HORACE M. TAYLOR DIES

Some of the greatest orators and artists in the country were brought to Parks Hill by him. In his capacity as manager he came to know many of the leading men and women of the nation and had many close friends among the leaders.

Until he was disabled by the breaking of his hip in a fall on the icy pavement at his home in 1914, he took an active part in every movement for the welfare of the city and county and even thereafter was vitally interested in all movements, lending support and encouragement.

For many years Mr. Taylor was a member of the furniture firm of Taylor & Howe, selling out his interest to his partner, Sam T. Howe, because of his infirmities. He served for many years on the city school board and for 12 years has been ruling elder of the Carlisle Presbyterian church.

With Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, Col. Richard C. Morgan, Judge Joseph D. Hunt and Capt. Steve G. Sharpe, all of whom have answered the final roster, Mr. Taylor led the movement to organize a permanent association to perpetuate the memory of Morgan's Men and the Old South for which they stood. This association, organized more than thirty years ago, has held annual reunions since. For many years the county court sat at Parks Hill and were attended by hundreds of veterans and their families, but in recent years only a handful of veterans had attended the meeting of Morgan's Men, secretary of the association for more than 20 years and a few years ago was elected to the position for life. All of the Morgan veterans loved him as a brother, a feeling which was reciprocated to the fullest.

He had reached a ripe old age and had seen many of his old comrades go ahead of him into the land beyond, where he devoutly believed that he should meet again those whom he had loved.

He was one of the organizers of the Nicholas County Building and Loan association. He served as assistant treasurer of the organization until the death of his father-in-law, F. E. Congleton, when he was elected treasurer, serving in this capacity until about eighteen months ago when he resigned because of his disabilities. He was a member of the board of directors at the time of his death.

Mr. Taylor was twice married, his first wife being Miss Lizzie Congleton, of Carlisle, whom he married in 1875, and their son, Frank C. Taylor, an only child, survives. One granddaughter, Mrs. Herr, of Lexington the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Taylor, and a great-granddaughter, Sarah Cecil Herr, also survives. Mrs. Taylor died February 11, 1887. His second wife was Miss Margaret Crosston, of Bourbon county, a sister of General Thomas Crosston, United States Minister to Bolivia under President Grant. She died May 10, 1925, and Mr. Taylor since that time had resided at his home here with his son.

Horace M. Taylor was a man of deeply religious nature and was active in the affairs of the church he knew him. Kind, generous, always in a happy frame of mind, an interesting conversationalist, Mr. Taylor had a wide circle of close friends to whom his death brings great sorrow.

His life and service are an example and an inspiration to young men, for he personified the kind of life that is worth living. He left his impress on society, not only by his public service, but by his character. While he was a good citizen, rich in the confidence of his neighbors, is shown by the many positions of trust and honor to which he was chosen.

Mr. Taylor was a loyal friend of The Mercury and this writer was honored by his friendship. Many kind words of encouragement from him have helped to make life's highway a little easier. His was a sweet and wholesome nature, devoid of affectation or conceit. Jealousy or envy found no harbor in his big heart. He lived life and was in harmony with his environment and in sympathy with his fellow men.

Funeral services for Mr. Taylor were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. William J. Gammon, assisted by Dr. S. E. Lauder, of Winchester, a personal friend and former pastor of the church.

Confederate veterans acted as honorary pall bearers and conducted the services at the grave. The veterans at the grave was conducted by C. H. Lee, of Falmouth; Riley Blackburn, of Georgetown; Dan Perrine, of Maysville; Walter Shropshire, of Georgetown; George W. Moir, of Lexington; Z. T. Alexander and John Peters, of Carlisle; S. B. Bivens, of North Middletown; W. H. Talbott, of Winchester.

LYRIC THEATRE

The regular weekly shoot of the Carlisle Gun Club will be held at 4:30 o'clock today, following the chautauqua.

The interior of the Christian church is being painted and decorated and new furnaces will be installed before winter.

Frank C. Taylor qualified in county court Tuesday as administrator of the estate of his father, the late Horace M. Taylor.

Firman Wasson entered a plea of guilty to the charge of striking Roger Paris in county court last week and was fined $10.

Invitation cards for the graded common school commencement exercises to be held next Thursday night may be secured at this office at 20 cents per dozen.

Seventy-five names had been signed to the list of guarantors for guarantees for 1928 Wednesday. Many more signers are needed. Have you signed?

Mr. R. Hopkins is suffering with a badly mashed finger he received at the Chautauqua on Thursday night. He caught his finger in a folding chair.

Mr. Frank C. Taylor informs The Mercury that his father, the late H. M. Taylor, was never a member of the land, born in Carlisle, who still lived here at the time of his death.

A small crowd, mostly composed of women and children, were at the county court day Monday, farmers being busy with their crops. Merchants report business as being slow.

Blackberries have made their appearance on the local market, selling for 25 cents per quart. The berries are scarce, so far, but will be plentiful within a few days, it is said.

Earl Lawrence, son of Henry Lawrence, was arrested by City Marshal Ernest Sims yesterday afternoon on a charge of using abusive language to Mrs. Earl Lawrence.

All members of Marie Chapter Order Eastern Star, are requested to attend the regular monthly meeting Monday night, when the chapter will be visited by the Deputy Worthy Grand Matron.

Governor William J. Fields will speak at the court house in Carlisle Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the interest of the candidacy of Robert T. Crowe, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Green Feeback has purchased the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Reed on Locust street, adjoining the property recently purchased by Mr. Feeback from Lon W. Clark. The price paid was not made public.

