed when the train was wrecked at a switch on the road near Duquesville, Ind.

A dispatch from Cape says that martial law was proclaimed in Duncan territory of the sterling last week and Assed Bey, minister of the interior.

Unofficial advices from Honduras go to the effect that a revolution of serious proportions is in progress at various points in Honduras territory along the Nicaraguan frontier.

Seven Mexican rebels, including three officers, were killed in a skirmish in the federal street, were killed in a skirmish in the federal street, were killed in a group of insurrectos near Ebenhil, state of Vera Cruz.

Miss Edna Smith, thirty-seven years old, and Mrs. Lee Nash, thirty-five, who is their sister, Mrs. Clarke Seavenbaugh, were rated the wealthiest women in Kansas, when their wills were filed in Lakehurst, N. J., in their suits at a railroad crossing.

The Classic Sandal in Satin.

Rumors of footwear for summer gala evenings have become more substantial fact. "Conspicuous for their elegancy" is the telling phrase used to describe the sandal form, another example of classic influence. These are sandal gossamerly; the material is plain satin, matching the gown. The heavier brocade slipper finished to day with the exit of winter, though sandals of silver and gold cloth may be worn with the summer evening gown. Cockades of tulle or straw re-

About fifty lives were lost, more than 200 injured and hundreds rendered homeless by storms and floods in the Mississippi valley. The property damage amounted into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Plans for the immediate payment of the first installment of $250 bonus for disabled World war veterans are made at Albany, N. Y., by the State Veterans' Relief commission.

Some nine workers of the anthracite region will not return to the mines when the suspension is over, for they are buying farms. No less than a dozen have been purchased near Bloomington, Pa.

John McCormack, the tenor, was married at New York to be practically out of danger.

Lightning struck a barn on the farm of John Kuehn, near Port Washington, Wis., causing a loss of 45 head of pedigree Holstein cattle and eight horses.

Four thousand dollars is the estimated amount of money which the subject secured when they blew the safe in the Pantsboro theater at Portland, Ore.

Two maritime officers and a private citizen, instantly killed when a bomb, Va., when their planes, in battle practice, collided and crashed to the ground.

Representative S. H. Brown of the Twenty-fourth congressional district of North Carolina, during a Northern hospital at Newton, N. C.

Jim Eslinger, who has been asleep continuously for three years, died unexpectedly at the county hospital at Fort Smith, Ark.

Count Frederick Ingram of Montreal May 12 to receive the degree of doctor of laws from Mount Allison.

Henry Morris Bratnober, noted sculptor, who designed the Grant memorial at Washington, which is to be completed April 27, died in St. Luke's hospital at New York.

Adjutant Constantine Anson, "the father of Salvation Army in Chicago," His death came after an illness of several days which necessitated an operation.

Foreign

An assault on the Spanish position in Morocco by Riffians was repulsed by the Spanish garrison, which defended the blockhouse successfully until the arrival of reenforcements, says the official Madrid communique. The attackers left 62 dead on the field.

The reparations commission at Paris adopted the text of a note to Germany informing her that the commission considers the number of Prussian officers in the Prussian Officer Gen and Von Marshal Hoperer at Eastern Prussia.

Lady Astor arrived from Southampton on the White Star liner Olympic for New York. She is on the way to Baltimore to be the guest of the League of Women Voters at their convention.

Col. Ezra L. Fuller, one of the first surviving Civil war officers, will be retired July 1 at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he has been stationed for nearly twenty years.

The largest shipment of rattan ever handled in a single port is reported to Grand Rapids, Mich., on 14 cars, 31 interest at San Francisco on the steamer Pine Tree State from Singapore.

Three men, Ernest Thrift, John Shumate and Ed Biggs, all of Coleman, Ky., were killed when struck by the trains of the Texas and Pacific railroad near Malakoff.

The federal reserve board has withdrawn from the office safe of Max Kinger company, wholesale jewelers' supply office building at Cleveland, O., $40 three bandits.

"Shot to kill" orders were issued by Chief of Police Richard Carlson at Pittsburgh, Pa., following the exploding of every police call box in the city. Two men were held as an effort to check the crime wave.

Buried under what is believed to have been the cause of a double explosion, set fire to nine theaters and a department store Christmas eve, at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., a coroner's jury has found.

Abolition of the unit colonies of striking miners and establishment of a "free labor district" is provided for in an injunction issued by United States District Judge George W. McClintic at Charleston, W. Va.

