CHURCH HAS SAME ORGANIST FOR 45 YEARS

Miss Mary Wasserbohr has been the organist of St. John's Episcopal church, Versailles, continuously for over 45 years. She has played the same organ for more than 25 years. In 1880 she succeeded Mrs. Joseph K. Henry, who was organist at St. John's for 10 years, from 1870 to 1880.

In 45 years Miss Wasserbohr has missed playing at only four Easter services.

She played the organ at St. John's more than 50 years ago, interestingly enough, in the old Methodist church, the present one having been installed 25 years ago.

The number of weddings Miss Wasserbohr has played for is unknown and in other Versailles churches as would make a very long list.—Woodford Sun.

Keeping Pace With Kentucky

THE telephone construction program now in progress in the States of Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee is the largest ever undertaken by the Cumberland Company. The additions and replacements this year will cost $3,377,000.

More than $1,376,000 will be expended in Kentucky this year for new telephone buildings, equipment, plant and replacements.

The enormous sums of money required to meet this development is being met from capital, which must be furnished by investors who have faith in the future of this State, or borrowed in the money markets.

While this work is in progress your service continues day and night at a higher standard of efficiency and to greater volume than ever before.

Our success depends in a large measure upon your continued co-operation, which encourages the workers to strive to serve you better.

3 minutes Late on a 900 mile journey

This is the story of an actual happening aboard one of this Railroad's thru trains from Cincinnati to New Orleans.

Upon arrival at New Orleans, a passenger, with watch in hand, complained to his fellow passengers that the train was "3 minutes late". As a matter of fact, this gentleman had left Cincinnati at 8.15 o'clock, central standard time, and arrived in absolute comfort through six states, had enjoyed four splendid meals served to him at a time to be ruin-ed, and had arrived at his destination, a distance of 921 miles from Cincinnati, 3 minutes behind schedule time. This particular train has a very high "on-time" record, being right at the top of the list.

Such complaints are of course, rare, but they do serve to show that the public is becoming more and more exacting in its demands for fast, safe and convenient transportation. We are proud of the fact that our trains have regularly approached these high standards of service and we shall continue to make every effort to meet these requirements.

The Closing Down Of The Coal Industry Will Affect Both Alike

Those who are insistent upon a tonnage tax on coal — ton which would certainly disorganize this great Kentucky industry — seem to think only of the effect of such a tax upon the "Operator."

What about the coal miner—that citizen who depends upon the coal industry for a livelihood? The wage earner?

These men—the coal operator and the coal miner—are partners in the most literal translation of the word. What affects one must of necessity affect the other. The operator could not conduct his business without the co-operation of his fellow-worker—the miner. Nor could the miner readily find employment at his chosen trade unless the operator risks his judgment and his capital in the operation of a property.

So—in considering the proposed tonnage tax on Kentucky coals, with its added handicaps to this great industry, an industry already burdened with tremendous handicaps of heavy freight rate differentials and severely competitive marketing conditions, please remember that it is not the "Operator" alone who would suffer. His partner in the business, coal miner, would fare equally as badly.

There are only approximately 175 coal producing companies in Kentucky. Some are over sixty thousand coal miners, the rest less, with those companies' families, and thousands dependents, surely deserve fair and just consideration.

Think of the above when you are asked to sign an added taxation on the coal industry of our State.

therein or thereon; and also from in any way interfering with the plaintiff in its use, control and management of said premises; prays for judgment for damages in the sum of $1,000 and for all proper and equitable relief.

L. B. Rose and U. M. Swinford are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Howard K. Veatch is chairman of the official board of the church.

When seen by a representative of The Mercury Rev. Crystal declined to make a statement other than the fact that he intended to continue preaching at the court house until final disposition has been made of the question.

Announcement was made at Sunday school Sunday morning that Rev. Crystal would preach at the court house Sunday evening, and an audience was present in excess of the circuit court room attended by veterans. The pastor announced that a meeting would be held on Monday night, and that services would be held Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. He stated that he assumed sole responsibility for calling the meeting.

No preaching was held at the church Sunday, October 18, as the service hour, 10:30 A. M., conflicted with the regular hour for the meeting of the congregation, which was called to take a vote of the congregation as to whether it is in favor of retaining Rev. Crystal as pastor.

Four members of the church also offered the following resolution, which was adopted, at the Sunday school:

"Mr. Crystal was asked by members of the board of officers to tender his resignation. He requested that this matter be referred to a meeting of the congregation called for the purpose. His request was ignored.

"Then the board of officers assumed authority to dismiss him.

"A written request, signed by 125 members of the congregation was handed to the chairman of the official board asking that they call a meeting of the congregation to act in the matter.

