Important News Events of the World Summarized

Washington

A review of the Supreme court from March 27 to April 30 is announced by Chief Justice Taft at Washington.

Dr. Otto Ludwig Wasdiesh has been appointed German ambassador to the United States by the Berlin government.

• • •

Bulgaria, first of the former enemy countries to claim the privilege, has applied to the financial commission of the League of Nations for an extension for its bankers' men of credits, Washington hears.

• • •

American troops in Germany were reduced from 15,000 to 12,000 men, it was announced by President Harding yesterday. All are to be returned by July 1.

• • •

Formal assurances that De Otto L. Wasdiesh will be acceptable to the administration as ambassador from Germany was sent to Berlin by the state department at Washington.

• • •

Recovery of all the Liberty bonds amounting to $125,000, stolen from the Detroit office of the Treasury department in Washington, was announced by the secret service.

• • •

The shipping board at Washington reported that bids received for the 1,500 shipping board vessels recently are unsatisfactory.

• • •

Marked stimulation in home construction is cheap in 14 centers expanded during the last time months, as reported by the division of building construction of the Department of Commerce at Washington.

• • •

Representatives Fess and Bulkley condemned efforts in the house at Washington to reduce the strength of the safety precautions and to restrict the power of President Harding in their execution.

• • •

The government operating expenses were reduced $40,041,000 in February, Secretary Mellon offered in the budget, the Treasury department announced at Washington.

Domestic

Oscar L. Cain, former United States district attorney for the western district of Washington, committed suicide at Seattle, Wash., at his residence at Bellingham, Wash., with his throat slashed.

• • •

A secret agreement between the United States and Great Britain signed against Japan was alleged by senator Borah on the strength of a letter to him made by Fred H. Unruh, in New York February 11.

• • •

John L. Sullivan of Augusta, Me., Republican, was elected by congress to be a member of the Tariff Board to succeed Judge Marion De Vries, deposed by the senate.

• • •

The Masonic temple at Chicago has been sold. The price was $1,500,000. The site was given to the State Bank of Chicago, representing an unknown purchaser.

• • •

Operation of a nation-wide baseball lottery with headquarters in Cleveland is indicted, police announced, as the result of the arrest of a man at St. Louis believed to be the head agent.

• • •

Attorneys lost their fight to get John Lord O'Brian, assistant attorney general of the United States, removed as counsel for the government in the Mississippi valley flood cases.

• • •

Dry raiders found liquor in the fifty-leg of a dining table, in a rooming house at Breckenridge, Tex. Ten kegs have been hidden. The woman who had been hidden.

• • •

Benjamin F. Austin, president of the Augusta Savings Bank, Augusta, Me., died at the home of Lord Bryce, former ambassador to the United States, who was in charge of violating the state "blue sky" law.

• • •

Five persons were killed in a fire of unknown origin in the Hotel Lenox, Boston, Mass., early today. Many guests were forced to flee in their night clothes. Several were injured.

• • •

Fifty-one persons were killed and 200 injured in the explosion of a munitions factory at Lake Denmark, N. J., on July 10, 1918, the United States circuit court of appeals was told in a brief filed by the government.

• • •

Three children were burned to death in their home at Eldorado, Ark., when a fire started from a broken gas pipe. They are Edith, Bessie and Travis Boggs. Their mother and two brothers were badly burned.

• • •

The board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, at its meeting in New York at the November meeting in question, of whether they desire the board to participate congress for a modification of the Volstead act.

• • •

Orders for suspension of work in the bituminous and anthracite coal fields of the country April 1 were mailed from headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America at Indianapolis.

• • •

There are 230 poor jobs at South Bend, Ind., for ex-service men that have been unfilled, it was announced by the local American Legion unemployment committee.

• • •

One hundred and twenty-five war brides and children, said to be the largest number ever at an American port in a single day, are in San Francisco (Cal.) harbor.

• • •

Trusteeship of a third of the $250,000,000 equity changed hands when F. E. Seeley of San Antonio, Tex., succeeded Charles M. Baker as director of the most of Wichita Falls.

• • •

One hundred and fifty Chicago druggists have been indicted on charges of violating the Jones-Stanley law, it was announced by the secret service.

