TUXEDO
Egg Mash

The Feed That Doesn't Cost You One Penny

Hundreds of people have good flocks of pullets or hens and are not getting enough eggs for breakfast. They are feeding grain alone, and this kind of feeding will not produce eggs. They are deprived of good fresh eggs for the table and for sale, and are wasting the feed in their efforts.

Hundreds of others who are feeding Tuxedo Egg Mash in connection with grain are reaping results that are profitable over and above the cost of all the feed—hence the addition of Tuxedo Egg Mash does not cost a penny, but converts the wasted grain into baskets of eggs.

Our demonstration flock of 100 Tuxedo pullets are now producing more than 50 eggs a day. One month ago we got two eggs. One month from now we'll get 75. We can help you get the same results, and remember, it "will not cost you a penny."

The old year, with its joys and sorrows, its successes and failures passes into history next Monday night.

Before us lies a clean sheet in the Ledger of 1929. What will be written upon that unsullied page depends very largely upon the individual. For it is trhe that we are architects of our own fortune in many ways.

Tobacco markets throughout the burley district continued to establish records during the past week with the amount of tobacco sold and the average continued over 30 cents per pound. The Rev. William H. Roddy, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin in one of the most attractive styles for the winter wedding season. The dress was made of parchment satin, cleverly combined with gold metal cloth, in the present popular mode of irregularly draped hemlines, all particularly becoming to the bride. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. Miss Marguerite Frye, of Chicago, a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid, was gowned in orchid crepe de chine. She wore an orchid velvet hat with slippers to match, and carried an arm bouquet of roses.

Dr. Thompson Parks Scott, of Cincinnati, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. William H. Roddy, Jr., and Mr. Lawrence H. Dierks, both of Chicago. The chapel was beautifully decorated for the occasion with vases of cream and pink roses. A soprano soloist, with her accompanist, was present in the service.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride and groom receiving with the bridal party, Mrs. Frye and Dr. Scott, and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tredinnick. At six o'clock a wedding dinner was served the guests at the Hotel Roseland on the city's lake front.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott left immediately on a wedding trip to last through the holiday season. They will spend Christmas at the home of Mr. Scott's mother here in Carlisle. In Chicago they will reside at 6046 Kenwood Avenue.
