CO. AGENT'S COLUMN

BY S. W. ANDERSON
Value Of Live Stock On The Average Farm.

Diversification of crops or a system of farming which enables the farmer to secure an income from each of several different sources certainly is the type of farming that will most nearly prove profitable at all times.

In connection with any consideration of diversified farming one must always consider some kind of live stock. Thus it is wise to consider a few of the virtues of live stock on the farm. A few of these advantages are briefly listed below:

Live stock makes use of roughage and pasture crops that would otherwise be a waste, also makes possible a system of crop rotation that aids in maintaining soil fertility and controlling plant diseases and insects.

Live stock provides in the form of manure the most reliable and practical fertilizer that can be used in maintaining soil fertility.

Live stock reduces the cost of harvesting farm crops, and reduces the risk that comes when producing crops that may be damaged by frost or drouth over which man has no control.

Live stock enables the farmer to distribute his labor more evenly throughout the year, and increases financial returns when produced cooperatively through a term of years.

Live stock tends to develop progressiveness and breadth of vision in its owner. The most enlightened and progressive agricultural districts are found where livestock production is one of the chief sources of income.

In discussions concerning the value of live stock certainly the value of the purebred should be considered.

Following is a summary of the points in which pure breds excel. The principal points here included are as applicable to one kind of livestock as another.

Based on utility alone, purebred livestock has an earning power that is practically a fifty per cent or greater sale value than the progeny of stock not purebred.

Better breeding combined with proper and adequate feed, practically prevents runty stock, of which an average farm has about 5 per cent.

Well bred beef cattle, sheep and swine will feed from 5 to 10 per cent more meat than inferior animals of the same live weight, and the meat is of better quality.

Improved livestock makes about 40 per cent more profitable use of feed than common stock. Purebred weaned grades and grades excel also.

The use of purebred sires indicates the ownership and use of fully as many purebred females.

The foregoing brief conclusions have been based on a large number of reports gathered through the United States Department for livestock and livestock work which the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture is conducting in cooperation with the various States. Also resulted in a gradually increasing percentage of the many points of merit which well bred animals are superior in ordinary livestock. The breeding and control of animal breeding are among the most important and practical means of making livestock an economic success, and of increasing profits and also of improving the quality of meats.

CARD FROM L. B. BARTON

To the voters of Nicholas county, Carlisle and Cynthiana:

For almost four years I have had the honor to be one of the men to go as Deputy Sheriff of Nicholas county, and have labored to the best of my ability to serve the people of this county.

During my term of office I have endeavored to be faithful to the requirements of my duties, and have always observed that the Lexington law to be the best of my ability, with partiality to none. I declared myself of the county, I will make the efforts of the office on the same platform.

I have the support and influence of the good women and men of Nicholas county, and I am confident that I have the assurance of your support. May I urge you to go to the polls on election day and cast your vote, whether it is cast for me or not.

CONGREGATION SUSTAINS BOARD IN OUSTING PASTOR

resolution was passed, asking for the resignation of the pastor. The resolution was signed by all of the elders except one. The resolution was then referred to the general board and signed by all of the deacons except two. At another meeting of the elders the resolution was presented to Dr. Crystal, and he refused to accept it, according to Mr. Veach.

Continuing his statements, Mr. Veach said that a meeting of the board was held on July 26, at which time the action of Dr. Crystal was reported, at which time a resolution was passed, terminating his contract on September 30.

On the last Sunday in September, Dr. Crystal announced that he would preach on the first Sunday in October. "Legally, if he had preached on that Sunday, we would have had to pay him until the first of January," Mr. Veach said.

Following the last service held in the church by Dr. Crystal, five elders are called at the home of the pastor and asked for an interview. He asked the delegation what they wanted to talk about, and upon being informed that it was "church business," replied, "I have no time for you; that's between you and the congregation."

On October 1, after the board had met and passed two resolutions, one declaring that any member had the right to ask a meeting of the congregation and the other declaring the pulpit vacant, Mr. Brock and Mr. Veach called on Dr. Crystal and attempted to effect a compromise, but he declared he had no compromise to make with the church.

Mr. Veach then went over and declared that his contention through out the entire affair was that the congregation of the church was being deprived of their rights.

At one point, where Dr. Crystal remarks, one officer of the church arose and shouted, "You are telling a un untruth." Two other officers of the church also accused the pastor of distorting the facts, and the chairman was forced to rap for order, admonishing the pastor and congregation that indulgence in personalities would not be tolerated.