"This request was refused.

"A suit has been filed in court against Brother Crystal and we are interested only exercising any pastoral function in this building.

"Now, in behalf of the rights of the members in the congregation, we are calling a meeting of the members for the purpose and for the sole object of taking over the business transaction of any other business that may be necessary. This meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Church at eleven o'clock, Sunday morning, October 18th.

RECOMMEND TOBACCO FOR CONTROL OF WORMS

The poultry division of the Kentucky Experiment Station recommends the tobacco dust treatment for controlling intestinal worms in poultry. For each 100 pints of dry mash or of frying size, chop up finely a pound of tobacco stems. Add to these stems a soak from six to eight hours by pouring hot water over them and then to cover them. Then drain off the juice and squeeze the stems so as to get as much of the nicotine as possible. This juice should be used in mixing mash to eight pounds of mash.

The birds to be treated should be starved at least 10 to 12 hours before feeding the mash wet with the tobacco juice. It also is advisable to keep the birds confined to the house the day after they are treated. Feed the moist mash about noon, and two or three hours later add cement ashes to the drinking water, a pound to 100 hens or 200 fryers. Make sure the next morning that the birds leave the house at dawn to feed. They will not pick up any of the worms voided during the night. Thoroughly clean the house and burn all litter taken out.

The tobacco tea treatment should not be used on pullets which are just coming into good production or on hens which are laying heavily, as the starving tends to disturb egg production and may be followed with a partial molt.

For a heavy laying flock or for growing stock, it is frequently desirable to use tobacco powder in the dry mash. The powder should contain from 1 to 2 per cent nicotine. Two pounds of the powder should be added to each 100 pounds of growing or laying mash, and continued through the mash for three or four weeks, and then repeated several weeks later if necessary.

Shrine Band Pays Visit To Carlisle

Concert, Drill And Dance Held Here Last Thursday Night By Members Of Otoka Temple

"The best reception and best time we have had on any trip this season," one of the members of the Shrine Band and Patrol declared at the conclusion of their visit here last Thursday evening.

About 75 members of the band and patrol with their wives and a great number of visiting Shriners were here. A crowd of several hundred persons lined both sides of Main street and the court house yard for the full length of the public square to hear the concert by the band and to witness the drill by the patrol. Following this entertainment the visitors were taken to the warehouse where the fair is being held and were shown through the fair.

Following this, the local Shriners entertained the visitors with a reception and luncheon at the Masonic hall.

An orchestra of nine pieces was then on hand for the dancing party. The orchestra featured a sharp saxophone solo and a clever trap drummer. Many local people as well as the visiting Shriners danced.

Carlisle is always glad to welcome the Shrine band and patrol and we endeavor to have them include us on their itinerary next summer.

Bond Issue Will Have Few Foes

Proposed $25,000 Indebtedness For Filtering Plant Will Probably Carry In November

The proposed bond issue of $25,000 for the purpose of establishing a filtering plant at the Carlisle water works will have little opposition so far as The Mercury has been able to learn. The question will be submitted to the voters of Carlisle at the November election.

There is no doubt but that a majority of the voters favor the issue. Although the water works system has been in operation here for over ten years, the water has been found to be unsatisfactory for cooking purposes to any extent during the dry spells of July and August. With a purifier the water could be used at all times.

The amount of water which remained in the lake at the water works during the severe drouth is evidence that there will always be an ample supply of water, which would be, in the great convenience, especially during the summer months when cisterns become dry.

CAMPAIGN STARTED FOR WORLD WAR MEMORIALS

The National Woodrow Wilson Memorial Association has started a drive to raise $2,000,000 to erect memorials for the late president in Washington and at Princeton University.

The memorial in Washington would be an educational institution erected on the outskirts of the national capital and would be known as the Woodrow Wilson Memorial University. The campaign is in charge of a committee including Governor Trinkle, Virginia; Secretary Wilbur, Governor McLean, of North Carolina; Governor Sampson, of Florida; Senator Caraway, Arkansas; Governor Bamberton, South Carolina; Governor Trotti, Arkansas; Governor T. G. McLeod, of South Carolina; Governor Harrison, Ohio; William L. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and others.

JILLSON YOUNGEST OF GEOLOGISTS

Those who for the first time enter the Jillson field with Willard Rouse Jillson are surprised.

They find the writer of innumerable scientific books, poems, sketches, a young man.

Dr. Jillson was appointed state geologist of Kentucky by former governor Stanley February 1, 1915. The geologist then was the 19th occupant of the seven state geological positions.

The publications of the survey have been numerous, covering a wide, practical range.

