SMITH'S CHALLENGE TO SLANDER AND BIGOTRY

From the Atlanta Journal, Sunday, Sept. 23.

Governor Smith's challenge to the slanders and bigotry of the "righteous" has been met by a response that is as noble as the challenge itself. It is the noblest response that has ever been made by a man in the position of Governor of a great State.

The New York Times and the New York Telegram will carry Smith's "challenge" to the slanders and bigotry of the "righteous" in full. They will also carry the response of the "righteous" in full.

Of the slanders of the "righteous" Governor Smith says: "The slanders and bigotry of the 'righteous' are as noble as the challenge itself. It is the noblest response that has ever been made by a man in the position of Governor of a great State."

Of the response of the "righteous" Governor Smith says: "The response of the 'righteous' is as noble as the challenge itself. It is the noblest response that has ever been made by a man in the position of Governor of a great State."
