SMALL, SWEET SOUNDS

If winter is the season of large sounds, it is also the season of wide silence when the slightest of stirrings can be heard . . . the smothered tinkle-tumble of water running under, thin ice; the to-tic-tok-tink of the first snowflakes hitting the brown leaves on a fence; then the fine sharp scratch of a curled and toothed beech leaf skating before a noiseless wind over the crusty snow

It is worth saying a winter, just to meet a chickadee in the empty woods and hear his call—a little pinpoint of live sound, an undaunted, unhushed voice interrupting the solid days at its still such days will come.

To call the squirrel and the bee from out their winter home.

And then the sound in the first rain on the shingles—the first February rain after a long frozen period! How it shatters the shingles with spring—spring—spring!—Dallas Lore Sharp, in "Winter."

THE CABOOSE REJOICES

Hans' Harper Harris'
After years of hoping
I have found peace.
And all that I have yearned for is now mine.
After the rhythm of re-rolling wheels
With never-ceasing regrets and lengths apart.
Over and over and over again.
Monotonous, impermeable, monotonous.
Of rushing, roaring wheels and wheels
Over and over and over again
Until I have worn a groove an alley
After years of ground and noise.
Of rushing roaring wheels and nothing wheeles
Blindly blindly through snow storms and rain.
Over and over and over again.
I am resting beside a quiet stream.

There was never anything lovely that I took from the engine
Save the little stream from the engine
I have watched and I have hugged them.
The trees with slim bodies and cool green leaves.
I have watched away from me.
Or else in the autumn they threw
Their leaves at me carelessly.
On the wind as I went by;
Now I see one holds a green parasol over me
And holds flew away from me;
Now they nest in my tree and sing to me.
A morning-glory vine clambers over my roof.
Like a girl's blue-flowered scarf thrown carelessly over one shoulder
In the old days there were miles of it blooming beside the tracks.
A whole world of rippling gold.
But never one flower for me;
Now I have a window box where I tend them.

A man built me some steps
And painted me white instead of the dirty red.
A woman in a pink dress sweeps my floors.
I have white curtains at my windows,
And a smooth white bed and a rocking-chair.
Four blue candles hang on little brass screws
And there is a painted jar for cookies on my shelf.
And a green kitten sleeps on a mat at my door
And I have a baby!
His little blue rompers dance on a line
While he builds a block house in the middle of my floor.

At night my lamp is lighted,
The woman in the pink dress rocks the baby to sleep
Humming a little tune.
And then reads a paper
And when he opens my stove door to add my fire
I catch a few bright sparks from their eyes
And draw them up my flue to make new stars in the sky.

MAKING WHITEWASH

The easiest way to make whitewash is simply to add water to hydrated lime that has been well protected from the air. However, hydrated lime is not available. Fresh quicklime may be slaked with clean water by the following process. Use a clean wooden pail, keg or barrel and add enough water a little at a time. Stirring may be hastened by breaking up some of the lumps or by adding a little hot water. When slaking is well started add more water to replace that lost by evaporation. Harrington's Whitewashing Lacquer. Little Hickman, Wilmore, Kirkville, Berea, City. Headersville and Lexington.

PROGRAM

Tonight, Thursday, comes Warner Baxter in "BEHIND THAT CURTAIN," a picture of Oriental Intrigue and adventure. Be sure and see it.

Friday—Anita Page and Charles King in "THE BROADWAY MELODY." This is one of the big pictures of the season. Don't let it go by without seeing it.

Saturday—Bob Steel in "THE AMAZING VAGABOND." Full of action, romance in this amazing story of a thrill-crazed youngster. Also a comedy. Come and see.

Monday—Bebe Daniels in "HOT NEWS." This sure is a good comedy-drama, based on a newspaper. Just the press in it full of everything that it takes to make a good action story. "Don't go wrong." Come and see it.

LYRIC THEATRE

E. O. Flora qualified in county court Tuesday as administrator of the estate of A. J. Duncan and executed bond of $5,000.

J. T. Jackson has sold his residence on Walnut street to Otis Sugg at a price of approximately $1,000. Possession has been given.

The Drug Store Cowboys were scheduled for a game with a Millersburg team here Wednesday night and Thursday night will go to Cynthiana for a game with the Cynthiana Merchants.

