CATCH COLDS; FILE SUIT

Clark Couple Seek $647 Each From Railroad

D. D. Curry and Mrs. Ethel Mae Curry have filed suit here in the Clark circuit clerk's office, against the L. & N. Railroad Company for $1500 compensatory damage, and $147 special damages each.

In the petition, Mr. and Mrs. Curry claim that, on the afternoon of December 29 they entered a waiting room of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company at Ford, in Clark county, where they purchased a ticket to Winchester, and that in their wait of two hours for the train they caught a severe cold, due to lack of fire in the room.

They claim to have been confined to their beds for five weeks, suffering in great physical anguish from the illness. The case will be tried in the April term of Clark circuit court, which opens April 4.

THE ARMISTICE CAR

Marshall Fork's railroad car in which the armistice was signed, November 11, 1918, is to be housed permanently in a shelter built with American money. The unnamed donor originally offered 100,000 francs for the building, and when it was estimated that 150,000 francs would be needed he willingly increased his contribution. It is to be exhibited and the fee charged is hoped to make it self-supporting.

MILLIONS SPENT

Identity is discovered and kept secret by the cleverest girl pupil in the school, partly to save him from arrest for breaking quarantine and partly because there is another lad Hector in the field, impersonating him. The complications multiply, and the quarantine for smallpox closely upon another, each more uproariously funny than the preceding one. The identity is also promoted by the inimitable man-of-all-work, who has three men's work to do but doesn't do it; by Brinky, the giddy youth who impersonates the Hector, and by his equally giddy pal, Biff; by the prim dumbdora of the school; by a fussy society girl reporter; and by a kick sheriff.

WINS SPELLING BEE

Dr. H. C. Burroughs, well known Millersburg physician, was a welcome visitor in The Mercury office Saturday and entertained us with stories of Carlisle people of the days past when he resided in Carlisle. While, he said, he could not be considered in the class of the "older citizens," Dr. Burroughs disagrees with an editorial in last week's Mercury in which it was stated that the older folks could not spell like the youngsters, fresh from shool, and in school. Dr. Burroughs told of a old-fashioned Blue Back spelling bee held in Millersburg last Wednesday night, when the old folks and the young spellers of the older generation, and he modestly admitted that he was the last man standing.

JAILER MUST SERVE

The "jailed jailer" must go back to jail, the court of appeals held last Friday in affirming a sentence of thirty days in jail and $100 fine against Fees Whitaker, of Letcher county, charged with poisoning liquor. Whitaker gained much notoriety a few years when, while serving as jailer of Letcher county he was sentenced to jail by the circuit judge of that district on a charge of drunk.

ACCUSED MAN SUICIDES

Rollie Long, Carlisle county farmer, committed suicide at his home Sunday by shooting himself through the head. Sheriff Rowland has gone to Long's home to arrest him on a warrant charging him with a statutory offense and while the officer was waiting for Long to dress to come to Bardwell he darted into a closet, locked the door and shot himself to death before the sheriff had time to prevent the deed.

CANNOT REBUILD SCHOOL

The state sinking fund commission is not vested with power or authority to rebuild the girls' dormitory at the Kentucky Normal and Training for Colored People, located in Frankfort, that was destroyed by fire last December. The court of appeals, Judge Gus Thomas writing the opinion, so held last Friday in affirming the decision of the Franklin circuit court.

AN UNUSUAL TRIO

(Bourbon News)

Returning from the Paris postoffice at noon Tuesday The News man witnessed a most unusual sight. Near the Standard Oil Filling Station on the corner of Main and Eighth streets stood three colored men, all of them small in size. One had a leg off at the hip, another had one arm off at the shoulder, and the third was blind. The one-armed man was waiting to escort the one-legged man and the sightless man across the street, through the maze of motor traffic, which he finally succeeded in doing.

