BARTERVILLE

(J. W. Rogers, Correspondent)

"What is there in the vase of life, Hall so delightful as a wife, Where friendship, love, and peace combine, To stamp the marriage bond divine."

Such was the sentiment of Cooper of the poet, and such was the sentiment of Mr. Butler M. Ritchie, a highly respected citizen of this community and a business man, and a member of the firm of J. T. Earlywine & Co., when he led to the marriage altar, Miss Estie Esta Taylor, a lovely lady of many sterling qualities, of Harrison county, Rev. I. S. Pierce, of the M. E. church, pronouncing the marriage rites. Mr. Ritchie had spent some 20 or more years trying to decide whether to marry the second time, while Miss Taylor was spending equally as many years trying to decide if she would ever marry. Mr. Ritchie had been 53 winters, Miss Taylor had seen 45 summers.

The marriage ceremony was impressive, witnessed by a host of friends, and performed in the bride's home, that of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew S. Taylor, of near Renaker, Ky., Thursday afternoon, Nov. 8.

The couple left immediately for Lexington, where his sister, Mrs. G. T. Wagoner, entertained them until next day. On Friday they were entertained by their near friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Halcomb, of Paris, when they returned to the bride's home for the night. On Saturday, they motored to and through Cincinnati and Covington, seeing the sights and hearing the sounds. On Sunday they reached the home near here, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Miller, his sister-in-law, and daughter, who had a bountiful repast in waiting, which was delightfully served by the hostess, aided by Miss Hinnell Dixon, a near friend and neighbor.

These happy people will soon begin housekeeping in a neat little cottage on his home farm, but will move into his more extensive home on a farm recently purchased, March 1. May the pathway of their lives ever be pleasant and their future glorious.

Lost, strayed or stolen, in Nicholas county, between the hours of 6 a. m. and 4 p. m., Tuesday Nov. 6, more than 600 democrats. No reward is offered for their return.

An informal dinner was given little Miss Helen Gayle Earlywine, Saturday Nov. 10, in honor of her 5th birthday. Her little friend guests were: Lois, Bob, Margaret, Fay andKay Kinney, Evalyn Prebark and Pearl Greene.

SECRETARY ISSUES A STATE BOOKLET

A booklet containing the constitution of the state of Kentucky has just been compiled and printed under the supervision of Hon. Harry Lee, secretary of state.

The booklet, dedicated to the citizens of Kentucky, is for educational purposes. The frontispiece gives description of the flag, seal of the Commonwealth, the State Flag, the State flower, the bird, and the State song.

The golden rod, the native red bird and My Old Kentucky Home are the last three, in order named.

The constitution, the ordinance of the delegates in 1891 ordaining it, and amendments to the constitution, register 43 articles. A complete index of contents is given in the back of the book.

MEDICAL EDUCATION IN U. S.

More than 20,000 students were enrolled in the eighty medical colleges in the United States during the session of 1927-28, according to a compilation issued by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

Of this number New York furnished 2,837; Pennsylvania, 1678; Illinois, 1,347, and Ohio, 1,222. These States also have the greatest number of medical colleges.

IMPORTANT FOOT BALL GAME FOR FRIDAY

One of the important football games of this week will be the annual clash between the freshmen teams of the University of Kentucky and Centre College, which will be played in Danville on Friday afternoon, November 16. Aside from the interest that being had in football between these two schools, this game is attracting unusual attention because of the records of the two teams.

The State team has just returned from a successful invasion of Old Tennessee, where they won a hard-fought game from the U. and Vanderbilt freshmen by the score of 7 to 0. Previously the State freshmen had defeated the Georgetown freshmen by a good score.

The Lieutenants of Centre present one of the best freshmen teams that has ever represented that school. They have won three games by decisive scores, having beaten the Wesleyan freshmen 43 to 0, the University of Pittsburgh freshmen 19 to 0, and the Transylvania youngsters 27 to 6. They also played the Sewanee freshmen, one of the strongest freshmen teams in the South, a scoreless tie on a mud-soaked field.

