THE CHIEF OBJECT

The chief object in securing a pair of Dr. Gardner's glasses is not the spectacles or eyeglasses themselves but the scientific advice and skill behind them.

Scientific advice and skill are not merchandise.

In buying glasses from a mail order house there are more than a low price spectacle emporium, qualities you must accept---scientific advice and skill---are entirely absent.

If you have trouble with teeth, heart, lungs, kidney, or any other organ you naturally consult the one who understands those organs.

Your eyes give you your living and about all of your pleasures. What would you do without them?

A bird whose ear awaits the north wind's warning, twitters restlessly.
For it has seen these trees like children all
In April play and then in manner grand
John Buttmer's splendid color symphony.
But I am silent in this solemn hour,
Knowing how each tree in winter sleeps
When bows are lashed by unrelenting storms.