• • •

The shipping board at Washington reported that bids received for the 1,500 shipping board vessels recently are unsatisfactory.

• • •

Marked stimulation in home construction is cheap in 14 centers expanded during the last time months, as reported by the division of building construction of the Department of Commerce at Washington.

• • •

Representatives Fess and Bulkley condemned efforts in the house at Washington to reduce the strength of the safety precautions and to restrict the power of President Harding in their execution.

• • •

The government operating expenses were reduced $40,041,000 in February, Secretary Mellon offered in the budget, the Treasury department announced at Washington.

Personal

Mrs. Henrietta A. Hopkins, eighty-seven widow of Mark Hopkins, former president of Mount university, died at Oakland, Cal. She was the daughter of William Holmes McKinley, author of "McGuffey's Readers."

• • •

Edward Arthur Milton, widely known artist, is dead at Edinburgh. He was president of the Royal Scottish Society of Painters in Water Colors.

Sporting

Johnny Dundee of New York won the decision over Charley Phil Rosenberg of Chicago at Brooklyn, N. Y., in the feature event which has kept the pugilistic followers of the city in a fever since Dempsey.

• • •

Montpelier Kenny Perkins pass the Montpelier (Vt.) baseball headquarters as the result of the Turkish athletics decision, announced by the visiting Cubans.

• • •

National ownership of motion pictures has been established in France, it is hoped by the Chamber of Deputies, the first step in the direction of which has kept the picture industry in a ferment for a year, a dispatch from Paris says.

• • •

Mordecai K. Ghandi, the Indian nationalist leader, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment on charges of sedition, it was announced at Bombay. Ghandi went without food after a disorder in Bombay.

• • •

Viscount Peel, former undersecretary of the war and air ministry and chairman of the Peel commission, has been appointed by the government as lieutenant governor of Bombay, it was announced in London. He succeeds Sir George Lloyd, who has been governor of Bombay for India.

• • •

Official sound is made by the Belgian legation at Paris of the report that Belgium and Paris newspapers of the Bulgarian militarists has overthrown the Bulgarian government.

• • •

A great fire at Nanaimo, France, did damage to the extent of $1,000,000 and left 2,000 persons homeless, a dispatch from Paris says.

• • •

Two hundred and twenty aircraft were being held in Fort San Julian-Spain, by the Spanish government.

• • •

Six hundred unemployed union miners in the anthracite and bituminous fields will split evenly in the proceeds of the sale of a portion of the present coal in the Pennsylvania Railroad's new Lawrence Lewis at New York.

King's Lucky Number

King Louis XIII of France, perhaps because he was the thirteenth king of that name, regarded the number as the greatest possible favorable. He ended himself Louis de Bourbon second wife Anne d'Autriche, for the reason that each of between them had exactly just 13 letters. They were married when she was 14 and he was thirteen, and throughout his reign the king lived with Ane (Vienna).

Various Items Worthy Mention

Pittsburgh—Iron and low-growing bushes and some warning. Certain plants and flowers close up tight on the approach of rain. They give a single warning. The common dandelion is one of these and also leaves of the white clover. The silver leaf poplar gives fair warning of every hour by showing the silver underside of its leaves to the breeze.

• • •

The Key.

The key to every man is his thought.—Emerson.

PLEASANT COINCIDENCE

There was such friendly understanding in the household of a certain town that when the wife was always considerate enough for her servants that one evening the cook was allowed to choose the hours for the family prayers. When the ceremony was over the vicar's wife said to her: "That was a very nice hymn you chose this evening, cook." "Yes, ma'am," said the cook, "it's the number of my policeman's."—London Times.

NEWS CULLINGS From Kentucky

Bowling Green—Jesse Thomas, 26, and Elvia Austin, 25, escaped from the Allen County Jail at Scottsville, Ky.

Louisville—In Judge Field's court a verdict for $600 was returned against a jury in favor of A. Marx, who sued Henry Elmore for damages done him ages to his automobile some time ago.

Louisville—Joe Morris, 12, was seriously burned about the hands and face as the result of the explosion of a powder can exploding while he was cleaning the cellar at his home, 2722 Cable street. He received treatment at the City Hospital.

