WHAT ARE GROWING PAINS IN CHILDREN

Baby Health Talks by Dr. Juanita MCF. Jennings, Assistant Director Bureau of Child Hygiene, State Board of Health, Louisville, Ky.

Recently the writer was in the church and heard a sermon on this subject. The minister, ignorant, of the real cause, said, "It is necessary for people in gaining spiritual strength to suffer the same way that many children do in gaining their physical growth." He went on to explain that the tonsils and adenoids attached to the hinge pocket during our growth in such a way as to produce great pain, and he believed this was necessary! He said his little boy was happy in this experience.

In this enlightened age, the Child Health Department would like to give him a new point because we know that physical growing pains come from some form of infection within the body—possibly an abscessed tooth or diseased tonsil, and that often that pain in the fore-runner of acute rheumatism or endocarditis, which is inflammation of the heart. Soon after the removal of the focus of infection—the diseased tonsil or abscessed tooth, all growing pains disappear. He might have likened much of the mental and spiritual suffering or unhappiness that human beings undergo to the presence of evil in our lives, a focus of sin, which if removed brings to the individual peace and happiness. No terrifying or painful operation is necessary for good results to be obtained. The little child can be taught that by grasping and holding tight to the loving Christ Jesus as he would to his dear father, all forms of unhappiness will vanish without mental or spiritual suffering. In such dazzling light sin cannot exist. Its at once flees filled with the love of the Master has room for sin.

We hope all watchful parents will quickly bring to the attention of their physician the child with growing pains; these little bodies must be kept perfect like the image in which they are made.

HOW TO KEEP A TOWN FROM IMPROVING

In the first place buy everything you need in some other place. If you have a flouring mill, send off for all your flour. It sounds better to have it come from a distance, even should the quality be inferior.

If you have a brick yard, send off for your brick, it makes a useless local industry, so do a few car loads of brick, no difference if he should have to pay more for them than he would at the home factories.

If you have a good job of printing be sure and not give it to your home printer. Send it to a city press, it it does not cost you double what it would at home. You might give your home printers the small jobs, it will save trouble.

If you want a barrel of sugar, a sack of coffee, a chest of tea, a barrel of molasses, a wagon load of salt and other things, send off for them by all means. And then you can boast to your neighbors that you buy your groceries in the city. It will cost you a little in freight and time, but then you will have the satisfaction of knowing that your money will not be squandered in building up your own town.

If you want dry goods, send to the city. If you want a suit of clothes, don't buy it at home, you might help build up your town, your merchants would get hold of the money and the profits would go to enhancing the wealth of our town.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS WITH PARIS FRIDAY

The football season for the Carlisle high school officially opens Friday when the local gridders go to Paris to meet the Bourbon lads. Many of the players got their first experience last Friday in the game between the high school and the National Guard outfit, and Coach Embry is much encouraged over the prospect for a rip-roaring team.

At a meeting of the members of the high school athletic association last week Arthur Leland Hedges was elected president, Miss Cordelia Harper vice president and Willis B. Grifin secretary and treasurer.

Thousands of Americans Are Earning Their Living From The Railroads

Yet their names do not appear on the railroads' payrolls. General prosperity comes and goes as the railroads make or fail to make money.

Look at the figures and you will probably have brought home to you more forcibly than ever before the danger of the enactment of any destructive form of railroad legislation.

One motor out of every four men employed in the United States are supported somewhere directly by the railroads.

The railroad is the only salable source of support of one fourth of the entire population of America.

It costs 150 billions of trade dollars annually to operate the railroads of the country—the railroads of 21 nations.

Think of the importance of these four great industries to America. Read the above figures again, and remember that when the railroads prosper, everybody prospers.

REDRYER CONTRACT LET TENTATIVELY

R. O. Duncan & Son Awarded Contract Provided Citizens Finance Project

LOW BID WAS $24,301.48

A tentative contract, pending the raising of sufficient funds to finance the project, was let on Thursday to R. O. Duncan and Son, of Paris, for the construction of the new Redryer here. Sealed bids were received and this bid was the lowest of the seven submitted. The bid was $24,301.48.

The contract calls for a building 223x125 feet, of brick. An option has been taken on the site by C. C. Hazlitt, adjoining Harmon's warehouse No. 1, where the building would be erected.

If the money is raised to finance the project this building and storage house with a capacity of 30,000 hogsheads will be built, and efforts will be made to have the redryer in operation in time for this year's crop.

The Nicholas Chamber of Commerce is fostering the movement, and has appointed several men to solicit funds for the project, as follows:

Team No. 1—G. C. Miers, Scott Robertson and T. L. Clark.

Team No. 2—Charles Hardy Myers and L. M. Gaffin.

Team No. 3—Thomas R. Barnes, C. M. Lambert and W. H. Frey.

Team No. 4—Dupont Hall, First National Bank, Farmers Bank and Mercantile Bank.

Team No. 5—U. M. Swinford, Allen Hopkins and Bruce Sexton.

Team No. 6—J. C. Henry, H. B Brown and Ed Fiers.

The drive will be necessary to finance the buildings, and it is believed little difficulty will be experienced in raising this amount. 6 per cent interest will be paid on the investments, and the Burley Association will lease the plant as soon as funds for this project have become available.

Jas. R. Bacon and Bush Wo Allin, vice presidents of the association, and J. W. Garrison, of the association, held a meeting last Thursday and agreed to the tentative acceptance of the bid.

CANNED GOODS TO BE HIGHER THIS WINTER

A local traveling man told The Mercury last week that from all indications canned goods will be higher this winter than last winter, having the following as one of the reasons in wholesale prices. The advance on canned goods will be particularly noticed.

