RESOLUTIONS

Blue Lick Lodge No 409, F. & A. M. July 7, 1922.

Whereas, the Death Angel has again entered our midst and taken from our Fraternal Circle our beloved brother, T. W. Hunter, we feel assured that he died in the faith that fears not to cross the dark river of Death. He bore all the trials and troubles of life with brave endurance. He labored faithfully to the last of his strength and was ever ready to be has gained an inheritance of rest,

Resolved, that Blue Lick Lodge has lost one of its oldest band mates in Masonry, a true Mason, a devout Christian gentleman,

Resolved, that the family has lost a loving, generous hearted and devoted husband and father, and we extend to them our sympathy in their sorrow. May we, as we think of the broken column, look with his faithful trust beyond the shore of time and know that your husband and Father and our brother, though lost to mortal vision, is only waiting beyond the river to welcome us to his eternal home.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy spread on our records, and a copy sent to The Carlisle Mercury for publication.

RESOLUTIONS

Presented and unanimously adopted at closing day of Fun meeting:

Inasmuch as life is ragging tempest in these days and making inroads in the church life, the home life, the community life, and that particularly among the youth of our land, we, the members of the Baptist church of Carlisle, desire to go on record here and now, and that publicly, as well as privately, as being wholly, earnestly and fervently against the predominating evils of the day, and we here and now begin a warfare on the same, namely: Tobacco evil, the card game, the pool game, the movie-menace, public and united bathing and Sabbath desecration.

This resolution was indorsed by Revs. Maxwell and Hecht together with a large representation of their members who were present. Also more than 100 men and women of the Christian church who were present and voted their indorsement.

30 PER CENT OF DEATHS LAST YEAR PREVENTABLE

Louisville, Ky., August 7.—Of all deaths reported in 1921 in Kentucky, forty in each one hundred were caused by diseases that are recognized as being absolutely preventable, according to J. F. Hickerson, Registrar of Vital Statistics of the State Board of health.

OPPONENTS OF VOLSTEAD ACT ARE IN MAJORITY

The Literary Digest is taking a poll of ten million voters scattered throughout the 48 states of the Union to determine their sentiments on the present prohibition laws and the proposed soldier bonus. Three hundred and fifty-seven thousand had voted up to last issue of the Digest with the following results:

Those in favor strict enforcement of Those in favor of a modification of the Volstead law to permit sale of light wines and beer, 141,727.

Those in favor of repealing the prohibition amendment, 76,939.

The Digest's poll on the question of a soldier and sailors' bonus favors the following results: for 177,486, against, 176,837.

It is regarded as significant that throughout the progress of the poll the relative strength of the wet and dry interests have remained virtually the same, with several minor fluctuations.

ALL WRONG

The Mistake Is Made by Many Carlisle Citizens

Look For the Cause of Backaches

To be cured you must know the cause.

If it's weak kidneys you must set the kidneys working right.

A Carlisle resident tells you how Mrs. B. Sparks, Locust St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me in different occasions and never had been so far from the good. I was in a weak and run down condition and backache was so severe I had to go to bed for two weeks. I was running a hotel and being up most of the time caused the trouble. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills so I got several boxes at Watkins & Squires' Drug Store. After using them, the trouble was ended. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's."

JOKER IN LAW BURDEN TO AUTO OWNER

The poor automobile owner, whose shoulders are already round with the burden of fast planed upon him by his machine, will receive a jolt when he comes to purchase the privilege of operating his machine for the year 1923. Many of the members of the last state legislature will probably get a good long after the last owner has purchased his new license.

Little was said by the automobile people, as a whole, when the legislature passed a law requiring the payments of 25 cents per horsepower per machine, although the sound grumble was audible to those who took the pains of putting their ear to the ground. Members of the last legislative organization, however, probably were not guilty of having indulged in this pastime or they would have been able to anticipate the hoist which will be given in December when the automobile owner learns that, coincident to the license raise are in a provision requiring each and every owner to pay, in addition to the horsepower tax, a license of 40 cents for each one hundred pound weight of his car, this to be gauged on factory weight. The law becomes effective January 1, 1923, all automobile owners who obtain their licenses in December for the new year will discover at that time just what the law means to them. Owners of light-weight cars, of course, will suffer light, but good payment of the big losses will be compelled to pay greatly increased license.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW

Butter production has been heavier than during the corresponding period last year. Thme has been little change in prices throughout the producing sections. Demand for current consumption continues good, although some nipping is finding the way to storage.

