A RATTLER'S JAW

The rattlesnake's poison equipment, however, is a highly interesting example of nature's ingenuity, and a knowledge of the construction is valuable to persons who in the course of their travels might encounter these venomous reptiles. For this reason, the Field Museum of Natural History has placed on view a life-size model of a rattler's head with its mouth wide open, showing all the defensive weapons of this poisonous creature. RED SQUILL BEST POISON FOR RATS, SAYS SPECIALIST

Nothing good can be said of rats. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that on the average every rat in the United States does damage amounting to fully $2 a year, and that there are at least as many rats as human beings in this country, altogether too many rats keeping us in an unnatural proximity. Their economic wastefulness requires vigorous measures for their control.

In addition to the physical damage done by destroying food and property, the Bureau of Biological Survey points out that they are a serious menace to the health of the Nation. They carry bubonic plague, typhus, and to carry bubonic plague and other diseases, either directly or by means of the fleas that infest them.

It is not easy to kill rats. They breed rapidly, are cunning and they are careful and cautious. If they smell poison they will not touch it. Poison is not many tempting bits of food certainly are sufficient to set for rats sometimes have killed other animals or children. Phosphorus is a menace to life and to farm buildings or field grasses. Arsenic and strychnine are dangerous to human or other animals. Thallium is particularly dangerous and for that reason its supply is limited.

Red squill powder, in the opinion of the Biological Survey, is at present the best poison for rats. It is satisfactory to put poisons now known. Cats, dogs and other animals usually refuse to touch it. Experiments have shown its timeliness and irritation of the throat. The bulb of small crystals of cancer oxalate. Rats pay no attention to this feature. It poisons rats, but chickens can eat it without harm. It is a powder, costing only a few cents per pound. The feed the rats ordinarily favor.

KENTUCKY PROPERTY WORTH THREE BILLION

The assessed value of taxable property in Kentucky in 1928 is held at approximately $3,000,000,000 in a report to the state tax commission, which is submitted to Gov. Flem D Sampson by Ruffe Keown. State income and examiner.

Passenger automobiles licensed in the state during the year 1928 totaled 347,007, the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928. 293,651 were licensed. The equipment of the year 1929, another report submitted to the tax commission by the Division of the Automobile Department, reveals. The 1928 assessment of $2,985,685,493.00. Gross income on interest of $750,097,406 over the 1923 assessment. of $2,209,588,087. Gain.

Taxes paid in 1928 were more than double those paid in 1923, the report shows. The figures give $6,396,624.95 as the 1923 taxes paid, and $13,123,644.72 as the 1928 taxes. The increase is attributed largely to the 5-cent gasoline tax. In 1923 when a 1-cent tax was in effect, the taxes totaled only $1,186,644 as compared to the $5,743,244 in 1928.

MRS. WESTFALL IS DECLARED NOMINEE

Committee Names Widow Of Clerk To Fill Vacancy By Unanimous Vote

STAMPER LEADS DRIVE

Mrs. Bertha L. Westfall was unanimously chosen by the Democratic county committee to nominate for County Clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, John Westfall, at the regular meeting of the committee last Friday afternoon in the court house.

The meeting of the committee was harmonious throughout. Practically all the eighteen members of the committee were present in person, and one was represented by proxy.

W. E. Chrisman, committeeman from Diamond Springs, offered the first resolution and moved its adoption, the motion being seconded by R. L. Gillespie and carried unanimously.

"Resolved, That the Democratic Committee of Nicholas county declare and name the nominee for the office of the Nicholas County Court to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of John A. Westfall, the late lamented."

"Be it Further Resolved, That Mrs. Bertha L. Westfall be and is hereby the nominee for Clerk of the Nicholas County Court, and that said committee be directed to be placed upon the ballots for the regular election to be held in November, 1929."

Upon motion of R. L. Gillespie, the chairman appointed Mrs. O. C. Brumley, Henry Fishing and H. L. Gillespie as a committee to notify Mrs. Westfall of the nomination.