A No. 2 can of corn, which last winter retailed for 10 cents per can, will sell for 15 cents this winter. The increase in price is due to the fact that early fronts visited Indiana and Ohio canneries and burned corn from filling one-fourth of their orders. Tomatoes and also some other canned fruits will also be higher this year, due to the particularly noticed.

KENTUCKIANS TO VOTE ON TWO AMENDMENTS

Kentuckians will not only vote in November on the question of approving the proposed $40,000,000 bond issue, but will also either ratify or reject a constitutional amendment.

They will decide whether to lift the $5,000 annual salary limitation imposed on judges of the court of appeals and the city school superintendent and high school principals of Louisville.

The act, amending the constitution and making it legal for these officials to receive more than $5,-000 a year, was passed by the General assembly, brought before the people by Governor William M. Duffy, Louisville, in his campaign, and Louisville has been unable to buy its city school superintendent's office through offers elsewhere of greater financial remuneration.

He and several other assembly acts also submitted to the people will be put in by appellate judges here in the capital building.

No opposition to the proposed amendment was presented.

NUTED SURGEON VICTIM

KENTUCKY LEAF EXPORTED

Kentucky is showing in export trade for the quarter ending June 30, according to figures just released by the Department of Commerce. It reveals an advance in relative position among the states of the Union, from twenty-sixth in twenty-second place, superseding Minnesota, Wess, Virginia, Tennessee, and Missouri. Its value during the six months amounted to $11,591,644, or $1,949,816 better than for the previous quarter.

Leaf tobacco shipments not only made up the greater part of the total export trade, but reached values of $11,212,744, an improvement of $1,-872,946, over the earlier quarter. Coal, with figures of $197,164, was second in importance, and increased $24,687, in valuation over exports over the first three months of 1924. Shipments of unfreezed furs to the amount of $142,726 for the first quarter of the year, were a negligible quantity for the period following.

NO GREAT DAMAGE FROM WILD FIRE

Wild fire has run so far this year been a material factor in destroying tobacco yields, especially in the Burley tobacco section of the state, according to Dr. W. D. Valleau, plant pathologist of the state college of agriculture. While there have been many reports of wild fire, not yet that disease probably is not responsible for over a few per cent of the fields. Many other causes have been responsible for wild fire, Dr. Valleau said. Primarily, soil exhaustion has been a mosaic burning, which sometimes starts early in the leaf, making a dead area probably the size of a man's hand. This burning does not spread like wild fire, and commonly is found on not more than two or three leaves on a plant.

BOARD OF HEALTH TO STOP "DOPE" PEDDLING

After hearing evidence of alleged flagrant violations of the narcotic laws by doctors throughout the state, the State Board of Health, at a meeting held in Louisville yesterday, started a campaign to clean up the medical profession throughout the state.

The evidence was submitted at the trial of Dr. Lewis Lee, who was arrested by federal authorities following the "dope" disclosures made about a year ago. Because of the illness of one of doctors in the case the board refused to revoke the license of the accused doctor, but placed them under probation for a year.

Minister Admits Poisoning Two

Illinois Man Confesses Murder of Wife and Parishioner

After an all night grilling, Rev. Lawrence Hight, pastor of a church at Ina, Ill., confessed Monday to poisoning his wife and Mrs. Mabel Ford Sweetin. In a statement to authorities Sweetin declared that the murder of his wife was prompted by "relieve her of suffering." According to his statement he placed arsenic in her coffee on the morning of September 15, and a few minutes later Hight confessed also to the murder of Mrs. Sweetin. This was done at the Sweetin home, Hight said, while they were alone. Hight said he poisoned the woman to put him out of his pain.

Hight denied that there had ever been anything between him and Mrs. Sweetin and absolved her of blame.

Change In Textbooks Will Cost Nicholas Over $5,000

Although the city and county schools have been in session for over three weeks, many of the students have been handicapped through inability to secure books. Four books have been especially hard to obtain this year, Miss Mary F. Fisher local dealer stated to The Mercury. These books are James Spoller, Elson Reader No. 7, Reader No. 8. Although some of these books have been received it is not nearly enough to supply the demand, Miss Fisher stated.

The complete change in text books will work considerable hardship on Nicholas county pupils, especially in the rural districts, the committee of the state Campaign Committee that eminent speakers will be sent to Nicholas county to address the people at least four other addresses will be made here by party leaders before the election according to present plans.

Miss Fisher states that the change in books was necessitated by a new law. In many cases an extreme hardship has been caused parents. The old books are not taken in exchange for new ones, and the prices for new books are much higher than for the books used during the past few years.

Commence ranging from indignation meetings that have been held by parents over the change in books, to the mild suggestion that the old books be taken in exchange for the new books, but the latter cannot pass their hands to the younger members of the family, thereby saving a considerable sum.

The Nicholas fiscal court has annually appropriated $200 to be used to purchase books for children whose parents are unable to buy them. Usually this amount is not all used, but this year it was almost exhausted and if all demands had been met it would have reached the county $2,000, County Judge A. B. Titus stated. However, as many books can be purchased after the original appropriation is exhausted.

Mrs. Eda B. Taylor, County Superintendent, stated to The Mercury that in all her experience in school work this is the first year that a complete change was made in textbooks, "taken as a whole are satisfactory, even though at first sight the change has worked a hardship on parents." Mrs. Taylor stated some rural students had been unable to get arithmetics, elementary geographies, fifth and seventh grade readers.

Prof. M. Rite Iler, superintendent of the city schools, stated that students in the city schools were able to get books, and added that the hardship has been caused parents. The old books are not