Egg receipts are above normal and are somewhat in excess of the supply required for current use, the surplus being placed in storage. The stocks in cold storage are unusually large for this season of the year. The lower prices prevailing, if passed along to the consumer, should bring about a better demand.

Ample poultry for current use, is being marketed, and as spring chickens reach the marketing age, the movement will undoubtedly increase, resulting in some decline in buying and selling prices.

FORMER LOCAL TEACHER PUTS SCHOOL ON MAP

A recent issue of the Kentucky School News contains the following report submitted to the board of education of Clay, Ky., by Mr. W. H. Arnold, a former teacher in the Carlisle high school, and principal of the summer school for teachers here last year:

To the Clay Graded School Board and Patrons of Clay: As superintendent of the Clay town school, I beg to submit the following report of the activities and finances of the school for the past two years.

When I took charge of the school two years ago I found a splendid student body and an enthusiastic patronage, whose desire and ambition was to make the Clay schools the best possible. Following after close inspection, that the first step toward the realization of this ambition was the enactment of adequate requirements for Class A Accredited Relation by the State Department of Education, we took as our motto, "An A Grade School."

To accomplish this it was necessary to increase very materially the library, purchase a physics and chemistry laboratory, equip the school with maps, charts, globes, etc., and to revise the course of study. When these recommendations were submitted, a ready response was received from the school board, students and patrons, and to this task we entered our time, effort and ability.

Through the generous donations of the townspeople a great number of books and over $100 was given for the library, and through the activities of the P. T. A. about $140 was given by the parents, to be expended for supplies at the different rooms, and by entertainments, plays, etc., a laboratory for the successful teaching of science was purchased. The board has employed a faculty whose scholarship met the requirements, the course of study had been revised, and when all these requirements were at hand, Mr. R. F. Ewen, State High School Inspector, was invited to visit our school and make an inspection. After this Gwen had visited the school he recommended to the State Board that Clay High School be placed in the "A Class" of Accredited Schools, which was done in January of last year.

During these two years Clay has made a creditable record in the various branches of athletics, being a member of the C. I. A. Association, this year entertaining the C. I. A. track and field meet.

The High School is proud of her record in the literary and musical contests of the C. I. A. Last year Eugenie Herron won the valedictory contest at Morganfield, and this year Marie Whitledge won the declamatory contest at Marion, and Carmen Blade won the piano contest at Hartford, for which a handsome gold medal was awarded in each contest.

And above all, we believe the standard of scholarship of the entire school has been raised and good work done in all the grades, in addition to the financial report submitted below, over $100 has been raised by the grade teachers and about $400 raised by the activities of the P. T. A.

All of the above mentioned equipment and expense in the various lines of activity, including commencement expenses, has been met by the school and not one penny given by the school board, so such.

The summary of the financial report follows, an itemized report of which has been filed with the school board:

First Year—Athletic receipts, $624.50; disbursement, $473.74; balance, $150.76; receipts from plays, etc., $616.89; disbursements, $469.15; balance, $147.76; total balance, $298.52.

Second Year—Athletic receipts $1,073.24; disbursements, $1,042.50; balance, $17.41; receipts from plays, etc., $561.36; disbursements, $460.31; deficit, $98.37; total deficit, $79.73 Balance for the two years, $227.78.

BOURBON YOUTH ARRESTED IN RENAKER MURDER CASE

SCOBEE HARDMAN JAILED AS SUSPECT IN MURDER OF "TURKEY KING"

EXAMINING TRIAL YESTERDAY

Scobee Hardman, 22 years old, of Anode-lita, Bourbon county, was arrested at Winchester late Thursday evening on a warrant charging him with the murder of Leon Renaker, prominent Winchester business man. He was taken to Lexington for safekeeping, but was returned to Winchester Saturday afternoon.

The warrant on which Hardman was arrested was sworn to by Charles Renaker, brother of the slain man. Leon Renaker was found dead in his car on Richmond road on July 26. His skull had been crushed with a blunt instrument. Rewards totaling nearly $6,000 have been offered for the arrest and conviction of the slayer, and a constant investigation has been under way since the discovery of the body.

Authorities would not disclose the specific information upon which the arrest was made. Hardman has been in custody since the incorporation his arrest and was confident he would be acquitted at his examining trial, which began on Wednesday. A report of the examination was given out shortly after the hearing in time for this issue.