BEER IS POURED OUT

35,000 Gallons of Wiedemann Brew Destroyed By Government

A crew of workmen under the direction of J. H. Hammons, United States Marshal, poured 35,000 gallons of beer and medlocked every door of the Wiedemann Brewing Co. plant at Newport last Friday.

The beer was poured out after additional arguments were heard by Federal Judge Cochran from attorneys representing the Wiedemann company. The attorneys contended that the beer was made according to government regulations and asserted that it not be disposed of in that manner. Judge Cochran, however, refused to modify his original order that the beer should be emptied from the tanks and the plant be padlocked for one year.

Government officers charged that the brewery had manufactured and sold beer above the legal alcoholic standard, following a recent raid on the plant by prohibition agents.

TAKEN TO LOUISVILLE

Lan Hagan, 50 years old, who confessed to the murder of his fifth wife, Mrs. Mary Rose Mattingly Hagan, 20 years old, whose skeleton was unearthed March 10, two years after her disappearance, was removed from the Nelson county jail to the Jefferson county jail last week. The order was made because of Hagan's physical condition and the fact that the Nelson county jail is insecure. Hagan, in the last stages of tuberculosis, had to be assisted to the automobile.

At New York Saturday, Anatol Josepho, 31, young Russian Socialist, who in his days of hardship invented the automatic camera, to enable the public to photograph itself as simply as it buys its chewing gum and in much the same way, was given a check for one million dollars by the government. The young Russian spent most of his life inventing the machine that delivers a strip of finished photographs in different poses eight minutes after the sitter drops a quarter in a slot.

WARBLER'S ROMANCE

A Mayfield editor has made an announcement that he has for an office mascot a singing mouse that has become so domesticated that he will climb up on the desk close to the editor, sit down on his haunches and sing while he writes. As this is the mating season why not mate this singing mouse to a female? Then the whistling grounding? Out of it might be produced a whatjemayallis that would outwarble that pigeon-throated thrush that Warren Fisher of the Carlisle Mercury, became enraptured with down in Rockcastle county as he was returning from the Haverille press meeting. "The Kipling of the Kentucky Press" is said to be not the only one who can various things either, at or returning from that delightful gathering —Maysville Independent.

Will you walk into my parlor?
Said the grounding to the mouse;
'Tis the prettiest little parlor
Ever fitted for a spouse.
You may sing a little ditty
While I whistle in the brush
And our Kipling—more's the pity—
Thinks he's listning to a thrush.
So we'll while a blissful minute
With our melting melody,
And perhaps, some day sweet linnet,
You my bonnie bride will be.

NEGRO GETS SEVEN YEARS

John Jerry Owen, 21 years old, negro, entered a plea of guilty to detaining a woman and was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years in the Bourbon circuit court last week. Owen was arrested several weeks ago on a charge preferred by three little girls who alleged he stopped them on their way home from school.

SHERIFF'S WIFE ON TRIAL

Mrs. Mattie Walker, wife of Sheriff G. C. Walker, of McCreary county, was placed on trial in the McCreary circuit court Monday on a charge of murder. She is charged with shooting to death Mrs. Stella Caylor, a clerk in the offices of the county clerk, last August. It is declared by the prosecution that jealousy over her husband whom she believed had been too friendly with Mrs. Caylor caused the act.

SELWOOD OF SLEEPY CAT

Closed It. Once more he looked about him. Then, drawing back, he hurled the burning lamp with both hands far across the floor.

It crashed into a thousand pieces. There was a blinding explosion. A burst of flame leaped toward the ceiling. A hundred flaming tongues licked at the gaudy velour hangings and ran like darting powder up the silken shades; they caromed wildly along the burning floor and wrapped their curling arms around overstuffed chairs, fellowed retreated before the destruction. At the door he paused—as if to be sure the ball was doomed. Then, running to his frightened horse, he sprang into the saddle.

Heading for the river, he spurred relentlessly. And not looking back, one man rode that night out of Sleepy Cat with a bad chapter in his life closed behind him.

