Kentucky Master Farmer Favors ARMOUR'S

Mr. John E. Ramey, recently distinguished by designation as one of the ten Master Farmers in Kentucky, and claimed as a large land owner by both Nicholas and Bath, used another brand of Fertilizer last year and has expressed to us his complete disappointment at the results obtained. He had been using Armour's for several years, always with good results, and has placed his order for this popular brand again this year. Mr. Ramey is an ardent believer in the use of a complete fertilizer as a plant food and his preference for Armour's reflects, in a way, the good judgment which is required of a Master Farmer.

IMPORTANT BILLS COME UP THIS WEEK

Cumberland Falls, Mammoth Cave And Ripper Bills May Be Settled Soon

TAX REDUCTION ASKED

By WILLIAM HENDERSON
The Mercury's Frankfort Bureau.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 19—Ripper legislation aimed at the patronage power of Gov. Flem D. Sampson, hatches over Cumberland Falls, Mammoth Cave and reduction of automobile license tags as a closed door in the face of ordinary legislative advancement, headed the program in both branches of the General Assembly this week.

To eliminate politics from the General Assembly has worked during the session, which is more than half over, has caused much alarm. More than 800 bills have been thrown into the hoppers of the upper and lower houses, and but little half a score of bills have reached the Governor's desk.

The Governor already has vetoed one of the measures, that relating to the office of Pardon Commissioner. This was a bill to create a legislative chambers the problem of passing on the Governor's pardoning vote. There seems to be little doubt that the bill, passed by both houses of the Senate and the House will have sufficient strength to override the Governor's veto on that measure.

But that is only the starting point of overriding Governor Sampson's vetoes. There is on the docket hundreds of the proponents of such measures as the Cumberland Falls and Mammoth Cave measure and the ripper bills that Governor Sampson will have his veto axe on all of these measures that reach his desk.

Thus a repetition of the same float fights will have to be overcome by the branches Pile-driving methods for the purpose of passing the favorable ripper measures have been adopted by both anti-administration and administration legislators.

The Economy Commission "ripper" bill probably has caused more trouble than any other measure in the session. In fact, borrowing the words from both advocates and opponents of the bill, "it has become a legislative pest."

This bill was passed by the House on Monday by a vote of 53 to 42.

The Cumberland Falls measure which has attracted as much state-wide attention as any other measure, failed before this General Assembly, came up as a special order of business Tuesday. By a vote of 52 to 1 a bill to grant the State Park Commission the power of eminent domain in condemning lands for park purposes was passed. Senator du Pont's offer was accepted to buy 1,000 acres of land in Carlisle, on at 2:30 p. m., a house and lot at Moorefield.

The house contains four rooms, with a large garden.

The champion speller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Myers. He is 11 years old and a student in the sixth grade. He is the first boy to represent the county, girls having won in previous years.

Ruth Holland, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Holland, and a student in the eighth grade, was the second best speller. This is the second consecutive year Ruth has been second in the spelling bee.

Mrs. Jackson Bryan, teacher of the Cane Run school and Miss Stella Watson is teacher of the Mills Creek school received a box of stationery, donated by the Herald-Leader, for their work.

A large audience attended the spelling bee. Those present were: City Superintendent, presided and Mrs. Robert Harper pronounced the words.

Must Secure Homes For Players Or Lose Basket Ball Tournament

The forthcoming 34th district basket ball tournament, which comes to Carlisle March 6, 7, and 8, promises to be a big success, from the standpoint of visitors attending, in point of interest to the game played, in the enthusiasm and size of the crowds attending, and in the amount of money to be cleared. The tournament is a first thing for the school and town, but the value of the event to the city of Carlisle, and its business men, is the biggest asset to be gained by Carlisle, if not the best to be held this year in this district.

Such sterling boys' teams as Williamstown, Mt. Sterling, Lexington Rose Devlin, University High, Pleadome, Cane Run, Russell Cave, North Middletown, Little Rock, Paris, M. M. I., Nicholasville, Pleadome, Paris, and Lexington will meet to decide the district championship.

