COUNTY AGENTS' PAY

(Cont'-er-Journal)

"Keep your county agents," advises the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "and by all means in counties how some of the greatest agricultural development in the South has occurred due to the leadership of these men. Nowhere else in the world have the achievements of the county agricultural agents been more dramatic than in the United States as Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas, where diversification has succeeded one-crop farming.

The 4-H Clubs, organized by county agents in many parts of the country are laying the foundations for a better and more prosperous agriculture. The Memphis Boys' and Girls' Club each champion Jersey 3-year-old butter fat heifer and the Iowa lad who raised the grand champion Hereford steer for the International Exposition at Chicago both are 4-H Club boys. Boy scouting is valuable because through club work that their land can best produce, whether it be livestock or poultry or beef cattle, hogs, sheep or poultry, cotton, corn, tobacco or fruit. And these youngsters are being weaned away from that unfortunate habit of one-crop farming which kept their elders in bondage for so long.

Cropping, of course, does not begin with the graduation of the county agent. The soil first must be right. The University of Kentucky has found that fertilizing in a recent bulletin explains how land can be made to yield better crops through the use of limestone and acid phosphate, how land can be drained and how it can be stopped by terracing. How clovers can bring nitrogen to the soil and enrich land can be converted into profitable pasture. "An agent can do more than earn his salary several times over through his works on soils and clovers," says Dr. Mc. and Mrs. Floyd Barker in a county agent.

SELLING TO PINHOOKERS

(Springfield Sun)

Not that we have a single thing against the pinhooker, as such, but we are beginning to wonder why farmers who grow tobacco persistently sell their crop year after year to a pinhooker instead of marketing the crop themselves and receiving full benefit of every dollar it brings.

We are frankly informed that on most every crop sold this year pinhookers have made a handsome profit, as much as $200 to $400, and more perhaps. We are glad, of course, the men who have taken a chance on investments in tobacco makes money but we question the point in the way of thinking the grower is entitled to every dollar his crop will bring over the sales floor and when he disposes of his holding privately, all profits made by the purchaser represent just that amount out of the pocket of the grower, thereby depriving him of just returns for his labor.

MILLIONAIRES IN U. S.

Millionaires have increased from 7,000 in 1914 to between 20,000 and 40,000 in 1928, Chief Statistician of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, told the American Bankers Association in session at Los Angeles.

THE WEALTH IN TAXES

Statistics pertaining to taxes are always interesting, and there are few people who probably realize the bigness of the amount which is required to operate the various forms of government, sustained by taxation.

Just to run the government this amount is eleven billion dollars annually, or almost one-sixth of the entire annual income of the country. Last year the government cost approximately a dozen times more than it did back in 1860, and the costs over ran the increase in population seven to one.

The cost of running the federal government is showing a decrease annually, but at the same time the cost of local government is increasing. Expenses in states, counties, townships and towns have been more than doubled within a period of a few years. While the average person does not have much control over the cost of the federal expenses, the same is not true of the rest of the taxation. Whenever people tighten up and quit spending for foolish and needless things, then will the cost of government become low.

We should all remember that the tax rates figured by the departments do not cause the high taxes but it is the people themselves who spend and find a place for the money, so that the rate is necessary to create funds sufficient to pay the bills.

A PHILOSOPHER

To take things as they be—
That's my philosophy.
No use to holler, mope or cuss—
Why use a thing when it won't use you.

It rain in pourin' down,
And lightnin's burnin' round,
I ain't a-feelin' well to-day,
But grin that I ain't out in it.

If I got deep in debt—
I don't worry, I just smile,
And owed a man two dollars, Gee!
Why, I'd be glad it wasn't three.

If some one come along
And tried to do me wrong,
Why I should sort of take a whim
To thunk the Lord I wasn't him.

I never seen a night
So black there wasn't light
Somewhere about if I cast care
To strike a match and find out where.