Lexington—A movement for organization of a civilian rifle club is on foot here with the U. S. Department of the Interior. The Rifle Club of Kentucky was launched at a meeting of the Lions Club by Clyde Joseph K. Torrence, in charge of rifle instruction at the university.

Lexington—Sealed bids for the reconstruction of approximately forty miles of improved roadway in the two Kentucky counties of Fayette County were opened by the Fiscal Court. Twenty bids were submitted and turned over to County Road Engineer C. H. Edwards for wards by County Judge K. H. Doan.

Louisville—Members of the Louisville Kentucky farmers have organized the Kentucky Country National Farm Loan Association, which will operate under the Federal Land Bank at Louisville. The following officers were elected: Lawrence A. Dillehay, president; Cooper H. Hudson, vice president, and J. M. Mahoney, secretary-treasurer.

Clay City—Jeff McKinney and Frank Kennon had a narrow escape when their automobile turned over them, when in attempting to cross over a narrow bridge the car left the road and turned over and over, but the two men were thrown in the creek where they were able to get out without injury.

Newport—Frank Crane, of Covington, a member of the Kentucky National Guard, on duty here to assist in dealing with the rolling mill strike, was arrested on a charge of assault and battery. John Yates, of Newport, was named in the warrant. Crane was released on $500 bail.

Covington—Physicians at St. Elizabeth Hospital here are confident in the case of Miss Celia White, 19, of Newport, who has been unconscious for eight periods, since she received injuries in an automobile accident, that she will recover. Miss White, according to the hospital attaches, fell down a flight of stairs. It is reported that X-ray examinations failed to disclose any fracture of the skull or any pressure on the brain.

Louisville—Mrs. Mary Ann McKinney was killed by Sarah Kelly against 2 Louisville Railway Company car.

While the defendant was responsible for the accident, the jury's verdict will be permitted damage, from which half will be paid by the railway company. Mrs. Kelly was injured when the car in which she was riding overturned on the Fourth street viaduct.

Louisville—One of the most destructive fires that has visited this city in many months destroyed the roof of the building occupied by the Kentucky Lumber Company, ground floor, and the Turkish orchestra, on the second floor. Business houses were destroyed by the fire, which caused a loss estimated at $50,000. Almost $40,000 of insurance was carried on the property. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Frankfort—441 produced in the Kentucky oil fields during the week ended the State Tax Commissioner's office announced today. The total value was $67,376. The report from one pipe line company, which includes Cumberland, 500 barrels a month, is not included, owing to errors which made it necessary to return the report for correction. This would make the total more than 500,000 barrels. Lee County, with 29,062 barrels, valued at $69,101.65, led the list of producing counties. Wayne County was second with 20,000 barrels, valued at $60,000. Total value of oil produced in the state since 1916 was $3,136,136.46 and Wayne County $1,047,000.50.

Louisville—Sheriff John T. Routt, 50, service man and former newspaperman of the Kentucky Lexington Herald, was found dead in his car and killed instantly in his office at the county courthouse here. He was a deputy sheriff.

Newport—The Citizens Telephone Company has indicted by the Campbell county grand jury on charges of violating the contract, or a telephone service in Newport, it was announced by the clerk of the court. The charges are of "selling and abetting handbook gambling."

Lexington—It became known that the Burley Tobacco Cooperative Association is paying off the notes advanced by banks over the state to finance the crop of 1922 and 1923 with loans. It is expected the entire amount will be liquidated in the next few weeks and that the association will be ready to deal with the War Finance Corporation to pay the loans, it is understood here. The association has $20,000,000 received from the sugar-cane industry recently and $7,000,000 received from the cotton crop.

BLOUSE HAS CALL

Favoritism Shown Suits Means Demand for Waists.

Colored Batiste, Dimity and Gingham Are Used—Tiny Pin Tucks Are Featured.

With the seafaired favoritism which is being shown the tweed and flannel suiting for spring, blouse manufacturers are predicting that the waists are anticipating a big business, during the coming season.

Among the fabrics stressed in tailoring blouses of this description having hand-made collars and cuffs of white. The collars of the rose or sky blue blouse of the white color of the cuffs is most springlike. Some of the collars and cuffs are hand-work and hand-blocking, while the broken sections are also hand-tucked.