Hardman was brought to Winchester Saturday, following his return to Lexington, where he spent several hours in the Fayette county jail. Hardman appeared in good spirits, and was confident he would be acquitted at the examining trial.

All the police carried an automobile, with its chase, which in some cases doubled the face value of the policies. Such a policy was written four months before Renaker's death.

Mrs. Lucy Belle Renaker would be one of the insurance companies urging settlement, on the claim is made after Renaker's body was found in his home with his head crushed with some blunt instrument, according to a representative of one of the companies carrying policies on Renaker's life.

J. W. Giser, a Pinkerton detective has been at work on the case for months, it was announced by the insurance company, which Glass declined to name. Pinkerton men and lawyers who were at the meeting. Delegates from almost every state interested in central Kentucky were present, Fayette, Carroll, Boone, Jessamine and Shelby counties being represented by the largest groups.

FORMER PARIS WOMAN SLAIN BY NEGRO IN OKLAHOMA

Paris, Ky., Aug. 10—The body of Mrs. George Adair, 30 years old, who was killed by a negro at her home in Pancanola, Okla., Monday, arrived at Paris this morning, and funeral arrangements have not been completed, but burial will take place in the Paris cemetery. Mrs. Adair was formerly Miss Wellington Smith, daughter of Mrs. Ida Hinton, of Northview, Paris. She was a sister of Jno B. Smith, Paris druggist, and Mrs. Hinton, Smith, of Harrison county, and Mrs. Batterton, wife of County Judge George Batterton, of Paris. She was married a few years ago and went to Pancanola, Okla., to reside. She is survived by two young children, a son and daughter.

Tuesday night a mob of 500 persons, white and negro, gathered in the jail at Vinita, Okla., where the negro, Elias Hinton, was held on charges of killing Mrs. Adair, and demanded that the negro be turned over to them. Sheriff Hinton refused to do so, and the mob then left the jail. Hinton was later taken from the jail by a negro physician and spirited away to a place of safety.

At Flemingsburg last Thursday morning, Mrs. Thomas Holmes, colored washer in tariff bills, but he has no love for "free trade" doctrine.

But the "free trade baboon" have a champion in Senator Stanley, who, in a speech at Louisville last week declared: "I am very proud to be numbered among the free trade baboons. I am proud of the fact that I have lived in the estimation of my people and have most continuously commissioned by them for twenty long years to the highest places in the gift of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and yet I never saw the day nor the hour in all my life when I had $100 to spare for a protective tariff."

"I have been too busy to trouble myself to find out whether the theory is that a crisis? I am as proud of my record as a Democrat as I am of my record as a soldier. Underlying it all is that fine record of the man who speaks of the property poor, but who has not had any opportunity, that has been reflected by any number of Senators on the other side of the chamber. The Senator from Wyoming apparently is not to be blamed; that is not his personal fault. He is a victim of the circumstances of his birth. He has been placed in the benches at Republicanism as a result of Democratic blundering."—Richard Barry in Louisville Courier-Journal.

1200 L. & N. TRAINMEN QUIT WORK AT CORBIN MONDAY

GREAT COAL FIELDS OF BELL AND HARLAN COUNTIES NOW TIED UP

100,000 PEOPLE ARE ISOLATED

Twelve hundred trainmen, members of the Big Four brotherhood, employed on the Cumberland division of the L. & N. railroad, left their trains at 10 o'clock Monday morning. This ties up the great Harlan and Bell county coal districts.

The walkout, which was conducted orderly, was voted because the trainmen claimed armed guards at the L. & N. shops have endangered their lives. They also claim that they were being required to operate defective equipment in violation of the law and thus endangering their lives.

The trainmen declared their action was not a strike. They claim that they simply refused to work until conditions improved.

The strike of these trainmen practically tied up the entire coal field of virtually 100,000 people in southeastern Kentucky. Of these about 70,000 are in the Harlan-Bell coal district with a capacity output of 1,000 cars of coal a day.

The purpose of the civilian rehabilitation program is to afford disabled persons so as to restore them to industrial rank as self-supporting citizens. The State is anxious that each of its disabled citizens become a productive unit in the economic system.

Every man, woman or child, in any way disabled or unable to perform duties which will enable them to become self-supporting are entitled to the free training. If it is impractical for the disabled persons to attend a school, an instructor will be sent to the home or a correspondence course of instruction furnished.