Thirteen cars of a train of valuable furniture, destined for the Illinois Central railroad, were destroyed when the train was wrecked at a switch on the road near Duquesville, Ind.

A dispatch from Cape says that martial law was proclaimed in Duncan territory of the sterling last week and Assed Bey, minister of the interior.

Unofficial advices from Honduras go to the effect that a revolution of serious proportions is in progress at various points in Honduras territory along the Nicaraguan frontier.

Seven Mexican rebels, including three officers, were killed in a skirmish in the federal street, were killed in a skirmish in the federal street, were killed in a group of insurrectos near Ebenhil, state of Vera Cruz.

Miss Edna Smith, thirty-seven years old, and Mrs. Lee Nash, thirty-five, who is their sister, Mrs. Clarke Seavenbaugh, were rated the wealthiest women in Kansas, when their wills were filed in Lakehurst, N. J., in their suits at a railroad crossing.

Commissioners accepted the Rome offer of $1,000,000 presented at Utica, where the celebrated romance supply was made for lighting Rome.

Gunmen at Dublin attempted to kill Michael Collins, head of the provisional Irish government.

Seven Killed When Coach Leaps From Bridge

A close-up view of the wreckage of a wooden coach splintered by a fall from a trestle, 50 feet in height, at Union City, Ga. Seven were killed and 16 injured.

FAREWELL TO AMERICA

By H. W. NEVINSON

[Correspondent of the Manchester Guardian at the arms conference.]

(Copyright, 1922, by the Atlantic Monthly Co.)

THE international conference on disarmament assembled in Washington many eminent personages, but of the most eminent of whom was Henry W. Nevinson of England. He has been one of the best known of the British war and travel war correspondents and is the author of numerous books. Mr. Nevinson came as the correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, a newspaper which holds a unique place in English journalism. Its influence in politics has given it a circulation almost equivalent in Great Britain, and its accomplished writers and scholarly editors make each issue a place of literature. Upon taking his departure from American, Mr. Nevinson wrote the following "Farewell" as excellent example of criticism of his keen powers of observation and his breadth-indulgence.

In quiet and driving snow the towers of New York fade from view. The great ship slides down the river. Already the dark, broad seas glisten before her. Goodby, most beautiful of cities! Goodby to glimmering spires and lighted bastions, dreamlike as the castles and cathedrals of a romantic vision! Goodby to thin lines of white steam that issue from central furnaces and fit in dissolving mists beyond those precipitous heights! Goodby to heaven-piled offices, to clouds, to warm, where lonely stenographers, with silk stockings and powdered faces, sit patiently at work at converse in charming ease! Goodby, New York! I am going home. I am going to an ancient city of steam and motionless streets, of gentle sweets for nourishment, extended monotonously over many miles of prim streets ringing clearer than a blanket; of shining tripists who know the Bible, silk or powder, and less of brains; and morning ease. Goodby, New York! I am going home.

Goodby to beautiful "apartments" and "homes"! Goodby to window boxing for over the city as from a luxurious yacht! Goodby to central heating and radiators, St symbols of wealth! Goodby to the Ritz! Goodby to the newest and most appointed bathrooms of the world! Goodby to fruitless gardens planted in stiff soil, to cherries in charming ease! Goodby, New York! I am going home.

Goodby to beautiful "apartments" and "homes"! Goodby to window boxing for over the city as from a luxurious yacht! Goodby to central heating and radiators, St symbols of wealth! Goodby to the Ritz! Goodby to the newest and most appointed bathrooms of the world! Goodby to fruitless gardens planted in stiff soil, to cherries in charming ease! Goodby, New York! I am going home.

Goodby to the beautiful "apartments" and "homes"! Goodby to window boxing for over the city as from a luxurious yacht! Goodby to central heating and radiators, St symbols of wealth! Goodby to the Ritz! Goodby to the newest and most appointed bathrooms of the world! Goodby to fruitless gardens planted in stiff soil, to cherries in charming ease! Goodby, New York! I am going home.

Goodby to the land of a new language, of a new literature, of a new art, of a new and ancient race, of house time honored three centuries ago, of rather drab that have been growing for a thousand years, and of village greens and of quiet lanes and of the bicycle still drag out a lingering life; a land of persistent and silent toil; a land of old villages and towns that are not towns and villages, where one village is like the next; a land where trains are late, but not by much; a land where in any direction within a day they will reach a sea; a land of vast and ancient trees