THE VANISHED DAYS

Lay the jest about the jalop in the canopher hole at last;
For the rickrats has dappened, and the olden days are past;
That which makes Milwaukee thirsty does not flow in Tennessee,
And the lid in old Missouri is as tight locked as can be.
Oh, the comic paper colonel and his crunies well may sigh,
F'r the mint is waving gally, but the South is going dry!

By the stillside, on the h'laside, in Kentucky all is still;
For the only damp refreshment must be dipped up from the Hill.
No'th Clina's stately ruffer gives his soda glass a shake,
And discusses local option with the South Cities Gov.
It is useless at the fountain to be winkful of the eye—
For the cocktail glass is dusty, and the South is going dry.

It is, "Water, water everywhere, and not a drop to drink"
For no lodger hear the music of the mellow crystal clink.
When the Colonel and the Major and the Jedge and the Jedge
Meet to have a little nip to give the'r appetites an edge;
For the eggnog now is niggless, and the rye has gone awry,
And the punch bowl holds carnations, and the South is going dry.

All the nightcaps now have tassels and are worn upon the head.
Not the nightcap that were taken when nobody went to bed;
And the ice cream parlor's fragrance is as solemn as in death,
For it hosts no longest cleve tans and evly man can talk a clallelion.
For the fizz glass is a fizzless, and the South is going dry.

Lay the jest about the jalop' brain pan in the canopher hole at last,
For there's but one kind of moon shine, and the olden days are past;
For thy water-wagon rumbles through the Southland on the fly,
And it helps no one to drop off to sleep to the Colonel's lullaby;
For the mint bed makes a posture, and the cocktail is a height-ball;
All still-ation is dissolving, and the South is going dry.

Though she still has grief, women, and her heroine still are fast,
Old Kentucky is running like a sieve,
It is a memory of the past.
The glamour of "straight goods" and the "rectified" speak well—
For what's the use of scrapping with the business gone to hell?
In those lovely tax-lief evenings all the crows are in my high,
Each distiller's a graveyard, for the South,
By Gawd, sir, 's going dry.

ALITTLE TALK ON THRIFT

(By W. S. Straus, President of American Society for Thrift.)

It is an encouraging sign of the times that people more and more are learning that true economy is to make progress—that to be thrifty one must do a great deal more than just save money.

When the work of spreading the gospel of thrift was first taken up by the American Society for Thrift years ago the idea quite generally prevailed that thrift meant simply to put money in a savings bank, and that after a man had begun to do that, he need think no more about matters of personal economics.

But other and better lessons have been learned during the years, and today we find people eager to learn not only how to save money but what to do with it after they have saved it, and how to improve their condition of life generally.

From the great Ruskin has come the lesson that "Economy no more means saving money than it means spending money; it means administration of a business; its stewardship; spending or saving, whether money or time, or anything else, to the best possible advantage."

It is deplorable that false and harmful conceptions of thrift ever were given encouragement by those who meant well but who were unaware of the ill effects of such teachings. Happily, however, the public viewpoint is changing.

Perhaps the most correct spending as well as correct saving is one of far-reaching importance to the whole world because, with the elimination of waste and extravagance are always desirable, the general cutting down of legitimate expenditures to the point where the purchasing power of the country would be adversely affected would most assuredly be the height of thrift.

Ruskin's analysis correctly places as much importance on correct spending as on correct saving. Success and progress are never the results of penurious practices. Those who are truly thrifty keep business on the go because they spend wisely as well as save carefully. The money which comes into their hands does not lie dormant; neither does it go for purposes that are not useful.

Through the careful habits of thousands of thrifty people money is kept flowing through channels that main national progress and development depend.

THE DEATH OF THE FLOWERS

The Melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year,
Of wailing winds, and naked woods and meadows brown and sere.
Heaped in the hollows of the grove, the withered leaves lie dead;
They rustle to the eddying gust, and to the rabbits tread.
The robin and the wren are flown, and from the shrub the jay,
And from the woodpile calls the crow, through all the gloomy day.