The Kentucky-Centre freshmen game thereby becomes a struggle for the State Championship of the freshmen teams of the State. Indications are sent to the largest crowd that has attended a game in Danville for a long time.

SLAYER OF THREE MUST DIE IN CHAIR

Oscar Pearson, 19, accused of killing three sons of Louisville on October 2, spent the night in the death house in the electric chair January 13. Pearson will be executed at 6:00 a. m. next month penalty.

Governor Fl Fetrson announced the case would be carried to the court of appeals.

The three men killed were Patrolmen Lawrence Maddock, John Kilkenny and Karl D. Brumbach, who were shot three months the night of October 2 when a suspicious car was halted by Kilkenny. Brumbach and Kilkenny were killed almost at once, and Maddock died from fatal wounds four days later.

CHICKENINGS SUNDAY

(Orchard-Hatchet)

Knights are being stirred up in the farm. Reading Herald-Leader: "Mrs. Ida Belle Wetherford, in Kellen county, on the road to be using knives in the fight on the rooster. Mrs. Wetherford's husband and his male subjects are being killed out with knife-like spurs which are brought out of kitchen retirement and tied on the feet of the fighting cocks. Mrs. Wetherford has arrived at the conclusion that the knife-like spurs are not very humane instrument and she has issued an order prohibiting their use on the farm in the future. Mrs. Wetherford is a humane and delightful lady. Every Kentucky knight will feel bad about her decision, thereby losing their self-feed bill, with plenty of fighting and fresh-cooked chicken. But Mrs. Ida Belle is now on the head, more about him, but the knights will have to find some other method in order to visit him. Bleeding is a beautiful sport, but it is cruel."

The city visitor was glad to the farm to see the country life, and to see the country sausage since this and hoof-and-mouth disease have made it necessary to kill all the hogs in the neighborhood. It is worth that the land cost or the hog always brought more than the land would be sandier to clean. In the meantime, the farmer's wife is using more to handle a corn field and meal, or even a piece of

The joy of eating up the hog is one of the greatest pleasures of life. Hogs are removed and the other innards, and the rest cut off and the meat pieces are trimmed and put away for curing and smoking. Then comes the interesting details of rendering lard for lard or for soap, or for both. Some people render it in the kitchen, as recommended by Mrs. Rorer, but the best way is to render it in the yard so that the odors for pork chops and backbone and spare ribs and trimmings of the hams and shoulders, trimming off the sides and belly for bacon and lard and then cooked down.

Some farm folks prefer the "sweet pickle" cure, which is made of salt, three of sugar and three ounces of saltpeter dissolved in two gallons of water. Each piece is rubbed with this mixture, packed down in a barrel, the whole weighted down with boards and stones and the meat covered with water. The dry cure is the practice of most Kentuckians, salt, sugar and saltpeter being rubbed on the meat which is then packed away dry. Some merely pack the meat in salt, without preservatives and rub on a little sugar after the meat is removed from the cure washed and peppered. A week is enough curing for bacon, but hams and shoulders require six weeks. All agree that green hickory makes the best smoke.

If you've never been down on a plantation for a real hog killing, then you have a treat coming to you, especially if there is an old Mammy who knows how to cook up a mess of chitterlings.

POLITICAL PREACHERS

We think the toughest job imaginable is that of the preacher who has permitted his head to lead him into the meshes of politics who will now return to his pulpit and find that about half of the congregation have no respect for him and that the organization or denomination has disappeared. He will have a feeling of something wrong that was good and real for a mess of pottage that will be distasteful for many days. The effrop of prayer, he will find, will not restore that which he has foolishly betrayed. His influence for good has taken flight and he had as well pick up that old slick valise and move to pastures new, pledging himself to never again attempt to trade off his substantial and cherished church principles for the unsteady and unreliable issues of an ever changing politics at the behest of a smooth talking job hunter.

A TOAST IN AUTUMN

This last pale water-lily leaf-of shape Into a cup and fill it at the springs And drink a toast, O season of the grape,
Departing, and of frail designs that drape
This beauty soon to tremble in the rage
Of rudely frail, these secret seeds that
Upon the great breast, to be tucked away.
—Glenn Ward Dresbach, in Poetry.