On April 1, 1926, former Governor Morrow appointed Dr. Jillson director of the newly organized state survey and Governor Fields reappointed him.

"Lizzie" Clark hit the line for the final counter. C. H. S. made its three downs to 1 for Mt. Sterling.

The entire team and all the subs played good ball. The interference of the entire team was fine. It was a revelation to see Martin receive passes and kickoffs; at one time he returned a punt 42 yards. Three new backs were discovered in Mc Mullen, Moore and Earlywine, all of whom hit the line for good gains, so continue to improve we should have a good chance to defeat Flemingsburg Friday here. Typhoid Fever Is Preventable

Death Past Summer Caused Many Water Supplies To Become Contaminated

Typhoid fever is the one preventable disease that still takes its toll of life in many cities, as will be recognized in the fact that during the fifth and water supplies are not protected. Prevention of this disease is one of the big objectives of the State Board of Health campaign to "Keep Well This Winter."

To be warned against typhoid fever, Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer points out that the outbreak of last summer caused many contaminated water supplies to be used while lack of rains prevented the washing away of filth. While the heavy rains of the last few days the deeper than typhoid is further increased through this filth being washed by surface rains into wells and springs.

To stress the importance of this pre cautionary measures against typhoid fever, Dr. McCormack lists the causes. Typhoid is carried only through human bodies, the germs consisting of a small microscopic plant that resembles a rod. This germ from a human body is transmitted through milk where absolute cleanliness is not observed; in water that has "sick" contaminated; on vegetables and clothing that have germs will live for two months in water; will multiply rapidly in milk and will thrive for months on soiled clothing.

A person may even catch typhoid fever from food or dishes handled by a sick person.

Some persons are known as "carriers", never actually becoming ill with the disease but spreading it. "carrier" should never handle food.

Always wash the hands before eating and remember, the spread of typhoid depends upon lack of cleanliness. Dr. McCormack, further, admonishes.

AUDIT OF KENTUCKY'S FINANCES MADE PUBLIC

For the first time in the history of Kentucky the state auditor, W. H. Shanks, has had an audit made of the financial condition of each of the receipts and disbursements of a political year.

The report, for the year ended June 30, 1925, shows the receipts of the state treasury aggregated $68,277,627 and the disbursements $26,161,287.50.

Of the receipts, it would a vent but the fiscal year was closed with a balance of $1,121,716.64 on hand, it is pointed out, such is not the case. It was incumbent upon the state to reimburse the counties and automobile tax receipts for June, also the interest on bonds and coupons for July, August and September, including the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925.

More than 700 cities of the United States and Canada now have municipal playgrounds under organized leadership.

Curtis Anxious To Obtain Relics From This County

"Relics of An Ancient Race," is the subject which Professor Curtis, geology class and was arrow-points, found in the graves of the mound builders, will use as the subject of an address to be delivered by Mr. Curtis before the Carlisle Rotary club at its regular meeting next Monday.

Professor Curtis has been interested in the Indian relics which were found in the graves of the ancient race which inhabited Kentucky before the Indians, known to the early white settlers, came to this country. Fifteen years ago, Mr. Curtis placed an Frankfort a display consisting of these relics, which was to form the nucleus of a State museum. A few years ago, he was persuaded to add to the collection would be better kept at the University of Kentucky and it was moved there.

Mr. Curtis is the University representative that he had received many contributions from the farmers for his collection, but has not received many relics of late. He finds, which he intends to give to the University museum, as he has a relic of the mound builders and gives it to the University. He says that it will be catalogued, the name of the finder and the place found given, and it will take its place in the University of Kentucky collection.

Mr. Curtis is anxious to enroll his Nicholas county collection. The county, he believes, will prove one of the richest in the State in relics of this character.

CHURCH WILL VOTE ON PASTOR SUNDAY

Members Notified To Attend Meeting Called For That Purpose

TWO LETTERS SENT OUT

C. H. Fisher, clerk of the Carlisle Christian church, last week mailed letters to all members of the church, notifying them of the meeting to be held at the church next Sunday, October 18, "for transacting of such business as may come before it." The congregational meeting was called at the request of a member of the church for the purpose of determining the wish of the members on retaining the pastor, Dr. L. Linwood Cryste, who was stopped from preaching by a court injunction.

A letter signed by E. N. Brock, H. M. Waugh, H. P. Chambers and Betty Boyd Boone has also been sent to the members of the church urging them to attend the meeting. The letter states that on July 21 Rev. Crystal was asked by the board of deacons to resign as pastor, and that the matter be referred to a meeting of the congregation, which was ignored.

A full attendance of the membership is expected at the meeting. Rev. Crystal held services in the court house last Wednesday evening and on Sunday evening.