With color a dominant factor in spring styles it is only fitting that blouses should be offered in varied shades. Colored dimities are given a place of importance in this collection, and are accorded varied treatments. Tiny pin tucks and hem stitching, the yoke defined with hem-stitched lines. Flutted edges are employed for embellishment, and collars and cuffs of duck or linen are in evidence as well as smartly tailored blouses of the type of Madras, usually treated in this manner for the tailored shirt.

Gingham is in evidence also chosen for washing purposes, and in effect is given a place of importance in this collection, and are accorded varied treatments. Tiny pin tucks and hem stitching, the yoke defined with hem-stitched lines. Flutted edges are employed for embellishment, and collars and cuffs of duck or linen are in evidence as well as smartly tailored blouses of the type of Madras, usually treated in this manner for the tailored shirt.

Gingham is in evidence also chosen for washing purposes, and in effect is given a place of importance in this collection, and are accorded varied treatments. Tiny pin tucks and hem stitching, the yoke defined with hem-stitched lines. Flutted edges are employed for embellishment, and collars and cuffs of duck or linen are in evidence as well as smartly tailored blouses of the type of Madras, usually treated in this manner for the tailored shirt.

THE ORIENTAL SPORT SMOCK

Violette, a new and interesting material with a lustre of silk, is said to be a great advantage in the creation of the sport smock. It is also said to be a fabric of the oriental to it. A hat of the same material is worn with the smock.

PINK SHADES, SPRING MODE

Coquille One of the New Tints Promised for Season of the Early Spring.

Pink shades promise to be high in the mode for spring, and many clothes for the new ones. Some French dressmakers are showing pink with blue and batiste are made in a delicate shade of pink or deep coquelicot, according to the point of view.

The coquelicot red is good for evening and the little semi-sport dresses and sweaters have a beaming toward reds and vivid pinks.

The deep fuchsia tones have faded into heterogeneous colors, and the pinks and these colors are used in all types of dresses from the gaily frock to that of homespun, to evening bodice, to the tailored suit, to the latest fancies in the same tone.

Soft Fabrics Costly.

The soft fabrics for spring and early summer are costly. Crepe de chine is a certainty. Day dresses and evening dresses of this material are designed for formal and informal occasions. Crepe de chine with lustrous, while many sport models are developed in the same material. Tricotine, also called these fabrics are developed in the plane of an altogether new coat fabric is sponged, better than it is an interpreter of satin and dresses.

CHARMING FOR SPRING WEAR

A pearl grey gown of crepe de chine is decorated with pearl beads. The hat is of brightly colored straw. Note the slashed sleeves and how they are joined to the dresses.

SOME "DON'TS" FOR STOUT WOMEN

Suggestions for Matrons Who Desire to Avoid Drawing Attention to Their Figures.

Don't go without a corset.

Don't wear clothes that are patterned noticeably.

Don't wear materials that have a nap, are woolly, or have a sheen.

Don't wear tight clothes.

Don't show your waistline.

Don't wear clothes that accentuate curves.

Don't wear kimono sleeves.

Don't wear fitted sleeves.

Don't wear wide-brim hats.

Don't wear a small hat and put forget your style.

Don't wear fluffy dresses.

Don't wear colored shoes and stockings.

Don't wear round neck lines.

Don't wear round hats.

THE EVER CHIC WAISTCOAT

Garment Adds Smartness as Well as Warmth to Outfit—Very Desirable Materials.

When the spring breeze blow back the graceful drapery of one's cape, the gay waistcoat underneath is seen to add the finishing touch to smartness but decidedly.

The white flannel suit for resort wear is brightened by a brilliantly colored waistcoat and the tweed suit of the spring season is also accompanied by a smart stripe. The more formal suit also

THE CAPE WINS FAVOR IN PARIS

Fashionable Dressers Wear Outer Garment on All Occasions—Knickers Are Accepted Sport Fad.

The fashionable Parisienne wears capes on all occasions—youthful capes on girls in bright-colored fabrics for the street, fur, fall length and fur-trimmed velvet capes for evening, and velvet or silky p rpose. Knitted capes are also worn for sports, and with either jacket or cape are a widely brimmed hat.

