MICKIE SAYS—

KENTUCKY NEWS BRIEFS

At Campbellsville recently, a hog dog was sold for $800.

Mrs. M. L. Hall has resigned as county school supervisor of Shelby county.

A smallpox epidemic has broken out in the southeastern part of Fleming county.

The dead body of a newly born white baby was found on a street in Ashland last week.

The Pike county grand jury adjourned last week after returning more than 100 indictments.

The Kentucky Press Association will hold its annual meeting at Mt. Sterling, July 9-10-11.

The foreigners of Pike river dale were closed long week to battle influenza.

There are twenty-six murder cases on the docket of the Hardin circuit court, which convened at Jackson Monday.

The Kentucky Irrigation Power Company has purchased the water works system at Mayfield for a reported price of $128,000.

J. R. Crawford, 54, tenant on the farm of S. T. Arnold in Fayette county, killed himself from a rafter in the barn at his home Saturday.

Albert H. Bourne, 70, prominent negro farmer died at his home in Mt. Sterling from the effects of a fall at his home several days before.

Suffering from melancholia, Lewis M. Rouse, 70, well known farmer, ended his life by hanging himself with a shoe shirt at a Louisville sanitarium.

The well-drilling crew employed by Mason county in boring a well in Lexington suffered damage estimated at $1,000 by fire early last Saturday morning.

A library building to cost $50,000 is to be erected at Williamsburg, the county seat of Whitley county, as the result of a campaign conducted by the Whitley County Woman's Club. Mrs. C. E. Morrison, a member of the club, headed the campaign.

Kenyon Goddin, 14, years old, a Boyle county boy, was drowned in Salt Lick creek, near Perryville, Saturday, when he went in swimming with a group of companions.

Alva Gibson, negro, condemned to die on March 20 in the Fayette circuit court on a charge of burglary, has been granted a respite of thirty days by Governor Fields.

John Butler, 70, negro farmer of Hutchison, Bourbon county, was crushed to death when a barn door which he was attempting to hand open fell on him immediately morning.

A large barn, containing three automobiles, in the heart of Midway, belonging to Henry L. Martin, was destroyed by fire when struck by lightning early Saturday morning.

A movement to curb lawlessness and restore peace in Bourbon county has been started by representative farmers, following the shooting of the killing of a young man at a dance several weeks ago.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a stock barn belonging to W. B. Johnson in Bath county at Owingsville, a quantity of feed, farming implements and poultry were burned.

Whisky valued at approximately $15,000 has been stolen from the H. H. Taylor & Sons distillery and bonded warehouse in Franklin county by 3 masked bandits, Tuesday night, the Franklin county grand jury returned indictments against 13 men charging conspiracy to rob the distillery.

The Gilbert Grocery Co., of Portsmouth, Ohio, has closed a deal for the purchase of the Omar Bottom Wholesale Grocery and two five story buildings in Maysville at a reported price of $75,000.

The value of cotton and products in the United States is now, $275,000,000 annually. All this was waste only a few years ago. Cottonseed oil is the base for most of the vegetable fats for table, use.

John C. McFeeter, 44 years old, wealthy Anderson county landowner, stockman and tobacco grower, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a revolver at his home near Lawrenceburg Monday.

Alex and Harry Shields and Matt Leathers, charged with killing Burdette Hoffaker, distillery guard, in a raid at a distillery in Anderson county several months ago, were discharged in circuit court at Lawrenceburg last week.

Dr. Thomas C. Holloway, prominent Lexington physician, suicided by shooting himself through the head with a revolver at his home early Monday morning. He had been ill ill health for several years.

Johnston Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, recently organized at Lexington, has launched a campaign to raise funds for the birthplace of Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis, each valued at $5,000 or less. There are two in Kentucky.

Mrs. Rose Rosenberger, wife of A. E. Rosenberger, of Louisville, who is a mechanic for the Standard Oil Co. in Midway Saturday, engaged a room at a hotel and was found dead in her room several hours later, having taken a quantity of carbolic acid.