Answering the charge of Mr. Veach that the church started work on October 1, 1924, with $500 in the treasury, and now has but $150 in the treasury and an indebtedness of $700, Dr. Crystal shouted, "I have no responsibility in plunging the church into debt. I was never consulted about its business affairs. I have stood on the platform that I would not be controlled by a few men who run the church."

U. M. Swinford arose, and was recognized by the chair. Mr. Swinford said: "For twenty years I have been a member of this church. The official board is not trying to deprive you of your rights. You know the men on this board. They have been with you in sickness and in health. They have stood with you all your lives. It is now for you to judge whether you will or not desire their actions."

Explaining why the board declined to call a meeting of the congregation to vote on the question, Mr. Swinford said: "The board would not call a meeting because it knew and that it would cause bitterness." Mr. Swinford then read the 14th Article, whether there has been bitterness."

After considerable discussion as to the method to be employed in taking the vote, the ballot was finally resulting in a victory for the board.

Following the decision Dr. Crystal left the congregation to make no further remarks. He announced that he would be held in the 14th Article.

At the services held at the church house Sunday morning, Dr. Crystal announced that he would preach as members of the Church of Christ.

Declaring "A great wrong has been done to the best of my people," as Deputy Sheriff of Nicholas county, I have honored by the party by being selected as the nominee for Sheriff.

During my term of office I have endeavored to be faithful to the requirements of my duties, and have always observed that the Lexington law to be the best of my ability, with partiality to none. I declared myself of the county, I will make the efforts of the office on the same platform.

I have the support and influence of the good women and men of Nicholas county, and I am confident that I have the assurance of your support. May I urge you to go to the polls on election day and cast your vote, whether it is cast for me or not.

L. B. BARTON

"The Republican, published at Washington, Georgia, where Dr. Crystal formerly preached, in its issue of October 15, in commenting on the controversy at Carlisle, says:

"Rev. E. Lynwood Crystal, during seven pastorate at the Christian church in Danville serious trouble developed in the church, appears to be developing a more or less similar course at Carlisle, Kentucky, where he is the pastor of the Christian church and where suit has been filed by the official board of the church, containing the region within a few degrees and from entering upon the church property, also demanding $1,000 damages."

The Crystal faction won out in its fight with the official board in Danville, Indiana.

During the heat of the controversy in the Indiana city, a letter was read from a person in Carlisle, Ky., whose name was not known, according to a clipping from the Danville Republican, which was as follows:

"A letter from Carlisle, Ky., denounced the praying brethren and the workers of the church, these popes, having reference to the official board. The letter further denounced the board as an autocratic ring. Free church government must stand by Dr. Crystal. The letter said that Mr. Crystal was the only preacher, was 'let clean up. Best of all the Lord will stand by you. Danville needs you. I know the power of the hidden enemy who seeks to undermine work in Danville.'"

The board of the local church has taken no steps in the employment of a minister of the church as a result of the action Sunday. The vote of the congregation will stop injunction proceedings, as Dr. Crystal announced from the pulpit that he accepted the decision of the majority and was no longer pastor of the church. The board will meet in regular session in a few days, at which time it is probable some action as to the employment of a minister will be taken.

In the meantime, it is probable visiting ministers will preach at the church, and other services Sunday school and prayer meeting services will be taken as usual hours.

PAUL WHITEMAN IN LEXINGTON OCTOBER 26

Paul Whiteman, himself, and his famous orchestra will appear in the Woodland Auditorium, Monday night, October 26, under the auspices of Miss Anna Chandler Goff, concert manager of the Lexington Series.

Not only the world of central Kentucky, but the older folks are interested in the famous conductor and his orchestra, as well, pleases everybody—"musician, student, clubwoman and shouted, "You are telling a un untruth." Two other officers of the church also accused the pastor of distorting the facts, and the chairman was forced to rap for order, admonishing the pastor and congregation that indulgence in personalities would not be tolerated.

Answering the charge of Mr. Veach that the church started work on October 1, 1924, with $500 in the treasury, and now has but $150 in the treasury and an indebtedness of $700, Dr. Crystal shouted, "I have no responsibility in plunging the church into debt. FARM FOR SALE

On account of failing health I have decided to offer for sale my farm of adjoining the city limits of Carlisle.

This farm has on it a good dwelling house two good tobacco barns and a stable with four stalls for stock, cribs, etc.

The farm lies between the Carlisle and Sharpsburg Turnpike and the Myers Station turnpike facing on each pike. The Carlisle and Sharpsburg turnpike being a state highway.

If desired this farm could be subdivided into town lots or small farms.

Well adapted to growth of Alfalfa, Red Clover and of natural blue grass production. Everlasting Water.

