Reliable Electric Service Aids Kentucky's Progress

Spanning mountains, valleys, forests, farmlands, rivers, creeks and swamps-from end to end of the state—the electric power transmission lines of this company cover 1,600 miles.

These power lines carry electrical energy from several large generating stations to 183 cities, towns and villages, lighting streets, homes, stores

This energy also turns the wheels in more than 2,000 factories, mills, mines and other industrial plants, and operates labor-saving machinery and appliances on hundreds of farms.

Wherever it goes, this flow of electricity increases wealth, encourages industry, speeds progress, provides comforts, reduces drudgery and hardship.

The single aim of the company is to supply excellent service at a fair price. It is enabled to do so by steadily improving operating efficiency and constantly investing more capital in expansion and

SUMMARY

The Combined Bridge Meets the Whole Need. Vehicular Bridge Less Than Half of It.

The future of Maysville and the country from Paris, Ky., to Dayton, D., depends on a north and south railway acrossth e Ohio From Maysville, Ky. to Aderdeen, O.

For the present this concludes our public statements on the matter of a combined railway and vehicular traffic bridge from Mayaville to Aberdeen. We think we have clearly shown that the bridge is essential to the development of this whole section from Parts to Dayton.

We have shown that: We have shown that:

First, the supreme need of this section is a north and south main railroad tupping the Kentucky coal did and giving us a superstanding that the superstanding the superstanding the superstanding the superstanding that the superstanding the superstanding then the construction of 87 inner on the on Daylon.

Second, this north and south mainline would interconnect with fifteen other railroads, the C. & O. and L. & N. in Kentucky and thirteen in 10bi, including Henry Ford's road, the Pennsylvania, Erie, B. & O. and other big lines, necessarily making this north and south mainland one of the important carriers of freight, especially coal, for over it would go much of the Kentucky mainly products direct to Daylon, Detroit and the whole Great Lakes and middle west territory.

Third, the cumulative effect of this combined bridge with its endless auto and truck traffic, plus its railway shipments, would probably soon result in hooking up the Licking Valley and giving new impetus to this whole section, adding values to every dollar's worth of property in it, thus spreading its benefits over all alike.

Fourth, this combined bridge with all it means to the development of this section, is demanded by substantial business men all up and down the line, clear to Lexington on the south and Dayton on the north-men who see its necessity to the future of this section.

Finally, this combined bridge can be built and will begun as soon as authorized by Congress. Any statement to the contrary lacks basis in fact as it does good faith.

nects basis in fact as it does good faith.

The mem back of this enterprise are well known, successful business men, able and determined to carry through this great; public service to completion. They are spending their own money in large sums for the important preliminary work incident in a exclusive control of the service of the ser

If you wish to have a part in thus opening up this great Mays-ville-Aberdeen Gateway, the greatest enterprise in this section in the last fifty years, we welcome your support and co-operation.

Another bill has been introduced in Congress providing for a bridge for vehicular purposes only. Some pro-ponents of that plan suggest that the propose of the plan suggest that course, defeat the whole purpose of providing for a combination bridge, for, it is evident to all, the two pro-positions probably could not be fi-nanced.
