The Girl Who Came Back

By Jack Woodford

CHAPTER I

The girl who had been missing for three years, had returned to her home in Carlisle, Kentucky, on the morning of the 1st of August, 1928. She was a young woman of about twenty years of age, with a fair complexion and a slender figure. She had been missing for three years, and her family had given up hope of seeing her again. Her name was Lillian, and she had been the only child of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith.
