HON. WILLIAM J. FIELDS
CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

In the proper column of The Mercury this week will be found the announcement of Hon. W. J. Fields, of Olive Hill, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Ninth District, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the primary to be held Saturday, August 5, 1922.

Mr. Fields is serving his fifth consecutive term as Congressman, having taken office in 1912. He has made a very creditable record during his term in office and comes to the voters of the district with a clean slate. He has served on several important committees during his term of office and was especially active in affairs of the Lower House during the war.

Mr. Fields has always polled a large vote throughout the district, especially in the mountain counties, and no doubt his friends will have time to rally to his support.

Nicholas has always been a banner county for Mr. Fields and he will more than likely receive a large vote here. He is also well regarded Carlisle, having made speeches here on numerous occasions in the interest of his party, and has many warm personal friends throughout the county.

FLEMING COUNTY MERCHANT SHOOTS NEIGHBOR IN FACE

Tuesday afternoon, near what is known as the Chaplowne Spring, about two miles east of Hillsboro, Wm. Hopkinhine, known as "Lib-ie Hilly," shot Clarence Gardner in the lower part of the face with a shotgun, the charge tearing away a portion of his chin and jaw, inflicting a wound which will almost certainly cause his death, though he is still alive at this writing (Wednesday) forenoon.

It seems that Hopkinhine runs a small country store at his home, and that Gardner had come in to settle a small account, and a dispute arose over 20c worth of tobacco, which Gardner claimed he had not bought, but which had been bought by Gardner's son, and the result was the shooting. Just what led up to it and who was to blame we cannot say, but at Mr. Hopkinhine came to Hillsboro Wednesday morning and gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff D. P. Bennett, and was brought here to answer to the charge, the matter will be sifted out in court.—Fleming-Boy Times-Democrat.

Saturday's Lexington Herald says:

Clarence Gardner, 40 years old, of Fleming county, died at the Good Samaritan hospital yesterday of gunshot wounds, said to have been inflicted by a merchant following a dispute over the sale of 20 cents worth of tobacco in the latter's store.

Gardner was brought to Lexington Thursday afternoon for treatment of wounds in the face and abdomen by Dr. Ben Kerr, of Flemingsburg yesterday afternoon and died.

According to the story of persons here he called on the wounded man, Gardner went to the store of William Hopkinhine, merchant at Ringos Mill, to pay his account and found the 45 cents with which to settle on the bill which he claimed he did not owe but which the merchant said had been charged by Gardner's son. When the latter attempted to punish his son in the store the merchant said he used to have remonstrated and the men engaged in a quarrel, Gardner...

ARE YOU UP TO DATE?

Do you load it at the muzzle
When you want a shot or two?
Do you wind it with a watch-key
Like your father used to do?
How'd you like to hop a horse-car
Or ride in a hansom cab?
Don't an auto beat an ox-cart?
Well, I rather reckon so.
Do you argue that an hour-glass
Is better than a clock?
Do you use the same old system
Keepin' books and countin' cash,
Do you print a goose quill scratch?
When you want the ink to flow?
Don't you think there's been improvement
In the last decade or so?
Tell us, are you advertising
Or is it some old fossil idea
That your grand-dad did before you
And persist, "It doesn't pay?"
Think the whole world knows your address
Cause it hasn't changed in years?
Wouldn't the pathos of such logic
Make the angels spout the tombstone
Telling folks that you're dead.
Don't you want a boom,
Bunch your hits and make a drive,
Run a page and change your copy,
Advertise and keep alive.

VOL. LV. CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1922 NUMBER 19

COMMENT

A stitch in time, to close a rent,
One must admit is fine—
It often saves embarrassment—
But when does it "save time?"

That a Paris hen has adopted two baby kittens gets a headline. What's strange in that? Most "chickens" are "cats."

The swarm of bees, which infested our Main street last Monday afternoon, must have heard of our new "Bi-Puzzle Contest," about which we believe everyone in Nicholas will soon be talking. See page 8.

The Mercury is starting with this issue a "Bi-Word Puzzle Contest," which we believe will prove to be popular with all of our readers, and especially easily be quite profitable to those who are fortunate in finding the most words beginning with the letter "B." Just turn to the last page, of this issue and study the puzzle picture found there for a few minutes. See how many objects the names of which begin with "B," you can discover in these few minutes. You will find it a fascinating game. You will be surprised also, how many words will add to your vocabulary, if you become sufficiently interested to consult the dictionary. Read the instructions carefully, if you decide to try the contest. Remember, this feature is exclusive with The Mercury. No out-of-town manager will have any connection with it. We will be glad to answer any questions that prospective candidates for a prize may wish to ask.