BABY IS DROWNED IN BRUSHY FORK

Raymond King Finds Body Of Missing Daughter In Stream Near Home

WAS MISSING AN HOUR

A frantic search of more than an hour ended abruptly last Friday afternoon when Raymond King, grief-stricken father removed the drowned body of his baby daughter from the waters of Brushy Fork creek about 100 yards from his home. The little girl, Louise Reynolds King, two years and six months old, had wandered from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond King, who reside in the first house across the bridge on the creek.

When Mr. King, who is employed a the ice plant of Dorsey Bros., went home for dinner, the mother of the child told him she was missing. He received a search which had been in progress for some time, and a few minutes later met a little hand barely lifted above the muddy water. The body was lying on the bank. The body was taken by Mr. King to his home and Dr. O. S. Kash worked for an hour in an attempt to restore life, but life was extinct when she was taken from the creek. A slight abrasion on the forehead was the only bruise on the body.

It is believed she had fallen into the creek near the King home and floated down the stream. The body was near the bank when the water was not more than a foot deep at that place. The creek had been swollen by the rain of Thursday and at the point where she is believed to have fallen into the water was three or four feet deep.

Louise Reynolds, youngest member of the family, was playing with her little sister and brothers a short time before she was missed, having fallen into the creek unobserved by the other children. Besides her parents she is survived by two sisters and two brothers.

With a very fair complexion, light cheeks, flaxen-hair, and an almost perfectly developed body, the little girl was an unusually attractive child and was a favorite in the neighborhood.

Funeral services were held at the late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Lee Burk. Burial took place in the Carlisle cemetery.

Dog Licenses To Set Record Mark

1,417 Licenses Issued So Far In 1927, Which Is 197 More Than Issued Last Year

The year 1927 will probably show the largest number of dog licenses issued in Nicholas county of any year since the law became effective. To date 1,417 licenses have been issued by County Clerk Westfall, which is but nine short of the total number issued for the largest in the history of the county, and 197 more than were issued last year.

The Mercury believes the increase was in large measure due to the fact that names of persons paying dog license were published, as required by law. Publication of the names of dog owners disclosed to neighbors whether persons with one or several dogs were paying license on any of the dogs. Instances have been reported where the owner of several dogs would buy but one license. Announcement that the names and number of dogs licensed would be published discouraged this unfair practice.

It is probable that before the end of the year 1600 licenses will be issued. It has been estimated that not more than fifty per cent of the dogs of the state are licensed, the particularly sheep raisers, should report to county authorities the fact of any person harboring an unlicensed dog.

Sheriff Barton and Deputy Sheriff Amos W. Stamper deserve commendation for the determined drive they have made on delinquent dog owners. About twenty-five dog owners have been brought before Judge Darnall and fined this year.

Dogs raided a flock of sheep on the farm of Willis Liver, prominent Bourbon county farmer, near Clintonville, one night the past week and killed sixty young lambs. Several others were crippled. None of the dogs was killed.

Circuit Clerk Finds Several Hundred In Old Bills

While searching through some records in the vault in his office Tuesday, Circuit Clerk L. S. Hughes found a bundle of papers which proved to be old bank notes issued by the Farming and Commercial Bank of Carlisle, Ky., in the years 1818 and 1819. The money had been filed in litigation in the circuit court in 1843.

The bills were in denominations ranging from 25 cents to five dollars and the bundle contained several thousand dollars. All of the bills were in good state of preservation. The money is now, of course, valueless.

The Farming and Commercial Bank was chartered by the Kentucky legislature in 1818, according to the notes. Among officers names on the bills were L. H. Arnold, J. R. Ward and Theodore Jones, presidents; M. Hopkins and Andrew S. Hughes cashiers.

IMPROVEMENTS ON SQUARE SUGGESTED

Sam K. Veach Recommends Sidewalk Around Court House Yard

TO IMPROVE PARKING

To my mind the most neglected and unsightly and ill-convenient streets in the city of Carlisle are Maple streets, lying immediately on either side of the court house square. The improvement of these two streets is limited now to not more than sixty per cent of what it could be.