The short skirt cannot as yet be counted as a fashion dictator, but is accepted by the fashionable world as the correct length for sports wear. Knickers are also in favor for sports wear, but are not accepted as the fad of the season. Knickers are worn by the younger members of the fashionable society set, and are usually accompanied by a perceptible lengthening of the skirt. The knickers are usually worn in the country, and are not accepted as the fad of the season. Knickers are worn by the younger members of the fashionable society set, and are usually accompanied by a perceptible lengthening of the skirt. The knickers are usually worn in the country, and are not accepted as the fad of the season.

The KITCHEN CABINET

A glimpse of sunshine, a sparkle of dew,
A cloud and a rainbow's curving hue,
A blossom that blooms for a day, then dies,
An April day in miniature lies.

WHAT TO EAT

After using the center from an Edam cheese, says a writer in Good Housekeeping, you will find that it is still useful. Cut it into the shell, cover with a little butter, cream and with cheese. Cook over a low fire, stirring frequently, until well melted and smooth. Season with salt and pepper, and add a little mustard, if desired. Pour into a hot dish and serve with crackers.

Green Butter.

Green butter is delicious served with various dishes on any occasion. Wash the leaves of fresh parsley and dry them in a clean towel. Pound the leaves in a mortar, adding a little butter from time to time. When sufficiently pounded, add more butter, a little at a time, and work well together. Season with salt and pepper, and press through a fine sieve. Put into a cool place to harden.

Ribbon Salad.

Ribbon Salad—For each service allow a head of lettuce and a bunch of cress or a few more heart leaves of lettuce. Wash the lettuce and cress, sprinkle each of orange and grapefruit juice, and add a little salt. Arrange on individual salad plates in alternate layers of lettuce and cress, and garnish with thinly sliced grapefruit and orange. Serve with a French dressing, to which has been added a little grated orange rind.

Spinge Cake Custard.

Spinge cake custard is delicious and easily made. Arrange them in a glass dish, and pour over them a custard sprinkled with finely crushed peanut brittle. Whip the cream and put on top of the custard, and sprinkle with more peanut brittle. Pour over the cake and bake until firm in a slow oven.

Maple Sugar Custard.

Mix one cupful of maple sugar, one cupful of cream, one egg, add one cupful of sour cream, and bake in a pie crust. Cover with a layer of pastry flour, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, and one cupful of milk. Mix well and bake in layer tins, top with a meringue made of the white of one egg and one tablespoonful of maple sugar and bake.

Cheese Cakes.

Cheese Cakes—Beat two and one-half ounces of sour milk, strain through a sieve, and add two ounces of sugar to the drained curd, two ounces of butter, the yolk of one egg, and grated rind of a lemon and a few drops of lemon essence. Line some little patty tins with pastry, fill with the mixture, and bake in a hot oven. Sprinkle with chopped almonds and nutmeg. Bake for about twenty minutes. Put a little jam in the bottom of each cake.

Fig Buffle Cake.

Fig Buffle Cake—Put two cupfuls of figs through a food chopper, and add to them one cupful of water. Cook slowly for ten minutes, then add one cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of butter. Cook until well blended then fold in the figs and the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Spread between layers of white cake and cover the entire cake with boiled frosting and decorate with one-half cupful of figs cut in pieces and arranged on the center of each.

Cream Celery Sauce.

Cream Celery Sauce—Chop one cupful of celery fine, add one cupful of celery. Mix, add two and one-half cupfuls of cream mixed from which the liquor has been drained. Season with one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter, and one-half cupfuls of cupful of vinegar. Let simmer one and one-half minutes.

Nellie Maxwell

Education in Iceland.

It is said that the population of Iceland is 100 per cent literate. The outstanding fact of the educational system is the legal requirement that parents provide for teaching their children the elementary subjects. Children under 14 must take yearly examinations.

However, Most Men Do.

When a girl puts a flower on a man's coat she always tries to pin on a buttonhole as it ittonways—and the man who has learned it is the one to whom she will lead a funeral procession.

Quick, Pave Failure.

