Soybeans spoil rather easily if not kept under proper conditions in storage. Heating and molding is especially likely to occur if the seed is packed in large quantities in a bin or a poorly ventilated room; therefore, it is certain to happen if the beans were not fully dry when threshed. The storeroom should be dry and should have a free circulation of air around the sacks. Cross-piling is a good way to accomplish this. In Manchuria soybeans are dried thoroughly and then placed in sacks, which are built up in large ricks and covered with matting.

THE DROUGHT AND EGGS

(State Board of Health)

The figures that the Bureau of Foods, Drugs and Health has found in their inspectors' records indicate that the drought has had its effect here in the hands of the country merchants and dealers. For the year ever eggs than during the same period of time. Had the bens stopped laying? Can we blame the poultry condition on the drought? Well, not entirely.

Many of the producers have been bringing just as many eggs into the merchants, but many of the eggs the merchants couldn't buy them. They were inedible and were made inedible because of the heat and the dry weather and the fact that the inedible eggs got into the edible eggs.

Both the dealers and the State Inspectors report that this year has produced the greatest loss to the farmer from fertile eggs than any other cause.

The fertile egg in hot weather will not should not be put on the market. The fertile egg will not keep and if kept will remove the rooster from the flock after the breeding season.

By this way many thousands of dollars will be saved to the farmer and during the warm weather. There is a erroneous idea in the minds of some poultry raisers that the rooster is essential to egg production. This is not the case. The fertile egg that a hen can lay is determined at the time she is hatched. In other words, it is the inherent faculty of production which is developed through breeding. The number of eggs a hen does lay is determined by the care given her by feeding and management.

Male birds should be kept in separate pens during the summer months.

Eggs are a perishable food product and should be kept in a cool, well ventilated place. Market your eggs frequently and get rid of the rooster early in the season.

Ninth District Is Within The Apportionment Limit

The census report shows that the Ninth congressional district is within the limit required of districts in the state under the new apportionment plan passed by congress. The total population of the nineteen counties is 282,771.

Since Kentucky has a population of 2,622,668 by this census each district will contain one-ninth of this population, or 291,407 persons as the average in the state. But since Louisville is a congressional district and Jefferson county cannot be divided, this county can be subtracted as a whole, leaving 2,268,309 for the remaining eight districts, of which the Ninth will contain one-eighth.

Therefore, the Ninth will contain 282,539 by calculation, and as the actual total shows the population to be 282,771, the difference is so small that the districts contains sufficient population without adding any counties.

SOMEWHERE IN NICHOLAS

By J. W. Reeves

It seems rather strange to us that we notice how we have been away from the confidence of three good Nicholas county boys, members of the International Inter- ests, Lieut. Colonel Jesse Holmes of Carlisle, Private Ernest Barlow, Hillsdale, of Battersville, to Charles Lindbergh, and Corporeum Elva Kendall to "Babe" Ruth. We do not attempt to "mix-up" in exchange of positions, but we do offer our love to these three great men but remind us. We can make our lives subline, etc.

Full many a man and woman too, have quenched their thirst while passing through, by the old, cold spring at the forks of the road, never pausing and think you'll also want to stop and drink from the old, cold spring at Barefoot. While we are yet above the old, cold spring, we offer thanks to God, for the old, cold spring at Barefoot.

The following story was told us some days ago by Mrs. John B. Scobee of this county: A man defective in hearing, went to a barber shop in Carlisle, long time ago. He displayed his razor and strop in the barber's shop window, marked "$45", long time ago. A stranger entered the store one morning, and asked the dealer with the words," Good morning, good friend, how are you this morning?" "Not quite less, the best I can do," said the dealer. "Have a fine day?" "Not quite I'll get a good some other man will," long time ago.

Our sympathies go out to Miss Hazel Ramey, our former beloved school teacher, who on Friday in which she received a message that her father was dead, but what a glorious change, no one can ever realize. I have to pass sentence on the sad experience in gradually becoming normal and I feel better than I have in years, I shall always praise and adore Christ for my entire suffering from rheumatism."