The Mercury will appreciate it, if those wishing to give us personal and social items of interest, will call Mrs. S. W. Keller, telephone 12.

—Clarence Wasson, of Bourbon county was here Monday.

—Mr. William Howard, of Paris, was here Court day on business.

—Mr. Mark Brasfield continues quite ill at his home on North street.

—William Smith, of Covington, spent the week end with his parents here.

—Mrs. Thomas Alexander and Mrs. W. H. Mann were in Paris Thursday.

—H. H. Barbee and family have moved to a farm in Mercer county from their farm at Muncida, to Judge Hendy Myers and were Friday guests of Mrs. Lucas each.

While visiting friends last week at Hugh Locke, where she formerly lived Mrs. Homer Bunge received a severe fall that her home in Lexington had been totally damaged by fire. No one was in the house at the time of the fire.

Some Nicholas county farmers have started stripping tobacco and with a season so long in the housing it will be interesting to see what the quality will begin in earnest. The crop in this county is said to be one of the best in quality ever produced.

The Nicholas Fiscal court met in regular session Monday morning with all of the members present. Accounts were allowed and ordered paid and other routine business transacted. The court appropriated $50 to the cripples children fund.

The plate glass for the two large windows in the City Store, broken three weeks ago, arrived yesterday and is being installed. The windows were broken out when an automobile brake hammer backed and the car ran down the hill from Locust street and crashed into the window.

The Bell Telephone Company has had a large force of workmen here for the past ten days installing new poles and wires in Carlisle and on the road from town to the Maysville and Lexington pike. The old poles and wires of the Horse Telephone Company are being removed.

Who is game warden in Nicholas county? The Mercury has made frequent inquiries, but has been unable to find anyone who knows whether or not there is a game warden in the county. It is reported that a number of people are taking advantage of the game and fish laws in the county.

The Thanksgiving turkey market will open next week. No price has been quoted for deliveries, although the Blue Grass Producer Company is paying 35 cents per pound this week. It is said the turkey crop in this county this year will be about an average in both quantity and quality.

James F. Caunce administrator of the estate of the late S. W. Caunce offered at public auction last Friday the three-year-old stock, farming implements, etc., of the estate. The bids for the three tracts were rejected but after the sale the home tract, containing 32 acres, was sold privately to W. B. Rule. The personal effects brought fair prices.

A NEW RECORD IN HIGHWAY BUILDING

The United States this year is spending a record sum for highways. This months' total will reach $1-300,000,000.

This is 21 per cent more than last year and 57 per cent more than in 1926, when the former high mark was established.

The movement toward building good roads is a product of this country. The perfection of the automobile, the growth of industry and the social and business necessity of improved transportation all contributed to the result. America in a few brief years has developed the finest highway system in the world, and every year is witnessing still greater progress.

CITY SCHOOL NOTES

(By Floyd Kerns)

Thus school continues; progress is the order of the day. Everybody is busy.

Last Thursday week Dr Willis Concert Company gave an excellent musical program in the high school auditorium. Even though the attendance was small, everyone enjoyed the concert and appreciated the effort of the entertainers who worked under the direction of Mr. Lampton for a small crowd in a large room. Carlisle people like good things and they should help the Senior class by patronizing these Lyceum programs. The program this year is a good one and everyone will enjoy the numbers if they will just come out.

Monday the high school pupils were seen in groups. The feeling of each group was waxing high. The coming election was the topic of discussion and each person was supporting his favorite in so many words.

Tuesday the climax was reached when a popular election was held, sponsored by the Senior class. There were three precincts with officials from Senior class. The precincts were conducted exactly as those in town. The ballots were the same and the secret ballot system was used. The school had almost the exact outcome of the county. Mr. Hoover received 115 votes to Mr. Smith's 108. Mr. Kendall received 114 to Mr. Vinson's 106.

Wednesday afternoon the P. T. A. gave a program in the school. The subject was "Temperance." Each grade took a part in the program and the high school was invited in.