The red-painted hands at busy crossings in Paris, constructed to give protection to pedestrians on highways, have proved a failure, it is said. Motorists are prevented only momentarily by the appearance of the red hands, and the number of vehicles ignore the lines.

Caller Pays for Itself.

By short time from the saving of fuel and the telephone caller is eliminated.

Irritation of crops, avoiding the planting of potatoes, sweet, sweet corn, and other crops in land which has been used for growing tomatoes, is advised for "it strawberries, grasses, or weeds to stimulate. Fertilizers, especially kainit, as a heavy top-dressing are of benefit. Crop lime is valuable. Here if allowed the run of the newly plowed garden, or when plowing in, will cut large numbers of grubs. Ground limed in the spring should not be newly plowed land. See Farmers' Bulletin 1,000 for information.

Wireworms.

Wireworms feed on the grubs, are common pests in the garden and are also greatly troublesome in the field. They are the larvae of click beetles. They are hard, smooth, yellow or brown worms, which confine their feeding to plants of a single family. Several, those known as general feeders—insects which are not particular as to their food plants. Some of these devour nearly every kind of vegetable that grows in the garden. These include cutworms, and other caterpillars several forms of beetles, the May beetle, the fig-eater beetle, thrips, blister beetles, and the striped cucumber beetle. Some pests do great damage, sweeping over large areas and destroying entire crops before they can be stopped.

The Common Wireworm—A, Adult; B, Larva; C, Pupa—All Enlarged.

Cutworms.

Cutworms, and plantsmen and other truck plants, particularly when started under glass, are likely to be destroyed by cutworms when transplanted. These appear at the approach of the spring and early summer, and feed at night, hiding under clods or trash during the day. Poisoned baits are effective when properly prepared and distributed. Poisoned bait is made by mixing 50 pounds of bran with a gallon of molasses. This is enough for about 4 or 5 acres of cultivated crops.

After the bran has stood for several hours, scatter it in lumps the size of a marble over the garden when the injury is beginning to appear and about the poisoned bait. Apply late in the day so as to place the poison where it will be found at night, when is the time when cutworms feed. Repeat the application at intervals of a week or ten days until the injury ceases.

It is a wise plan to keep young children, live stock, and chickens away from poisoned baits.

Clean culture, methods and crop rotation are advisable, as are also deep fall plowing and disking, to prevent recurrences of cutworm attacks. Experience has proved that an expert in detecting cutworms and removing them by hand. This method may be done with profit on small patches.

The Ash-Gray Blister Beetle.

White Grubs.

When new land is used for planting vegetables, especially if it has been in sod for several years, it is advisable to plow it in the fall, and cultivate to make their appearance, doing great damage to the crops. Spring plowing is also effective in destroying the grubs, since destroying and deep-disking are effective methods. Rotation of crops should be disturbed often and kept up.

Soy Beans Add Fertility.

Soy beans are grown mostly as a forage crop, but their ability to add fertility to the soil, the heavy tonnage of organic matter that can be turned under from a crop of soybeans makes it one of the most desirable crops that can be grown.

Grapes Respond to Pruning.

There are few kinds of fruit that are cultivated that respond to pruning like grapes. Most any one of a number of methods for pruning and training will give good results.

Lemons To Stay At Home.

Chicago—Indications are that lemons will stay at home, according to a report issued that Premier Nicolai Lenine, of Russia, has issued a decree forbidding the importation of lemons into Russia. Lenine's heart now responds to the call of the lemon, it is said, and in March, 1917, he was a regular customer of the fruit dealers. Lenine collapsed from the effects of a lemon, it is said, and was taken to his country place, where he has been confined to his bed ever since. It is believed, that the Premier might "demand a lemon."

Four Drowned

Emporia, Kan.—Four persons drowned, all nine persons are reported to have been in the car, when it plunged into a swollen creek near Hartford, Lyon county, according to reports reaching here. Only one person in the car is known to have escaped.

Mother Waits in Vain

New York.—A search through Sing Sing prison was conducted for former Gov. Duffy, 17 years ago, but the chief executive left by no scene. The search has been missing since his wife her.