I am suggesting to our county officers in the fiscal court the following plan, which to my mind would effectively correct present conditions.

I suggest the iron fence and hitch rack all be removed, the steps to the court house square on these two streets be removed, and concrete steps at least six feet long be placed inside the fence line. Then a concrete pavement six feet wide made on the inside of the curb with curb at water table eight inches high and a water table on the edge of pavement to be laid next to the curb. Iron posts three inches in diameter be placed about inches from the edge of pavement, these posts to extend three feet four inches above the pavement at intervals of ten feet, and surmounted by continuous two and one-half inch gas pipe, leaving open space of eight feet at east and west side entrance to the square. The iron fence should enclose the first class hitching rack.

In this way I believe the unsightly conditions would be entirely removed and the public would have twenty-four hours parking space for horses and buggies and automobiles.

This plan would provide all owners a first class place to leave the horses and go up town on good clean pavement.

The county has its own engineer, road machinery and stone quarry, so that this work could be done at minimum expense.

Come on folks, let's go. Let's go now!

Rural schools which did not gi a holiday during Christmas week will close Friday afternoon, and the remainder of the rural schools will close Friday afternoon, April 15. Graded high schools at Moorefield, Myers, East Union and Barterville will continue a month longer.

The churches included in the rally are Carlisle, Locust Grove, Millersburg, Mt. Olivet, Irvinsville, Ewing, Mayslick, Flemingsburg, Mt. Pisgah and Hopewell.

Woman Attempts To End Her Life

Mrs. Everett Frederick May Recover From Effects Of Bichloride Of Mercury Tablets

Mrs. Everett Frederick, who resides with her husband on the farm of R. L. Norton on the Lower Flat town pike, is seriously ill from the effects of chewing several bichloride of mercury tablets at her home last Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock. No cause for the attempted suicide is known. Dr. B. F. Reynolds, who is attending her, declared she will probably recover, although still in a serious condition.

In the presence of her husband, Mrs. Frederick grabbed a bottle containing about half a dozen of the tablets and had them in her mouth before her husband could stop her. Mr. Frederick quick action in preventing her from swallowing the tablets probably saved her life, as the poison would soon cause death if it reaches the stomach.

Dr. B. F. Reynolds was called and pumped the woman's stomach and administered antidotes. Her mouth and face were badly burned by the poison.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick are the parents of three sons, whose ages range from four to nine years.

Judge Dedman Asked To Run

Attorneys Are Circulating Petition Requesting Popular Jurist To Be Candidate Again

Hanson Peterson and John Sherwood, Cynthiana attorneys, were in Carlisle Tuesday circulating a petition among members of the Carlisle bar, calling upon Judge James C. Dedman to become a candidate for re-election as Circuit Judge of the Eighteenth Judicial District, composed of Harrison, Nicholas, Pendleton and Robertson counties. The petition was signed by all of the members of the Cynthiana bar, and by all Carlisle attorneys to whom it was presented.

The petition, in part, said, "We feel this district is extremely fortunate in having such a distinguished jurist presiding in its court, and in our judgment there is not a judge in all the state more painstaking and more careful of the rights of litigants. We know that all questions coming before you for decision or opinion are given careful consideration.

Judge Dedman, who has been prominently office of this court for the past five years, has not announced whether he will be a candidate for re-election, but will probably be a candidate. He will in all probability be unopposed either in the primary or general election.

Court Sustains Increased Rate

Insurance Companies Permitted To Proceed With Collection Of 12 1-2 Per Cent Increase

A decision which in its effect allowed fire insurance companies of Kentucky to collect a 12 1-2 per cent increase premium rate until further orders from the court was handed down by United States court at Covington last week.

