TIMELY INSECT WARNINGS

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

Quite the best thing in the writer's mind is even to see a pest, but insects cannot be controlled by spraying them. There are many insects which appear to show promise for control, but they are not yet ready for use. The writer has seen many of these insects, but he has not seen any of them which are ready for use. The writer has seen many of these insects, but he has not seen any of them which are ready for use.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The improved automobile has brought greater economy and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

Because the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and progress of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply getting a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is the mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, unintermittent effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, great mechanical laboratories, constantly dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and study the progress of Ford.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful they may be, are always being improved. It is a good thing to have an automobile even though you never realize it.
