PAST PERFORMANCE OUTCOUNT PROMISES

The Voters of Nicholas County Will be given an Opportunity SATURDAY, AUGUST 6TH

To Nominate a Candidate for Governor to be voted for at the November election who is dependable, able and fearless, and who, for seven years, rendered the State service never before equalled and never since excelled

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR

Gov. J. C. W. BECKHAM

He was drafted from the ranks where he was employed in the legitimate practice of law by the country press of the State, voicing the demands of the plain people, who are interested in a government by law.

He towers above graft like the Pyramids above the lesser Alps; refuses always to promise when a doubt of fulfillment exists, and wastes no time in giving ear to the class who scorn manual labor, and whose purpose in life is to live off the fat of the land without effort on their part.

During a long stay at the Executive office at Frankfort he had abundant reasons for knowing that the framers of the constitution had delegated to the Governor certain powers and to the legislative branch certain others. Hence, in making his present campaign he speaks as one having authority when he tells the people that if given the office again and surrounded by a Legislature whose members agree upon and place before him measures intended for the public good his way will be easy, but that he will be entirely powerless as Governor of the State to force the legislators, and that the makers of the instrument laid down for the guidance of the three branches of the State government--executive, legislative and judicial--at no time contemplated that either should usurp the rights of the others.

He knows, as every thinking man in Kentucky knows, that the Governor of Kentucky never did and, in all the ages to come never will reduce a penny of taxes, since it is not given to the Chief Executive to perform an act of this kind. In all of the confines of the Commonwealth there could not be found a man of any political faith who possessed the necessary ability for the discharge of the duties of the high office, who would seek or accept it if forced to perform the duties of the legislative branch. His administration is the one outstanding record of achievement in Kentucky. His performance outcount promises, and if returned to Frankfort he will have no other purpose than to do what he conceives to be the best possible thing for the State and her people. He did not consult with friends to learn if they would support his candidacy. It was the other way round. He consented to run after continuous appeals were made to him by men and women throughout the entire State. His nomination should have been unanimous, but others saw cause to exercise their right to seek the office, and it now develops upon the voters, both men and women, of Nicholas County to go to the polls Saturday, August 6, and make possible an overwhelming majority for

The People's Candidate J. C. W. Beckham