The case was that of the Agricultural Insurance Company, the Potomac Insurance Company and others against State Auditor Shanks, Insurance Commissioner Saufley, and Attorney General Daugherty for the State of Kentucky. Judges Cochran, Moorman, and Denison rendering the ruling.

The decision is in the form of an interlocutory injunction against the state to prevent the carrying out of an order made by Auditor Shanks relating the institution of a suit in the state courts to prevent collection of the increase.

The plaintiff insurance companies immediately furnished $250,000 bond indemnifying the payment of premiums and taxes and students and the return of premiums over and above the rate enforced before the order of the increase in the event upon final determination the increased rate is not allowed by the federal court.

Mrs. Alice Teel qualified in county court Monday as executrix of the estate of the late Frank P. Teel, no bond being required under the terms of the will, which was probated.

CONFESSES TO SHERIFF

Breaking a door lock, a thief entered the garage of W. D. Young over town, late last Thursday night and practically stripped every loose article from a Buick touring car of Nathan Young, and a wheel and tire from a Buick roadster of W. D. Young. The theft was discovered Friday morning.

The two lamps, a spare tire and tire and tire carrier, dashboard plate, speedometer, battery, radiator cap, the seats and other articles were taken from Nathan Young's machine, while the wheel was the only article taken from the roadster. The wheel taken was found a short distance from the garage.

The company with Deputy Sheriff Amos Stamper Nathan Young left Saturday afternoon for Bourbon county with a search warrant for the premises of Carl McClure, who was suspected of the theft. When they arrived at Paris they learned McClure had been seen in a Ford garage a short time before, and enlisting the services of Deputy Sheriff Luther Hinton, went to the garage and searched McClure's car, where, it was said, most of the articles taken had been stolen were found.

A potato sack with a tag bearing the name of Ed Lawrence and containing several boxes of candy, a roll of mineral lasm, several pairs of socks, two shirts and other merchandise was found in McClure's automobile, it is said. The articles were identified by Mr. Lawrence as having been stolen from his store last Thursday night.

McClure was arrested and returned to Carlisle, where he was lodged in jail. It is said an additional charge of robbing the Lawrence store will be placed against him.

McClure, who is 18 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClure. He recently moved with his parents to Bourbon county from a residence in Liberty Heights, near the residence of W. D. Young.

McClure Monday morning admitted both robberies to Sheriff Barton and implicated another young man, who accompanied the officers to the home of the boy named in an effort to find more articles alleged to have been stolen, but nothing was found and the boy had left home.

HENRY FORD HURT

When His Machine Is Crowded Off Road By Another Automobile

In what is believed to have been a deliberate attempt to end the life of Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer was slightly injured at Detroit last week when his automobile was crowded over the road and into a ditch and overturned. Officials of the Ford Motor Company deny that assassination was attempted, but investigation by police is said to have shown the accident was deliberate.

Oil Reserves Are Returned To Navy

President Coolidge Revokes Executive Order Of President Harding Which Was Illegal

President Coolidge has revoked the executive order issued by President Harding on May 21, 1921, which transferred the jurisdiction, secretary of the Interior, negotiated the naval oil reserve leases with Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair, which led to both civil and criminal actions in the federal courts.

The order of revocation was dated March 27 and it was announced at the White House that it was in keeping with the United States Supreme Court decision revoking the contracts and leases made with each party covering the Elk Hills, California reserve.

By this order jurisdiction over all of the reserves, except the celebrated Teapot Dome in Wyoming is left exclusively with the Navy Department. The Wyoming reserve still is in dispute, with Sinclair appealing to the Supreme Court from a U. S. Circuit Court decision revoking the lease.

GIVES PRISONER LIQUOR

Warrant Issued For Berry Wilson, Charging Offense

Charged with giving liquor to a prisoner, a warrant was issued by County Judge Paul D. Darnall last Thursday for Berry Wilson, young man residing near Carlisle, as the result of an alleged affair at the county jail.

