TREES, COOLIDGE PLAN

President Suggests Converting People Hurt Land Into Forests

A suggestion that the agricultural problem might be solved to some degree if poor farm lands were converted into forests was made by President Coolidge in a speech on April 24 to 30 "American Forest Week" and recommending its observance to the governors of the states.

"One fourth of our soil," the President said, "is peculiarly suited to timber growing than anything else. Forests could be an important and industrial and agricultural stability will be strengthened by bringing to full production this great grand empire of land.

"Although much progress has been made in public forestry and hopeful beginnings in private industry, we still have a vast aggregate of idle or semi-idle forest land, and another large aggregate of poor and inadequately managed timber, chiefly grow timber instead of adding to the problem of agricultural overproduction."

100,000 ACRES ALFALFA

Kentucky farmers will sow more than 100,000 acres of alfalfa this spring, Ralph Kenney, crop supervisor of the Kentucky Agriculture of the University of Kentucky, predicts today.

Interest in nearly every county in the state points to a healthy interest in alfalfa," Kenney said. "Since Kentucky farmers have learned that alfalfa grows well on lower soil and that it is among the cheap and easy way to get a stand, they are preparing to sow more acres than they sowed last year. Cheap seed is a big factor in the lack of fourteen children, of whom thirteen are living. He has 105 grandchildren living from ten to 40 years old, and 54 great-grandchildren. Mr. Risner's wife died a year ago. She was about seventy-five years of age. Before her marriage to Mr. Risner she was Miss Elizabeth Webber. They had been married fifty-eight years at the time of her death. Mr. Risner is seventy-five years of age.

Beginning March 22 and ending April 10, the 2,800 Kentucky alumni of the University of Louisville will begin a drive for an alumni campaign in behalf of the University's $2,000,000 endowment fund. Opening dinners will be held in alumni centers throughout the state as well as the rest of the country. Representatives of the University are to be present at these various dinners to explain the need of the University.

MILDRED VICE IS COUNTY CHAMPION

11-Year-Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Vice Wins Ip Spelling Bee

MAPLE GROVE STUDENT

Before a crowd of five hundred or more which filled the circuit court room, Mildred Vice, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Vice, was pronounced champion speller of Nicholas county in the county spelling bee held Saturday afternoon. Miss Vice, who is a student of the seventh grade of the Maple Grove school, defeated representatives of all the other schools. Miss Katherine Berry, last year's winner, was the last speller to be retired, missing the word "imposter," learned at the Maple Grove school the winner.

Miss Vice was asked to repeat her last effort before the final week. Mrs. J. H. Bromagen is teacher of the school. The county spelling was conducted by Miss Neville Times and Courier-Journal, to be held at the court house.

For the contest Saturday was by far the most successful ever held here, both in the number of students entered and the attendance. The words were pronounced from the school room by the teacher until it had been exhausted, after which a county list was used. The word the representatives of the various schools were:

Bald Hill; Leslie McVey; Barterville, Anna Laura Dobson; Isbmael, Earl Bowen; Cedar Grove, Mary Kenney; Saltwell, Leila Mattox; Cassiday, Conway Tedder; Jo Vernon, Emogene McClintock; Stella Fryman; East Union, Oma Willoughby; Miranda, Ruth Hall; Maple Grove, Mildred Vice; Taylor's Creek, Clarice Cleaver; Pleasant Valley, Fernelia Thomas; Elizabeth Blue Licks, Georgia B. Forgers Wanted On Many Charges

Mitchell and Crawford, In Jail Here, Charged With Having Given Number Worthless Checks

Arthur Crawford and John Mitchell, lodged in jail here March 9 on charges of giving a forged check to Jones & Day, merchants at Ellisville, apparently were about to plunge into trouble every day. It is said they forged at least a dozen checks in all. Mitchell, prominent Nicholas county farmer, the checks all being drawn on the Farmers bank for goods, the balance being received by them in cash.

Last Friday a representative of the T. H. and H. B. Dudley and Flemingsburg banks in Carlisle and identified Mitchell as a man who several days before had there gave a check to the Flemingsburg store with the name of J. H. Marsh signed. A pair of shoes alleged to have been purchased at the time were worn by Mitchell.

Saturday morning the proprietor of a store at Licking came to Carlisle and had a warrant issued for the arrest of Mitchell on a charge of giving him a forged check. It is said other merchants in this section were given fraudulent checks.

Both men are wanted in other counties, Mitchell having escaped from a road gang in Bourbon, where he was working out a sentence. Crawford is said to have escaped from the jail at Mt. Olivet, where he was awaiting trial on a liquor charge.

Mitchell & Crawford were held under $1,500 bond each by Judge Darnall and will probably be tried in the fall until the May term of circuit court.

MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR DIES

Governor Henry L. Whitfield, of Stateisgirl, died at his home at Jackson, Miss., last Thursday following an illness of four months with cancer of the bone. His left leg was amputated last November and he had recently resumed his duties.

SHORT LEAF ACREAGE

Indicated In Nicholas County By Tobacco Cotton Sales

A greatly reduced acreage of tobacco in Nicholas county this year is indicated in the sales of tobacco cotton by Carlisle merchants. Dealers here say that not more than fifty per cent of the usual amount of tobacco cotton has been sold this spring. While the cotton is not yet needed, farmers usually buy it by this time of the year, and have it ready.