While coasting on a "shooter" on the sidewalk in front of the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, Jr., one evening last week, Junior Wells fell off and suffered a fracture of his right arm.

Henry Keller, son of Mrs. Stanley Keller, has acquired an interest in the real estate business of George D. Speakes in Paris and in the future the business will be conducted under the firm name of Speakes & Keller.

Mrs. Maude Smith, widow of the late Dr. C. B. Smith, of Millersburg sent a contribution of $10 toward the local hospital fund last week. When people out of the county show such interest in the establishment of a hospital in this fellow men, it is necessary to urge local people to contribute.

Mrs. Linda Smith has invited two little girls to spend a ten days fresh air vacation at her home near town, the first invitation to be extended from Carlisle and Nicholas county. Mrs. Smith has entertained two girls in her home each year since the movement to give free air vacations to poor children of Louisville has been started.

Dr. Arthur McCormack, Secretary of the Kentucky State Board of Health, has issued a warning against all swimming in Kentucky river. He states that the upper waters of that stream are polluted with dead animals of all kinds killed by the Eastern Kentucky flood, and that there is great danger in swimming in the waters so long as they are in that condition.

Social and Society

BACK TO OLD KENTUCKY

I want to get back,
And I'm yearnin' today
For the sweet scenes of old
An' the folks far away.
Ur want to get back,
I want to git back
What the breeze whispers music
An' love as it blows;
What skies are the softest
An' sunlight steals
O'er the golden terbacker
An' broad hemp fields,
Back in old Kentucky.

I want to git back
What the women all are
The sweetest an' fairest
Ur want to get back,
I want to git back
Jes' to hear the ring
Uv their lafter agin',
I would give anything
For the moonlight nights
When we used to go
To parties an' dances,
An' such an', we,
Back in old Kentucky.

I want to git back
What the swift trained feet
Uv the girls knew in slunber—
It's music sweet.
I want to git back
To the old time hills,
What the scenery knows
From the old distills.
I want to git back—
I want to get back home,
What the bluegrass grows,
Back in old Kentucky.

STATE REVENUES JUMP

Two Cents Increase on Gasoline Brings Two Million Raise

Kentucky's revenues for the past fiscal year, ending June 30, were two million dollars more than the revenues of the preceding fiscal year, W. H. Shanks, State Auditor, announced.

Revenues for the 1927 fiscal year totalled $29,122,744.48 while the revenues for the 1926 fiscal year totalled $27,071,229.32. The two cent additional tax on gasoline, which went into effect February 20, 1926, was largely responsible for this increase as the gasoline tax totalled $5,295,960.31 for the year just ended and $3,476,861.84 for the preceding year.

All of the sources of revenue increased except the oil production tax and the tax on distilled spirits. The oil tax for 1927 was $61,734.00 compared with $126,464.09 for 1926.

FRESH AIR VACATIONS

For Poor Children of Louisville Sought In Nicholas County

So far as The Mercury has learned no homes in Nicholas county, have this summer opened to the poorer children of Louisville for a fresh air vacation of ten days or two weeks.

The movement to give children in Louisville a vacation in the country is again being sponsored by the Courier-Journal and a large number have been invited to spend ten days during the hot weather in homes in rural and small town communities.

Springfield and Bardstown are a number of these children came to Carlisle and were given fresh air vacations. Citizens of the county have neglected to invite children this summer.

All of the children are given a thorough examination before being sent to the country. Money is sent to pay for their laundry while they are here and they are furnished with transportation. The Mercury is cooperating with the Courier-Journal in this humanitarian cause and will be glad to head from residents of Carlisle and Nicholas county who will entertain one or two boys at any time during July or August.

MADE "LOT OF MONEY"

U. S. Mint Director Gives Report For Past Year

Nearly 40,000,000 dimes and 176,000,000 pennies were made at the government mints at San Francisco, Philadelphia and Denver during the last fiscal year.

The director of the mint in a report said that in addition to coining money for four South and Central American countries the government money shops turned out 310,960,019 pieces of domestic coinage with a value of $10,653,129.56.

TAFT HAPPY IN WORK

Untroubled by the maddening swirl of politics, William Howard Taft is rounding out his seventieth year happier in his daily work than he ever has been before, in his own opinion.

As he looks back over the two score years of public service, the former chief justice has been both President and chief justice says quite frankly that he does not consider that he was "fitted" for the political arena, and that he would rather be where he is today than in the White House.

He is so well satisfied, and so greatly encouraged over the recent improvement in his health, that he has no intention of leaving the bench when he becomes eligible for retirement. He will be 70 years old in September, and by then he could retire on full pay in 1931 when he completes ten years service as chief justice. But he prefers to remain in harness.

BIG TREASURY SURPLUS

The government rounded out the fiscal year on June 31 with a treasury surplus estimated at $615,000,000, the greatest in history. Inasmuch as congress at its last session did not pass legislation to apply at least a part of the surplus to further reduction of taxes, it inevitably applied to decreasing the public debt.

Warren Frederick, of the Crayton vicinity, brought to The Mercury office Monday a half dime dated 1832 and a large penny dated 1846.

BRINGING HIS BUGGY

Indianapolis—Trudging along a railway somewhere in Southern Indiana, John Sam Hays, 60, is on a search for a dealer in Dueling Greens, Ky., pulling after him an old dilapidated buggy.

To sheriff's deputies who investigated a report that an elderly man was acting strangely, Hays said he had worked around