This farm is so situated as to afford the luxuries and advantages of the City of Carlisle without sharing its burdens. Good tobacco and corn land and can be used to advantage for pasturing city dairy cows. A splendid opening for a city dairy. The only available site for building lots and the city is bound to grow in that direction.

For particulars see my attorney Wm. Conley or T. J. Jackson, manager of the farm, who will show prospective buyers over the farm.

REGULAR ELECTION IN COUNTY TUESDAY

Only Three Democrats Have Opposition; School Board To Be Elected

COUNCIL IS UNOPPOSED

Nicholas county officials to serve for the next four years, beginning January 1, 1926, will be elected at the regular election to be held next Tuesday, November 3.

Little interest has been taken in the election so far, but it is probable that a fairly heavy vote will be polled, due, largely, to the fact that there is a factional fight for control on the county school board.

Only three Republicans are seeking county offices, H. S. Weaver for County Judge, Samuel Holmes for County Attorney and Leonard Purcell adjutor for the Circuit Circuits have a full ticket, nominated at the Democratic primary, as follows: C. D. Asbury for Sheriff; Wm. J. Curtis for County Judge; Foster V. Cox for County Clerk; Wm. Dawson for Sheriff; Jno. A. Woodall for County Attorney; Jno. Wm. Conley for Tax Commissioner; W. B. Savage for Jailer; and R. H. Hamilton for Coroner.

The following 21 democratic nominees for Magisterial districts are unopposed: Jno. G. Allison, Jr., Carl Johnson, district; Jno. Ed. Myers, third district; A. B. Booth, fourth district; and R. H. Hamilton, fifth district.

In addition to the selection of county officers, primaries were held which will elect the members of the county board of education. One member will be elected from each magisterial district, and there are two or more candidates in each magisterial district with the exception of the Jones Mills district. The candidates: First district: W. S. Glasure, John Bramel, Jr., Ben Small; second district, S. T. Comer, W. B. Hurst; third district, C. L. Clark, U. M. Thompson; fourth district, Ed Parsons; fifth district, Fred Huffstetler, James T. Ockerman.

Candidates for Council will elect a mayor and six councilmen, and the following tickets have been put in the field without opposition: Edward K. Veach for Mayor; M. R. Burbrink, D. M. Curry, M. T. Riddell, Paul D. Durrett, Stewart A. Dorsey and Jno. Wm. McClanahan for councilmen. They will also have a bond issue for $25,000 for a filtering plant for the water works.

Death Rate Of State Declines

Drop In Tuberculosis Fatalities As Cancer Increases; Typhoid Epidemic, 205 Homicides

Decrease in Kentucky's death rate is noted in report just compiled by Dr. Chas. Lyman Greene, state commissioner of health, for the year 1924.

Two thousand, one hundred and seventy-two less deaths is shown than in 1923, a decrease from 16.1 to 15.2 per thousand. The report is considered encouraging.

Tuberculosis deaths resulting in death decreased from 166 to 197. Accidental deaths jumped three per cent from 1,544 to 1,653.

Automobile accidents resulting in death increased from 106 to 197. Accidental deaths in Pulaski county leads all counties of education. Cancer deaths, diseases of the heart, nephritis, diseases of the arteries, are increasing.

Suicide dropped from 184 to 176 last year. Homicide increased from 249 cases in 1923 to 325 in 1924. Accidental deaths jumped three per cent from 1,544 to 1,653.

Many Premiums At Stock Show

Approximately $2,000 In Prizes To Be Distributed Among Junior Club Members

Approximately ~$2,000 in cash premiums and several cups, purchased calves and other prizes will be awarded at the annual exhibit of junior agricultural clubs exhibiting baby beef calves at the fourth annual Junior Stock Show at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville in November. More than 500 members of boys' and girls' clubs in 30 counties will show 650 calves for the show.

A total of $1,000 will be divided among the owners of the best 15 carlots. The first prize will be $250 this ring, totaling $375, will be given by the Union Stock Yards Co. and Railroad Company. This railroad company also gives several hundred dollars more, in other classes.

Other premiums running up to and the prize list are the Monarch Auto Company, Louisville; the Louisville Cotton Oil Mill Company; Bourse Bros. Co., Louisville, and the Louisville Courier-Journal and Louisville Times. The Bourbon Stock Yards Company will be the heaviest contributors.

The following companies will each give $100: Swift & Co., Armour & Sons, Herman Stone & Son Co., Kaufman Straus Co., Rhodes-Kaiser Co., D. H. Ewing's Sons and the Louisville Packing Co. Ltd., Louisville, and J. D. Gay, Pine Grove, Ky.

