NOTICES

"ROLLING STONES"

At Myers Station And Moorefield

"The Rolling Stones," juvenile radio and stage artists, will be seen at Myers Station on Tuesday, June 18 and at Moorefield Friday and Saturday, June 21-22.

Of this well known musical organization, a Williamson, W. Va. paper says:

"After scoring two successive hits with Williamson theatregoers the Rolling Stones, juvenile radio and stage artists, will close their stay at the Cinderella theatre tonight with what promises to be even a better program than the two previous performances.

"There is no question as to the ability of these two youthful performers. A boy and his sister, Irene and Harold as they are called. Irene is possessed with stage personality equal to the best actresses that Broadway can offer and makes a real hit with her clever singing. Harold has one of the best voices, for a youngster, that has ever been heard on the local stage and also offers several jodel selections which surpass anything of his kind ever presented on the local stage."

VIRGINIA TOBACCO GRADING ..... ATTRACTS KENTUCKY GROWERS

Grading of tobacco before it is sold on the loose leaf floors at Lynchburg, Va., has proved so satisfactory that many markets are planning to inaugurate a similar service this year, according to the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky. Men in the marketing department at the Station think a similar plan might be helpful to farmers, warehousemen and manufacturers in this state.

The system used on the Virginia markets differs in only one respect from that commonly followed in Kentucky. At the request of the grower, an expert grader examines his tobacco and places an official grade mark on it before it is offered for sale. When the opening bell is made on each basket of tobacco, its grade is announced so that all prospective buyers may hear. If the buyers wish to use the grader's judgment to check their own they may do so; if not, they need pay no attention to the official grader.

According to the marketing specialists at the Experiment Station, the grading service has several advantages over the present system of marketing. First, it is of educational value to the growers in learning them how to grade their tobacco better and in demonstrating which grades are in most active demand. Secondly, price information on graded tobacco is made available when persons market specifications by grades. This is of value to both buyers and raisers in becoming familiar with the markets. In the third place, buyers keen in the rush of sales do not have an opportunity to examine a pile of tobacco before they bid. With the judgment of the grader to substantiate or disprove their hurried observation.

In Virginia the grading plan has met with such approval from buyers, warehousemen and farmers that plans are under way to extend the service to nearly all warehouses in Danville and Lynchburg before the 1929 season opens. Several markets in North Carolina also are considering the service for next fall.

POULTRYMEN KEEP RECORDS

Twenty poultry farmers in Bath county are keeping records in brooding 7,000 chicks. This is the first time that these men have brooded chicks artificially. The purpose of the organization, says County Agent J. Ed Parker, is to educate on the feasibility of the cost of raising chickens until they go into the laying house. The chicks are from blood-tested stock. Four poultry meetings held in the county were attended by 150 farmers.

"CLEAR FIRE AND CLEAN HEARTH"

The passing of the American fireplace was among the most curious of home phenomena. With the advent of stoves, of hot-air furnaces, of steam heaters, the fireplace was disregarded and scattered. Houses had them, bricked them in. New houses were built without them. For about fifty years the fireplace vanished. There was none so poor to do it reverence.

For a long time the entire charm of a fireplace of the past was overlooked and ignored and forgotten, and so it was only natural that this delightful adjunct of antiques, the fireplace, was also neglected and forgotten—although it does seem somewhat strange that its utilitarian value did not prove.

A few years saw the fireplace began to creep in again. People began to realize that the mere fact that it did not heat as well as a stove or a heater was no reason why it should not still be used as an aid and adjunct and as specialized heaters builders are now more putting it in.

There are some fireplaces that are never used, and such fireplaces are really an eyesore and ever. We all know the kind. Fireplaces cluttered and crowded and cramped within fireplaces almost hidden by an accumulation of vases, photographs, clocks, screens and candlesticks—ugly, forsooth, even widespread fans—with not even a chance to make a fire. And always a cold fireplace points to a coldness of heart with a hearth left intentionally cold. And what a contrast to such a fireplace and dismal fireplace and the used fireplace with its andirons and poker and tongs and upon whose mantel stands a clock or candlesticks or vases, or an old piece of porcelain, or something else of real interest.