Friday morning prior to the departure of the high ball team a "pep meeting" was held in the chapel. The team was sent to Danville with the assured to have helped from the excellent rooter our boys made—36 to 0. This is the first game we have played this season in four year and it sounds mighty good for our team and coach.

Monday the American Legion boys visited the chapel. The subject of a short program given by the newly organized Glee club. After this the boys gave a talk on "Armistice Day." There was a moment of prayer held at eleven o'clock in honor of the dead who sleep in the trenches.

Carlisle high has entered a new project which if successful will be a help to the school. Under the direction of Mrs. Tillie Feeback a debating team will be organized. The first debate will be with East Union. If the preliminary bouts are successful our team will be sent to represent Carlisle high in the district meet and thence to the state. The topic chosen for the debaters will be on a question of nation wide interest and will be beneficial as an interesting to all.

CHAIN STORE STATISTICS

A Department of Commerce publication, just issued, prints data on the number of chains and of retail chain stores in the United States as prepared by the Chain Store Research bureau. According to this, 867 chains and 64,000 retail chain stores were operating last year, and one-half were stores not with 726 chains and 8,100 stores. Ilinois ranks first in place, with 347 chains and 3,135 stores. In the order of number of chain stores in operation follow drug stores, women's and children's ready-to-wear clothing stores, grocery goods and variety stores and restaurants and tea rooms. Counted by the number of stores, cigar stores hold fifth place. There are no cigar stores in the chains, including them the highest number. Grocery stores average 74.4 stores, drug stores 48.6 stores, and jewelry and optical store chains 33.5 stores.

WHAT CHILDREN SHOULD KNOW

Christopher Columbus was surprised when he found the natives in Haiti playing with balls that were made from the gum of a tree. These balls bounded in a way that excited the interest curiosity of Columbus and his fellow-voyagers.

The natives called their playthings "caoutchouc," which referred to the material that we now call rubber.

In 1493 it seems that the royal court of the Mayas of Southern Mexico and Central America was playing games with the caoutchouc balls.

Caoutchouc was first utilized for erasing pencil markings and it became "rubber" on the end of pencils. This is said to have been discovered by Joseph Priestley, a clergyman and a chemist.

A little more than a 100 years ago the rubber industry had its first small beginnings when a Scotchman named Mackintosh, dissolved rubber in naptha creating the waterproofing trade. Mackintosh is still the name of a certain kind of rubber material.

In 1839, Charles Goodyear, who had been experimenting with rubber dropped some India rubber mixed with sulphur on a hot stove. He found that a small out of it because he accidentally discovered the process of "vulcanization." From that experiment the rubber industry has, grown to great proportions and due to the use of steam resulting from Pullon engines and the top of automobiles on which there was a steaming teapot.

GIVE ME NO LOVER YOUNG WITH LOVE

(Lucia Trent)

Give me no lover young with love.
I would not be
Jeanette Cox was high hearted as queen
Of such doomed ecstasy.

Give me a lover old with grief
Lonely and wise,
Who could lift sadness
From his eyes.

SOLD BY GOVERNMENT

The tiny disks of paper punched from the perforations in postage stamps have an unforseen importance along with the government's policy of economy and are being sold to bidders for silvage as waste, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. They accumulate at the rate of 12,000 pounds a month and have been offered for sale over a period from last September till next June.

A lady in Carlisle, finding just at meal time that she was out of flour, borrowed a little from her neighbor. After dinner she rushed over to the neighbor from whom she had borrowed, and said:

"Where in the world did you get that flour? I have to order a sack and want to get some just like it. It is the best flour I ever saw and made the best biscuits we ever had."

The neighbor replied, "Why, it's

made right here in Carlisle, and do you mean to say that you have never used it? We have used nothing else for the past year, and so long as it continues as good as it has been, we will never use any other kind."

And this is just another little incident showing that there are still housewives in Carlisle who always want the best but have not yet realized that there is a concern right here at home striving to meet that demand, and soliciting just a trial for your approval.

Ask your grocer today for a sack of
