DEMOCRATIC "TRAMMERS" IN NEW REPUBLICAN "STATISMANS"

When Alfred E. Smith, candidate for President, announced that he favored retention to the States of the power to determine their attitude toward the liquor problem, we were told that Governor Smith was tempted to "put a saloon on every corner."

"I had far the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment," said Governor Smith in his address to the people. He repeated the same statement in his address to the people.

When Governor Smith was elected nearly dry, though it is true, his references to the liquor question throughout his campaign were enough to prevent complete abolition of "wet" Republican votes.

THE IMMEL-SACKETT INCIDENT

ANIMAL FRIENDS BENEFICES

Our dogs, cats and other animals are so much a part of our lives that we begin to feel that they are not only our friends but also our benefactors.