It is surprising that the purely decorative fireplace has not long since been ordered abolished. A blame fire is a device to be shunned. And always Charles Lamb's clear fire and clean hearth should be the motto of every hearth may make a picture that, painted, may hang proudly in the parlor of any artist who can own beautiful fires by having within it a real fire. Because of the fireplace the charm of the Antique, by Robert and Elizabeth Sharkleton.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Cottage cheese for sandwiches may be as delightful with a little cream and salad dressing or with tomato catsup.

Tasty fillings for sandwiches fit a fine combination issued this spring by the United States Department of Agriculture and containing recipes for fillings and suggestions about egg cookery.

Eggs are a boon in the hot summer days to do much of the necessary cooking in the early morning or early in the day. Have many cold dishes—salad, cold meats and plenty of butter, serving beverages such as fruit drinks and iced tea, and then you can eat on a porch or in the garden.

Fresh tomatoes can be stuffed with almost any kind of cooked vegetables for a stuffed tomato salad. A filling made of chopped meat such as chicken, veal or cold tongue, mixed with mayonnaise dressing and baked dressing is very good. After the tomatoes have been prepared and stuffed, they should be arranged inside with salt, turned upside down to drain and placed in the ice until time to fill and serve them.

TO SOFTEN HARD WATER

Methods of making water soft will depend on whether the hardness is temporary or permanent. Temporary hardness is due chiefly to limestone or magnesium limestone held in solution by carbon dioxide, and can be removed by merely boiling the water; or it can be reduced by adding small quantities of lime and allowing it to settle and the filtering. Permanent hardness, which remains after boiling is due largely to dissolved calcium sulphate or gypsum, and can be removed by adding small quantities of washing-soda solution followed by settling and filtering. In experiments it was found that the added chemicals to water intended for drinking purposes should be in the right proportion, for cleansing purposes, ammonia or borax is considered the best softener.

A $50,000,000 PEST

It costs in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 a year for growers, dairymen, feeders, butchers, and tanners to support the cattle grub, yet this pest can be destroyed. Either the old method of hand squeezing can be used, or the newer methods developed by the United States Department of Agriculture. The department advises the application of Derris as a wash, ointment, or powder, or pyrethrum ointment, fine tobacco powder or nicotine dust, or the use of carbon bisulphide or carbon tetrachloride. A concentrated drive on the cattle grub is necessary to eradicate it from a locality. The pest is becoming more serious, says the department, owing to the spread of a second species of grub, known as the northern, or European.

Filipino Collegians to Entertain Redpath Chautauqua Audiences

THE FILIPINO COLLEGIANS

The Filipino Collegians, who bring their delectable potpourri of etchnic native melodies to the coming Redpath Chautauqua here, are warranted to tempt the musical appetite with new and fascinating rhythms. These five Filipino boys with their gay native instruments with zip and pep, but none the less tuneful, interpreted with appeal and spirit, and a fascia tang that makes it irresistible.

And just to show that it can be done with mando, bass guitar, mandolins, together with piano and violin, they dip into the European classics and achieve such beautiful effects as will not be forgotten for many a day.

The Filipino Collegians can be depended upon to make every audience clamor for more.

WATER FOR THE FARM KITCHEN

There are farm water systems to suit every need and to fit every pocketbook. A $2 pitcher pump fastened to a bracket or shelf at the kitchen sink will draw water from a spring cistern, or well several hundred feet away if the water is not more than 10 to 20 feet below the pump. A force pump, which can be bought for about $5, will permit the use of an upstairs tank with one more screw and washer. The addition of an 84 ranee boiler provides both hot and cold water. Sixty to 70 dollars spent for an automatic electric pumping outfit and pressure tank, with a capacity of 3 or 4 gallons a minute, will bring the satisfactory of hand pumping. This system has a pressure switch that automatically starts the pump when the pressure drops to 20 or 30 pounds the mean, and stops the pump when the pressure reaches 40 or 50 pounds.

CATCHES 19½ POUNDS

Cynthiana Lee Calen:

The largest fish ever known to have been caught in the waters of South Fork of Licking at this point was caught on a trot line by J. M. Lemons and George Hankins Wednesday night. It was a one mile north of here. The fish was a yellow catfish and weighed 19½ pounds.

NICHOLAS DRIVER INJURES CHILDREN

Car Driven By Elva Sosby Hits Two Little Girls In Bourbon, Injuring Them

DRIVER DRUNK CLAIM

Elsie Frederick, 5-years-old, and Lucile Frederick, 8, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick, of Ruddells Mills, were painfully injured, one probably fatally, when they were run down and seriously injured by an automobile driven by Elva Sosby, of Nicholas county, Sunday afternoon. Both little girls sustained fractured skulls and other injuries which may cause their death. They were hit by the car on the Bourbon side of the bridge at Paris, where they were taken after the accident.