OWINGSVILLE HIGH BEATS CARLISLE HIGH 14-13

In a game of base ball that belonged to either side until the final out in the last inning, the Owingsville high school base ball team defeated the Carlisle high nine at Owingsville last Saturday afternoon by a score of 14 to 13.

The game was featured by heavy slugging on both sides. Errors by both teams were few, and they counted lost the game. An easy fly in the eighth inning by Walden allowed two men to score, giving Owingsville a lead of one run which Carlisle was unable to overcome.

Prof. Martin's boys are a team when it lashed as if they were up against it they pulled themselves together and were equal to the occasion.

Gannon, Carlisle high's pitcher, has been in very poor health all spring and had forgotten to secure my subscription to The Mercury. I'm glad you reminded me of it. I expect to take it as long as I live. You will find check enclosed."

The first part is "Yo' Old Kentucky Minstrel." This big opening act contains some beautiful songs as well as side splitting comedy and jokes.

Then there is two big feature acts that are nothing about and leave no a surprise for those who see them. ## HOW TO SPELL "CASIDAY"

For years we folks at The Mercury office have been uncertain as to the spelling of "Casiday Creek," "Cassiday Creek" and "Casaday Creek" and all variations possible.—"Casidy, Cassidy, Casaday, Casidy, etc.

Recently we decided to settle the matter and the correct spelling is "Casiday."

The creek, which empties into Licking River near the old Parker Ferry was named in honor of Col. Michael Casiday, who lived on the creek. Gilmary War, whose body now lies in the Cassiday Cemetery, was a burying ground on the Gilley Myers farm. Col. Casiday's wife was a sister of Col. Gilley Myers.

Col. Casiday was a soldier of the war of 1812, and was a member of Capt. Gilley Myers' company. He was also a member of the Kentucky militia and was under the command of Gen. Isaac Shelby.

Col. Casiday is buried on the old Casiday farm, which is now owned by Mrs. Ella Bramblett.

BIG CASH PRIZES TO BE GIVEN IN MERCURY PUZZLE

Mercury's Bee Hive Puzzle Contest Begins This Week. Six Prizes To Be Awarded

CONTEST CLOSES JUNE 20TH

The Mercury this week presents a cleverly worked out word picture puzzle for the edification of its readers. To add zest to the game, we are offering the cash prizes listed under the picture.

There is no game of chance about this picture puzzle. It is a test of good eye and quick wits. And the beauty about it is that the fellow with a lot of book learning doesn't stand a more show than the fellow with only a practical education in the school of hard knocks. The fellow who is hard to pursue, the specially attractive, is he who reads and teachers, but in the end he is the one who never saw the inside of a school room.

From a financial standpoint extracts cannot lose even if they win a prize. It is a matter of dollars to Mercury anyway. Incidentally, The Mercury will add hundreds of names of new subscribers this way—also to the circulation of the paper. While it is first necessary to send in a subscription to participate with your list of words, it will be found that it is much more profitable to pay for subscriptions in advance. For new subscriptions are sent in with the answer, the winner of the first prize will receive $25 in cash. If only one subscription is sent in the first prize will be $15 in cash, while if no subscriptions are sent in the first prize will be only $3 in cash. It will be seen, therefore, that the logical thing to do is to send in at least one subscription with your answer. If you are already taking The Mercury and have your subscription paid up, you have a neighbor who should get The Mercury. See him and hand to him dollars for his subscription for one year when you return your answer.

Renewals on subscription will only count where the time of the subscriber has expired, and in this case will be given the same credit as a new subscription.

In case and read the announcement page right of this issue. Complete instructions, together with the puzzle, are given. Begin work right now and send in the list any time within the next two months that the contest closes.

The Mercury decided to give the readers this contest only after a thorough examination of the merits of such a proposition. It does not cost one cent to enter and absolutely no chance is shown in the contest.

We want it clearly understood from the beginning that this contest is for the benefit of the readers and not through a contest company this way we assume all responsibility. We have worked out a fair and more general satisfaction will result.

The contest positively closes June 20th, 1922. Lists received after that date will be given no consideration. Be sure you have plenty of time to work out the puzzle. So clip out the picture and get busy today. Don't put off the puzzle picture on the back page of this issue.