The heirs of the late J. W. Terrell will sell at public auction, a tract of farm of 96 acres on the Concord pike, two miles from Carlisle, to Jesse Alexander, James Alexander and Ben Alexander, Jr., Saturday.

After leading in the first half by a score of 13 to 11, the Carlisle high school Musketeers Friday night lost the second half in a game with Maysville high at Maysville winning by a score 36 to 17

The Carlisle high school has again been placed in Class A basketball district this season. The tournament will be held during the first week in March. An invitation has been extended to the schools to hold the tournament here.

John J. Lee, local agent for the Kentucky Central Life and Accident Insurance Company, attended a banquet for agents in this district at the Lexington Grand hotel. Mr. Lee was awarded a prize for having led the 15 agents in this district in increased business for 1929.

A tenant house on the farm of W. F. Clark near Myers, occupied by Rufus Flora and family, was destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock last Thursday morning. Mr. Flora was awakened by a to find the building a mass of flames and escaped in their night clothing A few articles were saved.

The will of the late Harvey Hamilton was probated in county court Saturday. The will directs that all just debts be paid, after which all of his estate is bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Mollie Hamilton. A. B. Hamilton was nominated as executor of the estate Mr McLean qualified by executing bond.

Charles Simons, Jr., and Robert Feeback, both of this county, who have been conducting a garage at the corner of Main and Second streets in Paris for several years, have leased the Masonic Garage building at the corner of Eighth and High streets in Paris and have moved to the latter location.

C. U. Bramblett, real estate agent, sold for Mr. and Mrs. Lin B. Taylor seven miles from Carlisle near the Lexington and Maysville road. He sold a total of 87 acres consisting of two acres and improvements originally owned by Dick Scott, located in the north suburbs of Carlisle.

The three city properties of John W. Webb, including his residence on Sycamore street, residence on West Main street and Cracknmith shop on West Main street, were withdrawn Saturday after being offered at public auction. Bids were unsatisfactory. The farm of 41 acres on Stoney Creek section was purchased by Ed Wilson at $30 per acre.

A Ford coupe belonging to Sterling Blake was stolen last Thursday afternoon while parked in front of the city school building. Mrs. Blake drove the machine to the school and parked it while conducting a music class. Thursday night the automobile was found parked near the Baptist church. Two young men, one a student in the school were seen to get out of the car.

Charles Barnett, student in the Carlisle high school, sustained painful injuries Saturday afternoon when an axe with which he was attempting to cut off the head of a fowl at the home of Prof. E. E. Fannell slipped and struck him on the hand, inflicting deep cuts on three fingers. The injuries may keep him from playing basket ball the remainder of the season.

A serious fire in the A. & P. store in the Crowell block was prevented by a miracle last Wednesday night. When employes of the store opened up Thursday morning they found a section about four feet square in a back room burned. It is thought a lighted cigarette was thrown into a box of sawdust. The sawdust was ignited and burned, setting fire to the floor.

Next Sunday February 2 will be watched with interest by many citizens who believe in the groundhog theory. On this date, according to many believers, the groundhog arouses from his winter nap, leaves his hole in the ground and surveys the surroundings. If the day is bright and the groundhog sees his shadow it is an indication that six weeks more of winter is in store.

THE LAST LEAF

(Oliver Wendell Holmes)

I saw him once before
As he passed by the door,
And again
The pavements stone messed
To be letters o'er the ground
With his cane.

They say that in his prime,
Ere the pruning knife of Time
Cut him down,
Not a better man was found
By the Crier on his round
Through the town.

But now he walks the streets
And he looks at all he meets
Sad and wan,
And he shakes his feeble head
That is seen to say
"They are gone."

The mossy marble rests
On the lips that he has pressed
In their bloom
And the names he loved in hear
Have been carved for many a year
On the tomb.

My grandmamma has said—
Poor old lady, she is dead
Long ago—
That he had a Roman nose
And his cheek was like a rose
In the snow;

But now his nose is thin,
And it rests upon his chin
Like a staff,
And his mouth is his back
And a melancholy crack
In his laugh.

I know it is a sin
For me to sit and grin
At him here,
But the old three-cornered hat
And the breeches, and all that
Are so queer!

If I should live to be
The last leaf upon the tree
In the spring—
Let them smile, as I do now,
At the old forsaken bough
Where I cling.