Twenty teams will compete. Eighteen games will be necessary to decide the winner. This will mean three games at each session beginning Thursday night, except the three of Saturday, when two games each session will be played.

Few people realize, perhaps, what a gathering like this means to a community and a school. Hundreds of followers, in addition to some 120 players of the various teams, will be here. All this cannot but mean much to Carlisle in a business way. The school, the business interests and public spirited citizens of other communities will be given the right of general benefits to a community of a tournament such as this and they are assigned by the votes of member schools, after the keenest competition.

The greatest problem connected with the holding of the district tournament is the securing of homes in which competing players may stay. Some people take the attitude that the tournament is a fine thing for school and town, but refuse to do their part—in other words, "Let George do it." Others readily find excuses of various kinds.

The 34th district tournament cannot be held here unless all citizens do their part. If homes for the players cannot be found, Carlisle will have to let another town and school have it. Surely this will not have to be done. A committee seeking homes is now making its canvas. Many have responded nobly, others have not. Surely no public spirited citizen, one genuinely interested in Carlisle and the public schools, who has the room, the means and no illness in the household and a school. Hundreds of followers, in addition to some 120 players of the various teams, will be

CHECKS STOLEN HERE

With the arrest of George McCarty, 17 years old, of Carlisle, at Lexington Tuesday afternoon, it is believed the mystery of the theft of fifty-two blank checks from the Carlisle depot of the Procter-Bauer Company last fall has been solved.

McCarty was arrested by Detectives Marshall Jelley and Claude Embry and Patrolman William Ketron on charges of forgery after he had attempted to pass checks of the Procter-Bauer Company on Lexington merchants. When arrested four of the stolen checks were found in his possession. Two of them were filled out for $14.71 and the other two were blank.

The grand jury adjourned Tuesday at noon and submitted its report to Judge James C. Dedman. The grand jury was in session five days, examined 56 witnesses and returned 11 indictments, according to the report. The jury went on a thorough tour of inspection and both found to be in good condition and well kept, the report said. The grand jury declared it had not returned any indictments against owners of dogs who are delinquent in the payment of licenses, and urged the grand jury at the May term to investigate failure to secure licenses.

Estle Morris, charged with driving an automobile at night without lights, was tried before a jury Tuesday morning. He was found guilty and given a fine of $10 and costs.

Bright-Colored Wraps Protect And Please The Young Children

Bright-colored clothing is a protection to little children, as well as a source of pleasure to them, the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture points out in a recent publication on play suits. The bureau recommends making these garments in vivid colors, and suggests that the same may be applied to their coats or other outer garments because of traffic dangers. Of course it is desirable to keep all clothes out of the streets as much as possible, but in large cities there is often no other open-air place for them to play. In any locality it is at times necessary for them to cross streets where automobiles are numerous, and it is then that they are endangered by the inconspicuous colors usually worn.

Motorists often fail to see children of neutral shades of gray, tan, brown, navy blue, and black because these colors blend in with the background; whereas a coat of red orange, bright blue, or green would draw attention to the child in time to prevent accidents.

The American Automobile Association in Washington, D. C., has recently taken a significant step in this direction by furnishing 2,000 yellow rubber rain capes and hats to the schoolboy traffic aids of the Capital, and is encouraging the idea in its affiliated clubs.

The same principle has long been in use in children's bathing suits. For safety's sake let the child delight in red. The initial capital stock was $2,000,000, of which the first installment has subscribed. By the city of Louisville, being followed by various other municipalities in both Southern Kentucky and Tennessee. The present capital stock is $127,000.00.

Construction of the L. & N. began with a 135 mile line from Louisville to Nashville which was opened for traffic on November 1, 1850. It has grown steadily until today the L. & N. operates with its owned and controlled properties over 4000 miles of road serving 14 states of the central south.