Wilson went to the jail and requested Mrs. Will Owings, wife of the jailer, to let him speak to Tom Fewback, who is serving a sentence for having home brew in his possession. Mrs. Owings saw Wilson, it is alleged, hand Fewback a half pint bottle of moonshine whisky. Fewback quickly drank the whisky before Mrs. Owings could obtain possession of it, although she obtained the bottle. In the excitement Wilson made his escape and has not been captured.

Wilson was arrested and fined several days ago after Guy Marshal Sims found him drinking from a bottle of liquor which he said he had found.

BOURBON PREACHER AND WOMAN JAILED

Elopement of Rev. Evans and Mrs. Leroy Craven Halted In Indianapolis

DESERTED CHILDREN

The alleged elopement of Rev. Russell E. Evans, pastor of the Little Rock Christian church, and Mrs. Leroy Craven, wife of the manager of the Little Rock telephone exchange, rumors of which have been current here for several days, ended last Wednesday when Rev. Evans and Mrs. Craven were arrested at Indianapolis on statutory charges, sentenced to ninety days each on the Indiana Penal Farm and fined $25 and costs each, according to the Paris correspondence in Sunday's Courier-Journal. The information was given out by Mr. Craven, it was said.

Rev. Evans quit preaching at his church last Sunday after he had been called before the board of deacons, to whom vare had first comes whispers of the reported conduct of the preacher and the woman, and then open discussion by residents of that section. Then both disappeared.

Mrs. Craven left first, deserting her husband. The preacher left his wife and five year old adopted child. The minister is said to have received a telegram from Mrs. Craven at Cincinnati, asking him to meet her there. He is then said to have told her goodbye, telling her he was going to a town in a northern state, where he had been called to take charge of a congregation. The pair is said to have met in Nashville, where they deserted Mrs. Craven's baby at a farmhouse.

Mr. Craven learned of the baby's whereabouts and immediately went to Rushville, secured the child and returned home with it. He left again, going to Rushville, from which place he followed the pair to Indianapolis, where he caused their arrest. They are said to have been registered in Indianapolis under the name of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Howard.

Rev. Evans is well known in this county. He was born and reared in the Little Rock vicinity. He had preached at the Little Rock church for the past two years and during the time had frequently preached in the Jacksboro Christian church in this county.

FEE SYSTEM FOR TRIALS ILLEGAL

Daugherty Rules Against Judges and Magistrates Paid From Fines

MANY OFFICERS HIT

County Judges, Police Judges, City Judges and Justices of the Peace in Kentucky, who have been allowed fees and part of the fines in their courts, are not entitled to such compensation according to an opinion given last week by Attorney General Frank E. Daugherty, in construing an opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Supreme Court, in the case of Tumey against the State of Ohio recently, held that State courts of inferior jurisdiction were violating the Constitution of the United States when the judges assessed fines and then shared in the fines.

The Attorney General's opinion, in answer to a request from N. Goble Goad, County Attorney of Allen county, held that "our system of fees in the inferior courts of Kentucky comes squarely under the decision of the United States Supreme Court."

"However," the Attorney General said, "this opinion will not apply to jurisdictions where the trial judge receives no part of the fee or fees and does not receive any part of the fine or any fee as compensation."

This ruling hits approximately 600 magistrates, 119 county judges and all city and police judges in the State. Under Kentucky laws these officers share in the fines assessed in their courts. In many instances the greater portion of the compensation of these officials comes from the fines.

All this must be wiped out under the Supreme Court decision. In many counties of the State the county judges have received more money from the fines assessed than from the salaries paid them by the county.

The pay of magistrates for service in the county is fixed by law at $6 a day. In most instances the magistrates made more during the year through the assessment of fines in their courts.

County Judges and magistrates, under the ruling, cannot share in fines they assess against traffic law violators, it was pointed out.

The opinion of the Attorney General was regarded as far reaching; both judges and entire inferior court procedure is built up around the fee system, with the trial officers sharing in the fees and the fines.