Freed From Pain After Suffering Two Years

"For two long years I was in agony, the pains were so severe I lost much sleep and became very nervous, my limbs were swollen and I constantly suffered from neuralgia pains in the stomach. I tried many remedies but could get no relief. Then I decided to try Karnak and after taking some seemed to affect my condition. "As time went on I became desperate, my kidneys were bothering me so much more than ever, that I became weak, and I was compelled to arise many times during the night. Karnak was recommended and I decided to find out just what it would do. I have used several bottles and just what a glorious change, no one can ever realize. DEATH ENDS LONG AND USEFUL LIFE

"Uncle Cole" Templeman Dies At Home Near Moorefield Saturday night

WAS PAST 91 YEARS OLD

Coleman S. Templeman, familiarly known throughout this section as "Uncle Cole," died at his home near Moorefield Saturday night following an illness of several weeks. Although he had been almost blind for several years, Mr. Templeman retained his mental faculties and was able to attend to business until his last illness.

Mr. Templeman was born in Nicholas county on May 13, 1839, and celebrated his 91st birthday anniversary this year. He was the son of the late Jacob Zack Templeman, a Methodist minister, and was a member of the Methodist church in the early days. He was married to Miss Mary Ann Bowles, who died many years ago. Mr. Templeman was a member of the Methodist church in the entertainment.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Nannie Barrett, 75 years old, who lived to death by her son, Mrs. Mary Bottom, Jackson county, Tuesday morning at the home of the latter's son, Mr. Robert Templeman, of Carlisle, Rt. 3, and Mrs. Hattie Maupin, who had interfered, shooting the latter in the left arm, inflicting any damage. Mrs. Barrett died a short time after being shot.

Mrs. Barrett became angry when his mother whipped his 11-year-old son and struck her through the mouth with a pistol. The fatal shooting occurred in the front yard of the Barrett home. Mrs. Barrett died a few hours later and fled in an automobile.

Mrs. Barrett, who is the dead born wounded, rode on a mail truck to Mercer Barrett picked up a high-powered rifle and fired four times at the mail car as it sped away almost inflicting any damage Mrs. Barrett died a short time after being shot.

Mrs. Barrett was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Walker, former coach and member of the faculty; Mr. L. B. Wooley, of Lexington; Mrs. Ralph Erkiar, Miss Helen Gaunce and Mrs. Elizabeth Beaty, new members of the faculty and Superintendent Templeman.

The following is published with a view to acquainting parents with the understandings relative to admission of pupils desiring to attend the Carlisle Graded or the Carlisle High School.

Those entitled to free tuition are:

1. Children of parents having legal residence in the Carlisle Graded School district. These must, of course, meet the requirements.

2. Out of district pupils who secure the approval for entrance of the Board of Education.

Tuition rates for all others are as follows:

Grades I to VIII, inclusive—$40 per session.

High School—$60 per session.

In the case of tuition pupils the first half of the tuition is due at the beginning of the session and it is not paid or satisfactory arrangements made with the treasurer of the local School Board for payment within ten days after the opening of the school year such pupils will automatically be dropped from the class rolls.

SEASON FOR DOVES OPENED ON MONDAY

Bag Limit Is 15 Per Day, Some New Game Laws Passed At Last Session Of Legislature

The dove season opened Monday and will remain open until December 31. The bag limit is 15 per day.

Last legislature passed a number of new laws relating to hunting, hunting and trapping in the state.

The open season for squirrels is from August 1 to January 31 with a bag limit of 12. The quail and rabbit season opened on November 15 and will remain open until December 31.

It is lawful to take raccoon, fox, possum, skunk or mink with trap, gun or dog during the open season, Dec. 31. All trappers and fox hunters must have a regular hunting license.

It is unlawful to sell or offer for sale in Kentucky any large or small mouth bass or crappie or newsight. It is unlawful to take black bass under 10 inches in length and crappie or newsight under eight inches.

Anyone convicted of the violation of persons violating the game and fish laws is entitled to one-half of fine after fees are paid court officials. Also $5 in case of conviction, and the following rewards: For dynamiting fish $25; for other convictions a reward equal to one-fourth of the fine collected.

Postmaster General To Ask Increase On Postal Rates

Postmaster General Brown has announced his intention to ask for a congress next winter to increase letter postage from 2 cents to 2½ cents so as to take up some of the deficit of the Post Office Department. Representative Kendall, of Pennsylvania, is quoted in the newspapers as predicting that congress will pass the bill. It, 6093, providing a 44-hour week for employees of the postal service. He says the bill will help reduce unemployment by furnishing work for substitutes in the service. The cost has been estimated at about $13,000,000 annually, but Representative Kendall is quoted as saying the estimate is too high, that it will only add $6,000,000 or $8,000,000 annually to the deficit. Postmaster General Brown is trying to get out of the way.