Explorers Sail For Peru

New York.—The advance party of a scientific expedition which is to be headed by Edmund Heller, Thomas Barbour, curator of reptiles at the Harvard museum of zoology, and Dr. Alexander Wetmore, assistant secretary of the Field Museum of Natural History, and of Mr. Bride and C. Freedstone, botanists, headed for Peru.

Ancient Portraits Found

Rome—What believed to be contemporaneous portraits of St. Peter and St. Paul have been found in the ruins of the Third century basilica of Lucina in the Roman epoch. The belief is that the basilica was shared by its well-known archaeologists, Professor Marucchi, who has been engaged in excavations for the building of a large parish. It comprises a nave, or room of gallleries, a crypt, and a Christian church, and was one treasure of an early date.

Lands, Pave Failure.

The red-painted lands at busy crossings in Paris, constructed to give protection to pedestrians on highways, have proved a failure, it is said. Motorists are prevented only momentarily by the appearance of the red hands, and the number of vehicles ignore the lines.

Caller Pays for Itself.

By short time from the saving of fuel and the telephone caller is eliminated.

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

INSECT ENEMIES OF HOME GARDEN

Some of Pests Devour Nearly Every Form of Vegetation and Do Immense Damage.

CUTWORMS INJURE TOMATOES

Arsenic and Paris Green are Deadly Poisons and Must Be Handled With Great Care—Reduction of Crops Is Advocated.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

From the standpoint of their food habits, insects may be roughly grouped roughly into two classes: First, those which are chiefly herbivorous and ordinarily attack only a single crop, or crops of a single family, though when they are present in unusual numbers they may resort to other plants; and second, those which are omnivorous and sojourge from one crop to another. Examples of the former are the large tomato worms, which confine their feeding to plants of a single family. Second, those known as general feeders—insects which are not particular as to their food plants. Some of these devour nearly every kind of vegetable that grows in the garden. These include cutworms, and other caterpillars several forms of beetles, the May beetle, the fig-eater beetle, thrips, blister beetles, and the striped cucumber beetle. Some pests do great damage, sweeping over large areas and destroying entire crops before they can be stopped.

Cutworms.

Cutworms, and plantsmen and other truck plants, particularly when started under glass, are likely to be destroyed by cutworms when transplanted. These appear at the approach of the spring and early summer, and feed at night, hiding under clods or trash during the day. Poisoned baits are effective when properly prepared and distributed. Poisoned bait is made by mixing 50 pounds of bran with a gallon of molasses. This is enough for about 4 or 5 acres of cultivated crops.

After the bran has stood for several hours, scatter it in lumps the size of a marble over the garden when the injury is beginning to appear and about the poisoned bait. Apply late in the day so as to place the poison where it will be found at night, when is the time when cutworms feed. Repeat the application at intervals of a week or ten days until the injury ceases.

It is a wise plan to keep young children, live stock, and chickens away from poisoned baits.

Clean culture, methods and crop rotation are advisable, as are also deep fall plowing and disking, to prevent recurrences of cutworm attacks. Experience has proved that an expert in detecting cutworms and removing them by hand. This method may be done with profit on small patches.

The Ash-Gray Blister Beetle.

White Grubs.

When new land is used for planting vegetables, especially if it has been in sod for several years, it is advisable to plow it in the fall, and cultivate to make their appearance, doing great damage to the crops. Spring plowing is also effective in destroying the grubs, since destroying and deep-disking are effective methods. Rotation of crops should be disturbed often and kept up.

Soy Beans Add Fertility.

Soy beans are grown mostly as a forage crop, but their ability to add fertility to the soil, the heavy tonnage of organic matter that can be turned under from a crop of soybeans makes it one of the most desirable crops that can be grown.

Grapes Respond to Pruning.

There are few kinds of fruit that are cultivated that respond to pruning like grapes. Most any one of a number of methods for pruning and training will give good results.

Lines To Stay At Home.

Chicago—Indications are that lines, Chicago, will stay at home, according to a report issued that Premier Nicolai Lenine, of Russia, has issued a decree forbidding the importation of lemons into Russia. Lenine's heart now responds to the call of the lemon, it is said, and in March, 1917, he was a regular customer of the fruit dealers. Lenine collapsed from the effects of a lemon, it is said, and was taken to his country place, where he has been confined to his bed ever since. It is believed, that the Premier might "demand a lemon."