Wayne Grider, of Perry county serving a sentence in the Breathitt county jail at Jackson on a charge of violating the prohibition laws, was accidentally shot and fatally wounded by Joseph Lovely, Breathitt county jailer, while the officer was attempting to quell a riot among prisoners.

GROW A GARDEN

(By Edgar W. Cooley, Agricultural Extension Department, International Harvester Company.)

Plant a garden this year and grow vegetables.

Planting a vegetable garden will be economical. It will provide us with fresh vegetables during the time of the year when they are most expensive and, last, will give us a surplus to can or dry or store for the winter months. We grow them now, why not have them.

Wherever you live and give us 10 minutes outdoor exercise.

Every person should have more vegetables. Every town should have a community garden. We should organize more neighborhood garden clubs.

If you have no plot upon which to grow a garden, get permission to use a vacant lot near your home. If you cannot find that, we cannot understand last year. Five seasons ago we had a garden on a vacant lot in the home of Mrs. Hoffman, while the soil is poor, by working it over and fertilizing it we harvested a good crop.

Make your plot as large as you can conveniently handle. You can grow potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, beets, carrots, and plenty of other vegetables in a space large to your home.

Make a few hotes through the center of an old pan or shallow box, and plant in these holes lettuce, onions, early sweet corn that just "shoots up" and a few radishes, peas or hot bean a window in a hurry.

Start the seeds about the middle of March and transplant them when they can be transplanted into the garden. Don't forget to obtain the permit and the soil to warm.

Make your soil deep as possible and grow a large number of vegetables as your space will allow. A bed about eighteen inches wide and twenty feet long will produce enough vegetables for a family of five.

Keep the weeds down. Use the hoe frequently and keep the soil loose and mellow. Cultivation after every rain or watering is necessary.

Don't plant too much corn. Corn is a space hog and takes up room that could be used for other vegetables.

Don't plant too much of one thing. Have a variety of vegetables.

Don't plant seeds too deep. Cover them with soil about twice as deep as the seed is thick.

Don't forget to thin out the plants. Overcrowding prevents growth.

Don't forget to water the garden during dry weather. Vegetables cannot grow properly unless they have a constant supply of moisture.

Don't forget to keep down weeds. Weeds rob the soil of moisture and plant food needed by vegetables.

Don't forget to rotate crops. Don't plant the same crop in the same place two years in succession.

Don't forget to use fertilizer. Vegetables need plenty of plant food.

Don't forget to use insecticides and fungicides to keep down insects and diseases.

Don't forget to keep a garden record. Write down what you plant, when you plant it, and how much you get from it.

Don't forget to can the surplus vegetables. Can them when they are cheap and plentiful and use them during the winter when they are scarce and high priced.

Don't forget to have a garden this year.

FIXING THE BLAME

In 1923 there were 3,364 persons killed at highway railroad crossings—more than double the number of such fatalities in 1913.

On 242 railroads, representing more than seventy per cent of the railroad mileage of the country 28,000,000 passengers were carried last year without a single accident. From these facts a school boy can distinguish who is responsible for the vast majority of the grade crossing accidents.

The evidence multiplies that motor car drivers, most often, must of the blame.

In a recent period of two weeks, out of twenty-three accidents, at crossings of one railroad, eight were caused by automobiles running into trains.

The same impulse that causes a motorist to run into the middle of a train would get him in front of a train on a crossing.

It costs the person at the wheel of an auto only the fraction of a second to be careful.

If he doesn't use caution in approaching and crossing a railroad or interurban line, he can't conscientiously expect much sympathy.