The windflower and the violet, they perished long ago,
And the wild rose and the orchids died amid the summer's glow;
But on the hill the golden rod, and the aster in the wood,
And the yellow sunflower by the brook in autumn beauty stood,
Till fell the frost from the clear, cold heaven, as falls the plague on men,
And the brightness of their smile was gone from upland glades and glen.

LOOSE LEAF SALES HERE SAYS STONE

If Pooling Contract is Not Signed by 75 Per Cent By November 15

POOL HAS RAISED PRICE

The probability of tobacco being without a loose leaf market this season, in the event that the necessary 75 per cent is not pooled by November, was one topic of much comment here during the last few weeks. Many growers and business men argue that it will be impossible to make ready the printing rooms for buyers after November 15, or even rooms have not been used for some years and the work of rehabilitating them would take thirty days or more.

Others argue that it is not the intention of the Association to hold sales at Carlisle, in the event of the failure of the pooling to get the required 75 per cent by November 15. In such an event, it is said, the local growers would deliver their crops to Paris or Mt. Sterling, where independent buyers would operate the year.

In order to make a fair presentation of the discussion to the readers of this newspaper, the editor of this paper visited the following leader in the Association's fight to establish a loose leaf market this season. I should like to ask you:

Will the Association operate a loose leaf sales market in Carlisle this year, in the event that the required 75 per cent of growers do not sign the contract?

Further, is it a fact that the printing rooms and equipment may not be put into condition for the use of the buyers after November 15?

I have heard loyal pool men make this statement. To be quite frank, the opinion is frequently expressed here that the "Association has no intention of operating sales floors here whether a sign up is secured or not."

This, in my opinion, which of course may be true, would have the effect of producing an unfavorable state of mind among pool members, and in Carlisle. I have always understood, was at one time the third largest loose leaf market in the state. A deal re-drying plant here last season was a success, and with markets in Paris and Mt. Sterling, is sure to have a bad psychological effect, in my opinion.

All of this, in a manner of speaking, is none of my business, but before discussing the matter editorially — in the news columns of The Mercury, I should like to hear your side of the case.

With best wishes, I am,

Very truly yours,

Warren Fisher

Mr. Stone's reply to the above follows:

September 17, 1927

Warren R. Fisher, Editor
Carlisle Mercury,
Carlisle, Kentucky.

My dear Mr. Fisher:

I am very much obliged to you for your letter of September 15th, and am glad to give you the information you ask for.

Of course, our first aim is to get our 75 per cent signed by 15th of November. If we are successful in doing this, which I believe we will be, we will of course operate over receiving plants and redryer in Carlisle just as we have been doing under the old contract.

If we are not successful in getting the 75 per cent by 15th of November, we will then have our receiving plants in Carlisle as a loose leaf warehouse, selling tobacco for every man who wants to put it just the same as the old loose leaf warehouse always has, and any profits made on this loose leaf warehouse method will go to our present members, who are owners of the plants.

There have been lots of false statements made in connection with what our plan is, and I am very glad indeed to straighten it out

$5.65 PER CAPITA COST

For Operation of Rural Schools During Past Year

Rural school education in Nicholas county cost each white woman and child approximately $5.65 during the fiscal year from July 1, 1926, to June 30, 1927, the annual statement of the treasurer of the Nicholas County Board of Education indicates.

The report, published in this issue, shows a total expenditure of $15,963.83. Of this amount $39,782.20 was collected from local taxation and $4,264 from state funds. This would be a per capita cost from local taxation of $4.02.

These figures are derived at through the last census figures, which give Nicholas a population of 9,894.

Start Drilling at Blue Lick Springs

Efforts Being Made To Re-Locate Vein of Mineral Water Last Several Years Ago

Mr. Bryan, of the firm of Bryan & Grigsby, owners of the Blue Lick Springs property, was in Carlisle Monday and stated that he had made a contract with an expert well driller to start drilling at Blue Lick in the hope of locating the vein of the famous mineral water which was lost several years ago.

The operator who has been drilling at Millersburg has been secured, Mr. Bryan said, and agreed to move his equipment to Blue Licks yesterday.

