Delay in Painting Often Costly To Buildings
Repeating of buildings should not be delayed until the end of the season. It is better to paint in the fall than to wait for rain or snow. The best time to paint is in the fall, when the weather is just beginning to cool. This is the best time to paint because the paint will not be washed away by rain or snow. It will also last longer than paint applied in the summer.

The Modern Home is an Electrical Home
It is difficult to visualize what life would be like without electricity, so completely have we come to accept it as a necessity for complete comfort and convenience.

Almost all present-day homes are, to some extent, electrical homes—depending upon electricity for lighting, cooking, cleaning, refrigeration, washing, ironing or whatever their particular requirement may be.

With the extension of power lines to reach rural communities, electricity is no longer an urban luxury, and hundreds of thousands of farm homes receive the same service as the urban home.
