EDITORIAL COMMENT.

"Time travels in divers paces with divers persons. I'll tell you who Time ambles withal, who Time trots withal, who Time gallops withal, and who he stands still withal."

So Shakespeare, and the writer wonders, in his case, whether Time has been galloping or perchance standing still, that he contemplated a trip to another State to attend the annual summer meeting of the Kentucky Press Association with somewhat of the shyness and foreboding of the country boy prepar- [illegible]

... all, is not a blessing. If the farmer is so foolish as to let the Burley Association die by refusing to pool his acreage again, we may have the opportunity soon to prove the contention of some that tobacco has been a curse to the Kentucky farmer. In such an event a statue erected to the man who refused to co-operate would be comparable to that statue to the boll weevil in Alabama.

West Baden nestles among the hills; in fact it snuggles and the cooling zephyrs blow around and about the tops and 'tother sides of these hills and try to get in. At least we suppose they do, for none got in so far as we could observe. The hotel is a magnificent structure and plans are under way for enormous expenditures in improvements on buildings and grounds. Some day, when the writer shall have "saved up" enough money and is the proud possessor of some "evening clothes" 'neverything, he means to go back "in season," when the weary wealthy are recuperating and taking the waters and "boiling out."

It should be ideal in October, and if we are so fortunate ever as to accumulate a few dollars not needed for taxes and insurance, rents, grocery bills, clothes, paper, ink, wages and a sufficient sum to maintain the dignity of a bank account [illegible]

ARE YOU KEEPING YOUR CHILD WELL?

Every mother surely wants to give her child the best possible chance in the world. Unless a mother can answer yes to the following questions she is not giving her boy or girl the opportunities which he or she should have.

1. Will you go to a physician regularly beginning early in pregnancy for pre-natal care and instruction? Will you follow his advice?
2. Will you receive for yourself adequate care under proper surroundings at the time of confinement?
3. Will you go to your physician for a post-natal examination?
4. Will you see that proper housing and living conditions are obtained for yourself and family?
5. Will you take the child to a physician regularly and frequently after birth and continuing on through the pre-school and school periods? Will you ask the physician when and what to feed the child and how to clothe and care for him? Will you see that he has at least one complete examination every year?
6. Will you feed and care for the child in accordance with the physician's instructions? Will you refrain from feeding things which the physician does not recommend?
7. Will you have corrected any physical defects for which the physician recommends correction?

PERSONAL

EXCHANGE

This much I know, ill-gotten gain
Is laden with unceasing pain.

However covered his descent
The trickster knows himself a cheat.

Strangers mistaking false for true
Still leave him wondering "if they knew."

Men will some trivial wrong forget,
But he who caused it, feels it yet.

Others mistaking sham for real
Know not what conscience can reveal.

However cleverly you weave
Self is the one you can't deceive.

Better it is to lose the prize
Than win by methods you despise.

Beware the plaudits of the crowd,
Of what you do let self be proud.

No greater torture can be named,
Than of yourself to be ashamed.

CYCLONE HITS SHOW

The Central States Exposition Shows was hit by the cyclone Sunday night about ten o'clock, with such force that all shows, concession, free acts and other such amusements were blown down causing great damage to the equipment.

The high ladder from which Dixie does her famous dive twisted and torn down, the minstrel show was blown down, the piano was blown some ten feet from the place where it was located, turned over and some damage done to it. Other shows were blown away, breaking the frames; some of the smaller tents were blown across the street, two automobiles were blown several hundred feet and landed in ditches.

The damage is hard to estimate, but manager Pinfold says it will run into several thousand dollars.

The show organization, however, was in operation again Monday night Workmen were on the job at daylight Monday and worked unceasingly until every show was ready for operation.

The people with the show, who live on the show grounds were frantic, and serious accidents were prevented by careful efforts by the men on the ground.

Hoyt, the little legless and armless boy, with his mother, barely escaped death, as the sixty foot ladder that Dixie dives from fell over on their living tent, crashing through, striking a trunk that they had just [illegible]