Operations will begin where the well was sunk several years ago by the late D. C. Cole. The well will be drilled several hundred feet and, it is hoped, Mr. Cole was always of the opinion that the vein could be located if the shaft was sunk further and many others are of the same opinion.

W. F. Clark is Pool Director

Local Man Re-Elected by Delegates Of District at Meeting Held at Brooksville Monday

W. F. Clark, Carlisle business manager and farm owner, was re-elected as director of the Burley Tobacco Growers Association for the Thirteenth district, which was held Monday, Nicholas and Robertson counties, at a meeting of the delegates from the two counties held here Monday afternoon at Brooksville. Mr. Clark was elected without opposition.

Heretofore it has been the policy of the district to elect a director from each county each year, but at the request of the Carlisle and Nicholas delegation of the splendid service given by Mr. Clark he was re-elected.

The meeting was also held here Saturday, about 125 votes were cast, resulting in the election of T. L. Clark, John W. Clay and D. E. Wilson.

Pool Members to Receive Big Sum

Final Payments on Three Crops To Be paid In Next Few Weeks Will Total $18,000.00.

Members of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, Virginia and North Carolina will within the next few weeks receive a total of approximately $18,000,000 and $18,000,000, the sum representing payments on the 1923, 1924 and 1925 crops, according to an estimate recently made, according to information obtained by The Lexington Leader Saturday.

The release of this huge sum will, it is understood, complete payments for the balance due on three crops handled by the Burley Association, the members having been paid in full on the first three years of the six years the pool has been in operation.

By the first of October nearly $7,000,000 will have been paid to pool members on the 1924 crop, the last of which was sold recently. Between $9,000,000 and $11,000,000 it is understood, will be paid out by the association on the 1923 and 1925 crops within the next few weeks, bringing the grand total up to between $16,000,000 to $18,000,000, Mr. Campbell is informed.

INTRODUCES RESOLUTION

The following was the first resolution introduced at the convention of National Indian War Veterans, held at St. Joseph, Mo., on September 14-15. It was introduced by John F. Campbell, of the six years the pool has been in operation. Veteran of Indian Wars in this city and county.

"Resolved: That the comrades of this convention are the best bunch of good old timers, that we, the undersigned, have met in 26 years and that it is our sincere hope that we may be allow to meet at the convention of the N. I. W. V. next year."

The resolution was signed by fifteen Mr. Campbell

"JAILED JAILER" DIES

Boss Whitaker Killed in Automobile Accident Sunday

Foss Whitaker, "Jailed Jailer of Letcher," was instantly killed about two miles from Whitesburg Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which he was a passenger crashed over an embankment. Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Sexton were in the car with Whitaker, Mrs. Sexton driving. They were critically injured and are reported to die.

Whitaker, who had a stormy career featured by his races or public office in his home county, was about 45 years old. He came into state and national prominence about six years ago when he was placed in jail for violation of the prohibition laws while he was serving as jailer. While in prison he conducted a campaign for county judge and was elected.

Fair Catalogues Are Now Ready

Premium List For Big Nicholas County Fair Must Be Had By Calling at This Office

The catalogues for the agricultural fair to be held here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 6, 7 and 8, were completed last week and hundreds of them have been distributed throughout the county. The Mercury still has a number of catalogues which may be had for the asking by calling at this office.

Reports coming in from all sections of the county indicate that the fair is going to be a complete success. Because of the shortage of fruits in the country this year no fruit department will be held. However, exhibits in the garden, field crops and other departments are expected to be much larger than in former years, and this will make up for the shortage in fruits.

The rural schools, it is understood, are making preparations to have their displays even more attractive than in former years, and it is said that every school in the county will have a display.

Circuit Court to Begin Tuesday

117 Cases on Criminal Docket and 137 Cases on Civil Docket For September Term

With an average criminal docket, the September term of the Nicholas circuit court will begin here next Tuesday morning. The September term, usually the lightest of the year, will probably last for only a few days.