PRESBYTERIAN CAMP

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The problem of education is so big that the combined efforts of all of us together cannot do more than scratch the surface of it. The problem of education is so big that the combined efforts of all of us together cannot do more than meet a few of the needs of the boys and girls of Kentucky. Kentucky welcomes the development of the colleges under denominational control in this State. The growth and that of the University of Kentucky in the last decade or two proves clearly that as the State Universities have also benefited when the colleges receive increased support in their work. The Presbyterian colleges receive increased support in every way and deserve it because of the work they are doing. Especially, is the progress of denominational schools and colleges to cooperate and sympathetic help in the work which it is doing while attending the same attitude toward its sister institutions in the State. In the near future a campaign for the Presbyterian colleges of Kentucky will be launched. Let us be ready to lend a helping hand to the movement. For Christian education. The letter from Dr. McVey is in line with the above. Our boys and girls in colleges all over the state and the support of both their parents and the Presbyterians of Kentucky.

But he had his revenge by unloading a wagon which was in front of the grocery and looking back along the wagon he saw the woman with the milk bones, bales and barrels, be hind her. It has long since been the custom to set the base, and all of the bones were removed, dubbed it that "d——d steam mill hill."

This side of the point above named there is a smaller elevation, but steeper at one point than any one on the long hill. It has long since been prevailed by the building of the Parks Ferry turnpike. This hill sloped downward toward the town, and the boys coasted down the road, sometimes had about it was that. In descending, the wagon at times would hit Dr. Frey when rolling out his horse into pasture. This is the origin of the name "Frey hill."

When the laying out of the town in 1815, we have had four public exercises of persons for condemnation. Of these four, three of them were black men and after a few years were put to death on the hill last mentioned. The sentence of death pronounced upon them that they be taken to a mile from the court house" the person to be executed upon them by a public executed upon them by a public execution.

The first man ever hanged here was Burris, a black man, belonging to Erasmus Nigro, about the year 1820. The place selected by the Sheriff was the summit of the hill named, and which, therefore, became known as "Gallows Hill." Our next hanging was Bill, and old black man, who also had his fate on gallows hill. The third and last of the series was Thomas Fulton, a free mulatto

It may not be uninteresting to know that the first body ever buried in the old graveyard, which lies alongside the new cemetery, was that of a little boy.

In 1821, Willie Smedley, son of Aaron Smedley, pulled a coffee pot full of boiling coffee onto his head and face. The hot fluid entered his throat, causing his death in a few days. He was at that time at his grandfather's home.

At this time General Thomas Metcalfe, Governor of Kentucky, was in public road leading to Forest Retreat. So far no burial ground had been established in Carlisle. People who lost relatives usually buried them in Old Concord or some family burial ground in the neighborhood. Mrs. Smedley, however, was not willing to bury his little boy so far from home, and at the counsel of Cassius Metcalfe to bury in the corner of his farm just below the Millersburg and Forest Retreat roads diverged from the town limits. And thus we have the origin of the Carlisle cemetery.

The second person buried was old Mr. George Robinson, father of N. P. and George Robinson, mentioned in the Forgotten Heroes. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, and Rev. Jno. M. Pryse conducted the burial service. This was about the year 1822. There was a great assemblage of people, from far and near to witness it. The Grand Lights in Masonry were present in procession by a wagon loader, and there being then no hearse to convey the body to the grave, the coffin was carried by four brethren acting as pall bearers.

And so, by permission on the Gentleman's part, another lot was laid out about 1827, when the General sold the farm to his sister, Mrs Lucy Ogden. From Mrs Ogden's grandson it was made by the town and set apart for the use primarily of a burying ground. There were no lots sold or laid by anyone and everybody, white, black and white, had a right to enter and dig wherever they chose.

Due north from Carlisle, on the old Paris road, is a graveyard in which one mile of town there are two hills. Over this hilly road from 1816 to 1848, a period of thirty two years all the freight from Maysville to Carlisle was hauled in wagons, the price per hundred pounds varying from one to $1.00, according to the condition of the roads. The longest of these hills approaching town was known as the "Steam Mill Hill," and about the year 1830, Dr. Frey built a steam mill at the foot of the hill. In the winter time the roads were rough to the extent that it was some times supposed to have been impassable. Teamsters hauling goods from Maysville generally unloaded only one half of their cargo at Mr. Frey's old "Indian Queen Hotel." On reaching the h