CONFERENCE MEETS HERE SEPTEMBER 24

Approximately 300 Delegates Expected To Attend Annual Methodist Meeting Here

The largest religious gathering ever held in Carlisle will start here on Wednesday, September 24, when the annual Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, convenes here for a session of five days. The conference was held here thirty years ago, but the membership has grown larger since that time. Approximately 300 ministers and delegates will be present for the entire session, and arrangements have about been completed for the entertainment of the visitors in Carlisle. The ministers and delegates will be entertained in private homes, members of all churches cooperating with the Methodist church in the entertainment.

The most prominent ministers and lay workers of the denomination will be present.

CITY SCHOOL OPENS WITH 371 STUDENTS

Enrollment Opening Day 43 Less Than Last Year And Lowest In Years

SHORT PROGRAM GIVEN

The Carlisle city schools opened Monday morning with 371 students, the smallest enrollment in several years. The enrollment this year showed a decline of 43 from the enrollment on the opening day last year. The high school showed a decline of 23 and the grades 20.

The enrollment on the opening day last year was 412. Enrollments during the course of this week are expected to bring the total to near the 400 mark. The enrollment by grades was as follows: First, 37; second, 29; third, 28; fourth, 40; fifth 23; sixth 25; seventh 23, eighth, 19; Freshman, 31; Sophomore, 27; Junior, 31; Senior, 26.

An interesting program was given this morning at the opening of school. Rev. H. Hammond, pastor of the Christian church, made the principal address. Prof. J. T. Hinton, superintendent of the Stanford city schools and former principal of the local school here, gave an interesting talk. Prof. J. W. Reeves, county superintendent of schools, made a few remarks. Prof. Hinton is a native of Nicholas county and was prominent in the political, civic and religious activities of the county.

Uncle Cole" was probably the best known man in Nicholas county. For more than fifty years he had been active in the affairs of the county and world in Nicholas county and for many years was president of the Nicholas County Sunday School Association. Many of the present Sunday schools of the county were organized by him. He was a familiar figure in every church he had served as an elder for more than fifty years, and was a member of the church for more than half a century.

Mr. Templeman served Nicholas and Robertson counties as Representatives in the General Assembly in 1869. Although this was the only public office he ever sought, he was elected by a larger vote than an active part in Democratic politics.

Mr. Templeman organized the first agricultural fair ever held in the county. Starting with a tent he added to the count house yard, Mr. Templeman enlarged his activities until a general display of field products was held, forming the basis for the present agricultural fair, of which he was honorary president.

Mr. Templeman was prominent in activities of the Farmers Union and other organizations in the county, and was an extensive farmer. He was a director in the Home Insurance Company for many years and had been an agent for the company since its organization.

His wife, Mrs. Nancy Adams Templeman, died six years ago. Surviving are two sons, Robert Templeman, Nicholas county and Samuel Templeman, Gadsen, Ala.; two daughters, Mrs. Nannie Barrett, Carlisle, and Mrs. Clay Heidman of the county; a brother, Mrs. Alex Templeman, Moorefield, and a brother J. Henry Templeman of Lexington.

Funeral services were held at the late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. T. E. Tinsley, of Anchorage, former pastor of the deceased. Interment followed and burial followed in the family lot in the Carlisle cemetery.

Two Men Slain In Duel In Pike County Saturday

Sam Wright, 40, and Melvin Branham, 36, were shot to death Saturday as the culmination of a quarrel in which more than 100 persons joined, the shooting occurred in front of the Wright home on Three Mile creek in Pike county.

Sam Wright, who had a reputation as a law-abiding man, was known as "Bad John" Wright, who as a peace officer in the Kentucky and the area mountains many years ago killed more than 30 men. "Bad John" was an intimate friend of John Fox, Jr., who used him as prototype for one of his characters, "Devil Jack Tolliver," in his novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

Confinement Plan Is Good For Turkeys

Smith Bros. and Mrs. Claybourne Fox, both of Fleming county, have been successful in using the confinement method in raising turkeys this year, according to observation of "J. C. Humphrey, of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. Smith Bros. have 565 birds and Mrs. Fox 400.

Both started their poults off in brooder houses with the floors covered being the same kind as used in brooding chicks. Cork grains also are used. Wire bottom sun porches were used and the poults kept in them until 6 to 8 weeks old.

When the birds were transferred to ranges with brooder houses or other shelter. Small areas were fenced off with temporary fences. This was shifted about every 10 days. No chickens ran with the turkeys. This system kept the birds on clean ground and prevented blackhead and other diseases developing. There have been no losses from disease.