The selection of Mrs. Westfall will meet with the hearty approval of the Democrats of the county. She has served as Deputy Clerk under her husband for the past eight years and during the past year has been in practical charge of the office because of the illness of her husband. She is capable, efficient and courteous and will make an efficient clerk.

The various Democratic nominees had been invited to attend the meeting in the call sent out by the chairman, I. B. Ross, and all were present. Upon motion of Foser V. Cox, Amos W. Stamper, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff in the August primary, was elected unanimously as campaign chairman for the November election. Mr. Stamper accepted the appointment and promised to lead his best efforts to bringing out the Democratic vote and putting Nicholas county in the Democratic column by a heavy majority in November.

George C. Myers was named secretary of the campaign committee.

The Eastern District Warehousing Corporation will offer for sale at public auction on September 19, all of the warehouse property in Carlisle, according to an advertisement published elsewhere in this issue.

The property consists of three large warehouses, known as the Growers, on East Main street, the Nicholas, on Pike street No. 2 on Market street, and the building adjoining Farmers No. 1 on Pike street. The entire equipment of the redryer will not be offered. The sale is being held by the Masonic order and is also included in the property to be sold.

For several months business men and farmers have been urging and have urged that the property be sold here in order that a loose leaf warehouse might be built. The sale is scheduled for next Thursday is a result of the efforts of the Masonic order to have the sale established here.

The sale has been without a tobacco market since the Burley Association ceased to operate its warehouse.

This spring the Eastern District Warehousing Corporation leased the warehouse on East Main street and it was bid to $11,100, the bid was refused.

ONE-THIRTIETH OF STATE REVENUE FOR AUTOMOBILES

Charging that behind a demand for "higher and equitable taxes" is concealed a "pussy-footing attempt to redistrict and gerrymander the boundaries of the senatorial and congressional districts of the state-wide campaign to elect a Democratic governor in 1931, Senator Ray that "the Democratic party is now lazy and willing to meet the power more than half way on both propositions."

Luxury taxes are without limit and the state debt increased to more than two million dollars during the two years of Governor Sampson, he charged, and declared his administration to be the most wasteful in the history of the state.

"It will astound the people of Kentucky to know that a number of state owned and operated automobiles, outside the governor's office, are now estimated at 1,300 all of them expensive cars and new models, he said in his address.

A statement that the state's revenue is spent in buying and making drunken and disorderly citizens and employes who have no legal right to them, he declared that the Sampson forces had tried to keep this concealed by having employes purchase private licenses in their home counties.

While at work at his home but paid

Rev. E. B. Bourland, who has been pastor of the Lancaster Christian church for about ten years, announced to the congregation Sunday morning that he had received a flattering call to the pastorate of the First Christian church at Flemingsburg, but had not fully decided to accept it.

Rev. Bourland is recognized as one of the leading preachers of this denomination in Kentucky, and should he decide to leave Lancaster, the local church would lose one of its ablest ministers. Since moving here he and his estimable wife have made a host of personal friends, all of whom would regret to see them leave and hope that he will decline the call.

FUNERAL HELD FOR JOHN A. WESTFALL

Large Crowd Attends Funeral Of County Clerk In Carlisle Cemetery Friday Afternoon

One of the largest crowds ever gathered for the Carlisle cemetery, attended the funeral of John A. Westfall Friday afternoon. Rev. B. O. Beck, pastor of the Shelbyville Methodist church and former pastor of the Carlisle Methodist church, conducted the services at the grave, after which the Masonic funeral services were given. Members of Nicholas Post No. 7, American Legion, were pall bearers and an escort of honor. As the body was lowered into the grave, the crowd gathered around the grave and the sounding of taps concluded the funeral services.

The great audience and the many beautiful floral gifts attested the love and esteem in which John Westfall was held by the hearts of the citizens of Nicholas county, whom he had served so faithfully for sixteen years.

Business was practically suspended in Carlisle during the hour of the funeral services.

For Tax Commissioner

JIM WILL SHARP

and elected as Tax Commissioner of Nicholas county, defeating a large field of candidates. He was again nominated and elected in 1926, and in the August primary was nominated for a third term, assuring his continuance in this office for four more years as he has no Republican opposition in the November election.