The owner of the best Hereford calf will receive a registered Hereford bull from Gilbert Bros., Evansville, Ky., the owner of the best Angus calf a registered Angus bull from the Hazelwood Farm, Lancaster, Ky., and the owner of the best Shorthorn calf a registered Shorthorn bull from Springfield, Ky.

180 ESCAPE AS CINCINNATI HOTEL IS SWEPT BY FIRE

150 guests escaped without injury from the Hotel Newland in Cincinnati, where fire broke out at 2 o'clock last Friday morning, and for half an hour threatened to destroy the entire building. The flames were subdued after they had destroyed the roof and the upper story of the building. The Newland is a six-story structure, formerly the Hotel Munro. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

For the first time in three months streams throughout the county have begun to run, bringing stock water in abundance to farmers. Rain fell steadily for almost thirty-six hours last days ago, and with showers since that time the creeks have filled up. Old inhabitants declare stock water has been scarcer in this section this fall than for many years.

Sterling, addressed a representative number of women of Carlisle and Nicholas county at the ladies' parlor room last Friday afternoon in the interest of organizing a Woman's Club. Mrs. Oldham, who was introduced by Mrs. Bennett Hibbard, explained the purpose of the club which, according to its by-laws, shall have for its main object "self-improvement of its members and service to the community.

Following Mrs. Oldham's address, Mrs. Bennett Hibbard, of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs was elected president of the organization, members and the following officers: Mrs. S. W. Anderson, president; Mrs. Robert Boone, first vice president; Mrs. Jno. Wm. Conley, second vice president; Mrs. Grimes Carpenter, third vice president; Mrs. James Patton, corresponding secretary; Miss Elizabeth Berry, recording secretary; Mrs. Milford Berry, auditor.

The eighteen charter members are Mrs. Samuel Holmes, Mrs. Hoe Adams, Mrs. Milford Berry, Mrs. A. T. Gardner, Mrs. H. L. Boone, Mrs. S. W. Anderson, Mrs. Bennett Caywood, Mrs. Ollie Seigfried, Mrs. Jno. Wm. Conley, Mrs. Jno. Allison, Miss Lucy Norvell, Miss Martha Dudley, Miss Lizzie Collins and Mrs. Bennett Hibbard.

The Carlisle team was beaten from start to finish, and the visitors' touchdowns were all made from line-backs, going through Carlisle's interference like a tornado through a silk umbrella. Moore and Burton were the outstanding stars for Carlisle.

After the game the visiting team and the teams had removed all injuries, a banquet was served to the Carlisle team by the girls of the Stanford high school, at which time the keys to the city were turned over to the Carlisle squad by Lloyd Trunnell, of Stanford.

At this time an invitation was issued to the entire aggregation to attend a dance and rook party at the home of Miss Elizabeth Brocddus, one of the most charming and beautiful young ladies of Stanford. This is a testimony of the squad attended and royally entertained by the ladies of Stanford. On account of the time of their lives (recently Stanford's Clark). The Stanford people opened their homes in such a way that the boys will not forget for ever night.

The visit meeting the boys journeyed to Lexington and without the Carlisle and Lexington Y. M. C. A. of the University of Kentucky.

C. H. S. will go to Cynthiana between the Cynthiana and Carlisle high schools.

Duck Association's Action Has No Effect In Burley District

The recent action of the Duck Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, in which growers declared that Plans are being made to break up the association, has created quite a stir among the tobacco growers in the Burley district. The Burley growers have also been talking of forming an association, but the recent action of the Duck growers in declaring that they will withdraw from the association has had no effect on the Burley growers.

The meeting was held last Friday at which time Mr. Wattie Burroughs was elected president. Letters from Burley growers were read and resolutions were passed to the effect that the Burley growers are ready to take up the work of organizing the tobacco growers in the Burley district.

A Troubled Conscience

48 To 0 Defeat Handed Carlisle

Jos T.'s Home Town Administer Worst Licking Of Season To Locals Last Friday

Carlisle high was handed the most decided defeat of the season on the Stanford high field last Friday when the Lincoln county team took the large end of a 48 to 0 score. Stanford, Coach Embry's home town, was the strongest team that the Carlisle aggregation has met this year, and were out for the Central Kentucky championship. The team has defeated by a large margin.

The Carlisle team was beaten from start to finish, and the visitors' touchdowns were all made from line-backs, going through Carlisle's interference like a tornado through a silk umbrella. Moore and Burton were the outstanding stars for Carlisle.