A large number of landlords have declared their intention of either reducing their acreage this year or cutting it out entirely. Low prices received for the crop the past season and the uncertainty of the fate of the pool have caused many tenants to turn to other pursuits.

GIRL BELIEVED TO BE DEAD RETURNS

Man Serving Life Term For Her "Murder" Pardoned By Governor Fields

HAD SERVED 18 MONTHS

Mary Vickery, 16 years old, whose body was thought to have been found in an abandoned coal shaft in Harlan county about 18 months ago, and for whose murder Cassiday Calaney, 35, was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, returned to her home here last week and related the story which will give the man his freedom.

The girl said she left home because she was not happy. She had fallen in love with a young man who came to Carlisle and while in the employ of the Kentucky Utilities company here, was transferred to Harlan, where he took the contract within a few days, according to a brief of the company who is in Carlisle preparing for the beginning of the work.

The road will be completed this summer. Work will be done under the supervision of the Fields Highway Department, and when completed all the road will be turned over to the state for maintenance.

Contract for the reconstruction of the road was let the February meeting of the Highway Commission. Nicholas county has already paid to the state its half of the cost of construction.

PROF. PFANSTIEL TO HEAD SCHOOLS

Popular Superintendent Is Re-elected For 1927-28 Term By Board

WILL SELECT FACULTY

The Carlisle city school board has re-elected Prof. E. E. Pfanstiel as superintendent of the Carlisle city schools for the 1927-28 term, it was announced last week. The board, with Prof. Pfanstiel, will meet later to select the members of the high and grade school faculties.

The election of Prof Pfanstiel was unanimous, and will meet with the heart approval of the student body and patrons of the Carlisle city schools. Taking charge of the school last fall, Mr. Pfanstiel, in the few months he has been here has done much for the betterment of the school and perfect harmony has existed between the superintendent and members of the faculty, so far as we have learned.

He has taken an active interest in the civic affairs of Carlisle since he has been here, and The Mercury congratulates the school board upon securing the services of this capable young man who is a native of our neighboring county of Bracken.

Five Sheep, 20 Chickens Stolen

When Thieves Pry Open Door Of Barn On Farm Of T. D. Campbell Wednesday Night

An unknown thief or thieves entered a barn on the farm of T. D. Campbell in the Taylor's Creek section, about three miles from Carlisle, last Wednesday night and took two valuable ewes, three lambs and about twenty gare bred Buff Rock hens. The thieves made their entrance through an oat trap in the barn, and this was all confiscated.

About ten ewes were in the barn at the time, all with young lambs. Mr. Campbell had three doors on the barn locked, and entrance was made by prying open a window on the barn. The window had been nailed up for several years. It is believed the loot was hauled away in an automobile.

Mr. Campbell has offered a reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty person or persons. The sheep and chickens stolen were valued at $50 by Mr. Campbell.

CONTRACTS FOR 111 ACRES SIGNED

Forty-one Farmers Agree To Raise Tomatoes For Plant Here This Summer

SEED IS NOW READY

One hundred and eleven acres of tomatoes have been pledged for the Carlisle tomato canning plant this summer, according to statements made Monday by C. M. Lambert, resident manager of the Kentucky Canning Company plant. Forty-one Nicholas county farmers have signed contracts to grow tomatoes this year, Mr. Lambert said.

The capacity of the local plant is one hundred acres in a normal season. It is not known whether the Kentucky Canning Company will accept contracts of farmers after the hundred acres was signed.

Little difficulty was experienced in obtaining contracts this year, practically all of them having been signed voluntarily. The announcement that the plant will be operated this summer will be received with much satisfaction, as it affords employment to about 75 men and women for about two months.

The seed for the tomatoes has been received and may be secured by persons who have signed contracts by calling at the office of the Kentucky Canning Company.

POOL WILL CLOSE BOOKS ON APRIL 1

No Transfers Can Be Made After That Date Secretary Announces

SALES END SATURDAY

Books of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association will close on April 1, according to a statement made Monday by Secretary and Treasurer Belton P. Anderson, and no assignment on 1926 participation certificates can be accepted after that date.

Probably 95 per cent of the 1926 crop has been delivered in the opinion of warehousemen. Closing of the pool books is made necessary by the fact that it is the wish of the association to get full payment for the 1926 crop to the growers as soon after the close of the selling season as possible. The selling season will end Saturday. Practically all of the pool and independent markets of the state have already closed.

Estimates of the burley crop for 1926 run around 270,000,000 pounds, including all of the burley producing territory of Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Missouri, Virginia and North Carolina.

Pensioners Must Wait For Checks

13,000 In Kentucky Hit By Failure Of Congress To Provide Funds

Around 13,000 federal pensioners in Kentucky will be compelled to wait until July for their checks from the Government for the months of May and June, according to the Pension Bureau.

The Government will be unable to make the payments for those two months, it was stated today. On July 1 a disbursement will be made for the last time until the appropriations for the new fiscal year become available.

Pension Bureau officials admitted today that the failure of the urgency deficiency bills at the closing session of the Sixty-ninth Congress precluded the possibility of meeting requirements after April 1.

The Pension Bureau, it was said, dug into its regular funds in order to meet increases voted during the session in anticipation of the approval of appropriation bills supporting the authorizations voted earlier in the session. When the deficiency bill, carrying the appropriations, was lost in the filibuster the bureau found itself facing a problem.

Payments made in Kentucky for the fiscal year ended last July amounted to $8,578,000.
