call at the higher rate.

The reduced rate, both day and night, applies only to calls for a number. But it is not necessary for you to know the number. To make such a call, give the operator the number of the distant telephone if you know it, or if you do not know the number, tell her the name and address under which it is listed.

This is a "station-to-station" call. If you cannot remember this term, tell the operator you wish to make a call at the lowest rate, and do not wish to speak to a particular person.
