Don't Rock the Boat

From a letter by Otto H. Kahn, widely known financier, on "Some Aspects of the Depression."

"The two very worst counsellors in any situation are greed and fear. Too many of us, in the spring and summer of 1929, permitted ourselves to be swayed by the former. Too many of us, now, are being impelled by the latter. The sooner we stop talking one another into a blue funk, spreading the contagion of exaggerated apprehensions, and thereby undermining confidence and laming enterprise, the sooner we shall pass out of the shadow of the present emergency."

"That does not mean inaugurating a sunshine movement or indulging in the futile pastime of whistling to keep up courage. Neither does it mean shutting our eyes to the facts or beguiling ourselves, or permitting others to beguile us, with illusions or delusions. It means simply preserving our sense of proportion and maintaining steadiness of nerve as becomes a great people."

Are "Clean-Up" Days Following Our Great August Sale.

Following our great August Clearing Sale, one of the best sales we ever have had, despite the "hard times," we find on our tables much excellent merchandise, many odds and ends and remnants that we intend to sacrifice quickly for cash, rather than put these goods back on our shelves. True economy lies in getting the most for your dollar and there is no doubt about it, folks, these are real values and just about the biggest dollar's worth ever offered in Carlisle. We haven't the space for a lot of prices this week, but you may judge from these we are giving you below just what you may expect in savings on seasonable merchandise. Rapping "The World's Greatest Newspaper"

(Glasgow Times)

The Chicago Tribune, bitter anti-south organ and bane of Chicago belle the Mason and Dixon line because of trees were hanged by mob in northern city of Marion, Indiana, not so long ago, and that Marion isn't great distance from Chicago, home of the late Jake Lingle, star reporter of The Great Tribune, and buddy of Mr. Capone, one of Chicago's most famous citizens.

A Pittsburgh blacksmith has found a novel use for radio! It keeps the horses quiet while he works with a new tune.

A robin has made its nest in the open mouth of a lion's statue in a Reading (England) garden.

SOMEWHERE IN NICHOLAS

(J. W. Rogers)

Some facts we know as the times come and go. That all social and business affairs, these times, are problems. That friendship begins with credit and ends with collection. That often many folks who are out for a good time, are "all in"—also a long time. That I could pay you if you would pay Smith so he could pay me.

The Kentucky Sunday School Association which stands for the interest of all Sunday School workers throughout the State, is second to no other state in its work. Nicholas county is second to no other county in the State in the work, and the Blue Licks Sunday School, second to no other school in the county in the work.

While Nic Nicholas county is remembered as a theater of famous actions of Daniel Boone and his devoted followers, it should also be remembered as a theater of the works of Joel T. Hart, famous "Poet-Sculptor." Much of his stone masonry still stands in this county, as well as in some adjoining counties. Chimneys built by him, are still intact, where the Courtland Levy farm residence was recently destroyed by fire, near Paris. His poems are still published and masterpieces of his fine art, statue work is still preserved in Clark and Fayette counties. He has been called "the greatest of sculptors, living or dead."

To Dr. A. H. Durham and others interested, we beg to say that there is little more we can add concerning the Battle of Brandywine, from our old scrap-book. The report of two weeks ago, covered about all we found. However, it may be interesting to state that the scrap-book article was entitled "A Stirring Sermon and Prayer of Revolutionary Times." The old book, yellow with age, was not a real scrap-book; but a kind of large "Day book" in which a four-mill account was also kept, the mill operating on the Guyandot river, now West Virginia, near Huntington, by our grandfather, James Rogers, after returning from the war of 1812, where he was wounded in the famous battle of New Orleans. History teaches that General Howe had so often been foiled by General Washington's manoeuvers, that in September, 1777 he decided to proceed by boat to the head of the Chesapeake Bay, with 17,000 soldiers and immediately attack Philadelphia, the Continental capital. General Washington moved to Brandywine creek, in southern Pennsylvania, with less than half as many soldiers. On the night of Sept. 10, the famous service was held, and on the morrow, the famous battle took place, but owing to superior numbers and out-flank of the enemy, at Long Island, the American army was forced to retreat with a loss of 1000 men. American people like to think that General Washington, was not only prayed for, in "stirring Revolutionary times," but he himself, often prayed for the success of the American armies.
