MYERS

Wedding bells will be ringing in Myers by time this week's Mercury reaches its readers.

Last Sunday's heavy rains put our creeks on a rampage seldom excelled in the past. Public travel was cut off for a few hours.

Lacy Barnett is equipping his nice little grocery store room with modern fixtures. They contribute both to convenience and appearance.

Oldest citizens fail to recall a time when rain fall and wet ground prevailed for so long a period of time. Ground has not been thoroughly dry since August, 1926.

Our entire community is a unit in the most profound sympathy for the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper, of Carlisle, in the loss of their daughter. All who knew the unfortunate girl speak of her in terms of highest praise, and sadly lament her sudden departure.

Miss Ella Conway returned from an extended visit to Cincinnati, Latonia, and other points, last week end. She had some important musical dental work while in the city.

Farmers are in splendid humor just now, on account of receiving balance money due them on the 1926 crop of tobacco, handled by the Burley Co-operative Association. Great help indeed, in time of need.

Aunt Elizabeth Stone, widow of the late W. H. Stone, now in her 81st year of age, is not well at this writing. Rheumatism and frequent attacks of her right arm are her most favorable conditions, she battles for life, well.

SALTWELL.

Rev. S. W. Dean preached here Sunday morning as the high water prevented him from going to Mt. Pleasant.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Last Saturday was a Red Letter day in our district. Ladies were cast in the school election, which resulted in a sweeping majority for the re-election of Mrs. Sterley Mitchell for our trustee. While a trustee serves without pay, Mrs. Mitchell has always tried to fulfill every need of the school, and it is very gratifying to know how much the parents appreciate his efforts.

Katherine and Helen Barton and Elizabeth Wilcoxson spent Saturday in Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone Parsons, of Ellisville, have moved here with her father, Mr. Wm. Mitchell.

---its growing

White Rose, Carnation and Seal of Kentucky are now sold in twenty counties in this section of Kentucky. Every sack bears the name of Carlisle, Ky., and it is our aim to make the contents worthy, not only of the trade name, but of the city which is their home.

We know a town in Kentucky made famous by it's Mill products, receiving through them more publicity than any other agency. Why not Carlisle?

Sweet Clover Is Best for Forage

More Valuable for Pasture and Green Manuring Than for Hay Crop.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Chemistry.)

The recent sudden increase in the growing of sweet clover in the western United States has brought many inquiries to federal hay inspectors and to hay dealers regarding the marketing of baled sweet-clover hay. The average of sweet clover available for harvesting this year is the largest ever known, while the heavy plantings that were made this spring will result in a sweet clover being one of the leading forage crops in the country in 1927. Most of this sweet clover will be used for pasture, or for plowing under. Some of it, however, will be cut for hay, and the such grades are considered for the immediate future.

There is very evident lack of market interest in sweet-clover hay is due to the fact that hay from this crop heretofore offered for sale has been of very low quality and of poor condition. Recently and it has come to the United States Department of Agriculture reports that no official standards of grades have been established for sweet-clover hay, and that such grades are contemplated for the immediate future.