It is said that the children were walking down the road to Ruddells Mills Sunday afternoon when they saw the Sosby machine, traveling at a high rate of speed, coming toward them. As they ran from the road according to witnesses the car swerved and struck them. It then plowed into a fence and was wrecked. The occupants of the machine were received unconscious.

Deputy Sheriff Douglas Thomas, Jailer Henry Bowling and Harry Thomas, Bourbon county officials, found the four men James Sosby, his son, Elva Sosby, and two friends in the machine in a ditch on the Nicholas county side of the bridge. Sosby and Hay were said to be drunk. A search of the car is said to have resulted in the discovery of five quarts of whisky, and the four men were placed under arrest and taken to Paris, where all but Hay were locked up in the Bourbon county jail. They are charged with operating a motor car while under the influence of liquor. Hay, who is said to have been the driver of the car and to have had his father-in-law, was not known to have been on the scene when Mrs. James Sosby and Veach Taylor were said to have been on the road when the accident occurred.

Feeling is said to have been high against the men in the Ruddells Mills vicinity.

PRESCRIPTIONS MAY BE DISPENSED BY AGENT FOR AGENTS

Physicians who fraudulently issue whisky prescriptions can be prosecuted by the government, it was learned by a local sale if the prescription is filled. Judge A. M. J. Cochran stated today in an instruction to the grand jury in case of the Commonwealth vs. Alexander of Bourbon county charged with operating a distillery. However, the defendant in this case was not prosecuted, since government agents seized the prescriptions alleged to have been issued by him before they had been filled. Judge Cochran stated that if Dr. Judge's prescriptions were filled, the less the prescriptions were filled, the transaction was not completed and the defendant could not be prosecuted, but that should be prosecuted under such circumstances. The grand jury will probably not indict on this charge, however, unless the government intends to contradict Judge Cochran's instructions.

BOURBON FARMERS IN BIG CROP BENEFIT

Following a report by R. P. Walling, Bourbon County Agricultural Agent, that the insect, the chinch bug, considerable damage to growing crops in the vicinity of Shawhan, is the principal pest of grain, which caused a heavy damage in the county in 1922, farmers in all parts of the country are preparing to combat the pest.

Having found a large field of rye, destroyed thousands of tobacco plants and damaged corn fields so that in several places re-planting will be necessary, the army of insects is spreading to other fields.

Merchants in Paris have sold their entire stocks of spraying apparatus, and a small army of farmers and hired help began an offensive against the pest with the first appearance of the rapidly increasing pests. A solution of one and a half pounds of arsenate of lead dissolved in fifty gallons of water is being used as a spray, and is said to be most effective.

TWO KILLED AS MOTOR LEAVES ROAD IN WOODFORD

W. H. Phipps and his daughter, Mrs. Effie Turner, both of Versailles, Ky., were killed four miles from Versailles on the Frankfort pike Monday afternoon when their automobile, running at a high rate of speed, turned completely over the air and rolled 75 yards down the middle of the pike, hurling them to death.

The accident is believed to have occurred when Phipps, who was driving, turned but to pass another car.

A pint bottle half full of moonshine whisky was found near the wrecked machine, and a suit case found in the wreckage contained half a gallon of whisky, according to reports. More whisky, according to reports. More than $100 in money was found on the bodies of the victims, who were the only occupants of the car.

THREE MEN HELD IN THEFT OF CAR

Elmer Hopkins, Wilson Thompson And Howe Barlee Held Under Bonds Of $1500 And $500 On Charge

Elmer Hopkins, Wilson Thompson and Howe Barlee, charged with the theft of an automobile from Miss Laura Wasson, here on the night of June 4, were held to the grand jury at their examining trial before County Judge Paul D. Darnall Saturday morning. The bonds of Hopkins and Thompson were fixed at $1,500, while Barlee's bond was fixed at $500. All were unable to give bond and were returned to jail to await the action of the grand jury at the September term of the Nicholas circuit court.

Charles McMahan, young Pendleton county farmer, identified Hopkins and Thompson as two of the three men who passed through Cynthiana on the night of June 4. He was unable to identify the other man.

Miss Wasson after it had struck an automobile on the night of June 8