Tri plan followed by both turkey raisers called for a rotation of yards every 10 days or two weeks until the birds were as large as Leghorn hens, and then every 20 or 40 days until they were big enough to sell.

Vallandingham Wants Caucus Of Democrats

J. B. Vallandingham, Democrat representative from Fayette county in the 1930 General Assembly issued a statement from Frankfort Friday in which he said that Democratic members of the General Assembly, representing the majority party in Kentucky "must get together in the fall to prevent possibility resulting on them caucus on the question of whether an extraordinary session of the General Assembly should be requested at this time to relieve the distress imposed on our people by the unprecedented drought and the collapse of prices for farm products."

The caucus should be called within two weeks by Senator Allie W. Young, caucus chairman of the Senate and James H. Dorman, caucus chairman of the House, Vallandingham said.

22 firemen were hurt in a spectular fire in a government building at Washington Sunday.

TO START WORK ON BLUE LICKS PARK

Curtis Says Engineers Will Visit Park This Week To Make Preliminary Topographic Survey

Representative W. J. Curtis, of Payne, in an interview given out at Maysville Tuesday, stated that landscape engineers will visit Blue Licks State Park this week for the purpose of making a topographic map by which the park will be laid out and properly landscaped.

The engineers will be accompanied by Mrs. James Dorland secretary of the Kentucky Park Park Commission. Mr. Curtis said. Mr. Curtis and the other members of the Blue Lick Park Commission have been asked to be present to make suggestions. The other members of the commission are: J. B. Russ, of Carlisle, and Judge Samuel M. Wilson of Lexington.

At the last session of the legislature, through the efforts of Mr. Curtis, an appropriation of $20,000 was made for the park at Blue Lick, half of which was to be available this year and the remainder next year, the money to be used in making the park and the construction of a building.

YOUTHS CONFESS MYSTERY DEATH

Mercer County Boys Admit Walker Hall Was Hurled To Death In Which They Were Riding

A supposed murder mystery that has baffled the authorities of Mercer and Boyle counties since the finding of the battered body of Walker Hall on the Harrodsburg-Danville pike last August 2, was cleared up Saturday when three Mercer county youths confessed to Roy Graves, County Attorney of Mercer, admitted that Hall was struck by an automobile in which they were riding and that they sped away from the scene in terror.

The confessions made by Sam K. Veach, treasurer of the school board Rev. W. M. Hammond, pastor of the Christian church, and Rev. H. A. Alexander, Mr. Ross introduced the witnesses. Both of the men are broadcasters.

Short funeral services will be held at the grave in the Carlisle cemetery Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. P. B. Jones, pastor of the Carlisle Methodist church.

Lexington Aviator Dies As Plane Falls Monday

Lieut. William Albert Harbold, 26 years old, of the U. S. Army Air Corps, and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harbold, of Lexington, was drowned Monday when his plane fell into the ocean six miles south of Sandy Hook Point near Mitchell Field, N. Y., where Lieutenant Harbold was stationed.

Lieutenant Harbold was graduated from the College of Engineering of the University of Kentucky in 1926 and entered the regular army upon his graduation.

Three Are Wounded In Shootings In Boyle

Robert Sinkhorn was wounded probably fatally and Mrs. Sinkhorn, his widow, and her 13-year-old son, Bernard Bruce, were wounded less seriously Friday night in two shootings which took place near Danville. The shootings were the outgrowth of a quarrel between Mrs. Bruce and Robert Sinkhorn over his brother, Hubert Sinkhorn.

The trouble started near the home of Mrs. Bruce when she and her son were shot after a quarrel with Sinkhorn with an automatic shotgun. When officers went to the scene to arrest the Sinkhorn brothers, Robert Sinkhorn drew a revolver and as he was being shot by Deputy Sheriff Tom Jackson.

Gas Well Struck On Bourbon County Farm

While drilling for water near his home on the Antioch road, Bourbon county, Major Lyle Buffington struck a strong gas vein, of sufficient volume and pressure to heat his home this winter.

W. K. Kearney, Versailles, was in charge of the drilling, striking the first pocket at 172 and the second at 190 feet. At this point, the drilling was stopped and the gas allowed to flow for 10 days before it was capped. By the minute pressure test it has been estimated that a flow of 40,000 cubic feet is being produced daily, which is several times the amount necessary to heat an average home.