TWO MILLION LAWS AND ORDINANCES

Thirty-eight state legislatures met during January, and one newspaper in the year 1924 printed over 60 new bills and passed 15,000 as laws. There are now approximately 2,000 new laws and ordinances in the United States, and about 200,000 new ones being added yearly. State governments' laws in 1902 and 1182,000 was an average of $2.24 per capita, while in 1924 $16,000,000 in 1922, or $12.10 per capita. The total cost of state and federal government cost in 1922 was 15 per cent of the national income, while it was only 7 per cent of the national income in 1913.

At least 28,000 persons were killed by automobiles in the United States during 1924, an increase of between 1,000 and 2,000 over 1923.

THANKS

I am taking this method of thanking the people of Carlisle and surrounding country as well as the traveling public for their support, and patronage given me at the Morgan's Restaurant what it is today.

I want to say that every opportunity I had of the kindness and loyalty realized in these three years, and as I have often said through the Mercury, Carlisle was smaller in size, and should have just the new of place Morgan's Restaurant is today.

The condition of my health, also is the only reason I had in selling place to Mr. Blanton. Assuring the same warm welcome, and courtesy that has been given me, Mr. Morgan's Restaurant will continue to be found there.

Again thanking everyone I am very respectfully,

O. M. Morgan.

HOPKINS DRUG CO.

NOTICE

James Murphy's Admr. Plaintiff
vs. Notice
James Murphy's Heirs, Defendants

By virtue of an order of the Nicholas county court, I will on Monday, March 30th, 1925, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., at the court house door in Carlisle, Ky., sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder, the following described property, to-wit:

One 2 horse wagon
4 to 10 barrels of corn
2 iron beds 1 safe
1 home of wood 4 cakes of meat
10 shocks of fodder
1 dining table 2 feather beds
2 bedsteads, 2 pillows
1 carpet, 1 stove
home chairs 1 can lard
Other articles too numerous to mention

Terms made known on day of sale.

JOHN HARVEY, Administrator
31

For SPRING Planting
FRUIT AND ORNAMENTAL TREES
VINES AND SHRUBS PLANTS
EVERGREENS AND ROSES
STRAWBERRIES
Ask for our New Catalog and Price List

H. F. Hillenmeyer & Sons
Lexington, - - Kentucky

COUNTY AGENT'S DEPT.

BY E. W. ANDERSON

Watch Those Fruit Trees

As soon as the peaches loosen up either the curculio or the worm that causes the worm in the fruit. Just after the bloom is on as much as 75 per cent of the petals have fallen an application of arsenate of lead, using one pound to 50 gallons of water and one pound of hydrated lime should be applied to the trees. This spray should be repeated in 10 days. If these applications are not used, the worms are sure to get the fruit.

The codling moth on apples is a hard worm to poison. The little moth lays the eggs, that cause the worms in the fruit. It is on the wing just about the time the apples are blooming. The eggs are laid and hatch in a few days into the tiny grub that burns its way into the fruit. After soon getting into the fruit there is no way to combat the pest. Spray the trees just as the blossoms are falling using one gallon of lead one teaspoon and one pound of hydrated lime to forty gallons of water. Do not neglect this first spraying, repeat in two to three weeks to insure a good crop of fruit.

Peaches Are Worth Marketing

The peach crop in Nicholas county is small, in fact, is more valuable than ever before in the entire history of the county. In that time of pure food activity, and the demand for fruits of all kinds, the peach is the only one with the common "dog" disease of fruits.

All the dairy cows in the United States produce about 20 billion 8,200 pounds of milk and 170 pounds of butter fat annually. The butter fat contains 112 a food unit out of 3,000 pounds of milk produced. Let us do better, who has charge of our Holstein herd, has 10 cows that make over all the cows here in the county. That same year all the cows here in the county produced an average of 3,000 pounds of milk, and surpassed the Holstein herd. In that year of poor feed attained. Are you satisfied to be one of the common herd? Are you satisfied to be one of the uncommon herd? Are you satisfied to be one of the uncommon herd? Are you satisfied to be one of the uncommon