On the criminal docket there are 117 cases, 78 of which are against owners of unlicensed dogs. Most of the remainder of the cases are against moged liquor law violators.

There are 32 new civil cases and 125 old civil cases. Of the civil cases, eight are new divorce suits and seven are suits asking for the sale of land.

SEWING CLUB GIRLS WIN AT STATE FAIR

Local Young Women Given Two First Prizes in Junior Club Work

ORGANIZED LAST YEAR

Last fall there was organized in the Carlisle High School a Junior Sewing Club. This club functioned under the direction of the Extension Department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. Some 24 girls were enrolled and two club projects were completed. Club leaders were Mrs. I. J. Ross, Mrs. James Parker and Mrs. E. E. Pfantsiel.

At the close of the school Achievement Day was held, and a number of demonstrations were given by the teams trained for this special work. The entire work of the club was scored and graded by Mrs. Gardner of the University of Kentucky. Awards were made for excellent work, achievement, effort and display and the prizes were donated by the merchants of Carlisle.

The garments receiving the highest score were selected and grouped in both individual and club entries and sent to the State Fair at Louisville last week. These garments were exhibited in competition with the entries of other Junior Clubs of the State, some of which had had this Junior Club work for several years. A splendid record was made by the girls of Carlisle high; four awards were received out of twelve entries. The following is the list of prizes won:

First prize on club entry—$12.50. Three wash dresses, suitable for school, the work of three girls, Edna Hutchison, Geneva Prymus, Lucille Wells.

First prize on individual entry—$5. Blue serge dress suitable for a school girl, Mabel Stidd.

Fourth prize on club entry—$4. Four cups and four covers, the work of four girls, Dorothy Warner, Beulah Wells, Mabel Stidd and Ellen Stewart.

Sixth prize on individual entry—Ribbon—School costume, consisting of underwear, dress and coat, to be worn with it, Mabel Stidd.

The school is justly proud of the splendid showing made by this club in its first year's work. The prize winning garments will be on display during the Nicholas County Agricultural Fair at the Carlisle Public School booth.

All Kentucky Crops Short

September Crop Report Estimates In Tobacco, Corn, Oats And Other Crops

An increase since August 1 of 2½ per cent in probable production of corn and tobacco is the feature of the September crop estimates issued by the U. S. Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates at Louisville last week. Tobacco production in Kentucky showed a decrease from 1926, because of the decreased acreage this year, especially of dairy types. BLUE LICK STRUCK?

Millersburg Citizens Excited Over Prospect

While drilling for water for use of the Millersburg Military Institute at Millersburg last week, drillers struck mineral water believed to be from the same vein which formerly supplied the famous Blue Lick Springs more than 12 miles away, and which ceased to flow several years ago.

The mineral water was struck at a depth of 62 feet. The well was continued 147 feet through solid rock, but no more mineral water was found and the well was withdrawn to the first vein.

Samples of the water were sent to Lexington and Louisville for analysis and it will be known within a few days whether it really is the Blue Licks stream.

The train was having town and all but about three cars had passed the crossing when the pony, beyond Mr. Sosby's car, changed heads, came into the side of a car. Mr. Sosby was thrown out and suffered serious injuries. He was taken to the tomato canning plant and given first aid treatment, after which he was placed aboard the afternoon passenger train for Lexington. Dr. T. P. Scott, local L. & N. surgeon, accompanied Mr. Sosby to Lexington, where he was placed in St. Joseph's hospital.

Dr. Scott returned from Lexington Saturday afternoon. An examination of Mr. Sosby disclosed a fracture of the left collar bone, several broken ribs and possible internal injuries. One or two of the crushed ribs punctured his left lung, Dr. Scott said. Whether the injuries were the result of Mr. Sosby being thrown against the side of the car or to the ground could not be determined. The accident is said to have occurred.

Mr. Sosby was alone in the buggy, enroute to Carlisle. His wife was ordinarily in attendance, and had not been told of the accident. Her son, Stella Sosby, is also critically ill at the Fields' home and the father of eleven children.

Unless pneumonia or other complication develops the injured man has a chance to recover, Dr. Scott said.