Four Drowned

Emporia, Kan.—Four persons drowned, all nine persons are reported to have been in the car, when it plunged into a swollen creek near Hartford, Lyon county, according to reports reaching here. Only one person in the car is known to have escaped.

Mother Waits in Vain

New York.—A search through Sing Sing prison was conducted for former Gov. Duffy, 17 years ago, but the chief executive left by no scene. The search has been missing since his wife her.

Explorers Sail For Peru

New York.—The advance party of a scientific expedition which is to be headed by Edmund Heller, Thomas Barbour, curator of reptiles at the Harvard museum of zoology, and Dr. Alexander Wetmore, assistant secretary of the Field Museum of Natural History, and of Mr. Bride and C. Freedstone, botanists, headed for Peru.

Ancient Portraits Found

Rome—What believed to be contemporaneous portraits of St. Peter and St. Paul have been found in the ruins of the Third century basilica of Lucina in the Roman epoch. The belief is that the basilica was shared by its well-known archaeologists, Professor Marucchi, who has been engaged in excavations for the building of a large parish. It comprises a nave, or room of galleries, a crypt, and a Christian church, and was one treasure of an early date.

Lands, Pave Failure.

The red-painted lands at busy crossings in Paris, constructed to give protection to pedestrians on highways, have proved a failure, it is said. Motorists are prevented only momentarily by the appearance of the red hands, and the number of vehicles ignore the lines.

Caller Pays for Itself.

By short time from the saving of fuel and the telephone caller is eliminated.

The Old Fashioned Way

By MARGARET M. LUKES

Mrs. Jerusha Higgins dropped the lamp-shade crowning some one she was knitting in her lap and looked at a clock and both as she waited for her husband to come back from using the phone.

"Who was that?" one asked sharply as when Jerry finally came from the front room. "You've been half a mile into the next room, it seems to me, by the time they open fire. Somebodies were fly in great beautiful spirits and making fantastic pictures on the living room walls. Then, feeling that she was watched as if she had not heard what her husband had said, Mrs. Higgins' pretty blonde head over the knitting and said, "Jerry, what's the matter?"

"It was Jack, mother."

"Heard he have to say about the dance?"

"Why, he wasn't sure. Said all along he was thinking it was another night and now he doesn't know what to do because some folks in Albany asked him to a party for that night, and, mother, it does put him in a fix."

"Keep still!" Mrs. Higgins' voice rang out through the living room. Then, in a moment, in a voice that was making excuses for Jack Crawford's son, she added, "I'm sorry, but I have tried to disappoint you at the last minute before. Jack Crawford is good enough for him to come around and ask you to go with him, and there's nothing else going on, and I don't see why you can't go. Now, Jerry, you've been looking forward to this dance for weeks. Mrs. Higgins, you've been looking forward to it, and I'm sure Jerry turn me down this time."

Mrs. Higgins smiled gently. "It's all right, Jerry, I'm already again to a party that night. I'm going to the Albany. I know Maggie Brandon and I'll be glad to go with her. Please don't let me stand in the way of your pleasure sight. It's the Kissing club ever given." She drew a new breath. "Today, Jerry, I've been trying to decorate, Jerry? I'll tell you what, I'll help you decorate. Then you and Jack come down and help me."

For a moment there was silence. Then Mrs. Higgins chuckled. "Jerry, I'm glad I'm not going to the dance after all."

"Mother!" Jerry put in with astonishment while Minnie Cooper looked at her mother-in-law with open mouth. "Why, mother, you've been looking forward to it for weeks and Father Higgins were going to go with you. You've been going years the flourishing time over Flourishing Time dance. Why, Pliguist Jerry is the best-looking Jack Crawford.

Mrs. Higgins quickly added, "But not going to give way to Jack Crawford's son. Why, Jerry, I'll just tell one part: Jerry's Albany. I'll just tell one part: Jerry's Albany. I've decided we can't have the Kissing club party. I've decided we can't have the Kissing club party. I've decided we can't have the Kissing club party